Stiteler Out At A&M College

COLLEGE STATION, March 20 (UP)—Texas A&M Football Coach Harry Stiteler bowed out today. His resignation was accepted swiftly yesterday afternoon, soon after he admitted for the first time that he had withheld information on a beating inflicted on him at Houston last December 15. Stiteler had denied, until yesterday, that he knew who assaulted him.

But the 41-year-old mentor stated in his letter of resignation that he did, in fact, know his assailant. This admission prompted A&M President M. T. Harrington to swiftly agree to his resignation.

Harrington said that he knew of "no discussion as yet of a possible successor. Things have happened so swiftly."

"Any possible choice probably won't come until Saturday at the earliest when Athletic Council Chairman D. W. Williams returns from a trip to Australia," Harrington added.

Stiteler, meanwhile, was reluctant to talk about his resignation. He said little more than he felt it was for the best interests of all concerned, and he declined to say what his plans were for the future.

He did not identify his attacker as a man who bloodied his face in a brief flurry of blows.

Stiteler's claim that he did not know who beat him as under fire several times in the Houston Press. The newspaper claimed the coach wasn't telling the whole story.

Yesterday the Press published a letter from Stiteler, stating that the coach knew the identity of his assailant all along.

"The affair was a personal one," the letter said, and added that Stiteler and his attacker "have since settled our difficulties and forgotten it."

The college said in an official statement after Stiteler's resignation that "since, by his own admission, Coach Stiteler has deliberately misinformed officials of the college... his resignation has been accepted, effective immediately."

County Farmers Plan Varied Crop Program

Eastland county farmers will raise a very diversified group of crops this year according to the plans they now have. J. M. Cooper, county agricultural agent, told members of the Eastland Rotary Club Monday.

Cooper said that more cotton is expected to be planted in the county in 1951 than has been planted here in a number of years, and that new crops such as peas and castor beans are expected to encroach on the peanut crop which has been the predominate crop during the past few seasons in the county.

Reasons for the planting of more cotton this year, Cooper explained, are numerous. One big reason is that the government has a shortage of cotton and has lifted the acreage requirements off cotton growers in an effort to encourage farmers of the nation to raise 16,000,000 bales of cotton this year.

Another big reason for the planting of more cotton in the county this year is the development of better insecticides, namely Toxaphene and Dieldrin, which is a new product just coming onto the market.

The growing of peas for market in the county developed interest last year when a market place was created in Gorman, Cooper said.

Cooper added that the growing of peas by county farmers was encouraged because the pea business is very sound.

Introduced in the county is a new crop called castor beans. Cooper explained that the government said that the castor bean market will be available from now on, and has guaranteed a price of 10c per pound and the price may be higher.

Another county crop which is receiving more interest this year than usual is broomcorn, Cooper added. Broomcorn is scarce and is very high. It has been raised around Cisco for several years and is being pushed this year.

Peanuts, of course, will again be a major crop in the county, and a number of other crops will be raised this year, giving the county one of the most diversified groups of crops which may be found.

Cooper was introduced to the club by George I. Lane.

Then, police said, he fell off a jail bunk and broke a leg.

The office then filed a "second offense" drunk driving complaint—a felony charge—against Rutland.

COMMIES REAR-GUARD OFFER HARD RESISTANCE NEAR SEOUL

By Earnest Hoberecht
TOKYO, March 20 (UP)—Two tank-led United Nations columns drove within 12 to 14 miles of Korea's 38th Parallel today, but Communist rear-guard resistance stiffened north of Seoul.

New advances put 8th Army columns less than 17 miles from the 38th Parallel at 11 or more points along the 140-mile Korean front.

Chongpyong Reservoir and its Hydro-Electric Plant 24 miles northeast of Seoul were captured virtually intact two days ago, a belated 8th Army announcement disclosed.

The eight-mile-long reservoir furnished electric power for Seoul. An 8th Army communique reported little if any contact today with rear guards covering the retreat of up to 250,000 Chinese and Korean Reds across the 38th Parallel into North Korea. Enemy troops were reported stringing barbed wire near Chorwon, 15 miles north of the Parallel and possibly anchor of the new Communist defense line.

The advancing Allies swept through abandoned Communist emplacements and made record hauls of discarded enemy weapons.

