

The Gold Mannequin

By Myles Connolly

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Tim Reese, a crippled veteran, who has kept "Jean Paul" an exclusive gown shop, in business with his designs, has learned to walk again. On his first night out since Normandy in 1944, he goes to New York to surprise Jean Roland, a beautiful model, who is half owner of the shop. Jean has led Tim to believe she cares for him as a method of making him create beautiful gowns. Actually Jean cares nothing about Tim. In New York Tim learns Jean is attending the "Stress of the Year" an exclusive fashion show at which the "stress of the year" will be chosen. Tim manages to get in posing as a member of a television crew and watches Jean win in a gown designed by him. He also sees Paul Panciera, Jean's partner, accept a gold mannequin as "the designer." Tim sends a note to Jean and, realizing a serious situation confronts the firm, Jean meets Tim.

XXI

THE bellboy, Jigger, astounded that the interloper from the sidewalk should know this beautiful creature, stood pop-eyed a few feet behind Tim Reese and Jean Roland.

Tim reached for his ranes, moved to get up. Jean did not take her eyes off him.

"Hi," Tim grinned, fully enjoying her astonishment now. Jean Roland did not smile. She was, as she studied Tim, trying to make a decision.

Abruptly, characteristically, she made the decision. She turned abruptly to Jigger.

"Would you fetch my wrap, please? Miss Roland."

Jigger sped away. Jean turned back to Tim. "Suppose we go somewhere we can sit down and celebrate!"

Tim was embarrassed. "But—I don't want you to leave the Ball for me."

She gave him a "all radiant smile."

"I do," she said. That evening it was over.

at Giulio's, a gracious little dining room, a few doors east of the Avenue on 52nd Street. In the mistily lighted lounge in front, a gnomish young pianist played Debussy with delicately wistful fingers.

The music tinkled back into the luminous dusk of the small dining room, just reaching the well table where Jean and Tim sat at a table by the side.

At first, Jean did most of the talking. It was a great happiness for her, she told Tim, to see him out of the wheel chair. Now, she intimated, they could be together often in New York. That is, she smiled, if he wished it.

Then, before he had opportunity to question her, she shrewdly sought to divert his mind of any doubts or suspicions he might have had. She had been so busy on her return to New York, she explained, she had not had a single minute to write or telephone.

The business of getting home had thrown her into complete confusion, and, on top of that, she said, the hasty preparations for the Ball had all but driven her mad.

Finally, she decided, she would not let Tim know of the Ball until it was over. She was certain, she said, the winter white gown would win the award. She thought it best to wait then and surprise him with the announcement.

But Tim had long since forgiven, or, more correctly, forgotten.

EARLIER, when they left the Empire, Tim thought they would be gone only a few minutes. But Jean, at Giulio's, at ease and enjoying herself, made no move to return when Tim suggested perhaps it was time she should go back, she was amused. "You are much more fascinating than anyone there," she said.

"Now, wait a minute," Tim protested.

"Whose design won tonight?"

"But look who modeled it."

"A model is only as good as what she wears." She was all candor now. "Here you are in New York, walking around handsome and healthy. What could be more exciting? I haven't begun to get over the surprise of seeing you—"

"—and I have an idea I'll take longer than tonight to get over the pleasure of it."

"Take as long as you like," he grinned. "We're both young. It sounds fine to me."

Paul Panciera alone troubled Tim's evening.

It was with some uneasiness that he mentioned him. Was he the Paul of the Jean Paul? Was he the ogre she had intimated the head of the firm to be?

JEAN was immediately wary. "I don't think anyone could consider him a Prince Charming—"

"He has the old charm on the surface, I'll say that for him."

"He does make a pleasant appearance, and that is important in the business," Jean moved on.

"I didn't want to describe him to you out at the hospital. I was afraid you'd be jealous."

Tim was pleased, soothed. "You knew even then I might be jealous of someone else?"

She laughed her intimate little laugh. "No one could ever call you subtle, Mr. Reese."

"This easily was Mr. Panciera disposed of."

Oakland's New Fairways Put U. S. Open Field on Defensive

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

DETROIT—(NEA)—Oakland Hills was a championship course before more than 100 traps were added and the fairways pinched in the drive zone.

Some of the fairways narrow down almost to a point.

This gives you a rough idea of what the 162 starters are tackling in the 51st United States Open Championship, June 14-16.

Playing the short third in the play-off at Merion a year ago, Ben Hogan faded the ball onto the green.

