Dewey Calls For More Troops To Europe

YOU NAME IT

By Everett Taylor

Just about everyone in the city and around it was hoping Friday afternoon that the light misty drizzle would turn into a good ground soaking rain before the lousy day departed.

Predictions were that some showers would fall Friday night and Saturday.

Despite the long spell of dry weather, I. C. Heck, city manager, said this week that the water in Lake Eastland is only about three feet from the spillway level.

Heck said that a measure of the water about a week ago revealed that the water was 35 inches below the spillway, which was about five inches lower than the previous month.

It is estimated that the lake would still have enough water to furnish the city for another year without more runoff. But it would be nice for the water to run over the spillway pretty soon.

The Eastland High girls basketball team this year had a very successful season, although their showing in district play was not too impressive.

Coach Charles Harris' girls won two tournaments before the district season got underway. In district play, they won two games. They were defeated in their first outing in the district tournament.

Harris named 11 lettermen from the squad. He explained that any girl who played in as many as four games and in two district tilts was lettered.

The two trophies won by the girls this year make nice additions to the high school collection.

This has been a busy week for Eastland with several large events having taken place.

February 18-25 being Brotherhood Week, Eastland had a Brotherhood program Thursday night, in one of the big events of the seven day period.

It was the first time that Eastland has observed the week with a special program. The program was well received by those attending and can be called a success.

We understand that it is planned to be an annual affair. The local American Legion post sponsored the event.

Very few cities the size of Eastland observe such programs and the local Legion post deserves a pat on the back for the arrangement of the program.

Another event of the week was the Lions March on Polio Tuesday night which was well entered into.

A total of $190 was raised by the event to be used in the fight against polio. The county as a whole was reported by Stanley Webb, county chairman of the drive, to be about $1,000 short of their goal for this year.

Still another big event in the city this week was the appearance of the Carswell Air Force Band of Ft. Worth in a band clinic and concert at the high school Wednesday night.

High school band students from several surrounding cities took part in the clinic, and a large crowd overflowed the high school auditorium for the concert Wednesday night.

Also, the Baptist and Methodist churches had special events throughout the week among the other events taking place. It all added up to a pretty busy week for local citizens.

Chinese Communists Abandon Strategic City Of Hoengsong

By Earnest Hoberrecht

TOKYO, Feb. 24 (UP)—Chinese Reds abandoned strategic Hoengsong, former anchor of their central Korean defense line, to pursuing United Nations forces today.

Two U. S. tank and infantry patrols pushed into the bomb-flattened city 10 miles north of Wouju on the fourth day of the 8th Army's new "willer offensive" and found it empty.

One patrol duelled with Chinese rear guards north of Hoengsong for three hours before returning to the Allied lines south of the city. But the second reported no enemy contact, an 8th Army communique said.

Another American tank column 25 miles to the east smashed a Communist ambush and seized the important mountain crossroads town of Pangnim, five miles north of Pyongyang.

Hail, a village midway between Pyongyang and Wouju was captured by U. S. forces surging through mountains up to 4,500 feet against no more than rear guard resistance.

British and Canadian forces were reported fighting an estimated enemy battalion—up to 1,000 men—in another sector northeast of Chipyong.

The western front south and on both sides of Seoul was the quietest it has been in recent weeks. Only a few mortar shells and bullets disturbed the calm during daylight.

In the pre-dawn darkness, however, U. S. artillery broke up two enemy attempts to cross the Han east of Seoul and probably wrecked two out of five to 10 Communist tanks spotted on the north bank.

Shore-based U. S. Marine pilots claimed the destruction of three more Red tanks south of Pyongyang, capital of Communist North Korea, and damage to one south east of the city.

UN forces on the central front launched their patrol south from Hoengsong after capturing hills west, south and southeast in advances of up to four miles yesterday.

A reinforced American patrol of tanks, infantry and engineers was the first to enter the empty city 35 miles south of the 38th Parallel at 9:30 a.m. (7:30 p.m. Friday EST).

A second patrol pushed into the town early this afternoon and reported "no enemy contact", an 8th Army communique said.

Members of the dairy association will be guests of the Gorman Business Men's Club at the Fire Hall in Gorman, 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 5, it was announced.

