YOU NAME IT

By Everett Taylor

Still quite a bit of talk about a hospital floating around, and some of the latest was presented at a joint meeting of the Eastland Rotary and Lions Clubs, Tuesday, when Cyrus B. Frost, Jr., read to the group there convened an article entitled, Home-Grown Hospital.

The article explains how Gothenburg, Neb., a town of 2,900 built a hospital of its own, without outside aid.

For some time the city was without a hospital, but right after World War II, the citizens there hatched up the idea of building a hospital as a memorial. The city was eligible for government aid in the project, but decided to do the job themselves.

A site was purchased and an architect engaged to design a hospital big enough to be proud of. He submitted the plan with a price tag of $150,000. The city did not have that kind of money.

So Gothenburg's hospital drive bogged down until a young doctor came into the town and rebelled against the hardships his older colleagues were putting up with.

Construction on the project was finally begun. The men who leveled and graded the site refused any pay and an abundance of such donations of labor began to come in. Farmers came to town and volunteered for free digging until milking time. Workmen worked on the walls without pay, etc., and finally the cornerstone was laid for the building.

Many donations came in, farm women staged chicken dinners and quilting bees. School children pooled their chewing gum money to buy a pair of sheets, Sunday school classes donated baskets and many other donations flowed in.

Finally the building was completed and furnished. Operation was the next problem. Two RN's were recruited with a background of hospital operation. The hospital was leased from the town for $1 a year, and they took over all the headaches, hazards, and costs of running the place.

When the completed hospital was ready for dedication ceremonies, there were two six-bed wards, a four-bed ward, three semi-private rooms, four private rooms, nursery, operating room, delivery room, nurses' quarters and doctor's lounge. There was a complete air-conditioning system, adequate heating and heating for double the existing capacity.

"The wisest thing was not over-estimating our need," one of the doctors said. "We built an adequate sized building that can readily be enlarged. Meanwhile, our maintenance cost are kept at a minimum."

Actual operation of the hospital started just a year after the citizens' committee went into action.

The town policy calls for no tax money for the hospital. It has to be self-sustaining. All charity cases are taken care of by local welfare agencies.

When a surgeon attached to a large hospital visited the structure he estimated the cost of the hospital to be $10,000 per bed. The actual cost, in money, was about $3,500 per bed. The cost in energy and devotion was much larger.

Thus Gothenburg, Neb., built a hospital of its own.

It was not an easy task and all the citizens of the town and community had to help. They wanted it badly enough to pay the price of devoting a lot of time and work to the project.

Eastland has not yet reached the point, evidently, where the citizenry is willing to do that, not all of them at any rate.

Heat made the news this week with Eastland's temperature nearing the 100 degree mark at 99 degrees Tuesday.

To the west, Abilene marked up 102 for the same day, so we were not in such bad shape after all. Both readings are high enough for May, however.

"Great Caruso" At Majestic On Sunday, Monday

"The Great Caruso," a much talked about and highly rated movie, will be shown at the Majestic Theatre in Eastland Sunday and Monday.

The life story of Caruso, the immortal singer, is depicted in the movie. The story begins in 1873, in a very poor part of Naples, Italy, when Enrico, played on the screen by Mario Lanza, is born.

It picks up when Enrico is seven, singing with the chapel choir. At the age of 20, he is earning a few pennies by singing in Naples cafes. He proposes to Musetta's Baretto, but her father objects to their marriage unless Enrico will give up singing for the flour business. He does, and is promised Musetta's hand after a year.

Delivering flour to a restaurant, he is urged to sing. He deserts his truck and sings into the night. A rainstorm comes and the flour on the truck is ruined and Enrico is fired.

Then he starts singing for a living. Success follows which leads to an immortal career. Cast for the show includes Mario Lanza, Ann Blyth, Dorothy Kirsten, Blanche Thebom, Jarmila Novotna and others.

RCA recordings of the songs from "The Great Caruso," as sung by Mario Lanza, and from other of Lanza's popular movies, may be purchased at the Cecil Hollifield store.

Songs from "The Great Caruso" include Rigoleto, La Tosca, and Pagliacci among others.

