HS Graduation To Climax School Year

YOU NAME IT
By Everett Taylor

With the closing of the 1950-51 school year, it might be well to review some of the highlights of the school year.

We emphasize the some, because a rundown of all the events of the year would be a near impossibility.

First, of course, was the start of school itself which was greeted, no doubt, with a mixed reaction.

Some students were glad, others sad at the prospect of starting another school year. Nevertheless, there it was, for some 39 or so students their final year at EHS, for others just another of a seemingly endless chain.

The big event for the fall was football. Through a rocky season the students were loyal to their team, which, although outmanned by many teams, never was out-fought. Had games been won by heart alone, the Mavericks would have been undefeated.

A tie with Dublin and a victory over DeLeon were the highlights of the season.

Also during the fall came the crowning of two sweethearts, the one for the band and the football sweetheart. Margie June Poe was crowned band sweetheart and Charlotte Van Hoy received the honor of being named Football sweetheart.

Next big activity for the school was basketball. The winter sport had hardly gotten underway when along came the Christmas season with its two weeks holidays, much to the regret of exactly no one.

Christmas parties, etc., immediately took the place of school thoughts for a time. After all the excitement of Christmas passed, almost all at any rate, concentration again returned to basketball.

The girls took the lead in this sport by winning two tournaments to add some beautiful trophies to the collection at the high school. The boys team had rough sledding for a while, but improved vastly and boasted two victories over the Ranger Bulldogs as their highlights of the year.

Somewhere about this time came the school carnival. Then came the senior play. Those in the play worked long and hard with an outstanding play being the result.

Also in the springtime came the coronation of the king and queen of Eastland High with Bob Womack and Betty Grimes receiving the honors.

Track, the spring sport, was highlighted by the record breaking performance of the 440-yard relay team at the district meet in Hamilton.

Then the band went to Brownwood to participate in the regional meet and came back with division I rating in concert play, Class A.

Spring football came and went with the Red team playing host to the Whites at an ice cream party.

A couple of year-round activities which should be mentioned are the High School Choir and the work of the Annual staff. The choir was organized in October and made great progress throughout the year, culminating their activity with a public concert at the High School Auditorium. They made several appearances before clubs and other organizations during the year.

The annual staff worked long and hard, meeting the trials that can be known only by those who have worked on such a publication, and hoped that the yearbook would get out before school closed.

Thus the troubles, joys and activities of the school year blend into memories, which are probably pleasant for all concerned, as the time for graduation approaches.

Maybe Truman Will See His Mistake Now

LUBBOCK, May 24 (UP) — Packing operations ceased at the million-dollar Keeton Packing Company here today on orders of the owners who said they couldn't do business under the OPS price regulations.

The company, largest in the South Plains area, shutdown on a directive of Claude Keeton, Manager, who said yesterday that "It'll stay closed until the government changes its beef regulations."

The some 100 employees of the packing house were diverted from their normal duties to a construction job. The company is building new feed lots and pens.

The shutdown was the first for the firm in 14 years operation. Keeton said that under the beef rollback and regulations, "We can't operate at a profit because of current high operating costs."

Four other independent packing houses in Lubbock continued operation today but owners said there was doubt that they could continue earning a fair return on investment.

No meat shortage was evident today as result of the shutdown. There was conjecture that other packing houses might increase their kills, or that shipments to warehouses of the major national packers serving this area might be increased.

The Keeton Company normally killed 500 to 600 cattle per month several hundred head of hogs and 10,000 chickens.

Duayne Brown, and Doyle Phillips.

W. G. Womack, superintendent of schools, will present certificates to the class members. "Greetings to Spring," will be given by the entire class, with chimes played by Linda Linkenhogor. The class presentation will be made by Don Burleson with Sidney Seale giving the closing speech.

A pledge to the school and "Farewell" will be given by all the class members. Jimmie Waller will play the recessional.

US MAY HAVE ATOMIC SHELL

WASHINGTON, May 24, (UP) — Rep. Overton Brooks, D., La., says the United States has developed an atomic artillery shell which he thinks ought to be fired at the Chinese Reds in Korea.

Actually, informed sources said today, this country has proved not one but two experimental shell designs in recent atomic tests and a third and better model is in the works.

Whether any of the models has actually gone into production is another matter, however, and whether they ought to be used in Korea is something else again.

The Atomic Energy Commission and other official sources were unwilling to comment on Brooks' statement.

But military officials were by no means certain that Korea would be the best place to test atomic weapons against an enemy in the field. Whether in the shape of shells or bombs, atomic weapons are gadgets of mass destruction.

And in a more or less open "war of maneuver" like the one being fought in Korea, troops seldom are concentrated to the point where they would make ideal atomic targets.

In any case, Korea's mountainous terrain would provide natural shielding against atomic blast for troops deployed in copulat. In such circumstances, the military in the past has said a multitude of smaller blows would be more effective than a single tremendously big one.

