

Agreement Reached On Purchase Price Of Kilgore Equipment

YOU NAME IT

By Everett Taylor
A great deal of enthusiasm was displayed at the hospital meeting held at the Texas Electric building Monday night.

Various persons present expressed their willingness to do manual labor on the building, and were determined that the move would be successful once it is gotten underway.

Numerous offers of aid were offered. Wayne Jackson, of Jackson's Auto Supply stated that he would furnish the paint necessary to paint the beds which will come with the Kilgore equipment, if automotive paint will be all right for the job.

B. F. Hanna of Hanna Lumber Company said that he and his brother would furnish any materials which they could obtain for the structure strictly at cost.

Tom Lovelace of Lovelace Transfer and Storage, said that they would help move the equipment from Kilgore, if furnished labor to help load and unload, at what it cost them. Bruce Pipkin offered the use of a Piggy-Wiggy truck to help with the moving, if they could be used on Saturday or Sunday.

Several other such offers of labor, services and materials reflect that a civic spirit is arising among citizens to build a hospital. Some at the meeting reported that they were impressed by the spirit shown. "It is inspiring," one stated.

Such a spirit can spread until almost the entire citizenry will be volunteering services in building the hospital. The same spirit can help build up the city in other ways.

In case you are the superstitious sort you no doubt do not need a reminder that Friday is none other than that jinx day of all jinx days, Friday the thirteenth.

The mere mention of such a day is enough to make the superstitious soul quiver. On the other hand, there is the type who defies superstition and brags that nothing out of the ordinary ever happens to him on these foolish days.

They are the ones who walk around ladders and go around the block to avoid a black cat when no one is looking.

In this column of last Tuesday some mention was made of the peculiar taste of local water which has been noticed by most citizens of the city of late.

Reasons for the taste were not official, but City Manager I. C. Heck tells us that one of the reasons mentioned is actually the right one.

The lake is turning, or has turned, over, Heck says, which causes the water to be highly saturated with the taste of roots and vegetation in the lake. Last year, he explained, the taste was not so noticeable since the lake overflowed during the year causing fresh water to be carried into the lake.

Rains have not been sufficient to cause the water to flow over the spillway this year and the fresh water has not been brought in as it was last year.

Heck said that the lake "turns over" about twice yearly, in extremely hot and extremely cold weather.

He added that several complaints have been received about the unusual flavor of the water, but that all that can be done is wait for the water to settle once again. It is just a matter of time. Until that time Eastland apparently will not be known for its water of fine flavor.

For Good Used Cars (Trade-ins on the New Olds) Osborne Motor Company, Eastland

Assurance of obtaining a great part of the equipment which will be needed for Eastland's proposed Memorial Hospital came Wednesday with the announcement that an agreement had been reached with a group in Kilgore for the purchase of equipment from a hospital there which is no longer in use.

The purchase price agreed upon for the equipment was reported to be $8,000, far below the estimated cost ($35,000 or more) of equipping a hospital with all-new materials.

A representative of the Kilgore group contacted said that a complete revised list of all the furnishings and equipment which will be included in the purchase price will be forwarded immediately to Eastland.

The equipment includes X-Ray equipment (including a mobile X-Ray unit), operating tables and equipment, beds and a large portion of the items necessary in the operation of a hospital.

Dr. James Whittington, who has been active with the group negotiating for the purchase, said that plans for the moving of the equipment to Eastland will not be made until the revised list is received. It was believed, however, that the equipment would be moved here in the very near future. A storage place for the equipment, until it can be installed in the hospital building, is available.

Eastland will have a 30-day period in which to move the equipment from the building in Kilgore after receiving the list.

The equipment at Kilgore was in use until recently when that city completed an all-new $1,500,000 hospital and closed up their old one.

Dr. Whittington, Theo Lamb and Jack Frost recently went to Kilgore to investigate the equipment and reported that all of it is in good condition. Some of it is almost new and some is older, but all is in usable condition and was in use until the hospital was closed.

