US Tanks Blast Way Briefly Into Communist - Held Wonju

10,000 Reds Repulse 2nd Division Task Force In Blinding Snowstorm

By Earnest Hoberecht
TOKYO, Thursday, Jan. 11 (UP)—U. S. 2nd Division tanks blasted their way into Communist-held Wonju in central Korea briefly Wednesday in a raging battle that stalled Communist pursuit of the withdrawing U. S. 8th Army.

Battling in a blinding snowstorm that grounded Allied planes, a 2nd Division armored task force hammered into the southeastern outskirts of the strategic highway center while another force fought to within one mile of the western outskirts.

But the Americans, who gave up Wonju in a fighting retreat three days ago, could not stay. They were thrown out again by an estimated 10,000 Reds who have massed in the city in the past two days.

Heavy fighting east, south and west of Wonju, which is 53 miles southeast of Seoul, raged on Wednesday night in a blizzard. French and Dutch infantry battalions fought side by side with the Americans.

As night fell the United Nations troops still held important blocking positions that prevented the Reds from fanning out toward the 8th Army's line of retreat south of Seoul.

The drive that punched into Wonju covered five miles in two days. The UN forces gained three miles Tuesday and two more today before falling back again.

United Press correspondent Joseph Quinn said the UN forces ran into elements of four North Korean divisions—40,000 men at full strength—in the Wonju area.

The 2nd Division counter-attack in any event was regarded more as part of a delaying action against the advancing Reds than a full-fledged counter-offensive. Red tanks already have infiltrated 30 miles southeast of Wonju.

The 8th Army as a whole appeared to have halted its retreat at least temporarily and thrown up a new defensive line across Korea against 26 Red Divisions—250,000 men—poised for an apparently imminent offensive.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters hinted indirectly at establishment of the new defensive line and warned of the ominous enemy buildup north of it in a communique.

O. B. Shero Attends Norge Meeting In Dallas On Friday

O. B. Shero attended a Norge meeting in Dallas, Friday, January 5.

At the meeting, the 1951 Norge electric refrigerator was presented.

Shero reports that there are many improvements over the 1950 models. The interior of the 1951 models is trimmed in blue. A butter conditioner and a new type of fast de-frosting are features of the new model.

There has been a complete revision of the old models, Shero said.

Gilchrist No. 1 Swenson Tops Strawn At 1915

B. F. Gilchrist No. 1 Swenson, wildcat in the Necessary area on the old Swenson Ranch, 15 miles northeast of Ranger, topped Strawn Sand at 1915 feet and is drilling into the sand 15 feet to 1929 feet.

Watkins, a member of the 2nd Infantry Division, who was killed in Korea. (NEA Telephoto).

On Anniversary Of Spindletop, County Has New Oil Hopes

At 10:30 a. m., January 10, 1901—just 50 years ago—the mightiest oil well the world had ever seen roared into being.

This well at Spindletop, near Beaumont, was the first of a series of fabulous oil discoveries that gave America a new vision of what its supply of oil might be.

The roar of Spindletop was also the starting gun in a great race where oil companies tried to outdo each other in producing more efficient, less expensive fuels for the newly developed automobile and oil burner.

Since the first roar of Spindletop, the progress of the oil industry, through privately-managed oil companies, has been amazing.

Around 1919, Eastland county came into the oil picture with a great oil boom which attracted the nations top celebrities. But by 1921, the boom was over and the glittering names left for more attractive fields.

But by 1950, a process known as hydrofrac came into being and brought renewed hope for Eastland county. And in late March of 1950 Eastland county had its own little Spindletop, a discovery in the now wide-spread Briggs-Owens pool about five miles west of the city of Eastland.

There was one man, Frank Day, who never gave up hope in Eastland county's oil. And his faith was finally vindicated late in March with Bankline Oil's No. 1 Briggs-Owens, which flowed strongly after receiving the hydrofrac treatment.

That first discovery in the Lake Sand drew the attention of many operators and by January 10, 1951 less than a year later, there are 26 producing wells in the Briggs-Owens Pool from the Lake Sand.

In addition, in the same general area, a new discovery has been made in the Strawn Sand which now has 13 producers.

