Eastland's Mavericks lost to Cisco Friday night to make their season record in district play read one win, one tied and four losses in the six game conference schedule.

Which is a better record than most people figured for the Maverick team when they observed the scarcity of material Coach Wendell Siebert and Ed Hooker, his assistant, were faced with.

As long as everybody stayed healthy, the Mavericks could play with about any team in the loop. But an injury to a starter greatly hampered the Eastland team against anybody.

And the injuries began early and lasted late for the Eastland team, making for a long, hard season. If there were more games to play, Siebert would probably have a difficult time fielding eleven healthy men.

Gerald Davis, star tackle, injured an ankle even before the season started and the injury gave him trouble all year. He had to be carried off the field in the Cisco game because of a re-injury to the ankle. He was the backbone of the Maverick defense.

Derrell Black missed the Comanche tilt, and speculators think that the Mavericks would have won another game had the big, fast tackle been ready to go all the way in that one.

Then in the fading part of the season, Rodney Stephen, the spark of the Eastland offense, and Doug King, hard running halfback, were hampered by injuries. The last three games found the Mavericks struggling to keep a full team healthy, and forced to play the boys who were slowed down by injuries.

The strength of the Eastland team was probably reflected in the Dublin game more than any other contest. In that one game, the Mavericks were at full strength and played the Dublin team, loser only to Ranger, to a standstill and a 7-7 tie.

Despite the losses of the team, team spirit stayed at a peak throughout the year and the boys never quit trying.

Which caused Siebert to comment, "this bunch has the greatest spirit of any team I ever coached."

In another game of great import in the district Friday, Dublin upset Hamilton, 19-6, handing the title to once beaten Ranger. Dublin wound up in second place in the district with Cisco and Hamilton tied for third. Comanche ended in fifth spot, Eastland in sixth and DeLeon in the cellar.

Parks Poe was going from store to store Saturday morning and we thought for a while he was delivering Coca Cola.

But a closer examination revealed that he was showing off a deer he had killed on a hunting trip this week.

Sam Gamble, in case some of you have missed him around lately, is in a Ranger hospital following a fall which bunged him up quite a bit.

For some reason he was placed in the maternity ward, and reports say he is well pleased with his room.

Kilgore JC To Play Bowl Game In Jackson, Miss.

KILGORE, Tex., Nov. 18 (UP)—The Kilgore Junior College Rangers will play a post-season game Dec. 9 in the 21,000-capacity memorial bowl at Jackson, Miss.

The Rangers' opponent has not been named, Kilgore spokesmen said today.

One-third of the net receipts of the game sponsored by the Jackson Touchdown Club will be given to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

OLD SANTA CLAUS will be back again this year and the kids will again get busy writing letters to the gift-bearing fellow from the North Pole. Merchants are giving Santa some help with some big and colorful Christmas bargains and they have already started decorating stores and store windows to give Mom and Dad some idea of what the kids will be wanting. Eastland merchants have arranged with Santa to bring him here Saturday afternoon, Dec. 2. This day will mark the official opening of the Christmas shopping season in Eastland.

War Will End In 6 Weeks Says S. Korea Acting Prime Minister

TOKYO, Nov. 18 (UP)—South Korea's acting prime minister, fresh from conferences with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, predicted today that the war in Korea will end in six weeks.

Sung Mo Sihn, defense minister and acting prime minister of the Seoul government, said he felt that United Nations forces will reach the entire length of Korea's frontier with Manchuria and Soviet Siberia by Christmas. He indicated that MacArthur shared this view.

Sung Mo Sihn said he also believed that all Communist guerrillas behind the allied lines—estimated by an 8th Army spokesman at 10,000 men—would be cleaned out by the end of the year.

He rejected the British idea of a buffer state in North Korea south of the Yalu River Manchurian border.

"If anybody wants a buffer state, they can make it on the northern side of the Yalu River," he told a Tokyo Press conference.

He implied that MacArthur shared this view, too.

But Sung Mo Sihn did not rule out the possibility of a peaceful settlement of the Yalu River electric power plant problem. One reason for Communist China's intervention in Korea was believed to be the preservation of the power sources for Manchuria.

