British Writer Finds U. S. Kill-to-Win Boys Tough

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

CLEARWATER, Fla.—(NEA)—Harvey Day, British writer, is a bit mixed up on American football, but he's dead right about two things.

(1) In many universities, the game seems to have ousted education in importance.

(2) American football is rough, and the kids who play it are tough. The latter is good propaganda to get around. It's too bad that more like it can't seep behind the Iron Curtain.

Writing a piece called "Kill-to-Win Boys," in Everybody's Weekly, top-flight English magazine, Day has the death and serious accident rates much too high, and quote Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood, who keeps track of such things, with asking, "Is it worth it?"

"Only Young America can give the answer," says Correspondent Day, "but when a famous coach was given Dr. Eastwood's opinion, he swiveled his gum from one cheek to the other, spat pensively and grunted without emotion, 'I guess that's always the way before the boys toughen up.'"

Day's description of American football is amusing, although he probably does a better job than any of our superior sports writers would turn in on cricket, for example.

"The side in possession of the ball must advance five yards in three tackles," he reports.

"Otherwise it is penalized, being ordered to retreat 20 yards. No self-respecting eleven can suffer such humiliation without offering spirited resistance."

Now you know just how Army felt against Navy early last December.

DAY tells you how Herman Hickman teaches the young savages to tackle low at Yale.

"On the first morning of training," he relates, "some 100 men are trotted around a field, then thoroughly massaged, and taken off to face 'The Dummy'—a suspended sandbag surmounted by an iron bar, so that those who tackle high injure their heads.

"After that, the men are tested for response by having orders hurled at them from all parts of the field.

"Those who survive this preliminary agony are put through a training so rigorous that blows which would maim the average man simply bounce off them.

"To a people nurtured on military pastimes like cricket, soccer and even Rugby, the American game looks like an exhibition of mass violence, where men in masks, crash helmets and body armor seem bent on maiming each other.

"Men must be prepared to risk death."

You push your face into the muck and eat dirt and curse—or pray—for what seems like a lifetime. Dual-Role Separates Blouses and Skirts Paired To Stretch Slim Wardrobes

BY GAILE DUGAS, NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—By way of stretching her wardrobe, any young woman will find coordinated separates a good idea. The blouses can fit in with spring suits now; later, blouses and skirts can pair up to make a costume with a one-piece look for summer.

These separates, designed by Madeline, are adaptable for wear all day. The right note for the time of day is struck by accessories that can be simple or sophisticated.

The blouse and skirt (left) in petal pink linen-like fabric are shown with a deep purple belt and pale pink sandals for afternoon wear. But they might also be given linen pumps in a deep green, a pale pink belt and a small straw hat in the deep green for city wear. The scalloped cording on this blouse is repeated on the slim sheath skirt to form pockets.

The ginger-color separates in the same fabric (right) are shown with a burnt straw cartwheel hat and shoes and a ginger ratin belt. For dressier wear they could take a black patent belt, shiny black straw sailor and simple black patent pumps. The blouse here is sleeveless and is scalloped with hand-sewn arrow detailing. This detailing appears again on the skirt, where it's used to form pockets.

Bratton Injures Hand To Win Welter Crown

CHICAGO, March 15 (UP)—The damaged right hand, which slugging Johnny Bratton valiantly ignored last night in winning the NCA welterweight championship, was not expected today to interfere with plans for a quick defense against Kid Gavilan of Cuba.

The power-packed paw throbed with pain for 11 rounds of the 15-round bout at Chicago Stadium last night as Bratton gained a narrow split decision over Charley Fusari, the Irvington, N. J., milkman.

And swinging it enabled him to floor Fusari for a fourth and a ninth count in the 10th.

The Prince of Peace

THE LIFE STORY OF JESUS CHRIST

Copyright 1951 by Hallmark Productions, Inc.

Illustrated by actors and scenes in the motion picture, "Prince of Peace"

"Suffer the little children to come unto Me."

SYNOPSIS

Jesus, born to Mary, wife of Joseph, in a stable in Bethlehem, is taken to Egypt to escape the wrath of King Herod, who considers Him a worldly rival. After years in Egypt, the Holy Family returns to Nazareth, where Jesus, at 30 years of age, sets out on His mission. He is baptized by John The Baptist. His cousin, then spends 40 days in the desert, praying and fasting, and here He is tempted by the devil. He enlists His first four apostles, Simon Peter, Andrew, James and John. He learns John the Baptist has been imprisoned by King Herod because he rebuked Herod for stealing his own brother's wife. Jesus performs the first great public miracle, changing the wine into water and is nearly mobbed by the people of his own town, Nazareth, who resent Him when He will not perform miracles for them.