Lift Up Your Heart

By Rev. C. Nelson

HIDDEN STRENGTH

Today I wish to write about that side of a great man's life that the historians never gave, the spiritual side. History simply records the heroic deeds of the man, and there are many. History records his political and his military triumphs, but history does not reveal the secret of his greatness. I believe it was in his deep spiritual life, his life of faith, for he was a man of deep faith. The man was George Washington.

He had a deep faith in a cause. He believed in the cause of freedom. He believed in it enough to invest, not just his life, but his small fortune also. He had an abiding faith that the cause of right under God would triumph. As all great men have, he had faith in a cause.

He had a deep faith in a people. He was proud to guide an army that Napoleon would have scoffed at. An army that had only one prospect in eyes of many, that of defeat. But Washington believed in what he knew was on the inside of those soldiers, because he had felt the same thing. He believed that men who will die for freedom will fight for freedom to victory. He proved that he was right at Trenton, Princeton, Valley Forge, and Yorktown. He believed in his people. All great men have believed in a people.

He had deep faith in God. It was from this source that his other faith sprang. It was this faith that was the dayspring of his inner strength. One cold bitter night at Valley Forge, as the men's steps were outlined in the snow from their own blood coming from chapped and frozen feet a sentry was attracted by a voice. When the sentry investigated the voice he found his commander in chief at prayer on his knees in the snow. No wonder King George III could not win. No wonder the British soldiers were no match. No man or group of men can fight against God and His legions. Could this man who was first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen also be called first in American faith? His greatness in faith, patriotism, devotion, and dedication is sadly needed in our land today. May none of us let our devotion to God, to country, and to our fellow man stop short of sacrifice.

Danger Of Erosion

FORT WORTH, TEX., Feb. 24 (UP)—The "blow areas" of Texas and Oklahoma still face danger of erosion from sweeping spring winds despite "fairly general" precipitation in the past two weeks, a federal soil expert said today.

County Dairy Show Set For April Date

RAR Services Held In Ranger Thursday Night

The Royal Ambassador Recognition Service of Cisco Association will convene at the Second Baptist Church in Ranger Thursday night March 1, beginning at 7:30. The recognition meeting is an annual feature of the boy missionary organization and is for the purpose of advancement of boys qualified for higher ranks in the order.

A missionary motion film will be shown. The film "In His Name" is the story of how an entire church was inspired to greater support of mission work through the sacrificial giving of a teen-age boy.

The Order of Royal Ambassadors is an organization in Baptist churches exclusively for boys. It attempts to give him a missionary spirit by acquainting him with the lives of missionaries. The order seeks to aid character development in all phases of a boy's life. Members are eligible to attend R. A. camps each summer for activities including worship, messages from missionaries, and recreational features. The motto for the order is "We Are Ambassadors for Christ." 2 Cor. 5:20.

All boys in Eastland, Stephen and Shackelford counties are invited to attend whether they are members of the R. A. organization or not.

Father And Son Banquet Planned

Plans are being completed for the annual Father-Son banquet sponsored by the 9:45 Bible Class of the First Methodist Church. The affair is given each year for the boys of the community. Judge J. E. Hickman initiated the program while he was living in Eastland. He is now member of the Texas Supreme Court in Austin.

Rev. P. W. Walker, pastor of the First Methodist Church at Denton, who was pastor here from 1936 until 1940, will be the speaker.

"Hounds and Men," Rev. Walker's own book will be the topic of his talk.

Starting time for the banquet will be 7 a.m., March 6.

The banquet supper will be prepared and served by the Martha Dorcus class of the Methodist Church.

No Injuries In Accidents On Highway 80

Persons involved in two highway 80 accidents between Eastland and Ranger Friday escaped serious injury.

At 5 a.m. Friday, a car and trailer driven by L. L. Bennett of Independence, Mo., was struck in the rear by a Braswell Motor lines truck driven by B. B. Ellison of Stanton, highway patrolman Terry Barrett, who investigated the crash, reported.

No damage was done to the truck, Barrett said, but between $500 and $600 damage was suffered by the vehicle driven by Barnett, he estimated. The accident occurred at 5 a.m. about 2.6 miles of Ranger.

At Odien at 10:10 a.m., a 1950 Chevrolet sedan driven by L. L. McIlvain was in collision with a truck driven by Charles T. Fuller.

