THE LIFE STORY OF JESUS CHRIST

Copyright 1951 by Hallmark Productions, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Jesus, born of Mary, wife of Joseph, in Bethlehem, is taken to Egypt to escape the wrath of King Herod, who fears Him as an earthly rival. After years in Egypt, the Holy Family returns to Nazareth. At 30 years of age, Jesus sets out on His mission. He is baptized by His cousin, John the Baptist, spends 40 days fasting and praying and resisting the devil's temptations. He enlists His first four apostles, Simon Peter, Andrew, James and John, then, later, Matthew, a publican. John the Baptist is imprisoned by Herod when John denounces the king for stealing his own brother's wife. Jesus wins multitudes of followers and performs many miracles, but the jealous Pharisees, refusing to accept the New Word, plot His persecution and death.

abundant life. While Jesus was traveling in southern Galilee, He received a message from John the Baptist who was still in prison. John felt that Jesus should save him. In the presence of John's messenger, Jesus brought sight to the blind, gave speech and hearing to the deaf and dumb, cured lepers and other sufferers. Then he turned to the messenger. "Go back and tell John what you have seen and heard," Jesus said. "And blessed is he who shall not be offended in Me."

Illustrated by actors and scenes in the motion picture, "Prince of Peace" Jesus' parable of Good Samaritan, who helped stranger.

Jesus then turned to the people and talked to them about John, asking what they expected to see when they went into the wilderness to hear him preach. "A prophet! I tell you that of all men born of woman there has arisen no greater prophet than John the Baptist. Yet he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he."

A short time later, Jesus received word that John was dead. Herod had given a great feast at which his wife's daughter, Salome, had danced. He was so pleased that he promised her anything she might ask. Her mother wanted revenge on John and told Salome to ask for his head on a platter. Herod, afraid that he might be made ridiculous if he did not accede to her request, had John beheaded.

Now Jesus knew that he had come upon dangerous times. His enemies were plotting against Him and a group of Pharisees and scribes who had come down from Jerusalem accused him of being in league with the devil. They contended that to "cast out devils" as He was doing He must be aided by the prince of devils.

CHAPTER 7

Jesus, as the Great Teacher, used parables, or stories, to get over His messages in a manner that even the most uneducated person could understand. It was a simple device that enabled others to take His word far beyond the sound of Jesus' voice. The best proof of the effectiveness of the parables is that to-day, 1951 years after Christ's birth, they are still talked about and used to educate people in His word. Most of the parables concerned things which might happen in any man's everyday life, but within the story a great truth was depicted.

For instance, one of these concerned a man who "went out to sow his seed, and as he sowed, some fell by the wayside and it was trodden down and the fowls of the air devoured it. And some fell upon a rock and as soon as it sprung up, withered away; and some fell among thorns and the thorns sprang up with it and choked it; and the other fell on good ground and sprang up and bore fruit in hundredfold."

After He had told this story, His disciples asked, "What might this parable be?" Jesus told them that the seed was the word of God. That sown by the wayside meant those who hear, but do not take the truth into their hearts. That sown on rocky soil meant those who hear but soon forget the word of God. The seed among thorns are those who let the word of God be crowded out by the cares of the world or by riches. But those that fell on good ground are those who take the word into their hearts and bear the fruit of the good and

Army Announces Building Plans

WASHINGTON, March 17 (UP)—The Army today announced 77 construction projects costing $309,264,585 in 24 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, and Hawaii where contracts already have been let or soon will be.

Money for the work was appropriated in fiscal 1951 legislation.

Some of the projects by states include: Texas—Fort Hood, Killeen, bridge, water system improvements, barracks and motor facilities, $4,378,906; San Antonio general depot, sardblast and paint shop, $100,000; Fort Bliss, El Paso, buildings and firing facilities, $4,865,725; Red River Arsenal, Texarkana, dehumidify warehouse, $50,000; Fort Worth Quartermaster Depot, warehouse, railroad tracks and utilities, $3,296,000.

Born With Teeth

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UP)—Kathryn Lennon, infant daughter of an army officer, got off to a flying start in life. At birth, she had two front teeth.

Autopsy Awaited In Doctor's Death

(UP)—Police today awaited an autopsy report on the death of a crippled doctor who lived in fear of unknown assailants for months.

Dr. J. E. Langston, 60, was found dead yesterday, his body lying across a burning bed.

Authorities said dozens of cigarette butts strewn on the floor indicated the doctor fell victim to his habit of smoking in bed, but an autopsy was ordered before an inquest verdict was given.