The purchase of the equipment leaves of immediate concern the problem of a building, and groups are at work this week to get the building program underway.

A completely new building is planned and it has been estimated by experienced construction men that a structure can be put up, with a great amount of donated labor and by obtaining much of the material needed at cost, for between $35,000 and $45,000.

Passing of an ordinance by the City Commission placing a special assessment of $1 on each water meter of the city for a period of three years, to go to the hospital fund, answered some of the questions of finance. A drive to obtain cash to begin work on the building will be necessary before actual operations can start.

Survivor Says Log Sunk Boat

PUEBLA, Mexico, July 12 (UP)—A survivor of a ferry sinking in which 27 persons, including 4 children, drowned, blamed a floating log today for "simply knocking the ferry to pieces."

Salvador Castelan, one of the 15 survivors, said the force of the blow sank the vessel yesterday almost immediately in the rain-swollen river. Military authorities still were searching for bodies.

The accident occurred only a short distance from where 55 persons died Sunday when a bus was swept away trying to ford the river.

Gorman Marine Receives Silver Star Medal For Korean Duty

Marine Private First Class Robert D. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Quintin Marshall, Route 2, Gorman, Texas, has recently been awarded the Silver Star Medal in the name of the President of the United States by the Commanding General, First Marine Division, Fleet Marine Force.

The award was for service set forth in the following citation: "For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action against the enemy while serving with a Marine Infantry company in Korea on 6 December 1950. Private First Class Marshall, serving as a radio operator, was attacking with his company against a numerically superior enemy employing small arms, machine guns and hand grenades. During a period when air support was needed, he made repeated trips over fire swept enemy terrain exposing himself to accurate enemy fire in relaying messages from his company commander to the tactical air control party officer in calling down air support. When the tactical air control party radio was out of operation, he maintained radio control for both his company and the air control party. During this action, the enemy overran his position, of which he killed three with his pistol. His aggressive actions and determination contributed materially to the success of his company's mission. Private First Class Marshall's heroic actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service." Signed Oliver P. Smith, Major General, U. S. Marine Corps.

Reds Massing Large Army

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS Korea, July 12 (UP)—Nearly half a million Communist troops massed behind a steel ring on Korea's west central front today but hard-hitting UN patrols punched as much as seven miles into enemy territory to the east to feel out Red strength.

Front reports said UN high command levels were "pessimistic about the military situation" in the face of the Red build-up.

UN Supreme Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, keeping close to the bogged-down armistice talks in Kaesong, was alert to the danger of a Communist double-cross on the fighting front. He was in close contact with front line posts.

The powerful Red forces strung out in the west-central sector numbered 400,000 and front reports said "more are coming in" steadily. Heavy weapons, supplies and big self-propelled guns trundled up to the Communist front area.

To the rear, but not far, the Reds were rushing a fresh string of airstrips to completion to accommodate jet fighters.

The continued appearance of Russian-built MiB 15's over North Korea, despite their steady losses in combat with U. S. Sabrejets, fostered belief the Communists were trying to get all the air combat experience possible.

Front action was limited but UN patrols were still punching into Red defenses everywhere primarily to test Communist strength and keep tab on the enemy buildup.

Mineral Wells Is In Critical Area

WASHINGTON, July 11 (UP)—Mineral Wells and Weatherford and Alamogordo, Tularosa, and Las Cruces, N.M., have been declared critical defense housing areas, the Defense Production Administration announced today.

Credit controls will be relaxed on new construction in those places, DPA said. More housing is needed in the Mineral Wells-Weatherford area for personnel at the Wolters Air Force Base, which has 2,500 officers and airmen and is expected to have 8,000 by next January.

Housing is needed in the Alamogordo-Tularosa area to take care of an increase in personnel at the Hollman Air Force Base from the present number of 2,850 to 3,700 by next January.