Bill Cooper Rides Bull To Victory

Bill Cooper, popular Eastland County cowboy, gave the number six bull "the ride of his life" to top first place in last night's bull riding contest at the Spur Rodeo. Only one of the number of contestants had ridden out the limit in the night's bucking bull contest and that rider hadn't made much of a showing. The crowd went to their feet as the Eastland County rider spurred the bull and rode him the limit in a rip-roaring, snorting, eight seconds of wildness.

The crowd roared as Cooper walked back across the arena after picking up his rope and bull.

The Eastlander stands a good chance to pick up a number of prizes in the rodeo.

Investigation Opens

FORT HOOD, May 31 (UP)—An investigation into the gunshot death of Cpl. William R. Bennett, 22, opened yesterday.

The Logansport, Ind., soldier, a veteran of three years duty, was found dead Tuesday in an armory. An automatic pistol lay nearby.

"TELL 'EM TO GO TO HELL" GEORGIA EDUCATOR STATES

ATLANTA, May 31 (UP)—A Piedmont College trustee recommended today that the little mountain school accept a controversial grant from the Texas Education Association because "we can tell them to go to hell if they try to make us swallow something we don't want."

"Surely nobody believes that for $500 a month the board of trustees—21 intelligent and honorable men and women—would let anybody take over the school or dictate policy," said trustee Kendall Weisinger.

Students and faculty groups on the Demorest, Ga., campus kicked up a protest when the Board's

AMERICAN SABRE JETS SHOOT DOWN TWO SOVIET-BUILT MIGs

TOKYO, May 31 (UP)—American Sabre Jets shot down two Soviet-built Mig-15 jet fighters and damaged another in a dogfight over Northwest Korea Wednesday afternoon, the Far East Air Force disclosed today.

The Sabre jets were accompanying a flight of B-29s on a bombing mission against the important Chongju Railway Bridge. The Communists fighters ventured 50 miles into Korea from their Manchurian base in a futile effort to halt the attack.

The superforts continued on their bomb run while the blazing dogfight swirled around them. An

"We beat off the Mig's attacks in the B-29's twice," Smith said. "I made my first score in a head-on pass, hitting the Mig with bursts in the left wing. He started smoking and I saw a couple more of them trying to bet at the bombers."

"I fired and hit the lead Mig. Then 'Flash' really plastered the wingman. The damaged Mig wingman broke away and headed for home and we both took out after the leader."

"I hit him several times and the Mig began to smoke and wobble. When I ran out of ammo, 'Flash' moved in and knocked him down."

It was Smith's first kill. Gordon had been credited previously with one Mig damaged.

Swimming Pool Opens Saturday

The Eastland swimming pool will open at 1 p.m. Saturday, I. C. Heck, city manager, has announced.

Hours for the pool will be the same as last year, Heck said. It will be open from 1 p.m. until 9 p.m. weekdays and from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Mrs. Don McClendon is in charge of the bath house. J. D. Hanson is the lifeguard for the pool.

Aggies Plan To Take The Meet

COLLEGE STATION, May 31 (UP)—Texas A & M's all-conquering track and field squad, augmented by some freshmen, will enter the South Texas AAU Meet at San Antonio June 8 twenty-four strong.

The Aggies should walk off with team honors just as they did in all of their practice meets and the Southwest Conference Competition.

BING CROSBY THOUGHT BUM

VANCOUVER, B. C., (UP)—Multi-Millionaire Crooner Bing Crosby was refused a room at this city's swankiest hotel because a clerk thought he was a "bum," the hotel's red-faced officials admitted today.

Crosby, wearing a leather jacket dungarees, cowboy boots and "no shave," entered the lobby of the Hotel Vancouver Monday night. He and Bill Morrow, writer and producer of Crosby's radio show, had motored here from Idaho to do some fishing.

"Fix me up with a couple of singles with baths, will ya boy," Crosby was reported to have asked Night Clerk Art Cameron.

Cameron gave the singing star and his similarly dressed companion an icy stare and replied, "we are booked solid—for days."

Crosby and Morrow started outside to get into Crosby's convertible when Ray Morrison, a bellhop, recognized "der bingle."

Morrison quickly fixed the situation. They were escorted to plush twin suites on the seventh floor.

Cameron said he had no idea who Crosby and Morrow were. "I thought they were a couple of bums or Indians from up north," he said. "It was all a mistake."

