A Million Minnows Are Lots Of Fish Bait, But He Has 'Em

A million minnows are a lot of fish bait, but that is the amount of the tiny fish J. L. Whisenant estimates that he has in his tanks on his vegetable farm near Olden. Whisenant moved to Olden in the fall of 1920 to go into the vegetable raising business. He irrigated his 10 acre patch from a well which he drilled on the place, and was satisfied with his vegetable business until he began raising minnows; a result of not being able to find fish bait when he wanted it.

"It all started late in the fall of '49," Whisenant recalls. "My son, Lamar, and I got everything together for a fishing trip, including camping and cooking equipment and bedding."

"The next thing was the bait. After about an hour of making ready, we went out to catch the bait. Well, about five hours later we had made very little progress so Lamar struck upon the idea of building a pond in which to raise our own bait."

From this idea, Whisenant started what is turning into a lucrative business. A tank was dug and 140 minnows were put into it in the early spring of 1950. Water was supplied for the tank from the same well which he used to irrigate his vegetables. In a short time, there were so many minnows in the tank that the Whisenants could not begin to use them all, so he decided to put up a sign and see if he could sell a few of them.

The result was so amazing that Whisenant decided to go into a full scale minnow raising and selling business.

Unsportsmanlike And Illegal Too

BEAUMONT, May 2 (UP)—Three Beaumont men have discovered that fishing by telephone is not only unsportsmanlike, it's illegal.

The three were fined a total of $336 after pleading guilty in Justice of Peace Horace Blade's court to electrocuting fish in the Neches River with a device rigged from an old crank-type telephone.

Authorities said the men had taken a magnet-and-crank works used to generate electricity in an old-fashioned telephone and dropped wire from it into the water, about 60 feet apart.

Testimony Starts In Murder Retrial

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 2 (UP)—Opening testimony in the first degree murder trial of the Rev. George P. Hetenyi was to begin today after selection of two alternate jurors.

The full Monroe County court jury was rounded out yesterday. Hetenyi, facing trial for the second time, is charged with the fatal shooting of his wife, pretty Jean Gareis Hetenyi, 24, in April, 1949. He was convicted of second degree murder at his previous trial, but the appellate division later reversed the decision and ordered a new trial.

ing business. Four more tanks have been dug on the little farm. Whisenant sent for government booklets on raising minnows, and met all the specifications in his tanks. Only one of the new tanks has been stocked, but the others are to be filled with water and stocked this year.

Whisenant estimates that in a year or two he will have five million minnows for sale yearly. He plans to get a license to wholesale his crop to the various fishing spots in the state.

He ordered a booklet on raising minnows from the State Fish and Oyster commission. After careful study he was ready to build a tank.

Fly Urges Full Investigation

WASHINGTON, May 2 (UP)—James Lawrence Fly, former Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, today urged that Congress investigate fully the "extraordinary" and "preferential" treatment which the RFC gave Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser and his enterprises.

"At no time in history has another single group been so favored by government largesse," Fly told the Senate Banking Committee.

He said "the public interest requires a full airing of the role played by RFC funds and other governmental largesse in the extraordinary creation, expansion and maintenance of the far-flung Kaiser enterprises."

Fly, now a New York Attorney, testified at hearings on bills to abolish or alter the RFC. But he took no stand on abolition. Fly said he represents a group of Kaiser-Frazier dealers "mistreated" by the automobile firm. "But neither they nor I have any interest in the outcome of these hearings," he said.

He said that "if the committee will delegate its subpoena power to me, I believe I can turn something up." Fly promised to give the committee a memorandum he said would show the need for a congressional investigation of Kaiser's deals with the government.

He said the dealings not only involved the RFC but other government agencies.

Amarillo Man Admits the Murder Of Estranged Wife Who Lay Nude

AMARILLO, May 2 (UP)—R. J. Hulen, 43-year-old truck driver, was held without bond today and authorities said he confessed beating to death his estranged wife with an iron pipe as she lay nude on her bed taking a sunbath.

District Attorney Herman Pitkin said Hulen made a "full confession" of the murder yesterday after he "failed" weekend lie detector tests.