Operating in the Lake Sand area are Bankline Oil Company, Cooper and Hemphill, J. J. Lynn, Bert Fields and the Thurman Oil Company, all of whom have producing wells.

Operators in the shallow pool include Lohand, W. W. Bradley and W. R. Fairbairn. Bob Steel of Eastland did the geology work on (Continued On Page Two)

Hospital Committees To Meet On Friday

Mrs. James Horton, president of the Civic League, has extended an invitation to the presidents of all organizations in the city to bring their hospital committees with them and meet at the Women's Club at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Plans which have been completed for a hospital in Eastland to date will be presented and plans for the future action will be discussed.

The meeting is open to the public and anyone interested is urged to attend.

Jim Tom Warden Judges At Show

Jim Tom Warden of Eastland has been chosen from a group of 62 boys to be sent to Denver, Colorado to attend a stock show there.

He and five other boys will form a judging team from Texas Tech, where he is a senior student.

Jim Tom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Warden, 1207 S. Seaman.

The judging group will leave Wednesday on an all-expense paid trip.

Piano Recital Is Set At Olden Thursday Night

A piano recital by students of Mrs. Travis Hilliard will be held at 7 p. m. Thursday at the Olden Methodist Church.

Program for the recital is as follows:

"Falling Waters," Truax, "Caprice In C," Thelma Ann Edwards.

"Nola," Arndt; "Polonaise," Chopin, Bettye Vaughn.

Some Enlistments For Air Forces To Be Accepted

New regulations for Air Force enlistments were announced today by S-Sgt. Charles H. Brannon, Eastland recruiting officer for the Air Force and Army.

Applicants with at least two years of college work completed and applicants with previous service in the Armed Force duty under the new regulation, Brannon said.

Other applications may be placed on the waiting list until the time they can be forwarded to the main station, Brannon said. That time would probably be around the first of February, he added.

All applications for the regular Army will be accepted, Brannon stated.

Reds Release Prisoners

ON THE NORTHEAST FRONT Korea, Jan. 10 (UP)—Communist North Koreans released six American prisoners yesterday after giving them a liberal dose of Red propaganda and a note to their commander to "stop the war."

Horse Meat Case Cleared

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 10 (UP)—Charges of selling horse meat for human consumption were dismissed today against three officials of the Quality Meat and Provision Company.

Lions League For Crippled Children Told

Ed Slaughter of Weslaco explained the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children to members of the Eastland club at their regular meeting in the Methodist Church, Tuesday noon.

Slaughter explained that the plan was to provide a camping experience for crippled children and was not to be a hospital at all.

Only ambulatory cases, those who can get to a given point under their own power, will be eligible to attend the camp, Slaughter said. Under plans at this time, each youngster attending would be at the camp about two weeks.

The camp will be turned over six times during the summer of 1951, which will be the first year for the plan. Each child attending will be selected by a medical group to be sure he can participate in the program.

Buildings and recreation spots are to be especially designed for crippled children in the camp. Age limit for those attending is 7 to 16 years.

"There is no place in Texas at this time that allows crippled children a camping experience," Slaughter told those present. He explained that it had been proven that a camping experience was a great benefit to crippled children.

The first year the camp will operate only in the summer. If it is found to be practical, it will operate the year round in the future.

Eastland County Farm Bureau Sponsors Film

A large crowd of farm and ranch folks are expected to see Murray Cox's film on farming and ranching in the Pacific Northwest at the Eastland High School auditorium next Tuesday night, January 16, according to A. Z. Myrick, president of the Eastland County Farm Bureau, whose organization is sponsoring the meeting.

Murray Cox, Dallas, popular farm radio reporter, whose noon program over WFAA is listened to by thousands in the Southwest is coming directly to Eastland from a livestock show at Goldthwaite, and make comments. The film was made by Cox when his special train of Texas farm and ranch folks toured that area of the country last summer.

The meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting is open to the general public as well as farmers and ranchers, Myrick said. Parking areas can be found on the east and south side of the high school building.

The officers and directors of the Farm Bureau met in Eastland on Tuesday night and planned additional features for the program besides the film.

Membership in the Farm Bureau in the county is growing according to the officials. The county group is an affiliate of the state organization and of the American Farm Bureau Federation, largest arm organization in the world.