Crosby and Morrow apparently had forgotten all about the incident last night. They returned from a fishing trip and went to bed.

The hotel management refused to wake them.

Israeli May Be Hot Spot

DAMASCUS, Syria, May 31 (UP)—An Israeli fighter plane was shot down today by Syrian fighter pilots who said they intercepted the plane over Syrian territory.

First reports said the Israeli pilot was believed killed.

The reports said the Israeli aircraft was intercepted over the Syrian town of Daraa, 40 miles southeast of the Sea of Galilee.

Sporadic fighting has broken out between Syrians and Israelis along the border during the last few months. One series of incidents touched off 48 hours of artillery and mortar shelling in the Huleh Swamp area south of Lake Huleh on the frontier. The Israeli Air Force bombed Syrian towns in reprisal for the killing of seven Israeli border guards.

FORT WORTH, May 31 (UP)—Miss Eileen Hazel Flake, 45, head of the traffic department at Radio Station WBAP, died last night in a Fort Worth Hospital of a heart ailment.

She had been with the station 28 years, joining it only a year after it went on the air. She became traffic chief in 1938.

Solemn Day Is Observed

The nation observed one of its most solemn Memorial Days in history yesterday, mindful of the American dying in Korea and of the possibility that a full World War might break out at any time. Bright sunshine brought motorists out in droves for short jaunts but the traffic fatality toll was extraordinarily low.

Only 68 persons died in highway crashes and chilly temperatures held the number of drownings to 22. These, and 18 deaths in miscellaneous mishaps, gave the nation a total of 108 accidental deaths in the period from 6 p. m. Monday to midnight last night. There were no fatal plane crashes.

Unless late reports raised the total, the highway toll was the lowest on record for a Memorial Day. The National Safety Council said it believed the lowest previous was about 85 deaths.

President Truman, resting aboard the yacht Williamsburg, paused with his staff to pray for "permanent peace" yesterday.

Millions of other Americans joined him in that prayer while watching holiday parades and while decorating the graves of fallen soldiers throughout the land.

At Pusan, in Korea, United Nations soldiers stood bareheaded in a rainstorm to pray at a hillside cemetery where their comrades slept in honored glory. A similar ceremony was held at Bastogne, Belgium, where the 101st Airborne Infantry Division made its gallant stand against the Germans in the Battle of the Bulge.

More than 3,000,000 persons attended a crowded schedule of events which made yesterday the year's biggest day of sports. About 150,000 attended the Indianapolis Speedway race and more than 7,000 watched Ezzard Charles retain the World's Heavyweight Championship over Joey Maxim. Others attended doubleheaders staged by major and minor league baseball teams throughout the country.

Air Service Is Proposed Today

WASHINGTON, May 31 (UP)—Through air service between Florida and Texas points over routes of National and Eastern Airlines was proposed today by two Civil Aeronautics Board Examiners.

That it would make possible through travel from Miami to San Antonio via Tampa, New Orleans and Houston and from Jacksonville to San Antonio via New Orleans, Beaumont - Port Arthur and Houston.

THE STORY: Tim Reese, a crippled veteran, saves the exclusive gown shop of "Jean Paul" from bankruptcy by submitting drawings under the name of "Teresa." He had used the name and a general delivery address to avoid ridicule from his buddies. The firm (Paul Panciera and the former model Jean Roland) is dependent when the drawings cease coming and Jean uses a decoy envelope addressed to Teresa to trail a farm girl named Midge from the Cedarbrook, N. Y., postoffice to the veterans' hospital. When Tim says his operation, the motive for earning money by fashion designing had been unsuccessful and he would draw no more. Jean uses her wiles. Tim is visibly awayed by the girl's beauty and at last he says: "Maybe, if I could see you in some of the things I sketch—"

Jean Roland had not expected this. She hesitated. "You mean you mean you'd want me to come out here and model for you?" Tim Reese saw her hesitation. "It would be too much trouble. I should have known. Maybe, somehow, I could get into New York—" "Oh, no! No!" Jean cut in hastily. "I'll come out here to Cedarbrook. I'll be no trouble, really." "Sure?" "Sure." Tim's eyes were bright again. "I have an idea that seeing you make my stuff come to life—so much wonderful life—might help me believe it wasn't all so much ado about nothing. Just now, when I saw you there in that beige dress, I had a different feeling about dress designing." He groped for the right words. "I—I guess you could call it the kind of feeling a composer has when he hears his music played. Something like that." "You flatter me." Now, she modeled the young girl graduate. "You're so nice." "Nice to want to look at you?"