"We're withholding official judgment," said Homicide Detective R. J. Clark, "but it looks like he smoked in bed once too often." Langston's daughter, Mrs. Bie Menville, 21, told police her father lived "in constant fear of his life."

Only Wednesday, she said, she found her father with a blood on his face. The back door was unlocked, although Dr. Langston usually locked all doors and windows as a "security measure."

A mysterious series of events began in early January, police said, when Langston was severely beaten by unknown assailants. His left arm was broken in the attack.

Last month, he was hospitalized when his bed caught fire. He was badly burned.

Mrs. Menville, who served as her father's receptionist and assistant, said the doctor was in the habit of smoking in bed.

"Langston never would cooperate with our investigations," said Clark.

When the doctor's bed caught fire in February, examinations showed bruises on his face. Police asked for an explanation, but got none.

Mrs. Menville said she could not explain why her father was the target for unknown assailants. Langston, a general practitioner, moved to Houston in 1942 after practicing at Dallas, Corsicana and Athens.

His legs were mangled at age 17 while he worked as a railroad brakeman to finance his medical studies. After a train accident, he spent the rest of his life in a wheel chair or on crutches or cane.

Statewide Search Ordered For Girl

HUNTSVILLE, March 17 (UP)—Huntsville Police Chief Elmer Nichols said today he had ordered a statewide search for a 16-year-old La Porte, co-ed who mysteriously disappeared from school at Sam Houston State Teachers College more than two weeks ago.

The police chief said the girl, Mary Lane Galloway, was last seen in a movie house in Huntsville near midnight March 1, the date she disappeared.

"We have checked all transportation centers and we don't think she left here by bus or train," he said. "We have also checked all hotels and tourist courts and, considering the possibility of foul play, we have searched all areas where young people go to park."

The girl is the daughter of Mrs. Sidney J. Williams, a school teacher at Kemah. The mother said she hadn't heard from her daughter.

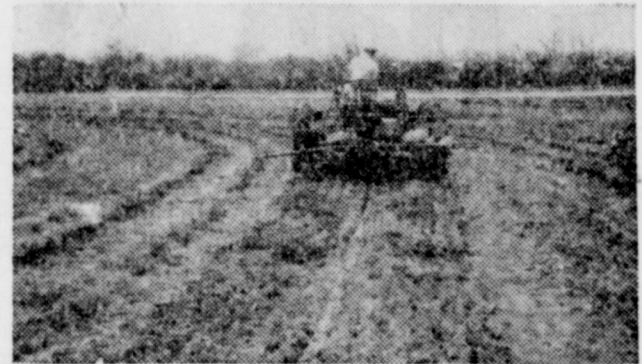

Nichols said the girl left her clothing behind in her dormitory room and her friends said she had only about $15 at the time she disappeared.

Known boy friends of the girl, including one she visited in Chicago just before she disappeared from school, said they have not seen her.

Mrs. Florence King, dean of women at the college, said the girl was discovered missing when a dormitory bed check was made shortly after 11 p.m. March 1.

Mrs. King said the girl had been restricted to the campus because she had come in after the 11 p.m. curfew twice before.

PEANUT POINTERS

Peanuts are one of the best cash crops for many sandy soils. They will supply a good income from land where most other crops are unprofitable.

However, one crop peanut farming is hard on the land, so wise farmers grow peanuts in combination with other crops, pastures and livestock. In this way, farming operations are balanced and soil fertility is maintained.

The farmer in the illustration planted four rows of peanuts stripped with two rows of combine maize on contour. In this care peanuts were hogged off, maize stalks cut with stalk cutter, and field seeded to cover crop of rye. As shown, farmer is disking rye and peanuts leaving a mulch.

See the county agent on the 7-Step Peanut Program. This program will help to increase the acre yield and profit.

Eastland Loses Two Good Citizens As Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cross Leave To Make Fort Worth, Home

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cross moved Saturday to Fort Worth after having lived in Eastland 32 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross are members of the Methodist Church, where they have served their church in various offices during the past several years.

Mrs. Cross is a member of the Martha Dorcas Class and is a past president of the W.S.C.S. She is a member of the Eastern Star, a member of the past matrons club of that organization. She is a member of the Alpha Delphian Club.