Hospitalization as well as fire, life and car insurance is now available to the membership of the organization. Mrs. John Love of the Alameda Community, Rt. 1, Ranger, Texas, is the insurance and service officer of the group. Besides Myrick, and Mrs. Love, other officers of the Farm Bureau in the county include, Howard Ingram, Nimrod, vice president; Joe Bob Browning, Gorman, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. J. F. Moseley, Olden, reporter.

PONTIAC, Mich., Jan. 10 (UP)—Quadruplets, two boys and two girls, were born today to Mrs. Anne Rosebush.

McAdow To Direct Instrumental Work Shop At EHS Saturday

Maurice McAdow, director of bands, North Texas State College, will conduct a work shop for instrumental music students of the Eastland schools, Saturday, January 13.

Classes for the various instruments will begin at 8:30 a. m. Saturday. All students of the Eastland High School band will attend.

McAdow spent several years in professional playing before entering the teaching field. While teaching in the public schools of Illinois, his hands were consistent national contest winner.

He is a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University and has had additional training at the American Conservatory of Music. He is a pupil of Herman Bellstedt, Edward Llewellyn and John Kirburz.

In March, 1950, the North Texas State Band accepted an invitation to appear on the Music Educators National Conference program in St. Louis. His band was highly acclaimed by music educators over the nation at the conference.

The Eastland Band Booster Club is sponsoring McAdow's appearance for the workshop and the students of the band are working hard to get benefit from the school, according to T. R. Atwood Eastland High band director.

Parents or interested musicians are welcome to attend the session which will be held in the Eastland High School building.

Following is a schedule to be followed throughout the day:

8:30 9:00—Full band
9:00 10:00—Cornets
10:00 11:00—Clarinets
11:00 12:00—Tenor Sax, Alto Sax, Bar. Sax, Bass Clarinet, Bass Horns, Bass Fiddle, Eb Horns.
1:00 2:00—Trombones and Baritone.
2:00 3:00—Flute, Oboe, Bassoon.
3:00 4:00—Full band
4:00 til—anyone and all that are required class II solo or better to appear for solo audition; you may use your music no accompaniment necessary.

County PTA Meets In Cisco Friday

The Eastland county council of Parents and Teachers will meet in Cisco, Friday, Jan. 12 at 2 p. m. in the basement of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. G. E. Harper, county president, Ranger, will preside over a short business meeting preceding a program by Robert Clinton of Cisco.

Refreshments will be served following the program.

Subversives—Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., said his Communist Control Act "is the law and it will stand." He said "someone has given President Truman some bad advice" about the measure, but that the President now is receiving proper information.

Foreign Policy—Democratic leaders in the Senate said the administration's foreign policy principles should not be forsaken to meet Sen. Robert A. Taft's proposal for bi-partisan tasks. Taft said he is "quite prepared" to meet with President Truman or anyone else "on the majority side and try to work out a program" to prepare for "a 10-year siege, of a 10-year military status at least" to meet the Russian threat.

Troops—President Truman may be headed toward a showdown with Congress on committing more U.S. troops to Western Europe. The prime issue is whether the President can order large numbers of troops sent abroad without Congressional authority and without a declaration of war by Congress.

Patronage—Southern states awaited action by President Truman toward assigning jobs in the South in an effort to regain party harmony. Mr. Truman's state of the union message prompted many discussions of harmony, but a group of northern and western Democratic Senators has organized to fight for a "liberal" program against the powerful coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

EHS Cagers Bow To Comanche Chiefs In Opening District Tilts

Eastland's Mavericks turned in a thrilling performance before bowing out to the Comanche Chiefs, 46-41, in the final two minutes of a basketball game played before a crowd of about 200 at the Eastland High School gym Tuesday night.

The Mavericks had led most of the game only to see a five point lead melt away in the closing minutes of the tilt.

In an earlier game, Coach Charles Harris' girls team lost to the Comanche team, 44-31. It was the district opener for both teams. In a primary tilt the Eastland boys "B" team lost by two points to make it a clean sweep for Comanche.

Coach Ed Hooker started a lineup of Eddie Haines, Rodney Stephen, Doug Williamson, James Freeman, and George Harris against Comanche. Williamson and Harris are freshmen. Freeman is the only senior of the group.