Las Cruces is next to the White Sands Proving Grounds which includes the Signal Corps, Weather Bureau and several Army units. Personnel stationed there is expected to increase from 2,400 to 3,300 by next January. Details of the housing programs for each area will be announced shortly by the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Surviving are two daughters: Mrs. C. W. Moates, Ranger and Mrs. T. S. Reynolds, Tyler. He also leaves a granddaughter and a great grandson.

Morris Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

Man Sought To Get Damages

BOSTON, Mass., July 12 (UP)—Domenico S. Previte sought $20,000 in damages today from an undertaking firm on charges it had failed to embalm his son's body to "remain intact for a period of at least 75 years."

Previte's 16-year-old son, Frank died of cancer, in March, 1948, and the importer despaired of the thought he would never see his boy's face again. He said he paid the undertaker $17,075 on assurances his son's corpse would remain lifelike for "at least 75 years" but that his son's body had become "discolored, disfigured and decomposed, and in such condition that it was not within the scope of human reason to view it."

United Nations Delegates Halt Cease-Fire Gab

COMMIES REFUSE TO ADMIT AMERICAN NEWSMEN TODAY

By Ernest Hoberecht
United Press Staff Correspondent
UN ADVANCE BASE BELOW KAESONG, Korea, July 12 (UP)—The United Nations broke off Korean cease-fire talks abruptly today when the Communists refused to admit the free press to the conference city of Kaesong.

The halt came after nine hours of talking in meetings Tuesday and Wednesday had brought "an armistice much nearer," in the words of one UN official.

Late this afternoon, the three Admirals and two Generals of the UN Armistice Team still were in this advance base. They will not go to Kaesong for the third cease-fire meeting, scheduled to have started at 10 a.m. Thursday (8 p.m. Wednesday EDT), until the Communists let selected press representatives enter Kaesong.

UN Chief Negotiator Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy told the Communists in two straightforward messages that there will be no further talks until UN convoys—including the press—are passed into Kaesong without interference by the Reds.

UN Supreme Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had informed the Reds in a formal statement delivered by Joy to North Korean Gen. Nam Il at the Wednesday meeting that as of Thursday the Western press would be considered a part of the UN delegation.

The breakdown in the talks occurred while reports from the Korean war front spoke ominously of a huge buildup of Red forces and warned off fears of a "gigantic doublecross" by the enemy. The reports said 400,000 Reds were massed above UN battle lines and "more are coming in."

When a one-eyed Chinese Communist officer at a Red Command Post nine miles South of Kaesong turned back a UN convoy including a truckload of 20 correspondents this morning, he automatically stopped the talks.

Before the convoy with the correspondents left this morning, the Communists were told again that clearance would be given the press. No word came from the Reds.

Shortly after, the UN motor convoy was turned back and Joy then advised the Communists, in a message flown by helicopter to them in Kaesong, that talks would not resume until the press representatives were cleared through Communist lines.

Almost at the same time, the Army admitted officially that "neutral" Kaesong is in Communist hands. The claim of the city's "neutrality" had been exploded already by the fact that armed Chinese soldiers stood guard over UN negotiators and the armistice conference hall.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (UP)—Between 100 to 200 beds at the Veterans Hospital at Shreveport, La., will be made available for treating infantile paralysis victims.

Rep. Overton Brooks, D., La., said he had been advised by the Veterans Administration that it will isolate the top floor of its hospital and make it available to local physicians who are treating patients for infantile paralysis. Brooks said the disease has reached epidemic proportions in Northern Louisiana.