CHAPTER 5

The simplicity of Jesus' life won Him more and more followers. Common people recognized in Him a man who had lived simply, like themselves — a man who knew and understood their problems and spoke in a way which they could understand.

Unlike the scribes and Pharisees, who made religion an unpleasant, dutiful thing, Jesus made it a comforting and blessed thing. He gave them new hope in telling them of God and the blessings which would come to them if they would but believe in Him.

And while Jesus won converts among the common people, the Pharisees became all the more incensed and looked for every opportunity to put Him in a position where He could be prosecuted for a public offense.

About this time, while Jesus was preaching to a multitude which included many Pharisees, there came a man suffering from palsy, begging to be cured. He had to be lowered from the roof of a building, because of the density of the crowd. In utter simplicity, Jesus said: "My son, be of good cheer, your sins are forgiven." The Pharisees thought this was their chance, that "no man has the right to forgive sins; that belongs to God alone."

Reading their thoughts, Jesus addressed them: "Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether it is easier, to say, thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise and walk? But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, Arise, take up thy bed, and go into thine house." The people marvelled anew at His power, but the Pharisees hated Him more than ever.

Matthew, a new disciple, was a former tax collector or publican, and as such, hated by the Jews. When Jesus visited in Matthew's house with other publicans, the Pharisees asked the other disciples why He had done so, in violation of the conventions. Jesus gave them the reply: "They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

At Bethesda, a spa where people hoped to cure their ills by bathing, Jesus found a man completely helpless on a mat. None offered to help him and he could not bathe, so Jesus said to him: "Rise, take up thy bed and walk." The man did.

For this the holy Israelites persecuted Him and tried to kill Him, but Jesus stopped them with His Masterly words and finally He said: "Had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed Me; for he wrote of Me."

Later, He performed other acts of healing on the Sabbath and asked His critics: "Is it according to the law to do good on the Sabbath day or to do evil, to save life or to kill?"

The Sabbath, He said, was made for men and not men for the Sabbath. They gave no answer, but their emnity increased and they sought out men who were close to King Herod, who already was afraid of Jesus. Together they plotted to get rid of Him.

Friends Get In Way Of Movie Scene As 30 Second Shot Takes 30 Minutes

WASHINGTON, March 15 (UP)—The moral of today's story is don't make movies in your old home town if you're in a hurry. Ask Helen Hayes. It took her 30 minutes just to get across the street here.

It wasn't that the lovely lady of the movies, stage and radio-TV was a slow walker or that age was creeping up on her. There were too many friendly interruptions.

Miss Hayes was wearing a dragged-out look after a trying day before the cameras for a sequence that will take up all of 30 seconds in "My Son John", a movie she is making for Paramount. Some of it is being filmed in Washington.

The lady had returned to her home town to work in her first movie, 16 years. Leo McCarey, the director-producer who made "Going My Way" among others, was trying to get things over in a hurry. The scene was simple. Miss Hayes was supposed to whirl through the revolving door of a department store, wait for a green traffic light and then, deep in thought, walk across the street, and up the stone steps of St. Patrick's Church.

But some of her old friends kept it from being so simple. Helen Hayes was born in Washington. She attended Sacred Heart Academy here and turned "PRO" at the age of eight when she played in "Babies In The Woods," at the old National Theater.

"I guess we gave Leo and the cameraman a bad time, she said. "But it was wonderful for me. I met a lot of old friends." The first take started off in a normal sort of way. There had been no advanced publicity because McCarey had an eye on expenses.

Miss Hayes and the paid extras, getting $15 a day and hired from Catholic University's drama department to act as passer-by, were dressed, rouged, lip-sticked and sitting in parked cars. The cameramen were inconspicuous in trucks.

On a signal from Leo, Miss Hayes went into the store and came out. The cameras ground and up came a pretty little lady.

"Why, Helen," she cried "Don't you remember me? We went to school together." This old-time chit-chat was interrupted by a booming command from McCarey.

"Cut!" The grinding cameras unground. The extras went back to their parked cars. And Miss Hayes went on jawing with an old friend.

IRON MAN— Jim Konstanty once more is at the Phillies' Clearwater, Fla. training base, and with something new. The big relief worker who was in 77 games last season, three of them World Series engagements, has developed a pitch which he describes as breaking faster than a slider, but not as far. (NEA)

They tried it again a few minutes later. The actress made the rounds of the revolving door and, while waiting for the light, felt the gentle touch of a feminine arm on her shoulder.

"Aunt Eva!" She said with genuine pleasure. There was another cry of "cut" and Leo burned. They tried it once again on a "dry run", with no cameras. It was just as well, because the sister of a nun once taught Miss Hayes came out of the church and asked the star for an autograph.

On the third real try, the Washington gendarmes took charge and everything went off fine.