No injuries were suffered, but McIlvain's car was damaged considerably Barrett said.

Rev. D. Guy of Colorado Springs, Colorado, will be the guest speaker at both services Sunday at the Church of the Nazarene located at West Main at Connelley Sts.

The pastor, William C. Ember-ton, says, "our morning worship begins at 10:55 and the evening service at 7:30. We urge you to come and hear this consecrated young man as he preaches the word. Also, we would remind you of the contest in progress in the Sunday School department. Be sure and be with us at 9:45 and see which side will win."

Cops End Wild Spree Of Four Dallas Youths

ARLINGTON, Tex., Feb. 24 (UP)—A brief, but wild, spree in crime by four Dallas juveniles came to an ignominious end on the police docket here today.

The four youths were returned to Arlington last night from Shreveport, La., after 24 hours in which they stole a car, rifles and ammunition, shot to death three prize dairy animals and riddled a heavy piece of Louisiana road-working machinery with bullets.

Charges of breaking and entering were filed against them at Terrell, Tex., where they burglarized a sporting goods store to acquire an "arsenal"—nine rifles, 28 hunting knives, and ammunition.

Police Chief A. B. Cribbs said charges of stealing a new 1951 Pontiac automobile at Arlington were being considered.

The youngsters, three of them age 16 and the other 15, were arrested by Louisiana state trooper E. L. Burley Thursday afternoon after a brief chase near Shreveport.

In Louisiana, the boys (1) killed three prize dairy animals—two cows and a registered bull; (2) opened fire on a highway work crew and riddled the crew's road-working machine; (3) drove away from a filling station without paying for a tankload of gas; (4) opened fire on a group of four Negro women walking along U. S. Highway 80.

Cribbs said the youths explained they had "just gone out to steal."

Dallas police said three of the boys had been arrested previously at Dallas on juvenile charges.

The chancel choir will sing the anthem, "Create in Me a Clean Heart, O God," by Mueller.

Rev. Bailey is scheduled to bring the message at the evening worship service on the subject, "From Self To Others."

'ONLY COURSE THAT WILL SAVE US FROM WORLD WAR'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (UP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York called on Congress today to speed more U. S. troops to Europe "as the only course on earth that will save us from World War III and the total destruction of our civilization."

He warned two Senate committees that to withhold American divisions from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact Army would "paralyze" the capacity of this and other free nations to defend themselves.

"It would certainly invite imperialist Communism to move into the vacuum we thus created," he said.

Dewey, titular head of his party and twice its nominee for president, stepped into the middle of a roaring foreign policy debate with a flat endorsement of administration plans to send 100,000 more American troops to Europe to bolster the western defenses against Communism.

That placed him squarely at odds with former president Herbert Hoover, Sen. Robert A. Taft, O., and some other Republican leaders.

In his first appearance before Congress, Dewey warned that "we are being warred against" already and an all-out conflict can be avoided only by building up western strength and fast.

"We are not maintaining or reinforcing our troops in Europe as a matter of grace or of charity," Dewey said. "We are doing so as a matter of hard necessity for our own self-preservation."

He said the nation must face its "inescapable duty" to build up an "overwhelming force to place it war instead of inviting it."

To do otherwise, he warned, would be "simple, direct notice to Stalin" that the United States does not intend to back up its fighting men already in Europe, and "that they and Europe are his for the asking."

"I am pleading for this course," he said, "because it is the only course on earth that will save us from World War III and the total destruction of our civilization."

Dewey struck hard at the resolution by Senate Republican leader Kenneth S. Wherry, R., Neb., which seeks to bar troop commitments until Congress establishes an overall policy.

He said the issue has narrowed down to "one little toe-hold of isolationism." Those backing the resolution, he added, represent "the last gasp of effort" of those who seek to withdraw the U. S. from the world and to our own shores.

He said the program of rearming Western Europe is "the only course which will develop strength so obviously great that the fourteen conspirators in the Kremlin will not dare to plunge this world into the final war of the atomic age."

"I doubt that it is necessary for me to point out," he said, "that the possibility of all-out aggressive war by the Kremlin is not remote."

He backed this up by stating that no dictator ever denied his people the "very essentials of life" to maintain incredibly large armed forces "unless he expects to use them in all-out warfare at the moment of his own choosing."