Until yesterday, Hulen had repeatedly denied any knowledge of the murder and told officers he suspected "another man" with whom Mrs. Hulen had been keeping company.

Pitkin said Hulen directed officers to a spot in an alley, about two doors from where Mrs. Hulen lived, where the iron pipe was hidden.

Pitkin declined to reveal the full content of Hulen's confession saying "we don't want to brief the opposition lawyers any more than

The first tank was dug to cover three-fourths of an acre, nine feet deep.

Several trips were made to the Possum Kingdom and Lake Cisco fish hatcheries, and even into Oklahoma to study a minnow farm. Then he was ready to raise his minnows.

A final trip to Possum Kingdom to obtain 40 large Golden Shiners and 100 small Steelheads and a small number of Red Horse minnows to stock his tank and Whisenant was a minnow raiser.

Whisenant estimates that there are half a million minnows in the tank now, several thousand of which are ready for market. In another tank there are about half a million more. Each of his other three tanks has been stocked with 400 spawners.

The minnows grow very swiftly, Whisenant explains, because they are well fed. Each day he places a pound of ground beef and about three loaves of bread in the ponds which have a large number of minnows.

Spawning boards have been placed in each tank and Whisenant explains that the minnows will begin spawning when the water in the pools reaches 56 degrees.

But there is still more to be done. Whisenant says that he plans to dig still more tanks and go into the business in a huge way. He still intends to raise vegetables also, but his heart is in the minnow business right now.

Mayor Proclaims Thursday As Town Inspection Day In Eastland

Mayor Jack Muirhead has proclaimed Thursday as "Town Inspection Day," in Eastland.

On that day, members of the North Texas Field Club will conduct an inspection of business houses of the city for fire hazards. Emphasis for the drive will be put on the saving of lives. Schools, churches and theatres will be given special attention during the inspection.

All fire hazards found will be tagged with a red tag and the owner of the building will be urged to correct the hazard. The cooperation of all citizens is urged in the inspection.

Mayor Muirhead's proclamation is as follows:

WHEREAS it is generally recognized that loss of life and property by fire is increasing yearly in our United States and in Texas; and

WHEREAS the Fire Prevention Committee of the North Texas Field Club of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association, an organization representing the capital stock fire insurance companies, has as its aim the saving of lives and property by stopping fires; and

WHEREAS this organization, upon the invitation of our local chamber of commerce has agreed to help Eastland stage a community-wide fire safety program to reduce fire hazards and to alert our citizens and school children to the fire problem.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jack Muirhead, mayor of Eastland, do hereby officially declare and proclaim May 3, 1951, as "Town Inspection Day" and I earnestly urge that as a city and as individual

Siebert Named President of Eastland Lions

Wendell Siebert was elected president of the Eastland Lions Club for the coming year at the regular meeting of the club in the fellowship room of the First Methodist Church, Tuesday noon.

Siebert will succeed Judge Milburn S. Long, present president. Marshall Fox was elected first vice-president, Bruce Pipkin second vice-president and Bob Perkins, third vice president.

Ross Rucker was re-elected as secretary-treasurer; Bill Rhodes, twister; Gene Haynes, assistant twister and Lowell Snyder as Lion Tamer at the meeting. Members of the club voted to have a ladies night for the installation of new officers at a date to be named in the future. Judge Long appointed committees to arrange details of the installation program.

Henry Schultz of Abilene spoke to the group at the Tuesday meeting, explaining the coming fire hazard inspection, Thursday.

He pointed out that Eastland at the present time has a 20 per cent fire credit, but that in 1950 the city had 10 times the number of fires as in 1945. Another bad year in 1951 would lower the city's credit rating and make fire insurance rates higher. The inspection, he explained, is to help business owners find fire hazards so that they may be corrected. Schultz added that special emphasis will be placed on making the youth of the city aware of fire hazards through movies at all schools and through having the boy scouts as guests at a luncheon Thursday noon. E. E. Freyschlag introduced Schultz to the club and stated that special interest on fire prevention in schools, churches and theatres would be taken in the inspection.