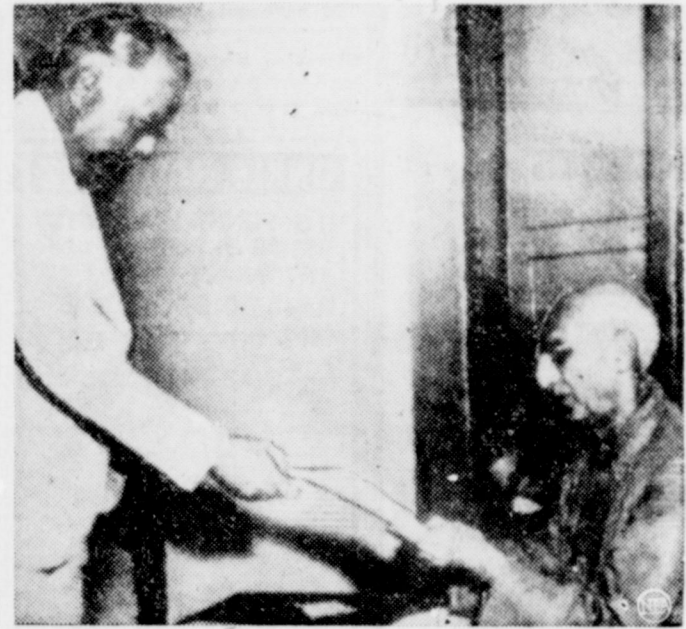

Vice Squad Cop's Killer Is Sought

FORT WORTH, July 12 (UP)—The driver of a hit-run automobile that fatally injured a 2-year-old boy last night was being sought today by police.

Marvin E. Wills, Jr., son of a police vice squad officer, was hit as he crossed the street a half block from his home. He died in a hospital a short while later.

Witnesses said the automobile was an old model and was occupied by several teen-agers.

DISTRICT METHODIST TO PLAN EVANGELISTIC WORK

Methodist pastors of the Cisco District are to meet at Gorman, Monday, July 16, to perfect plans for the district's participation in the Texas wide Methodist United Evangelistic Campaign in October and November, Rev. Leslie W. Seymour, district superintendent has announced.

Rev. Garland Lavender, pastor of the Ranger Methodist Church, is the district director of evangelism.

Rev. Seymour said that plans for the statewide revival have been developing over a period of nearly two years. It will be done on a cooperative basis, preachers in each district will meet daily for worship, planning, instruction and the noon meal together.

Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas and Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston are in general charge of the program.

HD Council Is Praised For Work In Civil Defense

Eastland County Home Demonstration Council women were praised for their efforts in a civil defense program for the county at their meeting at the Eastland courthouse, Wednesday.

Captain Jane Brown and Sgt. Campbell of the WACS, with the Abilene recruiting station, told those present that council members may help in the defense effort by encouraging young women without dependents to enlist in the Armed Forces.

It was pointed out that by enlisting, women would take positions which will allow men in the Armed Forces to take fighting duties.

Captain Brown told the group of the opportunities which are offered by the Armed Forces and explained the importance of having women in the Armed Services.

Captain Brown and Sgt. Campbell were introduced by Margene Johnson Johnson of Eastland, who served in the Armed Forces during World War II. Mrs. Johnson commended the ladies of the Council for their move in instituting a Civil Defense program in the county.

Wrong Medicine

LONDON, July 12 (UP)—Dr. Jack M. Sinclair's method of curing a pretty girl's headaches cost him his medical standing today.

Britain's General Medical Council ordered his name stricken from the register when Peggy May Kennedy, a sailor's wife, claimed he prescribed relaxation for her headaches and then became intimate with her.

Sugar Ray Will Meet Turpin In September

LONDON, July 11 (UP)—Husky, dusky Randolph Turpin—first British World Middleweight Champion in 57 years—is contracted to defend his new crown at New York, Sept. 26, against

Athletes Foot Germ

After one application of T-4-L, if not pleased your 40c back. This mobile liquid PENETRATES faster, quicker, deeper to make the kill. T-4-L at any drug store. Today at Eastland Drug.

Sugar Ray Robinson, whom Turpin amazingly and thoroughly trounced for the title last night. Pre-fight contracts between Robinson, Turpin and New York's International Manager said today the bout will be staged at the Polo Grounds.