He said Korea would be willing to discuss the matter with China and would be willing to sell power to China "if they pay for it and if there is enough to sell."

However, he said emphatically that the plants and their output belong to Korea.

Sung Mo Sihn said he had discussed the Korean situation with MacArthur and feels "very happy" about it. He said MacArthur is optimistic, too.

7th Division Sweeps 8 Miles

By Earnest Hoberecht
TOKYO, Nov. 18 (UP)—A U. S. 7th Division armored force swept almost unopposed eight miles over precipitous mountain roads and a frozen river toward the Manchurian border in northeast Korea today.

The parka-clad Yanks, attacking in a snowstorm, quickly overwhelmed light enemy resistance and raced on to seize white hills flanking and overlooking bombed out Kapsan, 20 miles south of the Yalu river border.

A front dispatch said the Communist defenders apparently had fled toward the border. The Americans planned to walk into the former enemy stronghold tomorrow morning.

At the same time, the South Korean Capital Division on the northeast coast struck out anew up the coastal highway toward the border of Soviet Siberia, 90 miles to the northeast.

A general Allied advance seemed imminent on the northeast front. Communist forces which had held up the South Korean 2nd Corps all week at the eastern end of that line suddenly withdrew from the Tokchon area.

American and British forces farther west had pulled up north of Pakchon and Yongbyon to await elimination of the Communist threat to their flank at Tokchon. With the Communist withdrawal there, the way seemed clear for a new advance toward the Manchurian border, some 60 miles away in the northwest sector.

Far behind the front, an estimated 2,000 by-passed Communist guerrillas were believed to have attacked and captured Chunchon, a South Korean provincial capital 45 miles northeast of Seoul and eight miles south of the 38th parallel.

A Seoul dispatch said a high-ranking American officer reported that information from two separate sources indicated Chunchon was attacked and possibly captured at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Friday EST). Telephone and teletype communication with the city was cut off at 9:45 a. m.

The guerrilla attack was more a nuisance than a threat to the Allied rear. By-passed Red forces have seized a number of South Korean cities in the past, and each time Allied troops have had to be detached to oust them.

United Press war correspondent William Chapman reported from the northeast front that there was almost no Communist resistance to the 7th Division's push toward the Manchurian frontier today.

Unrushing tanks and jeeps of the Division's 17th Regiment dodged mined roads and bridges and instead rolled over precipitous mountain trails to the Ungi River, then dashed the last five miles to the hills flanking Kapsan over the ice and boulder-choked river itself.

Two Men Team Helped Discover New Oil Pools

Two men who "teamed up" had a big part in the discovery of the two new pools which are witnessing such a play, in the vicinity of Eastland.

They are Frank Day, veteran oil man, who began his hunt for petroleum in Eastland County in 1914, and Robert J. Steel, geologist.

Day assembled the blocks of acreage on which the Briggs Owen Lake sand pool and the Courtney Strawn sand pool are being developed. But before he began to get up the acreage, Steel had worked the sub-surface geology in both areas. Naturally it is very gratifying to him to have his favorable findings confirmed by actual operations. Thus far, 20 producers have been completed in the Briggs Owen pool and a half dozen in the Courtney pool.

Steel, a native of Nebraska, graduated in geology from the University of Nebraska. He has lived in Eastland since 1939, coming here from Midland.

Loboes Win, 20-0 Over Mavericks In Final Game Friday

Thanksgiving Is Methodist Theme

"Man's Thanksgiving Unto God" will be the sermon subject of Rev. J. Morris Bailey, pastor, Sunday morning at the 10:50 worship service at the First Methodist Church.

The chancel choir under direction of Mrs. Cyrus B. Frost, Jr., will sing the anthem "O Be Joyful in the Lord" by Pfeiffer. Mrs. J. P. Kilgore will play the organ with "Majestic Largo" by Lorenz and "A Contrite Heart" by Mallard as special organ music.

Sunday evening at the 7:30 worship service the pastor will preach on the theme "Organization That Leads to Joy". Wendell T. Siebert will lead the congregational song service and the men's choir will sing. Mrs. T. J. Haley will play the piano for the service.

Sunday School, MIF and MYF will meet at the usual hours. The Sub-district meeting of the Methodist Youth will be Monday evening at 7:30 at the First Methodist Church in Breckenridge.