Harris sank a crisp shot to give Eastland a 2-0 lead, Freeman made a free throw and Stephen stole the ball and went the length of the court to add another two point after Comanche had counted one goal to make it 5-2.

Haines made a field goal, Stephen dropped in a long shot and then stole the ball again to go the length of the court for another two points, stretching Eastland's lead to 11-3. Comanche made three points as the quarter ended. The chiefs pulled up to 10-13, then to within two points at 16-14. Then Comanche tied the score at 17 all and went ahead at 21-17 before Williamson made a free throw for Eastland and Haines dropped in a fielder. Stephen added a point to make the halftime score a 21-21 deadlock.

Freeman fouled out in the first half and was replaced by Bobby Womack. Comanche grabbed a two point lead as the second half began but a goal by Womack rubbed it out a out after Williamson had done some beautiful ball handling.

Comanche again went ahead at 25-23, but Haines hit a streak and sank four field goals in a row to stretch the Eastland lead to six points at 31-25. The Chiefs closed the gap to 31-29, but Williamson made it 33-29 as the third quarter ended.

A goal by Womack again gave Eastland a six point lead in the early minutes of the fateful fourth quarter. Haines made the score 37-31 before Comanche began to close the gap. Two goals made the score 37-35 and a free throw cut Eastland's margin to one point.

Haines made a goal but it was countered. Womack added one and it was countered again by Comanche to make the score 41-40 Eastland with only about two minutes remaining. In the final two minutes, the Chiefs added four field goals while Eastland could not get a basket to make the final count 46-41.

Williamson and Harris played fine games for Eastland as freshmen. Stephen played a great first half and a steady floor game in the second half. Haines led the scoring with 19 points. Stephen had seven and Harris five for Eastland. Lockridge had 12 points for the winners.

The difference in the score came at the free throw line where Eastland made only five of 12 chances and Comanche made 14 of 25. Eastland was charged with 22 fouls.

Edith Hazard led the scoring in the girls game making a total of 17 points. Yvonne Tankersley had 9 points for Eastland.

Comanche took an early lead in the girls tilt. Eastland rallied just before the half to close the difference to two points, but the lead was stretched to eight points at 27-19, at the half.

In the third quarter the Comanche team gained one more point on the Eastland sextet and won going away, 44-31. A height advantage by Comanche appeared to be the difference.

Other Eastland players were Margaret Langlitz, Betty Allen, Nell Gibbs, Wanda Beck, Patsy Simmons, Charlotte Van Hoy, Fern Shafer, Mary White and Eloise Lawrence.

he owns 1,000 acres and Guy Parker and others the remainder. After the Santa Anna well is completed, Chamberlain will drill offsets to the No. 1 Guy Quinn and the No. 1 Davenport. Operations are expected to start in late January.

Wasson Oil Company is drilling on the Ben Mathews Ranch, a lease of Dr. J. H. Caton, near Eastland. One of the latest producers outside the Briggs-Owens pool is the A. B. Bradley No. 1 Holcomb, one mile east of Eastland. The well is pumping about 52 barrels per day. Bradley is drilling the No. 2 Holcomb below 400 feet.

Bradley has also recently completed the George Fee No. 1, north of Cisco. Ranger has also felt the revival of activities in the Jackson pool, which now has over 20 producers.

Success in the Briggs-Owens development started operations throughout the county. Bob Gilchrist, an independent driller, has a heavy schedule of drilling ahead after a busy year in 1950. Jack Chamberlain another Eastland independent operator, drilled two producers, the No. 1 Guy Quinn, two miles east of Eastland and the No. 1 Davenport, four miles east of the city.

Chamberlain is at present drilling the No. 1 O. E. Shelton, 12 miles southwest of Santa Anna on a 2,000 acre block, of which OFFICIAL APPROVAL—Stanley Musial gets a good look at his batting stance and it's OK with the Cardinals' slugger. The National League's four-time batting champion is the subject of the mural on the wall of his St. Louis restaurant.