However, a front dispatch said an American tank and infantry patrol jabbing north up the Seoul-Uijongbu Highway ran into determined Communist resistance south of Uijongbu, 18 miles below the 38th Parallel.

Communist rear guards threw heavy small arms, mortar and artillery fire at the patrol from hills on either side of the highway. Puerto Rican infantrymen drove the Reds from one hill east of the road in an attack that killed 17 out of an estimated 70 North Koreans.

There were signs of enemy positions thickly scattered through hills on each side of the valley between Seoul and Uijongbu. Air spotters said there appeared to be "thousands" of enemy troops digging in on ridges northeast of the capital.

Doctors To Say If Cook Is Sane

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 20 (UP)—Testimony by seven psychiatrists probably will determine today whether confessed killer Billy Cook, 23-year-old Missouri ex-convict, will be electrocuted or committed to a mental institution.

The doctors, who examined Cook this week, will report their finding to Federal Judge Stephen S. Chandler. Should they decide Cook is sane, Chandler could sentence the youthful killer of an entire Illinois family to the electric chair.

Cook, who reportedly has embraced religion, pleaded guilty to kidnaping and killing the five members of the Carl Mosser family of Atwood, Ill.

The panel of doctors included three from the Menninger Clinic at Topeka, Kan., Drs. Melton Wechsler, Donald Watterson and Martin Maymond, and four local doctors, Dr. Hugh Galbraith, Dr. Moorman Prosser, Dr. James Parker and Dr. Wayman Thompson.

Gordon Youth Is Army Re-Enlistee At Local Station

Jarold K. Moore of Gordon has re-enlisted in the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, M-Sgt. Frank Lockman, Eastland recruiting officer, has announced.

Sgt. Lockman also announced that guaranteed assignments are now being offered to High School graduates.

Any of 23 Army Technical Schools may now be selected before enlistment and if the application is approved by the school, the enlistee is guaranteed assignment to that school after completing basic training.

This opportunity is available only to Army volunteers, Sgt. Lockman added.

Warrant Issued For Bandits

BROWNWOOD, March 19 (UP)—District Attorney Bill Allcorn today accepted a complaint charging three Bronx, N. Y., teen-agers with the $200 armed robbery of a filling station operator here, Friday night.

Police Chief Jack Pike drew up the complaint against Victor Mastrangio, 18, Franklin Laraque and Bobby Matson, both 17.

A search for the youths was still being carried on throughout the Southwest.

Pike said identity of the boys was established through the license tag on their 1950 Dodge automobile. Mastrangio's father, Vito, in a telephone conversation told police from his Bronx home that the youths had taken the car March 10, and set out for Sweetwater, Tex.

The automobile was last seen Saturday night at Pecos, 24 hours after filling station operator George Heifner was robbed and threatened by the "tough-talking" bandits.

Heifner said the bandits also tried to kill him, but a pistol held by one failed to go off when the trigger was snapped.

Two teen-aged girls, also from Bronx, were reportedly traveling with the three youths.

Correction

In yesterday's story telling of the rating of students of Mrs. A. F. Taylor's studio at the festival held Friday, the second paragraph should have read: Those receiving excellent and a few points below were: Jimmy Everette, Beverly Mosher, Glenna Kilgore, Lou Ann Corbell, both voice and piano; Dickie Corbell, Mary Angeline Vaughan, Jana Weaver, Gerly Weaver, Linda Huckabay, Sue Stoker, Evelyn Bailey, Pat MacMoy, Barbara Dalton, Susan Johnston, Sallie Cooper, Dorothy Simmons and Jane Howell.

Lou Ann Corbell rated highest of the festival in the voice section, Mrs. Taylor said.

The Prince of Peace

THE LIFE STORY OF JESUS CHRIST

Copyright 1951 by Hallmark Productions, Inc.