Dewey's 4,000-word statement represented the strongest endorsement he has given thus far to the troops - for-Europe program.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (UP)—The United States and its allies have offered to let Germans fly military planes again if western Germany joins Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's European defense army.

J. Ross Rucker will speak at Laymen's services in the Flatwoods Methodist Church Sunday morning.

R. Pat Miller will be the speaker at the Desdemona Methodist Church at the Laymen's service.

Pentagon Has Global Strategy In Spite of Armchair Generals

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower has a cute saying to the effect that military science is one of the two oldest professions in the world in which the amateur is always considered better than the professional. Ike used to quote this whenever civilian officials from Washington or other capitals showed up at his European headquarters to tell him how to run the last war.

Hard sledding in Korea and the proposals to send U. S. troops to aid Europe have produced another civilian crop of military experts. Drug store generals, curb stone colonels, barber shop chiefs of staff and the three C's—congressmen, columnists and commentators—all know just how the war should be won.

In spite of all this voluntary assistance, the boys in the Pentagon seem to have worked out a global strategy that makes sense. Secretary of Defense Marshall unveiled a good deal more of this than he would have preferred to as a general, in his testimony before Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

What the United States has been trying to do in Europe under NATO—the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—has been subject to a great deal of misunderstanding if not deliberate misinterpretation. The six American divisions which General Marshall plans to have in Europe do not constitute any threat to Soviet Russia. It will be only 10 per cent of the defense force which Western Europe itself will build.

As Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts brought out in his questioning of General Marshall, to launch an offensive against Russia's 175 divisions in eastern Europe would take perhaps 300 Allied divisions. That would seem to take care of the argument that sending additional U. S. troops to Europe might provoke Russia into a war.

One other important factor in this defense planning is that the United States will depend greatly on air and sea power. One of the main congressional criticisms against the NATO defense plan has been that the United States should build up air and sea power, leaving ground force development to the Europeans. Yet air and sea do play an important part in U. S. defense plans for Europe.

Fortunately, the United States has not had to disclose its air and sea power dispositions in Europe to the extent that ground force dispositions have been revealed to quiet congressional criticisms. There have been announcements of B-29 bomber bases established in England. More recently there have been public announcements of negotiations for air base rights in North Africa.

THE use of this air and sea power—particularly naval aviation—in hammering the flanks of any Russian aggression against Western Europe is a most important military consideration. Furthermore, air and sea power can be quickly reinforced from the United States in case actual warfare breaks out.

Ground forces on the other hand take time to assemble and to move. One division actually in Europe would be worth several divisions held in the United States, even if fully trained and at the dock ready to sail.

The all-important added factor is that troops on the ground in Europe will contribute greatly to European morale and European will to resist aggression if it comes.

The whole NATO defense plan is built on the contention that a Russian offensive against Western Europe could be held because its power would be greatly blunted as it advanced.

The importance of holding Western Europe with American aid is that this is really America's first line of defense if war is to be kept away from American shores. As General Marshall declared, if Europe falls into Russian hands, it will open this country to an immediate air attack.

Peron Stifling Press's Reason For Passing His 'Games'

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The United States Olympic Association is flying some 150 men and women athletes 8000 miles to Buenos Aires.

They are to run and jump and throw assorted objects, lift weights, do gymnastics, swim and dive, play water polo, basketball and baseball, box, wrestle, ride, cycle and shoot in an alleged sporting event known as the first Pan-American Games. This travesty on international competitive athletics is to run from Feb. 24 through March 8.

For a great variety of reasons, it once more is time to ask the old World War II question, "Is this trip necessary?"

If the Korean situation isn't enough, there are the Perons, Juan and Eva, who have no place conducting a sporting event. Argentina's petty dictators don't even know the first principle of good sportsmanship. That is to give your antagonist a fair opportunity to lick you according to the rules.

The Perons stifling what little free press was left in the Argentine is the latest and another reason why the U. S. Olympic Association should call the whole thing off.

JUST the other day the Perons let go their most recent foul blow against their biggest political rival, the old and world-respected La Prensa, one of the two independent newspapers in the Argentine.