KING-PINS—Mrs. Marion Ladewig and Dick Hoover won national individual match game bowling championships in simultaneous tournaments at the Chicago Coliseum. Hoover, a 200-pound resident of Akron, O., just turned 21 and competing in the meet for the first time, became the youngest champion in the 10-year history of the show. Mrs. Ladewig, 36, of Grand Rapids, Mich., retained the women's title.

Spectators line the sidewalk, waiting to enter Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" mobile Odditorium. Admission to the exhibit is free to the public, although voluntary donations to support Disabled American Veterans' activities are accepted. Inside the Odditorium is an amazing display of curiosities and oddities, collected by Robert Ripley during his world travels. The traveling exhibit will be brought to Eastland on Sunday, Jan. 14 by Texas State Disable American Veterans.

With the new hydrafrac treatment, and modern methods that conserve much of the oil which was wasted in earlier days, the future for oil in the county is bright.

In comparing the present oil rush with that of 1920, one local citizen declared that the situation today is much more encouraging than at any time during the boom.

Activity seems to be moving into the city of Eastland as several leases in the city limits have been obtained by drillers and are expected to be drilled in the near future.

As Spindletop gave new hope to the entire oil industry, the Briggs-Owens discovery in March, 1950 has given new hope to oil interest in Eastland county.

County Livestock Men Enter Cattle For Houston Show

HOUSTON, Tex.—Several additional entries have been received from Eastland county exhibitors for the 1951 Houston Fat Stock Show, January 31 through February 14, in Sam Houston Coliseum. President W. A. Lee announced.

Mr. Lee predicted that total entries for the 19th annual exposition would pass the more than 8000 exhibited in 1950. He also predicted that the 493,000 total number of persons who viewed the 1950 show would also be passed.

He added that tickets are now available for the World Championship Rodeo, which will be headlined by William "Hopalong Cassidy" Boyd, Western motion picture, television and radio star, with Eddy Arnold, nationally-known ballad singer, and his Oklahoma Wranglers.

Ticket orders should be directed to Rodeo Ticket Director, P. O. Box 2371, Houston, Texas.

10 Foot Skeleton Found In Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, Tex., Jan. 10 (UP)—The skeleton of a mastodon was found yesterday by workmen excavating for the foundation of the Walker Memorial Library Building on the Howard Payne College Campus.

The ancient mammal, about 10 feet long, was six feet beneath the surface. It was identified by science Professor O. E. Winebrenner.

College officials said the bones would be exhibited in the $250,000 library building when it is completed.

For topping 40,000 contestants in the annual New York contest to select America's most photogenic beauty, she gets $500 and a long-term modeling contract.

It's Costing Him, Too!

13 Lucky Guys by FRANK R. ADAMS

COPY. 1950 BY MEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: The spirits of Sgt. Eddie Engstrom's squad, wiped out in battle, are in their home town. The only person who can see Eddie is Margie Lou, the girl Eddie fell in love with after he was dead. Eddie, however, finds that a local wolf, Max Lengel, is trying to make Margie one of his conquests and he is watching Max.

SOME of the men seemed to admire Max Lengel, too. They were the disconcerted ones, those who would not have been satisfied with any kind of work or with any wages no matter how high. They groused among themselves most of the time and when Max came around they allowed their indignation to flare up into loud conversation.

"Eddie followed them into the men's lavatory which was territory sacred from the prying investigations of the company foremen. Eddie was surprised to find Joe College already there. "This," said Eddie, "is the last place I would expect to see you." "To tell the truth, sergeant," Joe explained with the jocular patience which he always used on his less well-educated superior, "I only came to satisfy a quasi-intellectual curiosity. All this beautiful plumbing which we would have welcomed so gladly on those lush tropical atolls awakens in me nothing more than a dilettante's artistic appreciation."

"Now this dope, Ben Greenbush who went to work on the line tonight," Max was saying, "what are we going to do about him?" "Ben Greenbush? I know Ben," said one of the others. This man's nickname was Flatface and it fitted because his nose had been smashed back almost to the line from his brood to his chin. He was six foot three in height and three foot six in mentality. He seemed to think that everything Max did was absolutely right. "Ben and me went to school together until he got promoted. What's wrong with him?" "Everything," said Max. "He goes in, they tell me, at the same wages I'm getting and I've been here six months, workin' my way up. Where's the justice in that?"

