If the All-Star football and basketball games played last week at the annual Texas High School Coaches' Association meeting in San Antonio are an idea of what to expect in the forthcoming football and basketball seasons this fall and winter, Joe Fan is in for a turbulent time.

Two stunning upsets were registered by the Southern All-Stars, one in the football game Friday night and the other in the cage tilt Saturday night.

The Rebel teams were given scarcely more than half a chance to win either of the games, if so much as that.

What happened? The Southern Rebels proceeded to whip the North in football something like 14-6 and then turned around and gave them a lesson in the cage game, 60-55.

All of which may, or may not, indicate that a favorite's rating in a contest this fall might be fatal. But this upsetting business has been going on for years, why should it suddenly end. Besides, that is the factor which keeps interest high in the sports.

Another surprise of the victory by the South in the football game was that Paul Bryant, Kentucky, coach of the Rebels, did not put his lads through a hard scrimmage all week while the North team underwent quite a bit of rough stuff during the week.

Bryant's team won, to the surprise of all.

These tactics may not be exactly new, however, as Eastland Coach Wendell Siebert kept his boys out of hard scrimmage before several games last fall, but perhaps for a different reason, and with varying success.

Siebert's purpose was to avoid possible injury during rough practice sessions because an injury to one of his regulars seriously weakened the team.

A large number of out of town visitors are due in the city this weekend for the Third Annual Old Rip Horned Toad Derby.

In addition to the civilian visitors expected to be on hand, a large number of military personnel, including the 70 man band of the First Armored Division, will be present.

The occasion is a special "Recruiting Day" for the Army and Air Forces in the city, and a number of personnel will be at a recruiting station.

Also along the military line, a large amount of military equipment will be displayed on the south side of the courthouse square during the two-day celebration.

All in all, the Derby promises to be one of the largest events to ever be held here.

Back to the subject of football, which is gradually taking the limelight in conversations with the season only about a month away, the grass on the field at McAvrick Stadium is coming through the layer of sand in fine condition.

Right now it looks as if there will be quite a bit of grass on the field when comes kickoff time against Coleman, Sept. 7.

The grass may be tender and may tear out easily, however, leaving grassless spots after the first game or so, but the field appears to be shaping into pretty condition for the season.

Bluestone For Lake Arrives

A shipment of 800 pounds of bluestone has arrived which was purchased by fishermen of the city and will be put in the Eastland Lake soon.

The bluestone kills vegetation in the lake and as a result fish build up a pretty good appetite and fishing is good. Fishermen of city made up a fund for the treatment so that they might enjoy some good fishing near home.

SERVICES HELD FOR VETERAN WACO NEWSPAPER EDITOR

WACO, Aug. 7 (UP)—Funeral services were held today (10 a.m.) for Frank Baldwin, 59-year-old editor of the Waco News-Tribune and Waco Times-Herald.

Baldwin, one of the best-known newspapermen in Texas, died yesterday in Providence Hospital. He had suffered a stroke seven hours earlier.

Dr. W. W. Melton officiated at the funeral in the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church.

Baldwin was born in Iowa and worked his way through the University of Iowa by serving as a correspondent for several newspapers. After graduation, he joined the Des Moines News as a reporter.

E. S. Pentress, publisher of the News, and Charles Marsh later purchased a Fargo, N.D., newspaper and sent young Baldwin to the city as their advance agent as city editor.

A few months later, Pentress and Marsh bought the Waco Morning News. Accompanied by Baldwin, they came to Waco and put the News on a solid footing.

Baldwin was associated with the Waco papers for the past 34 years, except for brief periods of duty on other Pentress publications at Austin and Wichita Falls. He became editor of the News-Tribune in 1926 and of the Times-Herald, an afternoon newspaper, in 1928.

Baldwin was elected to the Texas legislature in 1927 and served one term. He remained a power in politics until his death and was noted for his outspoken opinions.

He toured Europe before the outbreak of World War II and returned to warn repeatedly that the Nazis soon would march. He made more than 100 speeches on the subject.

Baldwin had complained during the past week end of 100-degree heat that he did not feel well.

PARENTS CONVERGE ON POINT TO CLEAR DISMISSED CADETS

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 7 (UP)—Fourteen of the 90 Army cadets facing dismissal from the U. S. Military Academy for classroom cheating, have had their final hearing, and are doing fatigue duty today at nearby Camp Buehler awaiting discharge.