Planes Shoot Down Derelict

TOKYO, May 24 (UP) — A "flying derelict" without pilot or crew dived over Tokyo today menacing the airways until fighter planes shot it down.

The Derelict, a C-119 Flying Boxcar, had been abandoned by its crew of four and two passengers after it developed engine trouble. Instead of crashing the plane continued on its course.

It was headed on north over the Japan sea when fighter planes overtook it and shot it down as a menace to air navigation.

UN Forces Swarmed Across Parallel In Two Places Today

GEN. ALMOND IN PERSONAL CHARGE OF UN TANK DRIVE

By Earnest Hoherecht
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, May 24 (UP)—United Nations Forces swarmed across the 38th Parallel in two places today for the third time in the Korean war.

One-mile-long armored column dashed 13 miles through enemy fire and crossed the parallel on the East Central Front, splitting the fleeing Chinese Communist Armies.

A second force of South Koreans stabbed across the border northwest of Seoul against virtually non-existing enemy opposition.

On the West Central Front another tank column captured Chunchon and overran a group of fleeing Chinese shuffling North at a dog trot in columns of twos. They shot the column to pieces with cannon and machinegun fire and captured a "large" number of prisoners.

The 8th Army is on the offensive across its entire front and there is no limitations as to where it will go, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, 8th Army Commander, told newsmen.

Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, Commander of the U. S. 10th Corps on the East Central Front, took personal command of the smashing Allied tank drive across the parallel in that area.

The drive was launched from the Hangye Area, where the U. S. 2nd Division stopped the Chinese Communist offensive with a stone-wall defense. It rolled on to the Choyang River about a mile beyond the 38th Parallel.

Tanks, trucks and jeeps stretching the dusty road, front dispatches said. Communists dug in on a hill fired on the column, but it raced on through.

Almond put the powerful armored column in motion Northward and then followed its progress in a light liaison plane.

Other Allied armored columns pursued the beaten and retreating Chinese Communists all along the Western Korean Front. They reported advances of three to six miles. At one point on the Western front they drove within six miles of the Parallel to direct artillery fire on Chinese rearguards.

Allied planes roared out in perfect weather to smash the Reds. They concentrated on Communist troops and supplies in the "Iron Triangle" — the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Hwaon Area — and gave close support to the tanks crossing the border on the East Central front.

There was speculation that the Allies intended to drive into the "iron triangle" and destroy the huge masses of Communist supplies there. Such an attack would deprive the Reds of the means for an immediate renewal of their shattered offensive.

Need To Save Water Supply

DENTON, May 24 (UP) — Shortages of water, the need for saving available supplies, and codification of water laws are "special interests" of the West Texas chamber of commerce, the executive vice president of the chamber said last night.

Speaking at a dinner meeting of 64 municipal leaders here, Fred H. Husbands of Abilene said the water law codification was of prime importance to the area he represented.

Prior rights for municipalities in surface water matters is "very important" and part of the chamber's water conservation program will be carried out with "this in mind," he said.

Husbands also favored multi-city dams, local controls for underground water, appropriation permits and a fair distribution of water.

Towns represented at the meeting on the Texas State College for Women campus were Denton, Fort Worth, Cleburne, Gainesville, Lewisville, Muenster, Bowie, Justin, Grapevine, Weatherford, Decatur, Pilot Point and Abilene.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

How U. S. Know-How Erased Communism in Backward Area

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—John R. (Jack) Neale is a Wyoming county agent who for the last seven years has been an Institute of Inter-American Affairs director in Peru. He came back to Washington the other day for an IIAA conference and he brought with him a first-class tale on how you go about beating communism in an underdeveloped area.

The story concerns a little town in southern Peru named Camana. It is located in a little valley, also known as Camana, on the Majes River. But by a curious configuration of the land and surrounding mountains, with the Pacific Ocean at one end and a canyon at the other, the valley is almost completely shut off from the rest of Peru. Everyone in the valley was once supposed to be a Communist. Even the Camana deputy in the Peruvian Congress was a Communist, and he was always raising plenty of trouble. Sometime, somehow, between the two world wars, a Commie agent had gotten into the isolated valley and done a real job of organizing it.

The town itself had a population of about 2000, with another 6500 or so in the valley. It had some 750 farms, and about 20,000 acres were under irrigation. Rice was a principal crop, and there were half a dozen rice mills scattered in the valley. But they had been operated to gouge the farmers for so long the victims finally rebelled. And the Communist deputy from Camana demanded that the government build a socialized rice mill.

SHORTLY after the end of the last war, Peru's President Jose Luis Bustamante called in Jack Neale and told him he was in trouble over Camana. The people there were demanding a government-operated rice mill, threatening all kinds of trouble if they didn't get it. But anti-Communist deputies wouldn't approve it, because all the people in the valley were so politically Red.

Dr. Bustamante wanted Institute of Inter-American Affairs to move into Camana, build the rice mill and operate it, then set up one of the IIAA "Servicios." These are extension service operations, which direct agricultural, health and education development projects, jointly financed by U. S. and Peruvian government funds.