"Ben used to be one of the old hands around here," a fellow smoker explained. "Learned his trade in the bootworks." "So what? Where's he been all the time I've been slavin' around?" "Africk and Italy, I've heard."

can see that. And you guys know what happens every time we finish a rush job to meet a deadline—the next day we get laid off."

"Unfortunately," said Joe to Eddie, "there's just enough truth in that last statement to make the entire argument sound plausible." "Do you think they're a bunch of saboteurs or something?" Eddie asked anxiously, "workin' for Hitler and the Nips?" "No," Joe replied, "they're merely slightly low-grade Americans taking a personal and short range view of the situation, blind to the harm they can do."

"Another thing," continued Max, "I've heard that when we get awarded the Army-Navy E tomorrow the management is going to up our pay at the same time. Wouldn't we be suckers to work hard tonight when we can get more for tomorrow? The less we do the more coin we make."

HIS audience laughed appreciatively. All but one. He was troubled. "But we got to be patriotic." "Sure we got to, I'm a good American, but I have to get paid as much as the next guy." "The way I figure it," said the only man who stood up to Max, "is the men that made the rules meant everything to be the right thing. They got balled up somewhere before they got to us."

"Sure," agreed Max. "It's the way things work out that makes us sore. Take for instance, now, that foreman we're workin' under—Herman Blum Dahl. He's an apple-polisher if I ever saw one. Just to get in right with the boss he don't care how hard he rides us guys that are doing the lifting around here. I strained my back so bad last night I could hardly sleep."

His friends thought he was joking and laughed appreciatively. "Yeah, and another thing I got against Blum Dahl. The dirty so-and-so transferred my girl to the day shift so we don't go home together any more. Not that it makes any difference. I got me another girl friend today, a vey tasty morsel if I do say it myself. Female bus driver."

Son-In-Law's Advice Pays
Frank W. Woche, 531 Apache Street, Houston, Texas, can't say enough for HADACOL. A retired steamfitter and plumber, he says that he's really enjoying life these days—for up until a few months ago he was run-down, and just couldn't seem to eat. Then his son-in-law suggested he start taking HADACOL, and after the first small bottle he picked up energy, and increased his appetite. He's now taken four large bottles, and says that he just wouldn't be without HADACOL. Mr. Woche found that HADACOL helped his system to overcome deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron.
Here is Mr. Woche's own statement: "I was so run-down and my son-in-law suggested I take HADACOL. I had lost lots of weight and was tired all the time. After the first small bottle I started feeling better right away. I have now taken four more large bottles and wouldn't be without HADACOL. HADACOL has done so much for me. It's wonderful and all of my friends saw how bad I was looking and now tell me how much better I look. I can't say enough for HADACOL." (C) 1950, The LeBlanc Corp.

Sgt. Armstrong has reported for duty at Keasler Field, Miss., following his holiday leave and will be joined shortly by Mrs. Armstrong and the couple will make their home in Biloxi, Miss.

Frogs Smash Rice 87-66 For Conference Lead

BY ERNEST CONINE
United Press Sports Writer
Texas Christian's towering Horned Frogs looked like the team to beat in the Southwest Conference basketball race today after crushing hapless Rice Institute for their third straight conference victory without a defeat.

The Frogs broke their high scoring record for the second time as they swept to an easy, 87 to 66, victory over Rice last night at Fort Worth. The win gave TCU undisputed possession of first place.

Texas A&M moved into a second-place tie with the University of Texas by edging Baylor, 55 to 53, in an overtime scrap before a disappointed crowd of 2,500 fans at Waco.

No more games are scheduled until Friday night, when Texas entertains Southern Methodist at Austin.

TCU and Rice together scored 153 points to tie the conference record for points scored in a single game. The mark was set several years ago by Rice and Arkansas.

The Froggies started rolling after the first 12 minutes and led, 46-26, at intermission time. Forward Harvey Fromme swished 24 points through the nets for TCU as the Frogs bettered by seven points their all-time scoring record, set earlier this season.

Joe McDermott paced the Rice attack with 19 points. John DeWitt and Walter Davis, six-foot, eight-inch center, were the stars of Texas A&M's uphill victory over Baylor.