He laughed softly. "You have no idea what you do for the landscape around here. Or, maybe you have." "I'd just love to come," she said, hiding the lie with her smile. AFTER Jean had gone, Tim Reese sat for a long time, missing. Lunch hour came and he did not notice it. His eyes looked into a distance far beyond the pleasant valley. Midge approached quietly, and he was not aware of her. She stood back a moment, watching him. She was very solemn, and she looked very young for such solemnity. She put the yellow envelope on his lap. He gave a little start. "Midge! I was wondering what happened to you." He looked down at the envelope. "I might as well tell you, Midge, the secret is out, and you won't have to worry about me any longer. Teresa is dead." "Dead?" He gave her back the yellow envelope and told her what had happened. "I'm sorry," she said gravely when he had finished. He gave her a quick look. "Why?" "I don't know. Maybe I'm selfish, Colonel. I liked Teresa." "Well, I must say I'm kind of happy over it myself." "I can tell that from your face." "Don't be angry at me, Midge. Just because I'm an old man doesn't mean I can't appreciate a beautiful girl." "She is very beautiful," Midge said coolly. "He was amused at her coolness. "Now, Midge, you mustn't get an idea she came out here just to work her charms on me. She made all this fuss about seeing me because her livelihood depends on my sketches." "She looked like she was wealthy to me," Midge would not cooperate. "You should have seen the car she was driving." "Maybe it belongs to the firm," Tim said. "Though I can't imagine her riding around in anything but a beautiful car." "You've fallen in love with her, Colonel," Midge declared suddenly. He looked at Midge's solemn face, and a twinkle came into his eyes. "You've changed, Midge. You seem to have grown serious." Midge was not to be put off. "Did she fall in love with you?" HE pretended to be astonished at her question, but there was more than a little pleasure in his pretense. "You don't mean you believe a girl could fall in love with a man in a wheel chair?" "Yes." He took her hand. "Midge, you're wonderful. I've an idea I'm going to need you." Midge looked him levelly in the eyes. "I'm usually around," she said. Then, the nurse appeared to take Tim up to the hospital for his lunch. Midge stood where she had been standing watching them go, watched the nurse push the wheel chair across the sunlit terrace. Her eyes were brooding now. Then, she discovered she was still holding the yellow envelope in her hand. Crossly, she sailed the envelope away from her down the slope of the green lawn and turned abruptly toward the driveway. The envelope, circling around like a javelin, came back and fell on the grass behind her. But she did not see it. (To Be Continued)

Belmont Stakes Tests Champs ---Boys Separated From Men

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Had George D. Widener written the script, the Kentucky Derby and The Preakness could not have done more toward building The Belmont Stakes of June 16. Jack J. Amiel's Count Turf, the field horse, which did not belong there at all, winning the Derby like the best thing you ever saw, and ridden by Conn McCreary, who was having a tough time obtaining mounts. Eddie Arcaro on Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Bold putting life in the Jubilee Preakness, and toppling the field to win by seven, with no Count Turf to run at him. The first two legs of the Triple Crown have been divided before, of course, but usually by horses which took turns beating each other. There are springs when a horse sticks out to such an extent that he frightens off the trainers of others, and The Belmont at a mile and a half, the true Derby distance, becomes little more than a walkover.