"Fine shot," commented Joe Dey, Jr., the USGA executive secretary.

"Yep, I liked that one," replied Ben, "but this course keeps you on the defensive. You're never ahead of it."

The professional shotmakers will find tricked-up Oakland Hills the same way.

On the tour, the pros simply take off against par, but the Open is another pattern.

It sounds trite, but the most important thing at Oakland Hills, as was the case at Merion, will be the strategic placement of every shot.

The pinched fairways check the siege gunners. This layout has been rigged up to reward the champion, not penalize him.

Oakland Hills is bigger and longer than Merion. The famous course at Ardmore, Pa., is tighter. Yet the emphasis at Oakland Hills is on accuracy no matter how long the shot, and the pitch must be to the right part of the green.

HOGAN, Lloyd Mangrum and George Fazio tied with 287 at Merion last trip. Yet, and despite the greater expanse and acreage at Oakland Hills, golf's most gifted prognosticators call 286 as the winning figure this time.

High-waisted Ralph Guldahl set a new Open record in 1937 with 281 at Oakland Hills, so the experts consider it at least five strokes more difficult as presently laid out.

Hogan, the imperturbable, has won two of the last three Opens. Fort Worth's wee Iron Man no doubt would have bobbed down in front at Chicago Medinah in 1949, too, had he been able to get there.

While still lying on his bed, badly broken as the result of his near-fatal automobile accident, Ben Hogan filed his entry, and requested that it be kept secret.

How are you going to stop a guy like that?

Fishing and hunting are in greater jeopardy from unreasonable exploitation today than at any previous time. No true sportsman would oppose the inescapable use of all our national resources as we throw our full strength into defending the nation.

Such emergencies, however, demand a close vigil by sportsmen to prevent heading wrecking of the very things some of our hunting and fishing pals are fighting for in Korea.

What kind of victory would it be in military or political fields if we exhaust some of the most precious things we possess, for one, our national heritage—hunting and fishing?

This heritage is not imperative in national defense. It is certainly possible and wise to carry on defense efforts so that the least damage may be done to the basic economy of the country and its natural resources.

Outdoor living is beyond price. Sportsmen do not measure what they get out of hunting and fishing in dollar terms. There is a treasure found in the great outdoors which is not measurable by dollar standards.

At the same time every sportsman realizes that now more than ever our wildlife organizations, federal and state game departments must have money to fight against plain greed and exploitation of our natural wealth—the facilities that produce our game and fish.

The U. S. Senate committee on interstate and foreign commerce has postponed consideration of the bill which seeks to amend the present duck stamp act so that the portion of monies derived from the sale of duck stamps earmarked for enforcement be increased from the present 10 per cent to a maximum of 25 per cent.

Only an immediate and nationwide demand to this committee and to the representative in both the Senate and House will move

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

By United Press

FORT WORTH, June 30 (UP)—Weekly Livestock:

Cattle: compared last Friday: all classes generally steady to strong. Week's top mature steers 36.00, yearlings 35.50, heifers 35.50, cows, 28.50, stocker steer yearlings 34.

Calves: compared last Friday: slaughter calves 50 and more lower, stockers strong. Good and choice slaughter offerings 30-34, few choice and prime 35-35.50, utility and commercial 23-30, culls 18-23.

Sheep: compared last Friday: spring slaughter lambs 50 - 1.00 higher, shorn slaughter lambs and yearlings weak to lower, but poorly tested, slaughter ewes weak to 1.00 lower, with culls showing the decline, spring feeder lambs 50-1.00 lower, shorn feeder lambs and yearlings 1.00 or more.

Week's tops: spring lambs 34, shorn slaughter lambs and yearlings 30, shorn two year old ewes 27, Slaughter ewes 18, spring feeder lambs 32.50, shorn feeder lambs and yearlings 27.50.

Hogs: compared last Friday, butcher hogs 50-75 lower, sows 18-23.

Your reporter believes this committee should be reminded that the increase of the duck stamp price from its former $1.00 to $2.00 would never have been possible if the sportsmen had not been assured that at least 25 per cent would be earmarked for increased enforcement.

50 lower, feeder pigs steady. Week's tops: butcher hogs 22.75, sows 18.50, feeder pigs 20.

The loon, vigilant, diving fisherbird, has a cry which sounds like insane laughter, hence the expression, "crazy as a loon."

A Long Memory Pays Off Today

ELMOND, Okla., June 30 (UP)—Thanks to the long memory of an Oklahoma Highway Patrolman, a transient wanted in four states and sought by the FBI for three years was in custody today.