Yugoslavs To Get 35 Million In American Aid

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 18 (UP)—Yugoslavia has been assured $35,000,000 in immediate American stop-gap aid as a result of President Truman's decision to support Premier Marshal Tito's regime, it was learned here today.

In addition, Britain has promised $14,000,000 in emergency aid. Observers said these sums will enable Yugoslavia, faced by hunger because of a severe drought, to keep going until the U. S. Congress acts on Mr. Truman's appeal for further aid to the Yugoslavs.

The first shipment of American food was to arrive at the Yugoslav port of Rijeka today aboard the Yugoslav freighter S.S. Macedonia. U. S. Ambassador George V. Allen said he will witness the arrival of 1,600 tons of dried beans and make a short public speech—the first by any American representative since the Communists came into power here in 1945.

Pope Names US Saint

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 18 (UP)—Pope Pius has proclaimed Saint Frances Xavier Cabrini—the first American saint as patroness of emigrants, it was announced today.

Eastland's Mavericks and Cisco Loboes closed their 1950 seasons at Maverick Stadium Friday night with Loboes taking a 20-0 decision in a game marked with rough play and marred by penalties.

One of the largest crowds of the season at Maverick Stadium braved a chilling wind to watch the season finale for the teams.

Both teams lost stars in the first half on injuries. Gerald Davis, star tackle for Eastland, went out of the game early in the second quarter with an ankle injury. He had to be carried from the field and did not return to the lineup. Davis was hobbling around in his street clothes at the end of the game.

A short time thereafter, Doug Johnson, elusive Cisco halfback and passer of the Logo team, was carried out of the game and did not return to the lineup. Two Eastland players and one Cisco had been removed from the game for rough in the second half.

Eastland kicked off to start the game with the Loboes returning to the 29. With Robert Jackson sparking the attack, the Loboes picked up one first down but bogged down on the second one and were forced to punt.

Rodney Stephen returned the punt to the Eastland 41 yard line. Coach Wendell Siebert had all five of his graduating seniors from this year's squad in the game with James Freeman and John Burleson at ends, Davis at tackle, Bob Womack at center and Doug King at halfback.

Stephen passed to Womack for about eight yards but the Mavericks drew a five yard penalty on the play. One yard was picked up and Stephen gained eight, but Eastland was penalized again, this time for 15 yards. On third down

Kilgore, Steddum Attend Tech Course

Johnnie Kilgore and Robb Steddum of Kilgore's Creamery in Eastland attended a three day course at Texas Tech College in Lubbock, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

The course was an overall instruction on problems of Milk and Ice Cream Plant operation and the distribution of Dairy products.

Outstanding dairymen were present to introduce the course.

Mental Escapee Caught

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 18 (UP)—A 19-year-old man, arrested Wednesday night by El Paso police, was identified today as Jack Cathey, escapee from a Phoenix, Ariz., mental hospital.

ASSASSIN PLEADS "NOT GUILTY"—Oscar Collazo, center, shackled to two other prisoners, leaves Federal Court House in Washington after pleading innocent to charges of first degree murder. He is one of two Puerto Ricans who attempted to assassinate President Truman by forcing their way into Blair House. (NEA Telephoto).

"GUILTY"—Gerald Killinger, 17, of Medina, Ohio, is helped from the trial table after a jury deliberated seven hours and forty minutes to find him guilty of 1st degree murder without recommendation in the ambush slaying of Harold Mast, 23-year-old Medina County farmer. At far right is Gerald's father, George Killinger. (NEA Telephoto).

the Mavericks lost five yards leaving fourth and 20 to go for a first. Stephen stepped back to punt, but didn't have time to get it away and was smothered for a five yard loss on the Eastland 25 yard line giving the Loboes a big break.

Cisco lost nine yards on three tries, but on fourth down, Johnson backed up and passed to I. Brunkehoefter who had worked behind the Maverick defenders and was in the clear over the goal line for the first touchdown. Point try was no good and Cisco led, 6-0.

Dick Evtatt returned the next kickoff to the Eastland 28 and King picked up a first down for the Mavericks on two carries. A ground play gained two and a pass was incomplete, but on third down the Mavericks fumbled with Cisco taking the ball on the Eastland 43.