WITH the boys separated from the men, however, The Belmont usually comes up with six or seven with some kind of a chance—survivors and fresh ones. Racing Secretary John B. Campbell expects at least 10 this trip, so The Belmont again will be the test of a champion, headlined by Bold and his protruding right blinker and Count Turf, having at it for the first time. George D. Widener's Battlefield has been aiming at The Belmont all along. The Cain Hoy Stable's Battle Morn, the Derby favorite, cut himself a bit in the Run for the Roses, but may be fit. J. J. Colando's Uncle Millie may want to run after his rest on the farm. Greentree's Big Stretch could wake up. Off his second in The Preakness, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Counterpoint richly deserves another big opportunity. Probabilities are Hal Price Headley's Jumbo, C. C. Boshamer's King Clover, the Phantom Farm's Nullify, Rubin Kowall's Pur Sang, Sam E. Wilson, Jr.'s Royal Mustang, King Ranch's Sonic, Ogden Phipps' The Battler, Mrs. Wallace Gilroy's Timely Reward, Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Yildiz and the Brookfield Farms' Hlad. Despite the highly-conservative Westchester Racing Association, this third running of The Belmont Stakes, worth $109,100 now, is going off as something more than the sixth race.

TWO AND TWO ADD UP—Little Chris Durocher, also sporting a number 2, tags along as Leo, his father, manager of the New York Giants, heads for the clubhouse after the game. (NEA)

Naval Reserve Ensign Fired For Writing "Nasty" Letter

WASHINGTON, May 31 (UP)—A Naval Reserve Ensign has been discharged for writing a "very nasty" anti-administration letter to an outspoken critic of President Truman and secretary of State Dean Acheson, a Navy spokesman said today. The spokesman said Ensign W. A. Evans, Edgewater, Md., a 1948 Annapolis Graduate, wrote the letter to Alfred Kohlberg, a New York importer of Chinese goods and Chairman of the American-China Policy Association. The letter was quite critical of the president and secretary of state and the administration in general, the spokesman said. "It was a violently critical letter that we revoked this communication." The contents of Evans' letter was not revealed. Kohlberg charged last fall that Truman had failed to arrest 16 known Russian spies. In April, 1950, Kohlberg said he gave Sen-

Joseph R. McCarthy, R., Wis., some "Communist data" to help McCarthy's campaign against the State Department. Evans' discharge was brought up briefly yesterday as Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, Chief of Naval Operations, testified before Senate Investigators on the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Sen. Styles Bridges, R., N. H., asked Sherman if he knew about the Evans case. Sherman said he did. "Do you think the sentiment which Lieutenant Evans' letter revealed is shared all or in part by our armed forces in the Pacific?" Bridges asked. "No, sir, I do not," Sherman replied. "A very thorough board of investigation revealed it was not shared by his shipmates, which was the place that we investigated." "I directed the Commander in Chief, Pacific Fleet, to convene a

NEW YORK, May 31 (UP)—The New York Post, in a special dispatch by sports columnist Jimmy Cannon from Chicago, reported today that the St. Louis Browns have been sold to a syndicate headed by Bill Veeck. The club will remain in St. Louis, according to Cannon. The Post said it had been informed exclusively that negotiations for the sale of the Browns to Veeck were completed last week. The deal is said to include the San Antonio club in the Texas League, a Browns farm.

EARL COOK GIVES TALK

NORFOLK, VA., May 31 (UP)—A young soldier told two old ones today that their country again is torn by disunity that recalls war for Southern Independence days and suggested that the nation refresh itself on the history of that era to see what happens when home soil is scarred by battle.

War hero Erle Cocke, National Commander of the American Legion, delivered the day's main address at the 61st and final reunion of the Confederacy. Just two veterans of that conflict of another generation among the 11 still surviving were on hand. The next ten days, Cocke said, may decide whether the United States, "with all the strength and experience and wisdom" acquired since Gen. Robert E. Lee commanded the Armies of the South, will "survive a new and far more potent danger."

The two honor guests, both 105-year-old "Generals," put up a happy front as they met for their last bivouac but gave close attention to the youngster who came out of World War II be-ribboned and wounded. "You know the tragedy of fighting on your own soil," Cocke said. "You saw your homes laid waste—your loved ones scattered and driven by battle. There is much of value that your countrymen could learn from you today in preparing for the awful possibility of another such trail. "Americans have given their lives by the hundreds of thousands since your fighting days to keep war from these shores. In the event of another war, we will not have that choice."

Today, he said, the nation is again "torn by disensions of disagreements among our people but under circumstances that make them a direct and dangerous peril to the national safety." "The sooner we get to work on the important job of building a strong defense within a sound economy the better our chances will be of winning or defending the peace," he said.