Salvation Army Drive to Start Here Thursday

The Eastland service unit of the Salvation Army will begin its annual fund-raising program here Thursday to provide assistance for the less fortunate of the community and to aid the Salvation Army in carrying on its expanded Texas program, John S. Harv, chairman of the Eastland unit, announced today.

Other members of the service unit in Eastland are Guy Parker, treasurer; Miss Elsie Glenn, Carl Johnson and H. J. Tanner. The committee met Monday and set plans for the drive.

A quota of $800 has been set for the drive. C. G. Stinchcomb, Jr., was chosen as drive chairman. Stinchcomb is the commander of the local American Legion Post.

In accepting the job, Stinchcomb said that it was an honor and that he knew of no other organization that reached the type people that the Salvation Army does in a Christ like manner. He urged liberal giving to the drive and pointed to the many activities of the Salvation Army on behalf of unfortunate people everywhere and for the men in service and their families.

Upon completion of the campaign, which is the only one conducted during the year by the Salvation Army, the tambourine collection has been discontinued. A portion of the money raised will be left with the local committee and the remainder will go to the Salvation Army Regional fund for the maintenance of hospitals for unmarried mothers, fresh air camp benefits for mothers and children, aid to veterans, a state-wide program for youth, and other regional services including a reserve fund for emergency and disaster.

Mother Wants Son Behind Bars The Rest of His Life Not Killed

PAMPA, May 2 (UP)—Mrs. H. H. Stull launched a Panhandle-wide campaign today which she hopes will save her doomed son from the electric chair for murdering his sweetheart's father.

Mrs. Stull said she would work principally through veterans' organizations with petitions asking Gov. Allan Shivers to commute the sentence of her son, Richard McGee, from death to life imprisonment.

McGee, 25, was convicted of shooting to death A. L. Allston, Lubbock groceryman, on July 7, 1948. The shooting stemmed from an argument at Allston's home as McGee sought his permission to

Texas Cattle Grower Lashes Out At OPS Price Rollback On Beef

KINGSVILLE, May 2 (UP)—Robert J. Kleberg, Jr., president of the King Ranch and the world's largest cattle grower, lashed out today at the OPS rollback on beef, and charged that "another Korea is being planned in Washington."

Kleberg said the "Washington Korea" was being planned for the consumers of beef and the industry which supplies the country's beef.

"The planning is being done by politicians, their economic advisers and their wise-cracking administrators who know nothing of the intricate problems involved," he said. The Texas cattleman said that legitimate packers are already having difficulty in filling the needs of their customers, and said that shortages of beef now developing in legitimate channels are going to be far beyond anything "we ever dreamed of in OPA days."

"Federal planners are asking beef producers, whose own costs are fixed by the price of necessary feed and labor to sell beef below the cost of producing it," he said. "The result will put many cattle feeders out of business and set up vicious black markets."

Kleberg said an average 800-pound steer gains about two pounds a day on efficient feeding. Simple arithmetic shows that it now costs the cattlemen 96 cents to put those two pounds of beef on that steer for meat that will grade prime, choice or good.

He explained that a fattening steer will eat each day approximately 20 pounds of cottonseed cake or meal and 10 pounds of hay.

"On the basis of present-day feed prices it will cost a total of 84 cents," he said. "To the 84 cents cost for feed must be added 12 cents per steer per day for labor and other operating costs. The total cost of putting the two pounds of beef on the steer is therefore 96 cents, or 48 cents per pound."

"The OPS ruling of April 30 rolls back prices all the way to 37 cents per pound for prime beef, 34.20 for choice, and 31.50 for good," he said. "Another four and one-half per cent rollback is due Aug. 1 and still another Oct. 1."

New Mayor Is Handed Setback

DALLAS, May 2 (UP)—The City Dallas Council handed new mayor J. B. Adoue, Jr., a setback yesterday, less than one hour after he had taken his oath of office, by voting 8 to 1 to retain Charles C. Ford as city manager.

Adoue's vote was the lone dissenting one cast.

The council action climaxed more than a week of charges and counter-charges during which it was claimed that Adoue's prime objective was to get rid of Police Chief Carl Hansson. Adoue denied having any desire to fire the popular police chief. He also denied rumors that he intended to open the city to gambling.