Mr. Cross worked for the States Oil Company until that company was recently sold to a Breckenridge oil man. They have lived in the States Oil Camp since it's house.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross came to Eastland from Wichita Kansas, a bride and groom. Mrs. Cross' parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lash, were moving to Eastland during the boom days to be associated with Mr. Joseph M. Weaver in the States Oil Co. Mr. and Mrs. Cross, better known in Eastland as George and Sarah, were forced to make a quick decision and reveal their marriage of several months so that George might accompany Sarah to Eastland with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross have one son, Jack Cross, who is employed by the Texas Co. with headquarters in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Cross' new home is located at 417 University Drive. Mr. Cross has been employed for the past several months with the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft.

Distinguished Guests Present Federation Program For Study Club

Members of the Music Study Club and their guests had the pleasure of hearing one of the outstanding pianists of Texas, Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Few Brewster of Austin, past president of T.F.W.C., presented a program of musical numbers which included "Toccata" by Galuppi, "Gavotte" by Gluck, arranged by Brahms, "Prelude" by Prokofieff, "Shadow Dance" by McDowell, "A Spanish Dance" by Albeniz.

Mrs. W. E. Brashier, president, welcomed the guests and presented Mrs. T. E. Richardson, who was program chairman.

Mrs. Richardson presented Mrs. Glenna Hake and Mrs. Nancy Frost, local violinist and pianist who played "Arisa" by Bach and "The Swing Song" by E. H. Barnes.

Mrs. Sam Sullivan, president of the Sixth District of Federated Music clubs talked on Federation. She told the club members several good reasons for the Federation, which she put only second to the Church in standing for the good of the community, the district and the state.

She portrayed in her talk the old saying, "Together We Are Strong", and told of several of the many worthy causes that the Federation money is designated. Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Brewster are attending the Musical Festival of Sixth District held Saturday in the First Methodist Church.

The distinguished guests were the honorees at a tea following the well received program.

The table was laid in a yellow organdie and lace cloth, decorated with a colorful arrangement of spring flowers, flanked on the left by a group of pastel colored candles in silver holders.

Table appointments were of silver and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, who is State music chairman, presided. An Easter setting was aranged for the background of the tea table with the pastel color arrangement repeated.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. W. E. Brashier, A. H. Johnson, E. L. Dragoo, Donald Kinard, T. E. Richardson, and Hubert Westfall.

Registering were Mrs. H. Hancock, J. Carl Johnson, John P. Beatty, Hubert Toombs, Jack W. Frost, H. T. Weaver, Larry McGraw, Grady Pipkin, J. L. Cotting-Gleason, Joseph M. Perkins, R. G. Ham, Elinor Vickers, Albert H. Perkins, W. P. Leslie, A. F. Taylor, Guy Patterson, Don Parker, Lewis Crossley, H. L. Sheppard, E. H. Culbertson, Ben Hamner, A. D. Today the 'Great God of Nations' is pleading for unity of mind, for brotherly love between men and for peace on earth. Jesus the greatest of teachers presented to men truths, which were then as they are now, of great importance to all mankind. His utterances, without revision, are most pertinent to modern life and make universal appeal. In them are heights which no man has scaled; depths which no man has sounded; reaches of length and breadth which no man has explored. Universally the need for blessings from the great 'God of Nations' has never been so great. He commanded men to learn of Him and promised to show them the way.

Pastors, Priests and Rabbis are pooling their interests in an effort to challenge All Nations to an understanding of the term 'Peace.' Prayers from millions of earnest seeking, warm hearted, religious people, go up to the great 'God of Nations' every day for those men who are entrusted with our destinies.

Millions are now saying of Jesus: "There was the true light, even the light which lighteth every man, coming into the world." Whether judged by subject matter, the method of its presentation, or its effectiveness in influencing life... Jesus enjoys pre-eminence among teachers. If men would but seek out His will; if world leaders would but ask His guidance when difficult, international problems arise... then solving them would not be such a surprise, for in Him men of faith find all things possible.

Deaf Pupils From Abroad Learn To "Talk"

By RUTH GMEINER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Ten students from foreign countries discovering America and getting an education the hard way, through the silent sign language of the deaf.

The visitors, all here on U. S. paid scholarships, are students at Gallaudet College, a little-publicized school for the deaf in a remote section of Washington.

"International House" was put into operation at Gallaudet a year ago to give young foreigners deaf but with above-average intelligence, a chance to study at the world's only college for the deaf. The plan also gives American students one more contact with the world to which their handicap is a barrier.

It's International
On the campus, my impression was that I was the foreigner. I needed an interpreter. The strangers from Poland, Sweden, Israel, Denmark, China, Japan, Canada and Trans-Jordan, "chatted" easily with their American colleagues.