FRANKIE BOY WANTS HIS DIVORCE NOW

The commissioning ceremony will follow at 1 p.m., with the president's reception for members of the graduating class and their families from 2:30 to 4 a. m.

Chancellor James P. Hart, chancellor of the University of Texas, will be the speaker at the 6 p.m. commencement exercise.

tar as his estranged wife decided to give up Frankie forever.

BLUE SOX WIN STRING OF GAMES

The Abilene Blue Sox had a blazing string of eight straight victories to their credit today and nothing in the West Texas-New Mexico League, except perhaps the Albuquerque Dukes, appeared to be even close to matching their terrific pace.

With only eight losses against them all season long, the Blue Sox today stood 18½ games ahead of the cellar-dwelling Amarillo Gold Sox and a game and a half in front of the Dukes.

Number eight in their string was a 5 to 2 decision over Lamesa, won in the first two frames. The Dukes clung to their challenging spot by whipping Clovis 9 to 5.

Borger snatched another one from Amarillo 12 to 7 and Lubbock whipped Pampa 12 to 3 to round out league activity.

Albuquerque poured six runs over the plate in the fifth frame last night to erase a one-run deficit and give it enough for the win.

The Borger Gassers whammed out 17 safeties to overwhelm the impotent Gold Sox in a battle between the league's bottom two clubs.

Lubbock's 15 hits plus five Pampa errors gave the third-place hubbers an easy victory that stretched their margin over fourth-place Lamesa to a game and a half.

Schedules tonight are the same.

Sherman Says Navy Ready

WASHINGTON, May 31 (UP)—Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, Chief of Naval Operations, somewhat reluctantly told congress that "the Navy is in good shape."

Sherman made the statement before Senate Committee Investigating Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal. Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R., N. J., reminded him that Air Chief of Staff Hoyt S. Vandenberg had said the Air Force is a "shoestring" outfit.

Does Sherman think we have "an adequate Navy for our global responsibilities?" Smith asked. "Well, sir," said Sherman—who knows that congress provides the money that makes the ships go—"I am reluctant to be the first military man to say that he has enough force to do everything he might be called upon to do. "But I would say this: That I think the Navy is in good shape—its combat readiness and morale are excellent."

Mrs. Roy Jones returned Tuesday from Colorado City, where she visited Mr. and Mrs. Leon White and son, Ronnie. Mrs. White is Mrs. Jones' daughter.

MACARTHUR CALLED IT

WASHINGTON, May 31 (UP)—Adm. Forrest P. Sherman testified today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur believed last December that an Armistice should be arranged in Korea "on best terms available as soon as possible."

The chief of Naval Operations disclosed the deposed Far Eastern Commander's December armistice views as he testified for a second day before the Senate Committee investigating MacArthur's dismissal.

Sherman previously had added to his testimony, started yesterday, about American hopes of getting the United Nations to impose a naval blockade on Red China.

He said this country has moved quickly to enforce an economic embargo against China. But, he said, "there is still much to be done" by other UN Allies to stop the flow of vital goods which he said helps to keep Chinese Red forces in action.

When the economic embargo is in full effect, Sherman said, "the sweep-up process of a complete naval blockade" will then be in order.

The Navy Chief testified about the child's hands and tried to gag her. She told police she was hit in the mouth by the couple when she screamed.

The couple fled in a car when several women ran from the church after hearing the screams. Police said the couple apparently were trying to kidnap the child, daughter of Warrant Officer and Mrs. Roy G. Gawith. She had gone to the church with Capt. and Mrs. Kenneth Nessen.

White Sox Win 14 In A Row

NEW YORK, May 31 (UP)—Don't be sneering down your nose today at those Cinderella Chicago White Sox because there's plenty of evidence on hand after a memorial Day that this is one racket where the underdog can cut himself quite a slice of cake.

Racing provided most of the proof, whether you can take your speed with Benine or Benzedrine, that the winning longshot is here to stay. Whether it's oats or oil—or just plain baseballs—you've gotta have the prize-winning pro-hocosis when they snap the picture.

The White Sox went out and dusted off the Browns in a pair. Okay, who doesn't run that vacuum cleaner over that kind of a rug? But the first was number 13 in a row, which should take you some pressure, the nightcap was 14 in a row for those glistening White Sox.