Davis scored 19 points during regulation play, then sank three quick field goals in the overtime. DeWitt bucketed 12 points in the last half after being limited to one point in the opening period.

Baylor led 26-20 at halftime, but A&M zoomed from behind to tie the score at 46-all at the end of regulation playing time.

The loss, Baylor's third straight, dropped the Bears to the bottom of the standings.

Legal Talk Makes Judges Shudder

FORT WORTH, TEX. (UP)—Administrative gobbledeegook has nothing on lawyers. A check of court petitions here bears that out.

For instance, there was the man who got a broken finger in collision with a truck. He sued for $5,000.

His attorney described his plight thusly:

"The initial digit of the plaintiff's first phalange of the plaintiff's left metacarpus, a grasping organ, has been irreparably damaged to such an extent as to impair the plaintiff's future earning capacity and also has brought about excruciating pain, mental suffering and embarrassment."

There was the case of a divorce petition. The wife wanted to get rid of an errant husband but wanted part of his pay check as temporary alimony.

"Defendant is not renowned as a person of temperate habits. Rather, defendant has been known to partake of intoxicating beverages in the mistaken belief that defendant is a lineal descendant of Bacchus and entitled to full measure thereof."

"Further, defendant has been known to seek the company of others, particularly those of the distaff side, and has wholly, regularly and consistently refused, demurred and abstained from honest, soul-saving, earnest endeavor for wages."

The judge deciphered it to mean that hubby got drunk frequently, kept company with another woman and refused to work.

SPINDLETOP

-where a January morning changed your way of life

At 10:30 A.M. on January 10, 1901—just fifty years ago—the mightiest oil well the world had ever seen roared into being. This well at Spindletop, near Beaumont, Texas, was the first of a series of fabulous oil discoveries that gave America a new vision of what its supply of oil might be.

Even more important, the roar of Spindletop was the starting gun in a great race where thousands of oil companies tried to outdo each other in producing more efficient, less expensive fuels for the newly developed automobile and oil burner.

Better, cheaper fuels helped put these "luxuries" within the reach of millions... and helped make popular the Diesel engine, the harvester-thresher combine, the airplane and thousands of other developments that have bettered America's way of life.

In peace or war, America's privately-managed oil companies provide the finest oil products at the world's lowest prices.

The price of gasoline, for example, is about the same as it was 25 years ago but it is so much better in quality that 2 gallons of today's gasoline do the work that 3 gallons used to do.

This amazing progress has come because free men, competing freely, have out-distanced the world in their race to out-distance each other. And the benefits of this race go to you.

 GENEVA PETROLEUM COMPANY

OIL DRILLING beneath the ocean floor, as seen from the air. By tapping ocean, mountain and desert sources, America's oil reserves keep us strong. Due to the great competition in the search for oil, America's underground oil supplies today are highest in history, 8 times as large as in Spindletop's day.

CAPT. LUCAS' WELL at Spindletop gushed up 200 feet before it could be controlled. Today's oilmen use an amazing system of gauges and valves which guard against loss. Competition calls for efficiency and the results of this efficiency are passed on to you in finer products for your car and home at the world's lowest prices.

1951 WILL SEE AMERICA with fifty million passenger cars, trucks and buses—to say nothing of Diesel engines and airplanes. It's an all-time—all-world—high. Thanks to oil rivalry, the price of gasoline today is about the same as it was 25 years ago—but the gasoline is worth 50% more by every measure of automobile performance and economy.

If Your Wife Comes Home Wearing Panung Trousers, Choli Blouse, You'll Know Muu-Muu's Got Her

By Elizabeth Toomey
NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (UP)—Wait until the little woman comes home with a pair of panung trousers, a choli blouse, and sometimes that was inspired by an oriental "muu-muu."

They're all included in a popular line of leisure clothes previewed yesterday as part of the week's fashion shows sponsored by the New York Dress Institute.

Panung trousers, says Tina Leser, the designer responsible for the far eastern clothes, are slim knickers adapted from pants worn in Siam. She uses pale blue Siamese silk trimmed with gold for one pair of trousers. Worn with a matching sleeveless blouse and gold trimmed stole, it make a glamorous lounging outfit.