Trooper Lyle Baker arrested Lacy H. Merritt, 55, yesterday because he remembered the man's description from a chat he had with a deputy sheriff at Stillwater, Okla., two weeks ago.

Merritt is wanted in several Texas towns, including Wheeler, and at Los Angeles, Globe, Ariz., and in five Oklahoma cities.

He has been charged with forgery, bogus checks, car theft and the Dyer Act.

Hoolums Are Taking Over In Small Towns In America Now

NEW YORK, June 30—Small town and crossroads village are wide open to a new terror—crimes against people. Writing in the Christian Herald magazine for July, Howard Whitman starkly writes that he has passed from the era of big city dealers in violence to the era of muggers, rapists, molesters of children and psychopathic killers who strike anywhere and everywhere.

"The professional gangster, vile though he was, didn't pick on women and children," the noted author points out. "Today's hoodlums does, and his depredations are as likely to burst forth in the most gentle, well-ordered community as in a swarming city."

America's frightening new crime pattern has increased faster in rural areas than in heavily populated districts, the Christian Herald story shows. FBI reports for 1950 indicate a city crime upswing of 0.4 per cent against a rural increase of 4.4 per cent.

Small Towns Complacent
Whitman's findings are the result of a two-and-a-half-year survey that took him across the country. He talked with judges, police officials, clergymen, educators and parents. He found small towns shockingly complacent.

"Each time I dug into serious crimes in the smaller cities and towns, I found the local residents incredulous," he reports. "They believed Los Angeles, Chicago and New York had a corner on crime. They had been lulled by the wishful lullaby, 'It can't happen here.'"

It did happen in Burley, Idaho, town of 5300 inhabitants, he shows. Seven-year-old Glenda Joyce Brisbois was found dead in an irrigation ditch, criminally attacked, her head streaked by three deep crimson gashes. "A man in a car called to Glenda," her playmate broke the news. "He talked to her a little bit, and then Glenda got in the car and the man drove away."

Police departments have added a new phrase—"Automobile Sex-kidnaping"—to their lexicon of offenses, Whitman reports. He states that smaller communities are even more vulnerable to it than our mammoth cities, because women and children in small cities and towns more frequently walk along sparsely settled roads on their daily chores. There are easy accessible back roads and deserted barns to which the criminal can flee with his victim.

"In my coast-to-coast survey I found the pattern repeated hundreds of times," Whitman writes. "Nearly every community had its example of automobile sex-kidnaping, the hoodlum era's horrible successor to kidnaping for ransom."

"In Red Lake Falls, Minn., a seven year old girl was abducted in a car, attacked, and left semi-conscious in a haystack in near zero weather. In Whittier, Calif., a fifty five year old woman was snatched into a car by five young hoodlums. In Lake Placid, New York, a six year old girl was assaulted by a man parked by a station wagon outside St. Agnes Church just ten days before Christmas—on the pretext that he was 'one of Santa's helpers.'"

Christian Herald's story lists the "no reason attack" as today's second most prevalent crime. Psychiatrists agree that violence has become a neurotic end in itself.

Assault for Thrill
Says Whitman, "I found cases where mere kids of 12 to 16 have swooped down upon innocent pedestrians and beaten them up just for a thrill."

Near Holland, Mo., a 15 year old farm boy sawed the lock off a railroad switch and wrecked an oncoming passenger express. The engineer was killed, the fireman seriously injured. "I just wanted to see a train wreck," the boy told police.

The major by-product of the hoodlum era is murder, Whitman finds. Since World War II the toll has run from 6,990 to 8,422 annually. Murder victims were once rival gunmen. Today they are often innocent people minding their own business. During an average day, 293 people are killed or assaulted, 162 robbed, 1,100 burglaries are committed, and 45 women and girls are raped—somewhere in the United States.

What You Can Do
"You can help to keep the scourge from your town," Whitman declares in Christian Herald, and makes three suggestions. Hoodlum crime will not be curbed by waiting, warns Christian Herald. "If we do nothing, it will get worse. The hopeful part of the picture is that we need not do nothing. There is a job for each of us."

James Hall, an executive of the Fiscal Branch of the Field Supervision staff of the Production Marketing Administration, Washington, D. C., has been a guest at the Connellee Hotel for the past few days, while attending to business at the South Western Peanut Grower's Association in Gorman. Mr. Hall was accompanied by W. A. Harwell of Dallas.