Senate Approves Bill to Ban Punch Boards in State of Texas

AUSTIN, May 2 (UP)—The Senate today gave final approval to a bill banning punch boards in Texas.

The action was taken on voice vote. But an earlier vote allowing the measure to be brought up for final approval carried 24-6. The bill now goes to the House.

A second anti-gambling measure, one banning slot machines in Texas, also was carried for Senate action.

Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg peppered the punch board bill with proposed amendments.

All of them failed. The measure would allow confiscation of all punch boards, whether exhibited for use or simply stored. Possession would be a misdemeanor. Conviction would carry a fine ranging from $100 to $1,000, together with a jail sentence up to one year.

Kelley, assisted by Sen. Gus Strauss of Hallettsville, attempted to attach a ban on all playing cards to the punch board bill.

Dramatically exhibiting a deck of cards, Kelley had a page carry them one-by-one across the Senate floor to Strauss' desk.

The cards pictured a caricature of a wolf on the back. A full color photograph of a nude woman was on the front.

Kelley asked Strauss to describe the card. Strauss did.

Kelley denounced it as evil, sinful and a threat to the morals of Texas.

He sent over a second card.

Strauss avidly described the card. "This one is similar to the other," he said. "It's a woman in bare skin."

"Bear skin," inquired Kelley, Strauss explained.

"Bare skin— spelled b-a-r-e," Kelley unsuccessfully sought to ban license plates on grounds people played "auto poker."

Strauss sought to ban dice, dominoes and marbles. "My boys," he frankly explained, "sometimes play for keeps."

Then he attempted to tack on amendments putting the ban on ping pong and croquet.

Communist Book In Texas School

HOUSTON, May 2 (UP)—A 94-page book with a so-called Communist slant titled "Land of the Soviets," has been uncovered in several Houston Junior High Schools and School Superintendent M. E. Moreland said today he had ordered it removed.

Miss Elenora Alexander, supervisor of library, said the book was purchased in 1948 and had been in the system since then.

But she said that in the past few days "we have had a number of complaints and Dr. Moreland asked me to check on the book. I did, and found that it wasn't exactly what you'd call Democratic."

Miss Alexander said the book referred to one of Russia's five-year plans as being "democratic," and said she feared anyone reading the book might be misled.

"I have asked all the schools having the book to let me know about it so we can eliminate it," she said.

Tricky Travelers Budget Suits Are Hard to Resist

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The budget suit, trimly tailored and priced under $20, is clothes bait to many women these days. It becomes even more tempting when it's made of worsted-and-sheen gabardine, or nylon-and-acetate cord that washes with spectacular success. These fabrics are hard to find in budget suits. And detailing in many budget suits equals

Father Ask Congressional Support On His Stand Against the Army

CHICAGO, May 1 (UP)—A father who smuggled his son out of an Army Camp after the youth complained "I am going to fall dead soon," pleaded today for Congressional support in his stand against the Army.

The recruit, Pvt. Stanley Amborski, 21, was undergoing treatment for double pneumonia at Great Lakes Naval Hospital. Doctors described the emaciated youth as a "very sick young man."

Richard Vail, R., Ill., in his stand against the Army which denied that the recruit was turned down in his requests for treatment.

"I've written Mr. Vail and expect to get some action in Washington on this matter," Amborski said.

Brig. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, Jr., commander of the 6th Armored Division at the Missouri Camp, said the recruit was considered absent without leave because he had been removed without permission. Action against him, Sturgis said, would depend upon the outcome of an investigation.

The Army, in a double-barreled denial, said the youth had visited the dispensary four times and each time he had been examined and treated.

The Army said it had not confirmed a report by the Amborski family physician, Dr. Meyer Cohen, that Stanley was suffering from peritonitis, possibly caused by a ruptured appendix.

But he said he had appealed for help from his Congressman, Rep.

Wrong Fence?

SAN ANTONIO, May 1 (UP)—An Air Force private feeling the wrath of a girl leaped the wrong fence last night and was "winged" by a charge of buckshot.