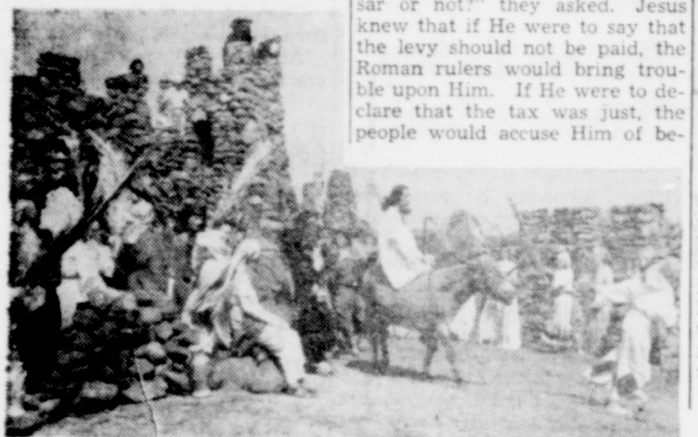

SYNOPSIS

Jesus, born of Mary, wife of Joseph, in Bethlehem, is taken to Egypt to escape the wrath of King Herod, who fears Him as an earthly rival. After Egypt, the Holy Family returns to Nazareth and when 30, Jesus starts out on His Mission. He is baptized by His cousin, John the Baptist, later Jesus preaches, heals and performs other miracles. He enlists His 12 apostles, but as His following increases, so does the enmity of the Pharisees, who plot His death. Finally, Jesus foretells His Own death, then leads His 12 apostles to Jerusalem.

CHAPTER 9

Jesus made a triumphant entry into Jerusalem, riding upon a young colt. Great crowds went before Him, strewing their garments in His way, waving palm branches and crying: "Hosanna, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." When He entered the heart of Jerusalem, the entire populace was moved, asking "Who is this?" and the multitude following Him said: "This is Jesus the Prophet of Nazareth of Galilee."

the things which are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's." Jesus thwarted many other attempts to entrap Him into a position which could bring about His undoing within the framework of Roman law, but always He gave astonishing answers. There was the time when they brought before Him a woman whom they said had been taken in adultery. The law decreed that such a woman should be stoned to death. The Pharisees and scribes felt that Jesus would have compassion on such a woman and if He did He would be breaking the law. Jesus said nothing to them, but stooped low and wrote in the dust, words which accused many of them there of sins which they had committed. Jesus said: "Whoever of you is free from sin, let him cast the first stone at her." And one by one her accusers left the scene, until finally Jesus was alone with the woman. "Woman," He said, "where are thine accusers? Has no one condemned thee?" She answered, "No one, Lord," and Jesus said, "Neither do I condemn thee. Go thy way and sin no more."

Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem Palm Sunday.

In Jerusalem, Jesus went directly to the temple, only to find it occupied by merchants, money changers and the like. Jesus was filled with anger at seeing the house of God so desecrated. Picking up a rope and making it into a whip, He drove them from the temple, upsetting their wares and money as He did so. He said: "It is written, My house is the house of prayer; but ye have made it into a den of thieves."

One of these concerned the taxes which the Romans forced the Jews to pay to Caesar. "Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar or not?" they asked. Jesus knew that if He were to say that the levy should not be paid, the Roman rulers would bring trouble upon Him. If He were to declare that the tax was just, the people would accuse Him of being a traitor.

"My house is the house of prayer; ye have made it a den of thieves."

traying them. Jesus replied, "Why tempt ye Me, ye hypocrites? Show Me the tribute money." They brought Him a coin and He asked them to tell Him whose image was upon it. "Caesar's," they replied, and He said to them: "Render therefore unto Caesar, what is Caesar's, and unto God, what is God's."

Southern Girls Go For Glamour In Boudoir, Lingerie Man Finds

By John Rosenburg United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—A manufacturer of ladies' unmentionables contends that southern women have sexier tastes than their northern sisters.

The manufacturer, Harris Unowitz, based his theory on sales records from 350 stores. About half of the stores are below the Mason-Dixon line and half above.

Unowitz said he's only noticed the difference in tastes in the last six or seven years, although he's been in business for 35.

"The difference has become quite distinct," he said. "To begin with, the southern girl buys bright colors in almost all garments. Our records from the stores in the north show greater sales of garments in subdued colors."

More Daring He also noticed, he said, that southern women prefer a "daring" décolletage.

"Take night gowns," he explained. "The southern girl wants sheer fabrics loaded with lace and often with pleats in the bustline. She likes embroidered figures as an added touch. Almost all her nightgowns have a plunging neckline.