President Bustamante kept insisting. Finally Neale agreed to put an agricultural agent in the valley on one condition. This was that he be authorized to steer clear of political involvements, and that he should do only the things he considered necessary for the agricultural rehabilitation of the area.

WHEN the Servicio office was opened up in Camana, there was a Communist delegation to greet the new county agent. Neale refused to deal with them. He stayed away from all political meetings. But he started traveling around the valley to see what was needed.

He saw that the citrus fruit trees were blighted by disease and insect pests. He ordered a supply of insecticides and started some demonstrations of spraying.

He saw that plowing and cultivating and harvesting of crops were on a pretty primitive, inefficient basis. He organized some tractor pools and got the farmers to schedule their field work so that the machines were kept busy all the time.

He saw that the irrigation system could be made to work better, and he reorganized that.

Finally he did authorize construction of a new rice mill to help break the price combine of the other mills that operated against the farmers.

All this began only five years ago.

"Today," says Jack Neale with what amounts to pardonable pride, "the income of Camana valley is five times what it was before the Servicio was opened. And there isn't a Communist in the valley."

Republican Senator Hickenlooper Wants To Call Dean Acheson In WASHINGTON, May 24 (UP)—A Republican senator moved today to defer questioning of military witnesses in the MacArthur investigation and call Secretary of State Dean Acheson for quizzing in the "broad" field of foreign policy.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R., Ia., asked the Senate Armed Services-Foreign Relations Committee to call Acheson tomorrow or Monday.

A vote on his motion was deferred until later today when committee members expect to complete questioning of Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and begin interrogation of Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army Chief of Staff.

Hickenlooper's motion was a complete surprise. Democrats had hoped that Collins would show Gen. Douglas MacArthur was off-base when he "assumed" that his recommenders for fighting the Korean War were over-riden not by the Joint Chiefs but by President Truman or George C. Marshall.

The Iowa Senator said the inquiry is concerned with "fundamental policy" and such "broad" matters could be canvassed only with Truman and Acheson. Hickenlooper said he was not suggesting that Truman be invited to testify into the broad policy field and that Acheson and other diplomatic officials should be called at once.

"If this is not done, he said, the questioning will be prolonged and repetitious."

Hickenlooper's motion pointed up a bitter dispute lying at the heart of the MacArthur controversy. It involves MacArthur's claims, stated before Congress and the committee, that the Military Chiefs of Staff backed his views to the hilt and that the chiefs and himself were reversed by political officials in Washington.

Crazy Impulse Meant Trouble

SAN ANTONIO, May 24 (UP)—The "crazy impulse" robbery of the First State Bank of Poteot on May 8 put four San Antonio youths under prison sentences ranging from seven to 15 years today.

Fifteen-year penalties were ordered by Federal District Judge Ben H. Rice for Donald J. McKay, 19, and Arthur Pugh, 22. Roger Klingman, 21, got 12 years, and Donald Lee Coats, 19, seven years.

The quartet pleaded guilty to the robbery and each was given an additional five years, to be served concurrently with the other time, for conspiring to rob a bank.

The youths were captured at their homes here after being traced from a pair of cheap sunglasses found at their abandoned getaway car.

The youths said they planned and carried out the robbery, in which they took $1,648, on a "crazy impulse."

Woman Convicted Of Murdering Garage Mechanic

GALVESTON, May 24 (UP)—Mrs. Johnnie Louise Rogers, 30-year-old red-haired divorcee, was convicted Wednesday of murdering her admitted lover while his wife tried to protect him and was given a five-year suspended sentence.

A district court jury returned the guilty verdict today with the recommended sentence which was imposed by Judge Charles G. Dibrill. The red-haired mother of three had admitted shooting to death Roy Hardy, 32-year-old garage mechanic.

The case went to the jury Tuesday night and it was ordered locked up at midnight after it had failed to reach a verdict. The jury announced at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday that it had agreed on a penalty.

Mrs. Rogers was the last of 18 witnesses to testify in the two-day trial.

During a tension-packed two-hours of testimony, she told how she came to shoot Hardy Sept. 27 after his wife had begged her not to.

Hardy died 10 days later.

"I didn't mean to hurt him," she said. "I wouldn't have harmed a hair of his head. At his home I told him to come out, and I fired a shot into the ground. He got behind his wife, and I asked him if he was a coward to stand behind his wife's skirts. Then, he stepped up and said, if you going to shoot go ahead."

"I shot, and he said, 'Oh, Johnnie,' and I ran to him and put his head in my hands."

Mrs. Rogers testified she met Hardy at a seabrook cafe three years before and "fell in love with him at first sight."

She said she lived with Hardy for sometime and that he also purchased her a car. She said he wouldn't get a divorce and he wouldn't leave her alone.

State witnesses, including Mrs. Paul Hall, Hardy's widow, testified she had threatened to kill him.