Officers said Pvt. Eldon D. Mayo, 18, of Randolph Air Force Base, became involved in an argument and fight with a girl. He fled, running out the back door of a tavern and scaling a high fence.

Mayo then dashed for the nearest door, paying no heed to an order to halt. One shotgun pellet struck Mayo in the left leg.

The private had unknowingly climbed the fence that surrounds the county jail. Sheriff Owen Kilday reported the shot was fired by jail guard R. F. Tate.

Cops Testify For Oilman

LOS ANGELES, May 1 (UP)—Sports Promoter Larry Rummans' $210,000 damage suit against Texas Oilman Glenn McCarthy was expected to go to a jury today.

Rummans is suing the millionaire for allegedly beating him and holding him prisoner in the Oilman's plush Shamrock Hotel at Houston.

Two Houston Detectives, W. W. Stephenson and H. M. Sullivan, testified for the defense yesterday that they were present at a fight between McCarthy and Rummans but that no blows were struck.

Stephenson said he was in McCarthy's office in 1949 when the Oilman and Rummans got into an argument. He said McCarthy arose from his desk when Rummans called him a liar and leaped on top of the desk as Rummans rushed towards him.

Stephenson said the two were separated before a blow could land, although both swung punches. Under cross-examination, the detective said he did not see Rummans off his feet, unconscious or showing any signs of having been hit.

Sullivan gave nearly the same version of the fight.

Meet the Man Who Dovetails New National Defense Effort

WASHINGTON COLUMN BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The man picked to head the State Department's greater, new, combined foreign military and economic assistance show is Thomas Dudley Cabot. He is a Boston Republican, which should make him acceptable to the militant minority in Congress. But the program he is preparing for Congress is probably in for plenty of trouble before it gets adopted.

Mr. Cabot has been on the job in Washington since early in January. His official title is Director of International Security Affairs. As such, he acts directly for Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who can't devote the necessary full time to this particular job of helping the non-Communist world get rearmed. Mr. Cabot has as his chief assistant another Boston Republican named Charles A. Coolidge.

In civilian life, Mr. Cabot was head of United Fruit Co. But the new assortment of responsibilities he has been given to carry in Washington makes a bigger bunch of bananas than anything ever handled by United Fruit.

He is to co-ordinate all activities connected with the North Atlantic Pact, the Organization of American States, separate military assistance programs to countries like Greece, Turkey, Iran, Vietnam, Formosa, the Philippines, or wherever. Under a recent letter which has gone out from the White House, Mr. Cabot's office is also to co-ordinate this military assistance with Marshall Plan aid now administered by ECA—the Economic Co-operation Administration.

MUCH of the opposition to allowing the State Department to boss all these things is said to come from lack of explanation on how the Cabot office is to function, or from misunderstanding. The State Department is not to administer these programs as an operating agency. Responsibility for carrying out the programs will be left with Department of Defense and ECA, as at present.

Defense Secretary Marshall and ECA Director William C. Foster, who has cabinet status, both rank Mr. Cabot, who is a deputy to the Secretary of State. Nevertheless the Cabot office, acting for the Secretary of State, will have a kind of veto power over the arms aid program and the economic assistance program, where it becomes military assistance.

The need for this is said to be that the two programs must be made to jibe and not conflict. The Defense Department cannot be given authority over the Marshall Plan, and ECA cannot run arms aid. One solution suggested was to set up a new organization under Averell Harriman, in the White House, to manage both programs. But since the State Department had already been given authority to allocate foreign arms aid under the Military Defense Assistance Act of 1951, the decision was made to leave this authority for the combined programs under Secretary Acheson.

PRIOR to 1939 the western European area had some 275 divisions, all fully equipped by their own arms production. The immediate goal is to equip only about a third as many divisions. If left to their own devices, these countries can again equip such forces. But 15 years might be required to do the job and there isn't that much time.

The job of the Cabot office therefore becomes one of taking the 10 to 13 billion dollars which Congress will be asked to appropriate for next year, divide it up as finished arms aid and raw materials, allocate the proper amount to each country and leave a reserve for emergencies like the $29 million recently allocated for Yugoslavia.