"The northern girl, on the other hand, likes a nightgown of soft, flowing lines. She likes smart tailoring and a neckline that stays close to the neck."

When it comes to slips, he said, southern women favor "a good deal of 'rou-frou'—lace necklines and hems, bows and a figure-clinging fit."

Not Less Feminine Not northern women, though. They prefer slips that have "demure necklines," he said.

"I want to make it clear," he added hastily, "that I don't think northern girls are any less feminine than southern girls. Apparently, according to the records, they dress more to please themselves, while the southerners dress to please the men."

Unowitz wasn't sure what caused the difference in tastes. "Maybe it's the climate," he said.

Youngsters Told Of Kites Danger

Five "don'ts" for boys and girls who fly kites were outlined today by W. B. Picketts manager of Texas Electric Service Company, in anticipation of the opening of the 1951 kite flying season.

As explained by Picketts, the five "don'ts" in order of their importance are: First, don't fly kites near electric lines. Second, don't use wire or metallic cord for kite strings. Third, don't use wire or metal in the kite frame. Fourth, don't fly kites in the rain, as even wet cotton string could become a conductor of electricity if it was wet and, fifth, don't attempt to remove a kite from electric poles or wires should it become entangled. Call Texas Electric Service Company's office and a lineman will come to rescue it if at all possible.

"The importance of the second 'don't' is dramatically illustrated by what happened in a Texas city on March 2 of this year. A father was flying a kite for his son when suddenly a power line burned in two, two-thirds of the city was deprived of electricity, two radio stations went off the air for want of electric power and numerous grass fires were started. Why? The man flying the kite was using a Christmas wrapping cord with tinsel woven in it. The tinsel, being a conductor of electricity, shorted out the power line in which it became entangled. It was nothing short of a miracle that someone was not injured, or perhaps killed.

"Local youngsters who fly kites have been very careful in the past about where and when they fly their kites," Picketts stated. "We had a perfect record last year with not one boy or girl being injured and only a few kites demolished. This year, I fully expect that even the number of kites lost will be reduced because it seems that every year, our boys and girls listen more carefully to our warnings and cooperate better in making kite flying safe."

Veteran Relieves Aches and Pains

HADACOL Relieves Aches and Pains When Due to a Lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron

It would seem like being in two wars would almost be all one person would have to go through. But Emerson Farnell Brown, 412 South Harrison Street, Fort Wayne, Indiana, found more trouble staring him in the face just recently. As so many thousands, he put his faith in HADACOL, when he heard how it was helping folks with aches and pains due to a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. Here are the wonderful results that he is more than glad to tell us about: "I am a veteran of World Wars I and II. After I reached the age of 50, I had aches and pains. I also had gas on my stomach and was very nervous. After I took the first small bottle of HADACOL, I knew I had the right family formula. Then, I got a large size and I have just finished taking it. I work for the plumbing and heating company. I just started another bottle of HADACOL, and it is doing me so much good."

This may be your answer, too, if you are suffering from such deficiencies. For HADACOL supplies more than the minimum daily requirements of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Calcium. And HADACOL builds up hemoglobin (when Iron is needed) to rush these vital elements to every part of your body. Many doctors recommend HADACOL—why not stop at your druggist today?

Dawson Still Solid With Truman

WASHINGTON, March 19 (UP)—Administration insiders report today that Donald S. Dawson still is in solid with President Truman despite the RFC investigation.

Mr. Truman's continued confidence in his Administrative Assistant against heavy congressional criticism stems principally from the fact that Dawson is a doggedly loyal partisan who follows orders.

The President, according to some who know him well, also feels that the Senate RFC Subcommittee should have conferred with Dawson before making public its first report which criticized him for "influence" on Federal Loans.

Dawson also holds the title of Liaison Officer for personnel management in the executive branch of government. In this dual role, he is the political watchdog of the White House and the kingpin of patronage. For job-hunters, he is the right man to know.

This is the way the President wants it. He put Dawson in the job, and prescribed his area of operation. He gave Dawson extensive control over Federal jobs. Any time Mr. Truman doesn't like it, Dawson will get his walking papers.