What the film's about is a mystery. Even Helen Hayes won't say. All she will say is that it's sure nice to be back home for a spell.

day in their opening exhibition baseball game.

The American Association club pounded 16 hits while the Longhorns were limited to seven.

Milwaukee conducting its spring training here, plays Texas again Saturday at Dish Field.

Navy Extends ROC Application To April 2

A two-week extension to prospective applicants for the Navy's Reserve Officer Candidates program, known as the "ROC" plan, has been announced by the Eighth Naval District Headquarters, New Orleans.

The old deadline of March 19 for processed applications to be received at New Orleans has been extended to April 2. The program is open to qualified male and female students now in freshman, sophomore or junior classes at accredited junior and senior colleges and universities.

A candidate must be a member of the Naval Reserve at the time of application, and spends two summer periods of Navy training, each of six weeks duration, to receive a Naval Reserve officer's commission after graduation from the college of his choice.

There is no ruling now in effect which prevents a prospective ROC applicant from joining the volunteer (inactive) Naval Reserve in a non-drill pay status to become eligible for applications, according to the ROC program director at New Orleans.

There is no limit or quota on the number of applications which will be accepted for consideration. Applications are accepted and processed by Inspector-Instructors of Naval Reserve Training Centers; Commanding Officers of Organized Reserve units, and of Volunteer Electronic Companies. Any Naval activity can direct an interested party to the nearest of these application centers.

Majestic Feature To Show Ranch

Charles Pettit's Flat Top Ranch in Walnut Springs, Bosque County, is chosen as a model to show other Texans and the rest of the U.S. how a modern cattle ranch is run with profit in a feature at the Majestic Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Mr. Pettit is a brother of Mrs. Frank Castleberry of Eastland.

The photography shows the Texas ranch country at its best. Commentary is humorously slanted, but factual.

Actual workday tasks of the ranch are reviewed, fence riding, roadgrading, irrigation of crops, truck gardening, upkeep of lake reservoirs, artesian wells, the canteen wagon meals and other incidents.

The chore-filled day is broken by a pre-roundup square dance at the big ranch house where the owner and all the hands and their families join in.

Also shown in the picture is the aeroplane landing strip where the cabin planes of cattle buyers from all over the west land to purchase the white-faced herefords for which the ranch is nationally famous.

Named to top all scorers.

Named to the second team were forwards Bill Price, West Texas, Dave Schuff, Arizona, and Roy Coppinger, Tempe State; Center Gerald Riggs, Texas Western, and guards Jack Alderson, Tech, and Frank Kremer, New Mexico.

Honorable mentions included forward Pete Golson, Hardin-Simmons; center Austelle Burrus, Wets Texas, and guard Larry Wartes, Hardin-Simmons.

Senior Class to Present Gifts to School

The seniors of 1951 will use the profits from their play, "A Lucky Penny" to buy a suitable gift for the school.

Valuable gifts from former senior classes have been the auditorium velvet curtains, colored lighting system, and blackout shades, projector, combination radio and record player, divan for the stage, rollers for the piano, piano cover, shrubs and trees, record player for English Department, trophy case, paint job for auditorium and other valuable and useful gifts.

E. H. S. students love their school and are loyal to it. It deserves the best.

Senior Class Stresses Co-operation

The entire senior class has worked hard to produce A Lucky Penny, a comedy in three acts. Eighteen class members appear in the play.

Every boy in the class has worked on the set, as have Neta Messingale and Betty Reynolds. Both boys and girls have worked on the program. The girls of the class will usher; boys will be at the ticket booths. Everyone has been co-operative and interested.

Yea! Seniors!

Senior Mothers to Entertain Class
Mrs. Frank Hightower, committee chairman, has issued an invitation to the seniors from their mothers to be guests at a "get-together" in the cafeteria immediately after the last performance of A Lucky Penny.

The entire class has helped with the production, and is to be congratulated on a nice piece of work.

Birthday Party Honors Van Hoy, Grimes, King, and Lane

The play cast observed the birthdays of four member players with a "get-together" on the stage at the end of play practice March 11.

A large birthday cake was iced in white and decorated with the names Charlotte, Bettye, Douglas, and Charles. The class sang happy birthday and presented the cake, which was served to the cast and visitors by Charlotte and Bettye. Happy Birthdays.

Weird Sounds Heard From TV Program

BY ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK, March 15 (UP)—The confusing orders and inter-carphone conversations that go on among cameramen, directors, assistants and producers behind the scenes on a television program sound like a combination of a pilot-to-control-tower conversation and a dead serious poker game, and dialogue from Alice in Wonderland.