The sign language, I found is international with little variation from one nation to another.

Gallaudet students, American and foreign, are not mute. They talk, but with the stilted unaccented voices of people who do not know the sound of the human voice. Speaking English, because of the lip-reading value, is a classroom requirement. Between classes, the students prefer the faster "signing."

My interviews began in the school library. There were no "quiet please" notices. My "interpreter" was the English instructor Martin Sternberg, wholly deaf himself, but amazingly adept at lip reading. He called over, first dark-eyed Eugene Bergman, Polish-born "DP" immigrant who now calls Brooklyn home.

Beaten by Nazi
The 18-year-old explained, by signs and without embarrassment, that he became deaf at the age of eight after a Nazi guard at a concentration camp struck him on the head.

Hilshize Omore, the latest arrival at the college and still somewhat shy, insisted that Sternberg describe one of his early errors between the Japanese and American sign-words.

In Tokyo, Omore had learned to say the "United States" with a gesture which the Americans quickly told him represents the "Stars and Strips."

In the cafeteria, I found several of the foreign students joining in the eating of a group of co-ed pledges to a secret society.

Knows Languages

Latin, and Greek, and speaks most of them. Not yet proficient at lip-reading, he nevertheless broke into a broad grin as I said I understood he was the only student of the 70 in his class to make the honor roll.

Twenty-year-old Bodil Tyede, a husky, blue-eyed Danish girl, was watching television with classmates in the lounge of the girls dormitory. When we accidentally shut off the sound of the TV-set, she was the first to wave an objection. She had noticed the absent vibrations, even though the picture continued.

In class, students and professors vocalize and use sign language simultaneously, to get the combined benefit of lip-reading and signs. The double technique has become such a habit that some of the professors with normal hearing find it difficult to get along without their hands.

Vampire Bats, Mongooses, Flies Potent Enemies Of Communicable Cancer, Health Service States

WASHINGTON (UP)—Vampire bats, mongooses, rodents, and flies, instead of death-spitting cannon and banzai assaults, are potent enemies of the communicable disease center of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Out of its sprawling laboratories and classrooms at Atlanta, Ga., last year salaried single experts and large mobile teams—task force units—that attacked public health enemies in 14 states, two territories and two foreign countries.

They answered an appeal from Puerto Rico. Two months later, a veterinarian and a laboratory technician formerly indicated the spreader of the rabies virus killing dogs, cats, hogs and other animals all over the island.

Mexico Appeals
Mexico asked for help through the World Health Organization and experts of CDC did battle against "cerreaque," the type of rabies spread by the vampire bat. Two cases of plague alarmed health authorities in New Mexico and on their appeal, CDC dispatched an expert in the disease and a mobile plague team which trapped and examined wild rodents. Their findings caused the Public Health Service to warn western physicians to beware the dreaded disease was "considerably above previous averages."

Twenty-eight cases of poliomyelitis, involving four deaths, rallied a CDC "combat division" to Paulding County, Ohio. Some 30 state and CDC authorities spent two weeks "in one of the most intensive investigations ever made of rural poliomyelitis."

"It is hoped," said Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, surgeon general of the Public Health Service, "that the Paulding findings, still under laboratory study, will provide new information about how poliomyelitis spreads under natural conditions."

Help for Canada
CDC battalions also fought public health dangers caused by the rampaging Red River of the north, which inundated parts of Winnipeg and southern Manitoba Province, Canada. They helped wipe out the threat of a rabies epidemic.

in Denver, Colo., by directing a hard-hitting anti-rabies campaign that included inoculation of 35,883 dogs.

The center air-expressed enough typhoid vaccine to inoculate 3,000 endangered persons during a flood in Idaho.

Epidemics of ringworm of the scalp in Iowa were fought along battle lines suggested by an expert sent from "task force health."

Snyder Ahead In Nazarene Contest

The local Nazarene Sunday School is in a contest during the month of March with the schools of Snyder, Burk Burnett, Higgins and Big Spring. March 11 the Snyder school forged ahead, but the local school hopes to beat them the remaining period of the emphasis.

Wm. C. Emberton, pastor says, "We are enjoying this friendly contest with these schools, but do not hope to lose. We are out to win! We are urging all our unchurched friends to make plans to be with us in our Sunday School the next two Sundays and help us win over the rest of the schools. Our school begins at 9:45 with classes for those of all ages."