The Gold Mannequin

THE STORY: Just as Paul Panciera and Jean Roland had decided their dream of a successful gown shop "Jean Paul" had exploded, they receive some sketches from an unknown artist, who signs the drawings "Teresa" and who lives in Cedarbrook, in upstate New York. Mr. Panciera quickly recognizes genius and sends Teresa $25 and asks for more sketches. More come, but Teresa does not rush down from Cedarbrook eager to sign a contract. Mr. Panciera tells Jean that their Teresa is "a buxom and bovine matron, sure to have the productivity and fertility of a peasant" and their future is assured. But Jean is still troubled. "I'd be much happier if there wasn't so mysterious," she says.

But Teresa was nowhere to be found. The postmaster, a sour and uncooperative character, declared there were so many queer names invented for General Delivery he could never remember any of them, and if he had remembered Teresa, he could not have divulged her identity anyway. That was not permitted.

Besides, he was not in the detective business and General Delivery was pretty much of a nuisance however you looked at it and there was a Cedarbrook, Indiana, which was probably the town Mr. Panciera was looking for, and bang went the window shut.

NOBODY in the town had ever heard of anyone who designed clothes. Even the name, Teresa, sounded alien and unreal to the residents. No one named Teresa had ever lived in those parts. And so far as dress designing was concerned, all they knew about it was from home patterns in the mail order catalogue and that was good enough for them.

Mr. Panciera floundered in a vacuum. The local minister was no help, nor was the school mistress, nor the town doctor, nor the constable at the general store, nor the police.

So Mr. Panciera returned to Manhattan, put the contract in his desk, more convinced than before that Teresa was some primitive character who lived in pastoral seclusion. Jean was silenced.

Summer came, flowered and faded. "Jean Paul" grew. Success poured into the four-story building on Fifty-sixth Street like sunshine. And Mr. Panciera became the chief of couturiers of New York.

He was interviewed by the newspapers on the coming styles, the length of skirts, the height of the waistline, the new silhouette. He picked the ten best dressed women. He wrote articles for the fancy magazines on how he had emancipated New York from Paris domination.

Articles were written on him, on his art, his genius. Especially lauded was his genius for combining simplicity with allure. In a few swift weeks, he had become the arbiter of fashion in America.

Meanwhile, slowly, Jean came to accept Mr. Panciera's concept of Teresa as an eccentric so obscure and retiring that she could, except for her sketches, be comfortably considered a myth. Jean, too, began to look upon the designer as an unobtrusive handmaiden of their destiny, sent by an elegant and sophisticated Providence.

This naivete was quite understandable, even in a mind as realistic and worldly as Jean's, for at the moment she was floating through airy regions of opulence and acclaim where everything seemed possible.

Beauty, Jean had had in full measure. For years she had been (as their new press agent put it) the belle of the Bohemians and the morning star of New York's all-night life. But now, as joint creator of the glory of "Jean Paul," she had become (to use her press agent again) the pet of the patri-cians.

She still modeled occasionally, and she was still the most beautiful model in Manhattan. But now she was an artist exhibiting her own creative talent to speak. Now, she had become very much the lady.

IN September, Mr. Panciera made plans for a trip to Europe. Matter-of-factly, he wrote Jean asking for some new and unusually striking designs. The time had come, he decided, to stand Paris on its haired.

But this time, there was no response from Teresa. Mr. Panciera assumed she was ill or busy. He wrote to her again. Again she did not reply. No sketches, no communication of any sort arrived. Mr. Panciera, stunned, could not believe it. It was as if he had awakened one morning without his moustache.

But days passed and no word arrived from Teresa.

Experts agree that fresh coffee, ground exactly right for the way you make coffee, gives you better flavor. Homemakers evidently agree, because the coffee that outsells any other offers "Custom Ground" service. There is no extra charge for this, either. In fact, compared with "factory ground" coffees of like quality, this American favorite offers substantial savings. What coffee is it? Superb A&P Coffee—the coffee of magnificent flavor. Try it! You'll agree with the experts —Custom Ground A&P Coffee does taste better.

EXCURSION BOAT COMING

DENISON, May 24 (UP)—An all-steel excursion boat is being brought from Lake of the Ozarks by way of the Missouri, Mississippi, and Red Rivers to Lake Texoma and will be available to the public by July 1, G. E. Hibarger announced today.

Hibarger said he bought the 65-foot Idle-Time, which has a maximum capacity of 160 passengers, from Ezra Knaus, owner of the Knaus Truck Line of Kansas City. Hibarger said the boat started down the Missouri on the 1,700-mile trip to Texoma on May 18, and he expects it to complete the jaunt by June 15.

The Idle-Time will be docked at Burn Run Resort on Texoma. The first excursion boat brought to the lake, the Wanderer, burned and sank off Burns Run on Feb. 25, 1949, before being placed into service.

Resident Engineer Richard C. Pyle of the Army Engineers said the Red River below Texoma will be at an ideal level for the Idle-Time during the next two or three weeks.

