(sortmen) of baits or lurg assortment of baits or lures which will produce consistant results becomes the anual problem of wouldbe anglers this time each year.

Certain baits catch fish when others fail because of variations in color, action, depth of travel and size

As with everything else in this growing-pain age of American sport, fishing lures are taking about-face in functional degn and principal of action.

The back-running type has de-finitely proven to be a great advancement in principal and deign. Born from a back-yard hobby, the back-runner has establish-ed itself as a type which will catch fish when others fail because of its versatile action, running depth and features' that fascinate the angler as well as the fish.

Most major bait manufacturers have now added this type of lure to their lists.

In the use of all lures, bait manipulation is of utmost importance, however, the back-runner has reduced the importance of this factor considerably since no special manipulation of the rod is necessary to obtain a kill-

OIL TAX HEARING

The most complete, point-by-point analysis of the oil and gas operators' share of the state tax burden presented the Legislature in recent years was laid before the House Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday night.

As sole spokesman appearing on behalf of the state's oil and gas producers, Andrew M. Howsley, Association General Counsel, gave the Committee statistics which showed that the operators' taxes now provide more than 30 per cent of the revenue raised by state government, contrasted to 11.6 per cent in 1940. He pointed out that if the 1940 ratio between the amount supplied by the oil operators and that furnished by other taxpayers had been maintained through the past decade, the state would today have annual revenue totaling almost one billion dollars.

He pointed out that the cost of government has more than doubled in the 1940-49 period, but the petroleum industry's share in the cost has tripled during that period.

"We do recognize, as do you, that the oil and gas industry is an important segment in the economy of Texas," he said, "but we feel certain that it is not so large as to justify the large share of the financial burden that we have on us for governmental costs."

He called attention to indications that "some rather large economic forces are in play in Texas other than that provided by oil and gas.'

In addition to paying roughly one-third of the county ad valorem taxes on state-wide basis and heavy payments in school districts, the industry's state tax bill totaled $108,765,000 last year from these sourc-

Total	$ 108,765,000

The Legislature's own Legislative Council Research Director also called attention to fluctuations in revenue depending so heavily on the industry's operation. It was suggested that budget makers agree on a dependable estimate of oil revenue and fix operating costs on that basis. If more revenue came in than was expected, then it could go to permanent improvements and not impair operation costs.

What the lovely tree and the dashing waterfall and the cloud-flecked sky say to us depends much on the creative mood and the inner interest of our minds and hearts. "The heavens declare the glory of God" only to those who are reverent and believing. What we bring of inner beauty will determine the ministry of external beauty.

THE house builder in us will look upon a majestic Douglass Fir and see in it lumber feet for the construction of homes and barns and business structures and churches. The botanist will look upon the varied glory of the natural world to classify leaf and petal and root. The artist is carried away with symmetry and color and light and shade that ravish a sensitive soul. The child of God hears the woods and the sky and the falling streams as they shout, "God made us, and we are serving His creative purpose. Join us in praising and worshipping our Creator. Come with us to Church."

IN EACH of us is something of the practical business man and of the lover of nature and of the artist and of the worshipper. Which of them shall we make dominant as we look upon this beauty today? Which side of our nature shall we cultivate for rich and abundant living? We are hand and eye and mind and spirit, and, of them all, we were intended to be primerily spiritual children of God. Let's bow today before our God who is truth and goodness, but also Beauty. Let's be beautiful in our spirits through this day, that we may be members of the Family of our God.

The Prince of Peace

THE LIFE STORY OF JESUS CHRIST

Copyright 1951 by Hallmark Productions, Inc.

One thousand, nine hundred and fifty-one years ago there came to the earth a Man destined to be known as the Savior. His was the mission of God to bring peace on earth, good will to men. He lived, He taught and He died that all others who might ever inhabit the earth could know the Glory of God and their rightful

Since its first printing on a crude press in Germany hundreds of years ago, the Bible, with its great message, has been the world's best selling book. It still is. Yet, strangely enough, too few people today know the real story of Christ, the Prince of Peace. And there never was a time, like the present, when they needed so much to comprehend its full import.

In writing the great motion picture, "The Prince of Peace," Mildred A. Horn transformed the Biblical story of the Life of Jesus Christ to modern, easy to understand terms. Then this story was acted out by the inspired players of the world famed Wichita Mountain Easter Sunday Service of Lawton, Okla., and brought to the screen in color. In this short series is presented an abridged version of Writer Horn's remarkable simplification of the story of Jesus Christ, illustrated by scenes from the film.

Mary was a simple, good and quiet girl who lived in Nazareth, in Galilee, now a part of Palestine. One day, while she was in the garden of her home, the fig-found favor with God. And behold, thou shall conceive in thy shalt call His name Jesus. He shall be great and shall be called of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto Him the throne of His Father David. And He shall reign over the house of Jacob forever; and of His kingdom there shall be no

When Jesus was eight days old, ollowing custom, he was taken and a sacrifice was made to the Lord. An old and devout man, Simeon, had a prophecy that he would live until he had seen the Lord's Christ and he took Jesus his arms and proclaimed that was now ready to die. A ged and devout woman.

Now came the Three Wise Men, who had followed a guidng star from the mystery lands of the East. They visited King Herod of Judea and asked him where they could find the newborn "King of the Jews." Herod, thinking only in worldly terms, feared a rival and sent visitors to Bethlehem, ask-ng them to return to him. There, they found Jesus with Him with gifts, but in a dream they were warned of Herod's real ntentions, so they returned to their homes in the East by a different route. An angel ap-peared to warn Joseph of Herod's plans to kill the Child, so they nastily left Bethlehem and fled nto Egypt.