Working through one of the captive labor unions, in which Little Eva of the many mink coats pulls the strings, they are keeping La Prensa shut down by a phony strike of the newspaper's distribution men. Everybody knows it is the phonus-bolonus, most of all the Argentine czar and his yes men, who screw up their faces, attempt to conceal smug smiles of satisfaction.

If President Peron had an ounce of inter-American good will to justify the expense of sending 150 athletes all the way to Buenos Aires to perform in his stadium, he would call off his trained dogs from La Prensa's throat.

Obviously he has no such intention.

Like the blokes he admired most and conceitedly believes he can improve upon—Hitler and Mussolini—he thinks he can rub it in and make us like it. He intends to keep one foot on the neck of the free press of Argentina while extending a slippery palm of welcome to our athletic contingent. How can we take that hand?

Normal use of brakes on a slippery surface may lock the wheels and throw your vehicle out of control. Use an intermittent brake application for stops. In an emergency, disengage clutch and jab brake rapidly.

BULLET-RIDDLED AMBULANCE STILL OPERATES—Perforated by enemy small arms and automatic weapons fire, a U. S. ambulance was proceeding under its own power in evacuating United Nations casualties from a Korean battle front.

TONS OF ENVELOPES, yellow, pink and green, are being prepared for mailing by handicapped people at the Texas Society for Crippled Children in Dallas. Approximately one million of these envelopes—one of the largest mailings of the year—will be turned over to Uncle Sam the last of the month, according to Martin M. Ricker, Executive Director of the Texas Society. They will contain Easter seals, and a request to use them and return a donation for the benefit of Texas crippled children. This picture was made in the Sheltered Workshop where the Texas Society employs handicapped people who would not otherwise be able to earn wages.

A false impression that the new glass fiber rods are unbreakable and will stand any abuse appears to be prevalent among dealers and fishermen alike.

Glass rods have revolutionized the rod industry and are here to stay. They are regarded as superior to rods made from other materials.

They are lighter, better balanced and have more power. They are built for fishing and to withstand all the strain a fish can give them.

But they're not made to bend by hand in various arcs and hoops, nor to be handled like a buggy whip.

No rod, whether steel, bamboo or glass, can be grabbed by the tip and bent without doing it irreparable damage. Even though the rod doesn't take a set or break, some of its fibres are destroyed by such undue strain.

To demonstrate the ability of a glass rod to handle fish or cast a lure, insert a reel and pull the line through the guides and tip, then pull the free end of the line as much as you like. This is the same type strain the rod gets in fishing.

To demonstrate the rod's action, put on a practice casting plug. Never grab the rod by the top and demonstrate its action by leading it into an arc. This puts undue strain on part of the rod and does not distribute the strain equally along the entire length of the rod as the pull of a big fish will.

Today's tackle manufacturers are putting out some wonderful plugs, many of them recognizing the back-running principle developed by Whopper - Stopper lures of Sherman, Tex.

Most lure manufacturers are concentrating on action instead of color. I have experimented with both and have no doubt in my mind that fish can tell color but have always advocated the theory that action is of most importance in an artificial lure. Color is important but violent action lures with natural food scale trim the most effective lures for all-around game fishing. Contrasting color combinations run second in importance.

Herbert Hoover once said: "Fishing is the chance to wash one's soul with pure air, with the rush of the brook, or the shimmer of the sun on blue water. It brings meekness and inspiration from the decency of nature, charity toward tackle makers, patience toward fish, a mocking of profits and egos, a quieting of hate, a rejoicing that you do not have to decide a darned thing until next week, and it is discipline on the equality of men—for all men are equal before fish."

What better prescription for a tired world?

"HOW-DO, DADDY," SAYS TIKE ON TV—Television played postman for polio patient Jack Shadley of West Salem, O. In a Cleveland hospital for six months, Shadley kept wondering how his year-old baby, Rebecca Ann, looked since he saw her last. A letter by Mrs. Shadley to Cleveland's television station WEWS turned the trick. The station arranged for Rebecca Ann and her mother to appear as "guest stars." While Shadley watched from his hospital bed, Rebecca tossed her dark curls, smiled and said "How-do," to the obvious delight of her dad.

US Trainmen Bitter Against Their Employers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (UP)—American railroadmen are bitterly critical of the private ownership which employs them and the pay they get for their work.