Knaus operated the Idle-Time on Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri after building it two years ago, Hibarger said.

Hibarger said it took seven weeks to haul the boat over Bag-nell Dam, which impounds the Ozark Lake, and float it in the Osage River below the dam. He anticipates very little trouble in hoisting the boat on rollers for the trip around the Texoma Dam near here.

SIX TEAMS MAKE "HAY"

Six clubs in the Big State League made "hay" while the moon shone last night playing non-scheduled doubleheaders to make up for the games missed earlier because of bad weather.

Net result was a big jump by the three top teams. All swept their doubleheaders with second division clubs.

First-place Gainesville whipped Wichita Falls, 6 to 1 and 5 to 4, second place Austin walloped Temple, 2 to 1 and 11 to 3, and third place Waco took Tyler in both games by the same score, 8 to 2.

Sherman-Denison popped back into fourth place over Temple, blanking Texarkana 2 to 0 in a single game on a one-hitter by Vince Amor.

BLAST MAKES HIM FEEL LIKE "KNOCKING HEADS AGAIN" AS LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER

DALLAS, May 24 (UP)—For in to Dallas while he was sheriff, day that a bomb that wrecked his fashionable cafe made him feel "like knocking heads again" as a law enforcement officer.

"I had something in the fire toward getting back as a peace officer but I wasn't thinking too seriously about it," he said.

"Now, I probably will go back into law enforcement work."

Guthrie said he had no "hot suspect" in mind to connect with the explosion which ripped a five-foot hole in his cafe late Tuesday night, causing an estimated $25,000 damages.

"It could be somebody I put in jail or any one of hundreds of underworld characters that I might have crossed while I was sheriff," he said.

Guthrie, who once thwarted efforts of the Capone mob to move mer sheriff Steve Guthrie said to said the bomb planting definitely "was the work of a professional."

Dallas police today still had not uncovered any clue in the blast. Not even an explosive cap or fuse was found on the scene, they reported.

The bomb, planted on the roof of Guthrie's cafe, set off a window-rattling explosion shortly before midnight Tuesday. Only the manager, L. W. Sparks, was in the cafe and he was not hurt.

Guthrie had left a few minutes earlier and returned when he heard the blast.

"The ones who did it thought I'd be in the cafe," he said.

Guthrie said today he'd probably be able to reopen his cafe in two or three days by hanging a canvas over the rear section, the worst damaged part.

One-Hit Pitching Becoming Habit

One-hit pitching is becoming almost a habit in the generally wild hitting West Texas - New Mexico League today with Abilene's Fred Schmidt turning in the loop's second performance in two nights.

Righthander Schmidt mowed the Berger Gassers down with a single safety to lead his mates to a 9 to 0 victory.

But the Albuquerque Dukes also in another winning night, leaving the Dukes and Blue Sox still tied for first place. The Dukes mastered Lubbock 11 to 8 in a batter's struggle at Lubbock.

Amarillo and Pampa split a doubleheader, the Oilers taking the seven inning opener, 8 to 1, and Amarillo the second 10 to 8. Clovis at Lamesa was postponed because of rain.

In keeping pace with Abilene, Albuquerque rapped 14 hits but was forced to scramble all the way as the hubbers cracked 16 safeties.

Pampa parlayed eight runs and two Amarillo errors into eight runs in the abbreviated opener. In the nightcap, good for a total of 25 hits, the Gold Sox outlasted the Oilers with a five-hit advantage.

Tonight Pampa goes to Albuquerque, Lubbock to Clovis, Lamesa at Berger and Abilene to Amarillo.

They will go swimming and skating and play miniature golf—besides eating, of course. The sophomore class sponsor, Mr. French will accompany the students as well as a few mothers.

The junior class had a picnic at Lake Cisco Tuesday night. They left from high school at 5 p.m. and returned at 9:30. They, as well as their sponsor, Mrs. Whatley, enjoyed themselves very much.

SENIOR ACTIVITIES
The seniors have been very busy this past week. Below is a calendar of this week's activities:
Monday night at 7 p.m. a theatre party was given for the seniors by Charlotte Van Hoy.
Tuesday morning at 7:00 the Slave Breakfast was held. A barbecue was given at 6:30 p. m. with Doug King as host.

Wednesday night a Garden Party was held at the home of Bettye Grimes, sponsored by the senior mothers.

Saturday an informal morning coffee will be held at the home of Mrs. Johnson. All senior mothers are invited with the seniors being hosts and hostesses.

Sunday Baccalaureate services will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Monday night the seniors will attend the Junior High Graduation exercises.

Tuesday night the senior class graduation will be held. Afterwards there will be a party for the entire school. The hostesses will be the senior mothers.

This week the freshman spotlight falls on a very sweet and cute girl 5' 4" with blue eyes and imitation red hair.