The Lobos picked up two first downs, but a 15 yard penalty helped bog the drive down and Eastland took over as a fourth down pass from the spread formation failed to click. Davis was hurt and carried from the game.

Eastland could not go and punted. Cisco picked up a first on a 20 yard scamper by Johnson, but I. Stephen recovered a Cisco fumble on the next play to kill the drive.

Cisco was penalized for 15 giving an automatic first down, but a pass was intercepted. Cisco failed to gain on two plays and on third down quick kicked to the Eastland 35. Johnson was hurt and taken from the game.

Stephen passed to Aaron for 10, but a fourth down pass from the 50 was incomplete and Cisco took over.

Cisco opened up with a passing attack featuring the left handed tosses of L. A. Sublet who was substituting for the injured Johnson. From the spread formation Sublet passed to Jackson for two first downs and then a touchdown as Cisco took a 12-0 lead. Again a pass was missed.

A pass to Womack gained yards for Eastland and ended.

In a halftime ceremony, lotte Van Hoy was presented the football sweetheart of the 1950 Eastland team.

Eastland received the kickoff to start the second half and picked up two first downs with Morris Lee Rigan turning in runs of 16 and 6 yards before a 15 yard penalty chilled the drive.

Eastland punted again on the first play, Jackson burst through the middle of the Eastland line and raced 60 yards to the Eastland 7 before Derrell Black made the tackle from behind after outrunning the fleet Cisco back.

The delay in crossing the goal line was only momentarily, however, as Jackson took the ball on the third down from the 10 yard line and went over. Point was again missed and Cisco was ahead, 18-0.

Eastland could not get its attack to work with Stephen's passes hampered by a sore thumb on his throwing hand and on fourth down Stephen stepped back to punt. A Cisco lineman apparently rushed offside and was upon Stephen before he could get the kick away, blocking the ball but no red flags appeared on play. The ball bounded over the end zone line giving the Cisco team a safety and two points raising the score to 20-0.

The remainder of the game was a slip shod affair with both teams playing erratic ball and several penalties being handed out for roughing and other infractions. Three players were sent from the game by the umpires.

The loss gave the Mavericks a 8-1-1 record for the season, good enough for fifth place in the district which was about two places higher than predicted by most experts before the season started.

Eight of Eastland's starting eleven players will be back for some revenge on district foes next season, along with some freshmen who have shown steady improvement this year and managed to get into quite a bit of the action in the later stages of the season.

The Return Of The Prodigal Son

Blonde Waf First Girl To Work In AF Alt. Chamber

By Elizabeth Toomey
Lots of girls walk around with their heads in the clouds, but slim blonde WAF Cpl. Viola McLarnan is the first girl in the Air Force to make high altitude a career. Zooming to heady heights of 5,000 feet, with her feet still planted firmly on the ground, is a daily occurrence for the 31-year old corporal, the first woman to complete the altitude chamber technicians school.

Now a crew member at the altitude chamber at Mitchell Air Force Base, where she took her training, Viola can't understand why the Air Force made such a fuss over letting a girl take the course.

"You have to be in pretty good physical shape, but after that I can't see why it makes any difference whether you're a man or a woman," she said. "They take everybody up to 25,000 feet without oxygen once just to let you see how you react. The average man stays conscious from three to five minutes. It was five minutes and 27 seconds before I went out."

All jet pilots must have training in the altitude chamber, a rectangular iron tank which can simulate conditions at altitudes as high as 100,000 feet.

Now that she's a technician, Cpl. McLarnan takes her turn along with the male crew members in various sections of the chamber, sometimes staying inside the chamber with the men who are testing their altitude reactions, sometimes working the pump outside the chamber and sometimes acting as observer, to note the reactions of the men.

Capt. William T. Larkin, chief instructor at the technician's school, warned her to expect all kinds of reactions from men. "Sometimes they go right off to sleep, occasionally they get aggressive, and infrequently you'll find a man who gets happy, as if he were under the influence of alcohol," Capt. Larkin explained. Viola, who describes herself as "the athletic type," says that after four days on her new job she hasn't run across any altitude victims who were either aggressive or happy. They've been perfect gentlemen.