Strike threats compelled the United States to assume technically the operation of the railroads last August. Uncle Sam still is at the throttle.

A slightly similar situation, with startling differences, exists across the Atlantic in the world's second largest English-speaking country. There are railroad strikes and strike threats in Great Britain, too. And the roads are operated by the government.

The British workers are angry with their employers. The threatened tie-up of rail transportation creates a great national danger in Great Britain as it did in the United States. But there the similarity ends.

The American quarrel is over the division of profits from joint efforts of labor, capital and management in operating the carriers. Some higher wage costs may be passed on in higher rates. But there is a profit margin there, also.

The British quarrel is over division of a deficit. A socialist government nationalized British railroads on Jan. 1, 1948. National-zell operation has accumulated in three years a deficit of about $140,000,000

Some workers had the idea that labor would in fact own nationalized industries. Thereafter there was to be pie in the sky or, at least, plenty of bread on the table. That hope has been disappointed more than somewhat by British experience.

But the railroads are owned by the British people. What ever the railroads finally get from government will have to be put in the owners' either in tax-paid subsidies or in higher freight and passenger fares. None of it can be absorbed by a losing industry. There is no profit cushion.

American railroad workers would think management was joking if they were offered increases on the tiny scale against which British railroadmen now are objecting. The spurned socialist offer ran like this:

Junior clerks: $7.00 to $42 a year.
Other white collar workers: $70 to $98 a year.
Switchmen: $123 a week.
Locomotive engineers: $1.47 a week.

Joe Louis Gets Dull TKO Over Andy Walker

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24—Joe Louis added another lusterless victory to his tedious march along the comeback trail today and said he was ready to fight champion Ezzard Charles once again for the world heavyweight title.

The once-fearsome Brown Bomber, showing little of the punch that made him the killer of bygone days, scored a dull technical knockout over Andy Walker, California's heavy weight champion, in the 10th and final round at the Cow Palace last night.

The victory did little to add to Louis' prestige, although to give him due credit, it was no fault of his.

After Louis had chased the frightened Walker all over the ring for nine rounds, during which he knocked him down twice, referee Frankie Brown stopped the bout at one minute and 49 seconds of the 10th while Walker was still on his feet, but obviously willing to call it quits at any time.

To the 18,000 fans who paid approximately $90,000 for the privilege of seeing the Brown Bomber in action, it was a discouraging show. And when the fight finally was stopped, the decision was greeted by a rousing chorus of boos.

Aggies Try For Share Of SWC Cage Title

Texas A&M can assure itself of at least a share of the Southwest Conference basketball title tonight by defeating Rice in the only loop game.

The A&M lead was sliced to one-half game last night as the Texas Longhorns defeated Baylor, 51 to 45, and Texas Christian downed Southern Methodist 64 to 54.

However, A&M has two games remaining on its schedule, while runners-up Texas and TCU—tied for second place—play only once more. Thus, two wins would give the Aggies undisputed possession of the crown, and a victory over the Owls at Houston tonight would give them at least a claim to part of it.

Baylor, in its last game of a dismal season, was outscored last night as Texas hit the net from every angle.

The Longhorns, using drive-in-shots to good advantage, were sparked by the 21-point performance of George Scaling. Teammate James Dowies scored 17 points for the Steers.

The 2,800 fans at the Baylor gym, however, took consolation from the feat of Bear forward Ralph Johnson, who whipped 16 points through the net and broke Baylor's all-time scoring record.

Johnson raised his total to 310 points, seven more than the old record set last season by Don Heathington.

TCU had its hands full overcoming the Mustangs. The Frogs staked out a 32 to 28 halftime

Gen. Moore Dies Suddenly On Korea Front

WITH THE 9TH CORPS IN KOREA, Feb. 24 (UP)—Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore, new commander of the 9th Corps in Korea, died suddenly today a few minutes after he climbed out of the wreckage of a helicopter which crashed while he was making an aerial inspection of the front lines.

Moore, 56, died less than three weeks after assuming command of the forces which are spearheading the Allied central front offensive.

He was the second American general officer to be killed in Korea. Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, 8th Army commander died in a jeep accident in December. A third general, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the U. S. 24th Division, has been missing and presumed dead since the battle of Taejon last July.