She weighs 165 pounds and was number 21 on the basketball team. Her favorite actor is Audie Murphy and actress is Rhonda Fleming. Her favorite food is fried chicken and ice cream.

Her best pal, Yvonne Tankersley, and her sport, basketball. By now you should know who it is. She is June White. Good luck to the girl who is in the clouds over a boy from Lousine.

The freshman spotlight also falls on a very popular man. He is 5' 7 1/2" tall with brown hair and dark brown eyes. His favorite sports are hunting and football. When he's not eating fried chicken you'll find him reading Zane Grey books.

Although he doesn't say much, you can be sure that, when he does it will be something clever. His favorite song is "Would I Love You." Wonder how many girls would like to know who? You must know by now his name is Neil Van Geem.

BEATIFY PONTIFF — Pope Pius X, who died in 1914, will be beatified in solemn ceremonies in the Vatican, first pontiff to be so honored in 279 years. Beatification is the second stage in canonization as a saint. Pius X was elected Pope in 1903, when he was Giuseppe Cardinal Sarto, Archbishop of Venice, affectionately known as "Papa Sarto."

OLD JOE
Old Joe doesn't have to fight
He hangs around like a scavenger might.

Joe thinks he is a mighty man
But when he takes that last stand
He will be shoveling coal for a Friend of his way down below.

Joe stands up and puffs out his chest
It scares him but none of the rest.
He will find he is not a young man anymore.
For his chest near reaches the floor.

When Joe dies tears will be shed
Some will be sorry, some will be glad.

One thing to say is every man has his day. Joe had his, and it lasted too long. Where will he be when his time is gone?

He will think of Korea and of the men he lost. Then Joe won't be able to boast. All he will see is a hundred thousand ghosts.

Poor Old Joe.

Police Hold Men For Questioning In Shooting

HOUSTON, May 24 (UP)—Police held four men for questioning today in a bizarre shooting late Tuesday night that left the father of four children critically wounded and another man with a painful wound.

Critically wounded and near death in Jefferson Davis hospital was Joe Ray Hudson, who was shot in the stomach. The other man, who didn't know he was shot until two hours later was Lewis Vernon Grayson, 30, both are highway department workers.

The four suspects in the shooting have denied any knowledge of it, but one of them claimed he was given a pistol used in the shooting by another of the suspects and told to hide it.

As best as they have been able to figure out, police said Hudson and Grayson were with a group at an ice house and grocery. All were talking, Hudson's four children were in a car nearby.

Grayson told police that there was no argument. He said when he started home, he saw a car with two of the suspects in it.

"As I walked past the car one of the men leaned over and it looked like he was throwing something," Grayson said. "There was an explosion and I felt a burning on my hip. I thought I had been hit by some kind of torpedo." Grayson went home and went to bed. He was later awakened by police who were investigating the shooting and then he learned he had been shot in the hip. Although only a flesh wound, Grayson, doctors said, would have died within a few hours had not police found him from blood poisoning which had already set in.

Hudson was hit by a second shot fired. He walked to his car, however, and tried to drive his children home, but collapsed two blocks from the ice house. The car went into a ditch, and a passing motorist rushed him to the hospital.

Police, summoned on what was first believed to be an accident, then learned of the shooting.

Two of the suspects held are owners of the ice house and grocery. Police described the shooting as mysterious and said "there must be more than meets the eye."

Severe Winter Things Out Michigan Deer Herds

LANSING, Mich. (UP)—Michigan deer starvation losses because of severe winter weather are expected almost to equal the record high of 1947, state conservation officials estimate.

Game experts reported 35,000 to 30,000 deer died during winter months.

Lack of forage in over-browsed areas plus weather which forced herds to yard in thickets with inadequate food was blamed for the high rate of losses. Deer counting surveys already complete show most deaths were first-year fawns or aged does. Heaviest losses were in areas where deer populations are abnormally high, experts reported.

Study Of Tiny Shrew Brands It As One Of Most Fierce Animals

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UP)—No bigger than a mouse but still one of America's most ferocious creatures, the shrew, common to Missouri's forests, worries only about finding its next victim.

The shrew just looks for something to curb its terrific appetite, Missouri conservation commission studies revealed.

The tiny creature, scarcely longer than its scientific name—microsorex hoyi, eats from one to three times its own weight every day.

The shrew's reputation for fast living would make a human routine look like a slow motion newsreel of a Mexican siesta. If the little glutton manages to keep its appetite quelled, it may live to be 12 or 14 months old, the conservation authorities said.

The smallest of mammals, the midget mouse or in the larger shrew could be mistaken for a short tailed variety, for a runty rat. It is common to the North American continent and can live as far north as the Arctic circle.

A second cousin to the mole, the shrew lives above ground in leaf mold.

Although Dr. Kinsey hasn't got around to shrews, a naturalist calls them "promiscuous."

"Their only moral necessity seems to be the most rapid increase possible," he said.

At least three litters are born a year, each containing from four to seven naked, blind and toothless babies.