The choli blouses are sleeveless, with tiny standup collars. Fortunately, Miss Leser streamlined her "muu-muu", which in the original version was a sort of shapeless Mother Hubbard distributed by missionaries in the Orient. This spring's version has an off-the-shoulder neckline, tiny puffed sleeves, a tucked bodice and a narrow belt that gathers the skirt fullness into a becoming dress.

Claire McCardell, another designer of casual clothes, takes a strictly American viewpoint for spring and announces a "chemise dress." It's pleated from shoulder to hipline, with pleats stitched down to the "sit line." She showed the chemise dress both in cotton georgette and silk shantung.

Daytime dresses and suits for spring are cut along slimmer lines, although Christian Dior, French designer who showed his American spring collection, insists skirts can be either slim or full, which ever makes the woman "still more beautiful."

Dior also likes slightly longer suit jackets, in contrast to shorter jackets shown by most American designers for spring.

Spring coats can be any length, from a short jacket with a cape look to a full-length flaring coat.

An Eton topper, slim, with a cutaway front and a slight dip in the back was shown by Montezano and Pruzan in both red fleece and fox-trimmed lame for evening wear. Reversible coats, first seen last fall, are back for spring too in smooth, double-faced wools. Even the old favorite princess-cut

Military Police Keep Army Wheels Moving

By H. D. Quigg
WITH U. S. FORCES, Korea, Jan. 9 (UP) — The American Army travels on wheels and the men who keep it moving are the Military Police.

They prod it when it lags, they untie snarls when a big movement is underway and they keep it on the right roads.

If you say MP to a GI you draw a glare and a few neatly chosen torrid words. The resentment is natural. The MP polices the Army, which includes keeping order as well as directing traffic and the GI, being an American, doesn't like being bossed around by a guy with the initials "MP" on his arm. He just plain resents the idea of a policeman telling him what to do.

But the MP's do an indispensable job. Without them the Army wouldn't roll as roll it must.

At critical moments traffic control duty for an MP is particularly hard work. The loneliest looking man in the world is an MP way out in the woods on road duty at an intersection in the middle of the night waving his flashlight at an occasional oncoming vehicle to steer it into the correct turn.

Such a spot miles away from any United Nations Army installation can be plenty dangerous for the MP. He takes his rations with him. Puts up a shelter half to keep dry and works a 12-hour trick.

Whenever possible, MP's work in pairs rather than singly at lonely intersections or at one-lane bridges. That's for their own protection. When you pass you see one working and the other asleep under a shelter half, or tending a fire which keeps them both warm, or brewing some coffee.

Drinks on Governor SALT LAKE CITY (U.P.)—Utah state prison parolees are now free to celebrate their release on any other festive occasion with a "short one," thanks to Gov. J. Bracken Lee. Lee announced that he will oppose the rearrest of parolees if their only offense is drinking intoxicating liquor. Previously, former inmates were subject to another year behind the bars of caught drinking.

The Nebraska state health department spends about $38,000 yearly on a cancer control program.

SPINDLETOP 1901

Amazing is the word for it!

In the grave emergency that now confronts our country, the oil industry faces its great job with confidence... because, in the past 50 years, oil has enabled Americans to produce more, to have more, and to live better than any other people on the earth.

Since the discovery of oil in great quantities at Spindletop, oil has supported a progressive economic development that has brought about more profound changes in man's way of living than occurred in any other period of history.

For oil, available in steadily increasing quantities as a fuel, made possible the development of machinery and it is this combination of machines and energy which has changed the world in the short space of half a century.

With oil came automobiles... mass production... airplanes... mechanized farming... diesel electric trains... ships that cross an ocean in four days.

The oil industry kept pace with this amazing progress—supplied its energy, lubricated its wheels and gears, developed new and better products for new and better American machines, Foresighted, the industry planned yesterday for today's great need for oil; today, it plans for tomorrow's.

At the beginning of another year, the oil industry faces its biggest job in all the fifty years since Spindletop. It must produce more oil in 1951 than has ever been produced before. For the defense of our country and for our economic welfare—both now and in the future—the oil industry must continue to find new oil, to develop producing oil fields, to build refining and transportation facilities.

It approaches this job with a full realization of the size and number of the problems involved, but also with a confidence born of its demonstrated ability to keep ahead of the times.