Moore, a slight, hustling "front line general," was on a helicopter inspection tour when he signaled his pilot to go down for a closer look at something which interested him beside the Han River north of Yaju.

The helicopter's blades struck a cable and the craft flipped over and crashed on the river bank. Moore climbed out, apparently uninjured, persons who witnessed the crash said. He walked to the van of an artillery commander and complained that his knee pained him. A doctor was called to examine his knee, and Moore lost consciousness.

He was placed aboard another helicopter and flown to a field hospital but was dead before he arrived.

No official cause of death had been announced.

The helicopter pilot was only slightly injured. He was taken to a hospital where his name was

"That's as far as I go tonight," Sally said.

The audience remained friendly as Sally read a poem and pre-withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Moore's body lay in state at the hospital tonight and will be flown to a rear area Sunday morning.

Sally ignored the pennies and read her speech rapidly through to the end before she fled to the wings with tears rolling down her cheeks.

TELLING

MANY of us smiled at the farmer in Pearl Buck's story of the Good Earth. It seemed to us most strange that a man should buy his coffin ahead of time and take grim satisfaction in looking at the fine box in which he was to be buried. Perhaps many of us are as strange in our American refusal to think about death at all. The old adage "as sure as death and taxes" should have put us in the frame of mind to look forward to our own death and to make some preparation for it. Too many of us, however, are like the proverbial ostrich; we dig our heads down into the sand and assume that while death will overtake everybody else, by some strange shift of good fortune, it will never knock at our door. We are "foolish virgins" as Jesus called the people who made no provision for the coming of The Great Day, because the hour was uncertain.

ONE of the SIMPLEST STORIES ever told is the one told by Jesus to the Disciples on how to be saved. . . how to be ready for death. He made it so simple that even a "little child" can understand. Let us not take lightly the responsibility of this simple story! May we be conformed to right; subject to, and influenced by the laws of the Supreme.

FACE TO FACE let's face the fact of death and its certainty for ourselves. There are plans that take death into account. See to it that we have arranged our minds for souls for the promotion that we expect, from earth to Heaven. See to it that our needs have been adequately provided for; let us face the fact fearlessly. May we be resolute and more determined to keep telling the Simple Story of how to live and what to live for so that we may know how to die. Come with me to Church.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial and molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

That God's wisdom is omnipotent and ever available in meeting today's problems is stressed in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 25, 1951.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 33:11. It reads, "The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations." Also from Psalms is this quotation from the Lesson-Sermon: "Great is our Lord, and of great power; his understanding in infinite."

Emphasizing the unchanging nature of God is this statement from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mind is the same Life, Love, and Wisdom 'yesterday, and to-day, and forever'" page 288).

Educators Believe Public Schools Should Teach Facts Of Communism So Students Will Know Its Threats

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (UP)—Public schools should teach the facts about Russian Communism so students will clearly understand its threat to the American concept of Democracy, seven leading educators urged today.

One educator even advocated study of the Russian language by some children, along with general studies of Russian history, literature, geography, industry and economic resources.

All agreed that teachers have a responsibility to help school children understand better the reasons for the conflict between the democracies and Communist Russia.

The seven educators stressed the need for enlarging public school studies of Communist Russia in a symposium of seven articles in the March issue of the school executive.

"It is encouraging to note that these educators favor sweeping away cobwebs about Russia," said Dr. Walter D. Coking, chairman of the board of editors of the American School Publishing Co.

"The Russian revolution of 1917 and the development of the Soviet state constitute perhaps the outstanding political event of this century," George S. Counts, of Teachers College, Columbia University, said in his article.

"It can be no more ignored with safety than the atomic bomb."

He called "politically illiterate" and person "who does not have at least an elementary knowledge of Russian Communism—its controlling ideas, its institutions and practices, its impact on the world, its powerful outward thrust, and its challenge to our democracy."

Alonso Grace, director of advanced studies at New York University, said "every child should be familiar with the meaning, methods, and results of totalitarianism and the nature of the ideological conflict."

He advocated Russian language studies, courses in Russian literature, history, geography and industry, radio and television observation of United Nations sessions.

Finis E. Engleman, Connecticut Commissioner of Education, said there "is little to fear in truth even though there may be some good in Communism and many imperfections in a democratic society."