The shrew's metabolic rate is 183 compared to man's stodgy 78. Its chief foods are insects, earthworms, salamanders and tiny rodents.

when you place several together—of the same sex—they immediately start licking their chops to prepare for a banquet at the other's expense.

A lack of shrew food doubtless would cause a genocide among the shrew clan.

Farmers hope that will never happen, for to them shrews are good news. They never damage crops but help to rid field and woodlands of many injurious insects and rodents.

Pat Brown and Catherine Tipton will their privilege of smoking in the teacher's lounge to Gayle Farrack, Audrey, Crews, Zena Grissom, and Gene Griffin.

John Dee Burleson will his way with women to James Allison and Bobby Phillips with hopes

Prophet Looks Into Future Of Eastland High Seniors Of 1951

Each person has a secret yearning locked in his heart and the members of the senior class of Eastland High School are no exception. The blood of students runs in their veins; the strength of youth is in their muscles. They are mentally alert and physically fit.

With such endowment there is every reason to believe they will achieve their heart's desires. Now let's see these secret yearnings which were confided to us.

Patricia Brown—is a successful business woman. She owns her own flea circus.

John Dee Burleson—is a famous cowboy in the movies. He is so handsome and quick on the trigger that he is putting Roy Roger and Gene Autry out of business.

J. D. Carter—is adored by all the Robert Stockings of the land for his love scenes with Margaret O'Brien.

Gerald Davis—has been made dean of women at Cisco Junior College. He has such an understanding manner with the students.

Harold Ellis—is a mechanic. He is an expert at fixing tricycles and roller skates.

Billie Irene Farr—is a hat designer. She is responsible for the wash tubs women are wearing on their heads these days.

James Freeman—is cut out of a comic strip editor. He would rather read comics than history—can't say that I blame him there.

Marjorie Fox—is a dude rancher and she runs a large ranch in the suburbs of Eastland. She specializes in raising frogs.

Gail Graham—is head of a new macaroni factory, making the product by stuffing the macaroni with the holes of donuts.

Ben Green—is a pilot on a rocket ship. He flies to Mars every Lydia Faye Houston—is a very influential society lady. She is a member of the crowned sorority "Gad, Gossip, and Gripe."

Patsy Fay Jones—and here is the author of the latest best seller, Gone With the Garbage. No book has ever had such a phenomenal sale, and Patsy never uses a typewriter in writing her books. She writes it all out in long hand, and gives most of the credit to the brand of pencils she uses.

Douglas King—has combined his beauty and personality to make a movie, "Too Much of Nothing and Not Enough of Something."

Charles Lane—never became a man of greatness. With his love for travel, he started for Europe but got tired at Olden and returned to Eastland where he now owns a popcorn stand.

Bobby Latham—and the world-famous inventor hailed as a second Edison—and Marconi combined. His newest invention, a self-lighting cigarette, has made him seen in any post office.

Freida Nash—is a great target for a knife thrower in a Carnival. She has had many close calls.

Dorothy Throne Nelms—is a nurse in Oregon. She makes the sick well, and the well sick.

Sara Ellen Peel—married a teacher of French. It is said that some of their quarrels are misunderstood.

Margie June Poe—has been re-elected for another term as dog-catcher in the town of Hobo-Center. She specializes in solving cases of Puppy Love.

Mozelle Pullman—is a professor at Poduck University. She teaches classes on how to snare a man, or, classes on how to snare a man, or, Psychology."

Fern Shafer—is a famous lawyer. If you're in trouble just go to her, she will guarantee you no less than ten years behind the eight-ball.

Pat Simmons—has gone to Alaska to write a novel. She is happily married to an Eskimo.

Calvin Maxwell—has made a big success out of life and is said to be worth lots of money. His pictures and fingerprints may be millions, and put his name in the nation's mouth. He is now working on a non-squirting grapefruit, which, if successful, will make him known at every breakfast table in America.

Pauline Latham—is good at modeling. So far she has modeled some of America's most outstanding airplanes.

Lela Faye Lovell—is living with her sister after having successfully talked four husbands to death.

Eloise Lowrance—is studying in France now, she has a French poodle, and she can't understand a word it says.

Stockings, Women Counseled

CHICAGO (UP)—American women could save "millions of dollars a year" if they'd learn how to buy and take care of stockings, the president of a large hosiery firm says.

Gustave Frankel said the stocking has not been made that "will survive washing in hot water with strong soap, carelessly dropped cigarette ashes, or the rough grain of wooden chair legs."

Frankel thinks a lot of stockings would be saved if women would roll them down to the toe before putting them on. Rough finger nails and chapped hands are two of the worst hazards to hosiery, he said.

The other way to save money, Frankel said, is to use heavier stockings for every-day wear. No woman can wear sheer stockings for "strenuous, active wear and expect them to last," he said.