Surprise Witness Testifies In The Cookler Murder Case Today

LAS CRUCES, N. M., June 30 (UP)—Jerry Nuzum was recalled to the witness stand today in his trial on murder-manslaughter charges in the death of Ovida (Cricket) Coogler in 1949.

Nuzum took the stand shortly after a surprise witness testified she saw two police officers beat the youthful waitress on the head the night she disappeared.

Mrs. Mary Foy, 40 year old wife of an employe at White Sands Rocket Proving Grounds, said she and about 15 White Sands soldiers witnessed the police beating about 3 a.m. March 31, 1949. That was the morning the girl disappeared. She was found dead 16 days later.

Mrs. Foy said she tried to tell officers about the incident but a man in the sheriff's office warned her to keep quiet. She said she did until yesterday when she called Nuzum's attorney and said "the man they're trying is innocent and I think I should tell what I saw."

Nuzum is on trial for manslaughter—murder in the girl's death.

The housewife told the jury she saw Miss Coogler—"drunk and staggering." She said a police car drove up and identified it as a State Police car because it had a gold seal on the side and a red spot light on top.

She then told of two policemen—one in a dark uniform and the other in khaki—getting out and trying to pick the girl up where she had fallen. The girl was "fighting, kicking, screaming and the dark policeman reached into his pocket and pulled out something and hit her," she said.

He hit her twice more she said before they loaded her in the car and drove off.

Mrs. Foy was shown a picture of A. L. (Happy) Apodaca, sheriff of Dona Ana County at the time of the Coogler death. She said she couldn't be sure he was the man. "The one I saw was father."

Apodaca, now serving a jail sentence for torturing another suspect in the case, may be brought from federal prison to testify.

In Santa Fe State Police Chief Joe Roach said any State Patrolman on duty at the time would be available to testify if needed.

There was not much direct talking about the Russian proposal for a Korean cease-fire although Malik did have a 20-minute tete-a-tete with the three leading western delegates—Earnest A. Gross of the United States, Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain and Francis Lacoste of France.

The word came out that Malik agreed to talk with the westerners only in general terms about the cease-fire proposal he uncoiled last Saturday. The Russian indicated that final arrangements for negotiations must be carried out in Moscow by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk.

Texas Hunters Are For Doves

AUSTIN, June 29 (UP)—Texas hunters in a poll have shown a preference for combining the mourning dove and quail shoot into a six-week season beginning Dec. 1, it was announced.

However, the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission said that response to its poll of sportsmen has been very light, with only 229 of the state's approximately 300,000 hunters expressing themselves.

The commission said that 146 of the 229 favored running the mourning dove season concurrently with the quail season, from Dec. 1 to Jan. 16.

The commission is scheduled to make recommendations at a July 6 meeting for the mourning dove hunt. The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service will make the final decision.

Commission executive secretary Howard Dodgen said that 70 of the 146 preferences were made by sportsmen from the northern zone, where hunting was permitted under the 1950 split season Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.

Must Have Been A Rough Ride

RUSHVILLE, Ind., June 30 (UP)—Charles Wilder was late getting started to his work at a filling station. He hopped into his auto and didn't spare the accelerator during the five-mile drive.

When he pulled up at the station and shut off the motor, he heard a child crying. Wilder found his four-year-old daughter, Rebecca, standing on the rear bumper. Both arms were locked around the taillight and one hand clutched a candy bar. She'd ridden all the way.

Beautiful Bemberg Young Designs for Mature Woman

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The cool, slick fabric called bemberg rayon is particularly adaptable to the summertime needs of the mature woman. Because it's a rayon yarn made in fine deniers, it drapes beautifully. It's a fabric that does not wrinkle easily. It gives long service, can be washed and ironed. And it won't fade in the sun, won't lose its lustre in laundering.

These new fashions are found in the good fabric that's bemberg. A sheath dress in navy blue linen (left) has wide shoulder straps in place of the spaghetti straps used for the younger age groups. There's a cuffed bodice that provides the right cover-up and there is, in addition, a long coat in bemberg navy sheer petal-printed in white. Both the white and the navy of this coat will keep their colors in the tub.

A tailored print (right) in black-and-white bemberg sheer has collars and pockets lined in black taffeta. The bodice buttons asymmetrically; lines of the skirt are slim.

Plane Lost In The Mountains

CHICAGO, June 30 (UP)—A United Air Lines plane carrying 44 passengers and a crew of five was missing today on a flight over the mountains between Salt Lake City, and Denver.