Somebody volunteered a pair of earphones to an interested bystander at the rehearsal for Vaughn Monroe's "Camel Caravan."

and the first words come out of the head piece were, "Eddie, three takes the pack at the opening."

This was the director telling the man on the No. 3 camera that he focused on the package of cigarettes for the show's opening shot.

A group of boys and girls, clad in blue jeans and slacks, went through a dance routine in front of a set inspired by Mother Goose rhymes.

"Who is Humpty Dumpty," a male voice said in the earphone. "Come here Humpty... now Humpty I never want you to leave."

His voice was drowned out by the director shouting, "who are all those extra people on the set, clear the set."

"They're stage hands. They're waiting to strike the set," a soothing voice explained, referring to a small mob scene of men clustered in front of the control room.

"We're ready for a take—ten seconds, five seconds, four seconds—" an authoritative voice

★ THE SCOREBOARD ★ TV Deal Drives Matthews Back to Kerosene Circuit

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When the bell ended the savage battle between Harry Matthews and Irish Bob Murphy at Madison Square Garden the other night, the exhausted ringworms sat back and asked: "Where they been hiding that guy?"

They referred, of course, to Matthews, making his first New York appearance after 13 years of fighting.

In his Broadway bow, the Ola, Ida, iron worker was as big a hit as South Pacific.

The International Boxing Club wants to put Matthews right back with Murphy over 15 rounds, March 23, but Manager Jack Hurley says he will keep his newest find on the kerosene circuit until he gets a special television deal, such as has been given Joe Louis, Ezzard Charles and Jake LaMotta.

Hurley doesn't care to have Matthews bruise his hands on the likes of Southpaw Murphy for $4682, plus $2250 of all the money the promoters collect for video and broadcasting. He doesn't blame the fans for staying away in droves when they can see the show free, gratis and for nothing on channel four, but he has the quaint idea that the combatants are entitled to a fair share of what the sponsor pays.

The television agreement between the IBC and the New York Managers' Guild expires June 1.

MEANWHILE, Hurley offers Joey Maxim $60,000 to defend the 175-pound title against Matthews in Boise, hard by the Hot Potato's old home town, in June.

"They'd do $150,000 or more net at from $5 to $20 in a rodeo arena and with no TV," he insists.

Maxim is under contract to the IBC, and his handler, Jack Kearns, is sparring around for a shot at Ezzard Charles.

Matthews also offers the latter a highly attractive match. He weighed 173½ for Murphy, more recently has devoted practically all of his attention to heavyweights.

Although he has been boxing for 13 years, Matthews, who now makes his home in Seattle, is anything but an old pappy guy. He broke in at 15, is now 28.

Matthews, a handsome and articulate son of an Irish cattle raiser and blacksmith, was getting precisely nowhere, was discouraged and ready to quit a year and a half ago when a friend suggested he contact Hurley, one of the few boxing instructors left.

Hurley, who brought out Billy Petrolle and others, transformed him from a jabber and grabber into a body puncher who knows when and how to switch his attack to the head.

and one corner of the set was lit by brilliant lights.

"Pull wide—under, Willie, and be ready to go in—number three to T-zone—what did the lights go out for, it needs lighting, kid—one go to commercial—"

The announcer earnestly sold his product facing the unseen audience, but the earphone boys weren't satisfied.

Texas Beats Aggies In Swim Meet

AUSTIN, Tex., March 15 (UP)—Five Southwest Conference swimming records were bettered as Texas defeated Texas A&M, 50 to 34, in a dual meet last night, but none of the new times will go in the record book.

The times won't count for two reasons:

1. Southwest Conference records must be set in all-conference competition.
2. The Texas pool has been temporarily shortened from 100 feet to 75 feet in preparation for the NCAA meet opening here March 29.

The shortened pool gave contestants extra kick-offs from end walls last night and record times were easily surpassed.

The best time was turned in by Johnny Crawford of Texas who "Give us a different handkerchief, that white one makes a glare," somebody's assistant said, referring to the handkerchief tucked meticulously into the announcer's breast pocket.

"When do you want me to leave?" Came the plaintive question from a cameraman. "You've left already, I told you," the director said testily. "I can't hear you, I'm hemmed in—"

Nobody paid any attention to the stranded cameraman because the camera was focusing on a bubble bath scene by that time.

"Bubbles, bubbles, bubbles," the director shouted, "I gotta have bubbles—" bettered his old 200-yard backstroke record of 2:29.2 by 3.9 seconds.

Eddie Gilbert churned to first places in the 100 and 220-yard freestyle events and bettered two marks.

Texas won seven of the ten events, including the 400-yard freestyle relay in which the conference mark was topped.

Texas A&M took the 300-yard medley relay in better than record time.

Passenger automobile production during the 1940-50 decade was lower than during either of the two preceding decades.