Have Fun On Your Vacation, Ivan That Is, If You Can Wangle One

By Walter G. Rundle
United Press Staff Correspondent
FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—Okay, Ivan, it's spring and just like your capitalistic cousins, you're thinking of a vacation. Nothing simpler. Doesn't it say right here in article 119 of the Soviet Constitution that: "The right to rest and leisure is ensured by the establishment of the eight-hour day—annual vacations with full pay for workers and office employees, and by a wide network of sanatoria, rest homes and clubs to serve the working people." In an article in its "Eucom (European Command) Information Bulletin, the U. S. Army gave its soldiers a peek under the iron curtain, to see how it all works out for Ivan. Evidence compiled from Soviet magazines, newspapers and documents is used by the Army to show that the Soviet promises are as phony as a three dollar bill. Let's begin by looking at the

It turns out, according to the U. S. Army, that there aren't any Ivan, it seems will be assigned a factory permit which tells him which of the "wide network" of health resorts he may attend. How about costs:

Two weeks will cost a minimum of 500 rubles per person. That means 2,000 rubles for Ivan, his wife and the two children. Ivan's salary is only 600 rubles per month (about four rubles to the dollar.)

Ah, but the constitution says "annual vacations with full pay." To have a prayer of cashing in on that one, the Army report says Ivan will have to qualify among the favored 10 per cent of Russian workers. In other words, Ivan must be in line for the Soviet system of favoritism rewards.

So Ivan, you'd better forget that eight hour day and get your self recognized as a "Stakhanovite."

How? Well, Comrade, you simply put in long shop hours under a "speed-up" system that enables you to exceed your assigned production quota.

NEWS-PEEK — A worldly giraffe at the Vincennes Zoo near Paris uses the old subway technique to read the headlines over the shoulder of her keeper. It's an easy stretch of her neck, but not of her imagination, to absorb today's world situation.

After Ivan has qualified as a "Stakhanovite" his problems are by no means over. The factory funds may have disappeared or the rest homes may have out the "no vacancy" signs.

"Embezzlement of trade-union funds earmarked for workers' vacations, which is not an unusual practice in the USSR, cuts down the number of workers who can go to health resorts," the report of the U. S. Army said.

For instance: A recent letter to the editor of the Soviet publication Trud complained that all the 16,000 rubles of the factory vacation fund disappeared when section chiefs in the plant tapped the till to pay for their own vacations.

How did they get into those workers' rest homes, clubs and the like?

Well, Ivan, the horrible truth, as the U. S. Army explains it, is that "directors of resorts have been known to invent occupational diseases for influential persons so that permits could be allotted them."

Let's suppose our boy makes it. Does he take along his golf clubs, tennis togs, and enjoy the luxury of fine food and comfortable accommodations.

Hardly, says the U. S. Army. "Workers who do manage to get to a health resort are often disappointed with the service they receive," the report said. Frequent complaints from vacationers usually center around the lack of qualified doctors, general indifference of the staff to the vacationer's wishes, the uncomfortable and often drab rooms, poor quality and monotony of the diet and the lack of any recreational facilities."

So long, Tovarish. Have fun.

How British Cavalryman Lost Out In Revolution

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UP)—A Revolutionary War veteran still is thriving here. The veteran is the famous Tarleton red oak, believed to be between 400 and 500 years old. Davey tree experts report it is kept in finest possible condition. It stands on property owned by the Standard Oil Co. of Virginia.

On June 4, 1781, a British cavalryman, Banastre Tarleton, set out with troops to capture Gov. Thomas Jefferson and the legislature. He might have succeeded, too. However, he pitched his tent under the inviting branches of the oak just long enough for a Reverend-like ride to warn the patriots by Capt. Jack Jouett, of the Continental Army.

Electricity On Farm Called Boon to Output

WEST FARMINGTON, O. (UP)—Within seven years, it is estimated that electricity on an average farm can increase by more than 51 per cent the money earned per hour of productive labor.

That's the idea promoted by a practical electrification experiment on the Joseph Motz farm near here.

The evidence that farm electrification more than pays its own way was contained in a report prepared for Westinghouse Electric's farm electrification department.

Since 1944, when electric power first reached the 262-acre Motz farm, records have been kept on the farm's production and progress.

The report said intelligent use of electricity on a farm can eliminate a great many man-hours of hard work and do a better job at considerably lower cost.

The experiment is being carried out under conditions identical to those faced by the average farmer. Motz bought new electrical equipment at retail prices, using only the profits from the farm's operations to do it.

In 1944, the farm returned 66 cents for each hour of work he put into the various productive enterprises. By 1950, the return had increased to $1.17 for each hour of work. By reducing the time required for basic farm operations, Motz and his son had more time for other enterprises, or for leisure.

The report pointed out that although farm prices have increased during the seven-year period, the cash return on the Motz farm has kept well ahead of the general rise in prices received for all commodities.

Motz said that although there is no such thing as push button farming, electricity has proved to be one of his most valuable and inexpensive hired hands. He said that unlike many other services, the more of it he uses, the cheaper it becomes.