Boyce House Gives You Texas

How about a true story about a pioneer Texan whose fast thinking saved his life? Down near Austin is a beautiful spot; it is called Barton's Spring and is named for "Old Man Barton," as everybody called him. One day he was walking through the forest not far from his home when he saw five or six Indians. They saw him at the same time and began chasing him. They were on foot too and it was quite a race. But Barton was no longer young and his strength was just about to give out. He had reached the top of a hill and down in the valley below was his log cabin home. It had never looked sweeter to him than it did now when it seemed that life was about to end. His pack of dogs caught sight of him and they came rushing toward him. And that gave Old Man Barton an idea. He turned around, facing the Indians, who were running toward him and of course could not see what was on the other side of the hill, and he took his old hat in his hand and yelled, "Come on, boys, let's git them redskins."

The Indians, thinking that he was calling to a bunch of Texans with their rifles, turned and ran away. His nerve and his fast thinking had saved the pioneer's life.

The Whitewright Sun has dug up that old time sketch in which an editor tells how he whipped an indignant subscriber. The editor makes use of the editorial "we" in speaking of himself.

"There was a blow; somebody fell. We got up. Turning upon our antagonist, we succeeded in winding his arms around our waist and, by a quick maneuver, threw him on top of us, bringing our back at the same time in contact with the solid bed of the printing press. Then, inserting our nose between his teeth and cleverly entangling his hands in our hair, we had him."

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

By J. Fred Eder
United Press Outdoors Consultant
If trigger-happy hunters can't fire away at overhead ducks without looking straight up from their blinds, they should try tactics adopted by British Commandos during World War II.

Before making a landing during hours of darkness, the commandos smeared their faces with mud, or burnt cork so their faces wouldn't stand out in the night.

Now a duck on the fly is better than 20-20 vision, and he can spot a face in a duck blind without batting an eye.

For this reason, the nimrod should bend low and glance up sideways, unless he wants to try out some grease-paint.

Decoys should be arranged between 30 feet and 25 yards from the blind, sometimes a little more, but not too far. And the hunter should never bunch his decoys. Always scatter them so the ever head flock won't become suspicious.

A hunter who doesn't know how to call ducks might be likened to a fisherman who can't handle a rod and reel. Every duck hunter should know how to handle a mallard call, which will win an audience even from the tip-up or puddling ducks.

It takes a lot of patience and practice to learn the art of call ing, but it means more ducks for the dinner table.

Thousands of sportsmen must choose between duck hunting and deer stalking this weekend, and the decision will be a difficult one.

Ducks are arriving in great numbers, as well as geese, and the season on Texas deer opened Thursday.

Deer stalkers are reminded that the regular small game Texas hunting license does not apply to big game. The big game hunting license costs $2.25 and is good for all hunting.

A good point for deer hunter to remember is that while deer can see for incredible distances they focus best on moving objects. Many a nimrod has had a big buck almost run over him while standing motionless.

can tell a whopping fish story but it's true.

George recently set what is believed a record by landing two black bass weighing over 11 pounds on one cast.

The two blacks were almost identical and both weighed better than five and one-half pound each.

Something to remember department: The number of points on a deer's antlers does not reveal its exact age. Deer of the same age often have different number of points.

A motor road branching inland from the coastal Pan American Highway at Lima, Peru, crosses the main range of the Andes at 15,889 feet. In no other place in the world can one drive a passenger car to such an altitude.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST
Corner of Plummer and Lamar Streets

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson - Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 19.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly" (Psalm 84: 11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson - Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have an abiding of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (II Corinthians 5: 11).

The Lesson - Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All creations of Spirit are eternal; but creations of matter must return to dust. Error supposes man to be both mental and material. Divine Science contradicts this postulate and maintains man's spiritual identity" (page 287).

BOYCE HOUSE SAYS

One member of a company during the recent war had very large feet. One day when the outfit had halted on a march, the sergeant missed this private and he asked, "where's Brown?"

One of the men replied, "Oh, he's gone on to the crossroads so he can turn around."

And did you hear about the Scotch merchant who advertised, "Free coat hanger and a cigar lighter with each purchase." Customers swarmed in and each received a nail and a match!