Just in case, "120,000 crack Russian troops are standing by in Austria, Hungary and Romania."

Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania have some 600,000 men under arms. Soviet tanks and planes give these satellites more fire power than Tito's forces can muster. If they suddenly invaded, satellites probably could...

...force Tito's 500,000-man army back into the hills and drive to the shores of the Adriatic Sea. This would give Stalin a direct route to the Mediterranean Sea...

...which would in turn enable the Kremlin to outflank Turkey and Greece, threaten Italy and further endanger the vital mid-East oil fields.

If satellites march on Tito, Italian Communists could be expected to hamper their country by general strikes and sabotage, contribute "volunteers" to Yugoslav campaign. Current "Titoist" movement in Italy might wreck this Russian strategy.

Soviet control over Yugoslavia would weaken and outflank Allied forces in Austria and Germany.

U. S. JET PILOTS USE TINY FLYING CHARTS

As jet planes grow faster, the charts by which they fly grow smaller and more convenient.

The Aeronautical Chart Service, which is a unit of the Air Force's Air Materiel Command, has the task of providing charts which will conquer the problems occasioned by the high-speed, high-altitude flying of the jets. It accomplishes the task by continuous experimentation and by coordination with the men who fly the planes.

Time is a matter of the greatest importance to the jet pilot. Large-scale charts, that is, those which cover a smaller part of the earth's surface, are not for him; he flies so fast that his navigation charts must cover great areas. He doesn't need all the detailed ground information which pilots of slower aircraft use; in fact, his speed and altitude prevent him from seeing some of the earth's features as depicted on the more conventional charts. Then, too, he hasn't as much time to study his charts.

Another factor is the limited cockpit space in the jets. The jet pilot has no place to put a great volume of charts, and no space for studying large charts.

So the charts have grown smaller and more compact, and cover larger areas. Less detail is shown. Six jet navigation charts are sufficient to cover the entire continental United States, and each measures only 15 1/2 by 18 1/2 inches. The arrival let-down charts, 4 1/2 by 7 inches, are contained in various publications at present provided for each overseas area where the U. S. Air Force flies.

It is the endeavor of the Aeronautical Chart Service to see through the eyes of the jet pilot to assure that his charts will keep pace with the tremendous advances in jet flying.

1000 Seniors Attend Citizen Program Friday

LONGVIEW, Feb. 24—Approximately one thousand high school seniors attended the Education for Citizenship program at Huntsville Feb. 23. The program was under the sponsorship of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and Sam Houston State Teachers College. This is the third in a series of seven such programs to be held this year. In the two previous programs over 2700 high school seniors attended, according to an announcement made by Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the East Texas Chamber.

The Education for Citizenship program was an all day affair. The morning portion of the program was given to a discussion of citizenship by John Ben Shepherd, Secretary of State and chairman of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce Education for Citizenship Committee. After Mr. Shepherd's speech, the seniors, according to their own preference, assembled in study groups. Each group was addressed by a person actually engaged in some profession or vocation.

After lunch another guidance clinic was held to give the students an opportunity of getting the inside facts on two different vocations.

Newspaper Notices Being Used To Pick Out Mates In Germany

By Menno Duersken
United Press Staff Correspondent
FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—In Germany a young man's fancy may turn to newspaper advertisements to find his true love. Newspapers and magazines publish hundreds of "Mate Wanted" advertisements daily and editors said they are increasing each month.

Some of the lonely hearts don't want husbands or wives. An advertisement in the magazine Constanze, for instance said:

"I have a car (scarce article in Germany) and a ski lodge in the mountains. A ski loving girl maybe would like to escape for three weeks with me into a mountain idyl?"

Then there was one from an amateur photographer who said: "Interested in art and photography and seek a young girl with the same interests, someone who is pretty, has a good, slender figure and is not camera shy."

Down to Earth
More typical, however, was the down-to-earth plea: "I am lonely and forgotten. An honest and dependable baker who ear:—singer for two. What warmhearted girl would like to become my wife?"

Or the desperate plea of a mother who apparently visualized her daughter in spinsterhood and wrote:

"Without the knowledge of my daughter, who is 39, well educated, cultured and has enough to support herself, I am seeking a warm-hearted, humor-and-music loving gentleman, from a cultured family to be her life partner."