Turpin, who electrified a sell-out crowd of 18,000 in Earls Court Arena by winning a lopsided 15-round decision over blood-smeared Robinson, should be an attraction in the United States because of his aggressiveness, ruggedness and punch. Robinson had been favored at 4-1 for his first defense of the 160-pound crown.

The muscular, half-deaf young Negro from Leamington, Eng., gave the world's No. 1 fighter, such a beating last night that Sugar Ray was lucky to last the distance. In the 14th round Randy staggered Ray with a left hook to the chin and was battering the nearly helpless Negro on the ropes when the bell rang.

As Robinson suffered the second defeat in his remarkable career of 128 professional bouts, he was bleeding from a deep gash on his left brow, from his nose and from his mouth. He was gashed by a head collision in the seventh round.

Turpin, 23, and a professional only five years, won so decisively that Americans at the ringside joined British fans in a thundering ovation when the referee Eugene Henderson awarded the decision to ex-sailor Turpin. No judges are used in English bouts.

A consensus of writers at the ringside scored nine rounds for Randy, four for Robinson and two even. The referee's point score was not announced.

Turpin, youngest of three fight brothers, became the first British-born World Middleweight

"Hoppy" Has Run-in With Law and Curb

FORT WORTH, July 11 (UP)—"Hopalong Cassidy" and his mom will have a conference with the law tomorrow, the subject to deal with wild riding in the city.

The young "Hoppy" is a 9-year-old boy, whose regular moniker is Carroll Cook. But the lad, who wore two toy six shooters, proclaimed to all concerned that he was Hopalong Cassidy.

The pint-sized "gunman" told probation officers he got tired of sitting around home with nothing to do, so he decided to borrow his mother's car yesterday for a drive—without her knowledge.

That started a series of telephone calls to police headquarters from southside residents, who in some instances thought the lurching careening automobile was driveless, so small was the operator.

A young partner with Carroll "bailed out" during the ride—bruised but otherwise unhurt.

The law, in the form of a police squad car, finally corralled "Hoppy" after his steel steed jumped a curb and blew a tire.

Apprehended, the young rider fingered his guns and declared: "I'd have got home OK without

Layne Plans To Take The Crown

NEW YORK, July 12 (UP)—Rex Layne is sure he will take the world heavyweight championship home to Salt Lake City in the near future even if he isn't sure whether Joe Louis deked him with a left hook or a right cross.

"I never figured it out," the blond Hercules laughed today as he recalled an exhibition bout with the war-weary Bomber a year and a half ago. "They say it was a left hook. But anyway—"

Anyway, that's all in the past. Rex figures he will flatten rugged Rocky Marciano here tonight, and that should be enough to earn him a shot at Ezzard Charles even if Louis is next in line.

"And if I can take Marciano, I know I can take Charles."

That's the way Rex felt today and that's the way he said it. He sat in a small chair by his hotel window, his sledgehammer hands resting gently in his lap. His voice was so low he often was drowned out by the horns and sleazy laughter coming up from Broadway that seemed to say "smarten up, kid. Go back to those beet fields in Utah."

Yet, some old pros who know the score, are climbing into Layne's corner. Jack Dempsey, whose own fists were tempered in brawls in and around Salt Lake, stops by a lot whenever Rex is in town.

"He stayed for quite a while last time we were in, didn't he?" Rex asked Marvin Jensen, his beaming manager. "Jack told me I could win the title if I really wanted to and worked for it."

Even silent Bob Doerr of the Red Sox is doing some tub-thumping.

"Marciano comes from Brockton," Doerr said, "so it's pretty tough but I'm getting some of the club behind Rex."

Doerr and Jensen are a couple of mink farmers who first met at a breeders' convention in Seattle before Layne ever was heard of. Their mutual interests quickly branched out to fighting after Jensen took over as Layne's manager in the spring of 1949.