Dawson, who declined an invitation to appear before the Senate Investigators, figured in much of the testimony before the RFC Subcommittee. He was pictured by witnesses as a potent influence in the Reconstruction Finance Corp., of which he once was personnel director. His extensive power over Federal appointments did not figure prominently in the investigation, a fact which some department agency personnel directors regarded as a grievous oversight.

One personnel officer said that

This Brownie, who shares membership in the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. with a million other girls aged 7 through 17, will take part in the nationwide birthday celebration of the Girl Scouts on March 12.

while he had encountered no interference from Dawson. It was "common gossip" among personnel officers that appointments of grade 12 ($6,400 a year) and above in the defense mobilization agencies had to be "cleared" with Dawson.

Some of the personnel specialists feel that "clearance" with Dawson is frequently contrary to the career ideals of the civil service system. The President, however, apparently does not share this view.

Auto Kills More Than War—

... according to statistics just published by the National Safety Council. Nearly a million persons have been killed by the automobile family since the advent of the auto in 1906 while total casualties for all of our seven wars including the Revolution have been only 845,000. We know of no way to stop auto slaughter, but we do know that careful driving will help and adequate insurance will pay the bills in case of accident.

The daily needs of the American people for oil are at an all-time high. When you add to these the needs of the defense program, you find that U. S. oil production is greater than ever before in history.

The men who search for oil did their part in supplying this record demand 10, 20, even 30 years ago.

But they can't stop now. The search for oil must be continuous, so that the U. S. will have oil for you and your neighbor and for the country's needs in the years ahead. This year's oil discoveries may be producing oil for the vehicles, the flying machines, the industries of the year 2000!

The oil companies look so far to the future because it takes about 10 years fully to develop an average oil field. Then, if production is efficiently managed in accordance with conservation practices, the field continues to produce for another thirty or forty years, or even longer.

This foresight provided the vast quantities of oil required for World War II, and it has established the reserves the nation needs for the emergency of 1951. There is no time, now, to search for the oil we need today; it must be — it is — instantly available.

VICTORY IN A BATTLE WITHOUT GUN-FIRE IN A STRUGGLE WITHOUT GLORY

Excerpts from an address delivered by General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, at the presentation of Freedoms Foundation Awards at Valley Forge, February 22, 1951.

GEN. BRADLEY

That winter at Valley Forge was a battle without gunfire, a struggle without glory. Because of their suffering and their defeats, the American troops almost abandoned the cause. But their leader, General Washington, never lost faith.

Now there is little chance that the march toward freedom will ever falter. Too many generations have been sustained by the miracle of individual liberty; too many men have lived in freedom to abandon it without a fight.

The survival of freedom depends on the collective industrial and political power of the nations who have joined in this crusade. In this torn world, the backbone of freedom takes its strength from the power we have to defend it.

Stiteler Admits Knowing Assailant

HOUSTON, Tex., March 19 (UP)—The Houston Press today printed a letter it said was written by Coach Harry Stiteler of Texas A&M College, in which Stiteler admitted he knew the identity of the assailant who gave him a severe beating here last Dec. 15.

The letter, published by the Press in a two-column box on page 1, quoted Stiteler as saying that "the affair was a personal one" and that he and his assailant "have quite some time since settled our difficulties and forgotten it."

Stiteler could not be reached to immediately verify the letter. The letter said Stiteler wanted to "make a final statement to the effect that the Houston Press was correct in its statement that I knew my assailant on the night of Dec. 15 in Houston."

The Press in earlier stories had said that the diminutive A & M coach had not told the "full story" of the affair near the Shamrock Hotel when a man, Stiteler then said was unknown to him, administered a severe beating to the coach.

(In College Station, A&M president T. M. Harrington said the letter was "a complete surprise." He said he had no further comment to make, pending a check with Stiteler himself.

(Harrington earlier had issued a statement expressing confidence in Stiteler's earlier statements that he did not know his attacker nor did he know of any reason for the attack.)

Stiteler's full letter to the Press:

"Editor, The Houston Press: "Due to the many rumors and speculations that have been flying around, I would like to make a final statement to the effect that the Houston Press was correct in its statement that I knew my assailant on the night of Dec. 15 in Houston. However, due to the confusion at the moment I could see no reason for naming names and since making my original statement I could see no reason for