MacArthur's armistice views after Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R., N. J., brought up the disputed issue of who first considered the possibility that UN forces might be driven out of Korea.

In December, MacArthur was operating under the pressure of heavy Chinese Communist attacks which had forced the UN Armies into retreat. He expressed his armistice views to Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, who was visiting his headquarters. Collins relayed them to the other military chiefs here, Sherman said, in a message on Dec. 4.

Price Wars Are Raging

NEW YORK, May 31 (UP)—Department stores called out their reserves today to take on throngs of eager shoppers snapping up the biggest bargains since World War II in the "Battle of 34th St." Macy's, world's largest department store which declared the price war two days ago by slashing 6,000 "price-fixed" items by 6 per cent, indicated the war would be a long one. In newspaper want ads it called for more sales personnel and comparison shoppers and it prepared to triple its private police force to

Raw Materials Fight Brings International Rationing Plan

BY PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—World-wide allocation of scarce raw materials among the non-Communist countries is in the offing. A new set of recommendations, outlining what policies U. S. government agencies should follow in this new international rationing scheme will be issued in the near future. This new directive has been drawn up by an 11-member committee of top government officials headed by William C. Foster, Marshall Plan administrator. His group has been at work since last January, studying what is probably the most complex problems of international supply and demand for critical materials through the world. The Foster committee will make its report directly to Charles E. Wilson, director of Defense Mobilization, who has general responsibility for all phases of the defense program. Mr. Wilson recently made a quick trip to London and Paris. Scarce materials supply and allocation was one of the principal problems he discussed with British and French officials. This whole subject is complicated by a great gulf of international misunderstanding, trade rivalry and mistrust. Mr. Wilson found the British, for instance, firm in the belief that the United States was trying to conduct its defense production program on top of a normal peacetime economy. The idea that the U. S. was cutting back on its production of civilian goods had not registered with British government officials.

MR. WILSON tried to convince the British that they would have to cut back their civilian economy, too. But he came to realize that the Europeans can't cut back as much as the United States. Europe still doesn't have the fat on which it can live while rearming. Europe has no stockpiles of raw materials because it hasn't had the money with which to buy them. European officials feel that they are really in greater need of stockpiles than the U. S., however, because they're at the end of longer and more vulnerable shipping supply lines. Europeans blame U. S. stockpiling programs for a great deal of the price rise since the Korean war started 11 months ago. There is a great deal of truth in this charge, as the mad scramble for materials shot up world prices.

The other side of this story is a rather fixed opinion in the United States that the British have been gouging American buyers of raw materials like wool, cotton, natural rubber, and hemp. The British indulge in a certain amount of double-talk in answering this one. They point out that India, Australia and the Federated Malay States are independent members of the British Commonwealth. As sovereign states on internal affairs, they make their own rules on production and marketing of their exports.

The Australians and Malaysians, for their part, put on the big free enterprise argument. They sell their rubber and wool at auction on free markets. They take only what they are offered. If the price goes up, they say it's not their fault. In this respect, they're like American livestock producers bucking price controls.

WHERE all these conflicting points of view will end and how they will be compromised has yet to be determined.

In World War II, such problems were relatively simple. There were only two nations which had to make decisions—the U. S. and Great Britain. They settled everything in a Combined Materials Board.

Today there are 12 nations in the North Atlantic Treaty organization and 20 American republics to cut into the picture.

An International Materials Conference began functioning in Washington under the State Department at the end of February. It has seven working committees: copper-lead-zinc, sulphur, cotton, tungsten-molybdenum, manganese-nickel-cobalt, pulp-paper and wool. None of these has come up with a plan to solve its difficulties.

meet the rush. Gimbel's, the city's No. 2 store which faces Macy's across 34th St., was ready to meet price cut with price cut and advised customers: "shop and compare! No-body beats Gimbel's at the job of keeping prices down." And the city's third largest department store, Abraham & Straus in Brooklyn, advertised it was ready to beat Macy's prices with "savings up to 10 per cent and even more."

The weather was fair today with the temperature rising toward 80 degrees and most of the stores planned to stay open until 9 p.m. So bargain hunters, who were kept home by Tuesday's rain and yesterday's holiday, were expected to swarm into the stores by the hundreds of thousands for a 12-hour spree.