Rex is a bleeder and is supposed to be right-hand crazy. He can't lick the blood problem but he thinks people just don't notice his left.

"I've got a good left," he said. "Marciano will find that out and so will lot of others."

Rex doesn't care much for training, a factor which might give him trouble if he has to go the distance too often.

"Training?" Layne countered with another smile. "Tell me if you know anybody who really likes to train. It's all right, I mean, but after a month of it—gosh!"

Food, Fashion To Be Combined In Annual Sorority Fall Show

By Catherine Germany
Nature's colors in vegetables and fruits have often inspired fashion colors. This year the fruit and vegetables themselves, expertly canned by women in Eastland county to retain their beauty of color, will become an interesting part of the annual Beta Sigma Phi fall style show.

The "Food Fair" and style show will be Thursday, September 13, at Eastland High School.

After the show, the food will be sent to Gristown, U.S.A., to brighten the menus of the thirty "neglected" girls there.

The decision to have the "Food Fair" in connection with the style show was reached at a meeting of Eastland County home demonstration club members Wednesday in the court house. The proposal was presented by Miss Evelyn Bigby, assistant home demonstration agent, and was further explained by Mrs. Art Johnson, sponsor of the sorority.

Ribbons for first, second and third places will be awarded after the fruit has been judged by a committee selected by Mrs. Ethel Sparks, county home demonstration agent.

The competition, however, will not be limited to home demonstration club members. Anyone may enter, and there is no limit on quantity. It was suggested that the

Government Worker Tops Coffee Poll

WASHINGTON, July 12 (UP)—There are a couple of reasons government workers are national leaders in the business of coffee drinking.

1. It's a wonderful way to kill a little time and chit-chat with their fellow workers.

2. As everybody working for Uncle Sam will tell you, a "coffee break" gives a man the kind of a life that makes him rush back to his desk and dig into his work pile with new zest.

The Pan-American Coffee Bureau of New York has made a cup-to-cup survey and finds that about 225,000 cups are bought daily by government workers in eating places which operate in Federal Agencies. These take in most government buildings, including the Capitol and the Supreme Court Building. But the total does not include what the workers drink at home and in public eating spots.

The sprawling Pentagon leads the parade. Some 25,000 cups of java are consumed there daily in the 15 snack bars and dining rooms. The Capitol ranks second with about 16,000 cups a day by the lawmakers, members of their staff and others.

All told about 5,000 pounds of coffee are used daily in Federal agencies.

The "coffee breaks" are a tradition in Washington. For a while, there was some criticism of this practice. But some personnel chiefs claim that the "breaks" cut down on inter-office visits and actually save work time.

Mrs. Jean Lee is the candidate for Queen For A Day representing the Lake Cisco Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Lee was duchess in the Cisco High School coronation in 1945-46, and was princess in 1947. She lives on a farm and has 1600 chickens. She is an active member of the Lake Cisco Club.

All of the coffee and snack stands in the various government buildings are let out as private concessions. The blind get the first choice.

Some of the concessionaires do all right. One operator in a certain building admitted on his income tax form that he took in over $15,000 one year. That was equal to if not more than the pay of the head of the department—who bought java regularly at the stand.

At Coast Guard headquarters many workers, including executive officers, send the office help downstairs each night with huge thermos jugs. These are filled, with or without cream and sugar and picked up the next morning.

The workers sit around with the jug under their desks and sip coffee the day long.

In a lot of government buildings, the high command has ordered that coffee may be sold only during the breakfast and lunch hours.

But apparently it is not followed to the letter.

I was in the Commerce Department Building on business the other day. As I went in for an interview, I noticed a couple of clerks standing in the hall, containers in hand, chatting and drinking coffee.

I came out a couple of hours later. These same two still were standing in the same spot—still drinking coffee.

No coffee I ever drank would stay hot that long.