Making these decisions is not to be the sole responsibility of Thomas Dudley Cabot, though he may have that power, subject to final appeal to the Secretary of State and the President. Mr. Cabot operates as head of ISAC—International Security Affairs Committee. On ISAC are Maj.-Gen. James H. Should Gambling Be Legalized?

WASHINGTON, May 1 (UP)—Should gambling be legalized? asked the Senate Crime Investigating Committee. It answered itself with a big "no!"

It said gambling is bad but its by-products of crime are worse. The committee's report admitted "it is undoubtedly impossible to eradicate gambling completely."

So, it said, many persons asked why not legalize it. The committee said that suggestion was based on two false theories:

1. That crooks would go out of legal gambling and leave it to honest and upstanding businessmen.

2. That public officials who have ignored or protected illegal gambling will automatically prove incorruptible when called on to license gambling places.

The committee snorted at this. Here is what it said:

Gambling is attractive to gangsters because it is big money—$20,000,000,000 a year—not because it is illegal.

Making gambling legal means more betting by small wage earners, the people least able to bear the inevitable losses.

Look, No Plates! AUBURN N.Y. (UP)—A Wisconsin truck driver motored from Chicago to Cayuga County, N. Y., without license plates. It wasn't until he reached nearby Brutus that police arrested him—for speeding.

Senate Interior Committee Defeats Bill To Return Tideland Ownership to Texas

WASHINGTON, May 2 (UP)—The Senate Interior Committee today defeated a bill to return ownership of Oil Rich Tidelands to California, Texas and Louisiana.

Chairman Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., announced. The committee in a closed session voted 7 to 6 against substituting the bill for an "interim" measure he is sponsoring. He said the vote meant the bill was dead as far as the committee was concerned, although he couldn't guarantee what would happen on the Senate floor.

A bill confirming state ownership of Tidelands was passed by Congress several years ago but was vetoed by President Truman. O'Mahoney also disclosed that Sen. Russell B. Long, D., La., had brought in a series of amendments to the Interim Bill, substituting state administration of Tidelands for general administration until Congress votes a permanent settlement of the issue.

He said the long amendments would be considered along with some of his own at a meeting next Tuesday.

The long amendments, O'Mahoney said, would allow the states to collect and impound revenue from oil leases on the tidelands under conditions approved by the

Electric Iron May Be Weapon Used In Murder

AMARILLO, May 2 (UP)—The death weapon in the sunbath slaying of Mrs. Mabel Hulien, investigators disclosed today.

Officers said one of two instruments sent to Austin for laboratory examination is an iron taken from the bungalow where Mrs. Hulien's nude and beaten body was found under a sunlamp last week.

Texas Ranger Frank Probst and sheriff's deputies who searched the apartment of R. J. Hulien, 43, estranged husband of the slain woman, now charged with her murder, said "another instrument" also is being examined.

The 40-year-old woman's head was crushed by a killer who apparently surprised her as she napped under a sunlamp in her bedroom. Hulien was charged after laboratory tests proved stains on his shoes and trousers to be human blood, and lie detector report was found inconclusive.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., took issue with the president's estimate that the military budget would fit in with his proposed overall fiscal 1952 budget of $71,000,000,000.

Taft estimated that the cost of supporting Mr. Truman's goal of a 3,500,000 man military establishment—plus other government functions—would add up to an $85,000,000,000 federal budget.

"If we balanced such a budget, inflation would be inevitable," Taft said.

Inflation Will Be Inevitable

WASHINGTON, May 2 (UP)—President Truman's "path to peace" defense budget of $62,104,254,390 was expected to be approved without any substantial cuts although there were some misgivings in Congress today as to its effect on the economy.

President Truman's proposed military budget actually calls for spending about $40,500,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1. The remaining $21,600,000,000 would not be spent until later years.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., took issue with the president's estimate that the military budget would fit in with his proposed overall fiscal 1952 budget of $71,000,000,000.

Taft estimated that the cost of supporting Mr. Truman's goal of a 3,500,000 man military establishment—plus other government functions—would add up to an $85,000,000,000 federal budget.

"If we balanced such a budget, inflation would be inevitable," Taft said.