The airliner was a DC-6, UAL flight 610, flying from San Francisco to Chicago with stops at Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha, and Chicago.

The plane was three hours overdue at Denver when UAL press representative Richard Fernald reported it missing in an announcement at Chicago.

Fernald said the ship left Salt Lake City at 11:45 p.m. (MST) and was due at Denver at 1:35 a.m.

The ship was behind time, however, as its pilot reports by radio at 1:45 a.m. that he was over Silver Crown, Wyo.

All radio operators and airport towers in the area were ordered to listen for signals from the missing airliner, and plans were put into operation for a search for it.

Iranian Troops Pull A Raid

ABADAN, Iran, June 29 (UP)—Iranian troops late today raided the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's fire station here.

An officers who led four soldiers in the raid said he was seeking "hidden arms."

At the same time the Iranians banned traffic by the company's boats on the Iranian side of the muddy Shatt El Arab, estuary to the Tigris River. The action was said to have been taken to prevent British officials from boarding the cruiser Mauritius, standing at anchor in the middle of the stream.

In Abadan Iranian soldiers and police held back crowds who waited on the fringes of the residential area to loot homes of British oil men if they leave this port.

United Airlines resumed operations only yesterday after 900 of its pilots and co-pilots staged an 11-day strike involving the DC-6B, a faster, more-powerful and longer-ranged model of the ship reported missing this morning.

Texans Have Last Laugh

NEW YORK, June 30 (UP)—Two gypped Texans got revenge today on a Greenwich Village night club that charged them $161 for "a bite to eat."

L. C. Adair, of Ballinger, Tex., complained so loudly and feelingly in a letter to Supreme Court Justice William C. Hecht, Jr., that the judge refused yesterday to grant the Swing Rendezvous Club a new license when their old one expired.

Adair said he and a Texan pal dropped into the club last Jan. 13 and after spending $161, all they got for their money was six small drinks, a package of cigarettes, and a steak sandwich a piece.

"We went to the place, took a table, ordered us a drink and in a few minutes one of the attendants asked us if we wanted girls," Adair wrote police here. "We said no. But in a few minutes one came over to our table and it wasn't long before others moved in."

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Walker and grandson Don Walker of Texarkana are visiting Mrs. C. J. Germany.

Defendants Are Pleading Today

SANTA FE, N. M., June 30 (UP)—All defendants in the "hot oil" case involving the Humble Oil Company pleaded innocent in federal court here today.

David Frame, vice president of the Humble Oil and Refining Co., in charge of production, and A. E. Pecore, vice president of the Humble Pipeline Co., appeared for arraignment as "responsible" executives of the firms.

Charged with them in two true bills alleging violation of the Connally "hot oil" act and conspiracy to defraud the government were Jack S. Little, Roy Mosely and Walter J. Robertson of Hobbs, N. M.

Mrs. Ione Bownds and children Don and Dorris left this morning on a vacation trip, where they will visit with relatives in Midland.

1776 'till NOW...

Independence Day, the Fourth, the Glorious Fourth of July, that Great Day in the history of our Great Country—the birthday of our freedom! It's time to celebrate! It's time to rededicate yourself to God and Country!

In 1776, July 4 was a day of jubilee, bell ringing. A people rejoiced with all its heart because its Declaration of Independence had been adopted. Long had they struggled under the oppression of tyranny, awaiting the fullness of time that would bring leaders to guide their way to freedom. They had been plucky, they had been patient, but now their hour had struck. At last their claims to "certain unalienable Rights... Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness" ... were no longer intangible dreams, but a living challenge across the sea "to a candid world." Those patriots knew the struggle would be hard, that it would mean personal sacrifice for each and every one... it was a preposterous assignment; it was a fearful task. Did they hang back and haggle as to the prudence of such daring? Did they talk of doubt and fear and mistrust of their leaders? They weren't made of such stuff. They were proud of their commitment. Like their leaders, they were ready, "with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence," to pledge their Lives, their Fortunes, and their sacred Honor to support their Declaration of Independence. Their Spirit sanctioned every word. Their bells rang out in a grand "AMEN!"

This year July 4 likely will be gayest than ever. We will picnic, we will swim, we will go places. There'll be fireworks, parades, band-playing, speech-making. Again it will be a Great Day of celebration. But there'll be an undercurrent of solemnity; there'll be a reverent re-dedication to our country. We know that our nation stands today in grave peril; we are warned at every hand of the powerful tyranny which rides today unchecked, growing more threatening and more powerful hour by hour, day by day... Russia and her fifth column. We realize that the fate of our freedom is in our own hands. We must not be unconcerned. We must recognize the dangers. We must be ready to sacrifice. Like our forefathers, we must value our democratic freedom more than life itself... As we have done for nearly 200 years. Never have the people of America failed to rally in support of the principles set forth in our Declaration of Independence. We never will! Communism cannot take root in the Land of the Free. We have no desire for territory. We have no ambition for conquest and military glory. We want no loot. But we mean to have our freedom and independence, whatever the cost. In 1776, our forefathers made a bold Declaration against Despotism. Today, we stand ready to uphold that Declaration against any powers that be. The Spirit of '76 still lives. The right to freedom of worship must Prevail.

Texans Come Home Form War Land And Capture San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 30 (UP)—Fighting Leathernecks including 103 Texans who stormed ashore at Inchon took San Diego today without a struggle.

The Marines, 1473 members of the storied First Division, came home from Korea yesterday aboard the Navy transport U. S. S. Sylvester Antalak to be greeted by a dockful of wildly cheering relatives and military and civic officials.

For 760 of the Leathernecks, the San Diego landing was their final invasion. They are reservists, the Marine Corps "Minute-men," who were called back to active duty last July and now are scheduled to return to civilian life.

The remaining veterans were regulars, who look forward to 30-day leaves before being reassigned.

Hundreds of wives and mothers jammed the flag-decked Navy pier to watch the Antalak slip through the morning mists and alongside the dock a fireboat circled the transport, its hoses sputting welcome geysers of water, and a Marine Corps band struck up the traditional hymn of the Leathernecks.

Maj. Gen. O. P. Smith, commanding officer of Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Maj. Gen. William T. Clement, command officer of the Marine Recruiting Depot here, welcomed the veterans, who then were given $30 pay and liberty.

Texans who came home included: Sgt. Ralph G. Avey, Jr., 130 Chickering St., San Antonio; Sgt. Ryland A. Baldwin, Jr., 1092 Waterall St., Texarkana; Sgt. Joe M. Barbosa, 231 Gould, San Antonio.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

That Christian Science is based on the words and works of Christ Jesus is brought out in the Lesson - Sermon titled "Christian Science" to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday July 1.

The Golden text, taken from Habakkuk, states, "The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." According to the Lesson-Sermon, Christian Science fulfills this prophecy.

From the Bible will be read this citation from the fifteenth chapter of Matthew: "And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: Insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see; and they glorified the God of Israel." This correlative paragraph from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be read: "Divine metaphysics is now reduced to a system, to a form comprehensible by and adapted to the thought of the age in which we live. This system enables the learner to demonstrate the divine Principle, upon which Jesus' healing was based, and the sacred rules for its present application to the cure of disease" (page 146).

Mex Fliers Are Improving

AUSTIN, June 30 (UP)—Two Mexican fliers, injured yesterday when a light plane crashed north of here enroute from Denver to Mexico City, were improving today.

Augustine Guerra Rayon, 43, and Octavido De La Pena, 43, the pilot, both of Mexico City, were reported to be in satisfactory condition with multiple cuts and bruises.

The plane, a four-place Aerofica, had been purchased in Denver, and it crashed when it ran out of gas.

Meat Ban Will Be Eased Up

LAREDO, June 30 (UP)—The ban on importation of beef and other meats from Mexico will be eased somewhat July 5.

Dr. H. F. Kern, assistant inspector in charge of the Bureau of Animal Industry for much of South Texas, said today that consumer imports of cooked meats will be permitted at major ports on entry after that date.

Dr. Kern emphasized the meat must be cooked, must be free of bone, must be for personal use only and each import will be limited to five pounds.

All Mexican meat of cloven-footed animals has been banned for the past few years because of the hoof and mouth disease. The easing of the ban will apply at Brownsville, Hidalgo, Roma, Laredo, Eagle Pass and Del Rio.

Dr. Kern said he had no information about the eventual lifting of the ban on livestock on the hoof.

This is How it Works Out—

... Insurance operates on the theory that the worst never happens, and it seldom does. Insurance says: "You will have no losses for a whole year". You challenge, buy adequate insurance and wait. Who wins? The law of averages gives the premium to the company, but a full year's protection and satisfaction to you. And, like the story, it ends well, everybody is happy but the poor fellow who wasn't insured the year the law of averages went hay-wire!

If It's Insurance We Write It.