It was learned that the cadets have been put to work clearing brushery while Army officials decide their case.

Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, superintendent of the academy, scheduled a press conference today and was expected to give the Army's official stand on the cheating scandal exposed last Friday.

Sources at West Point said parents of many cadets were hurrying here to help clear their sons' names and that one father, an officer on active duty, was traveling "more than 1,500 miles."

Parents already on the scene begged President Truman last night to forgive their sons in a "fatherly" way and let them repay the nation in service for the "error of their youth."

In a telegram signed by the "parents' committee of 90 accused cadets," the president was asked, as commander-in-chief of the but a cerebral hemorrhage which struck him at 3:30 a.m. came without warning.

Pallbearers included Tom Caulfield, veteran reporter for the Waco newspapers; Sam Wood, assistant editor; Harry Provence, managing editor; Harlan J. Pentress, son of the late E. S. Pentress and now publisher of the Pentress Newspapers; Leon Thompson, agriculturalist for a Waco bank, and J. H. Kuitgen, a leading Waco businessman.

Baldwin's widow is the former Helen Pool who he married in 1932. Other survivors include two sisters, Miss Nellie Baldwin and Mrs. Charles Burt, both of Waco. The flag on the capital at Austin was lowered to half-staff today in memory of the veteran editor.

"The Gonzales Foundation must continue and enlarge its program for the benefit of our physically handicapped little ones," he said, "to the end that they become happy, useful citizens. We must provide a treatment center for our crippled children that is second to none."

Shivers Accepts Chairmanship Of Polio Foundation

AUSTIN, Aug. 7—Governor Allan Shivers has accepted the general chairmanship of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation committee of Texas for the third successive year, it was announced today, and will spearhead the fall campaign to provide additional facilities for the Gonzales treatment center dedicated to the welfare of the thousands of physically handicapped children of Texas.

The Gonzales hospital of physical medicine and rehabilitation is state-wide in scope and since its founding in 1937 has treated patients from the majority of Texas counties. Non-profit and non-sectarian, it accepts any Texas child regardless of color, creed or financial condition, who can benefit from the treatment program.

In accepting the chairmanship, Gov. Shivers pointed out that because of the pressure of his many duties he has been forced to reluctantly decline active participation in many worthy causes, but that the welfare of the crippled children of Texas was most close to his heart.

"The Gonzales Foundation must continue and enlarge its program for the benefit of our physically handicapped little ones," he said, "to the end that they become happy, useful citizens. We must provide a treatment center for our crippled children that is second to none."

Olden Methodist Revival Is Set

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me: And shewing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments."

UN-Red Patrols Meet In Feeler Skirmishes

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS Korea, Aug. 7 (UP)—United Nations and Communist patrols felt out each other's defenses today during the suspension of cease-fire talks.

Patrol skirmishes were reported all along the 135-mile front, with the heaviest activity on the central sector below the Communist stronghold of Kumsong.

UN patrols stabbed out as much as seven miles ahead of their lines Monday. One reached a point just southwest of Pyongrang, 29 miles north of the 38th Parallel at the apex of the old enemy "Iron Triangle."

In the air, 16 B-29 Superfortresses hit enemy airfields, marshalling yards and supply centers in North Korea without loss. The heaviest attack was on Pyong Airfield in northwest Korea. Seven B-29s dropped 50 tons of demolition bombs there.

Youth Steal Car To Be Popular

Two youth and a car they had stolen at Tucson, Ariz., were apprehended over the weekend between Eastland and Cisco, Terry Barrett, highway patrolman, said.

Barrett said the youth had stopped to put the top down on the convertible they were driving when he approached them because they had not pulled completely off the road.

They told him the car belonged to the father of one of them and they were taking it to Fort Worth for him.

When Barrett told the boys he was taking them to Cisco where they would confirm the boys' story by telephone, they admitted that the car was stolen from a Tucson used car lot. Authorities in Arizona have been notified and the youth are awaiting their disposition.

Barrett said he asked them why they had stolen the car and one replied, "A boy is just not popular without a car, can't get any girl friends."

Marines Recruit All Texan Platoon

DALLAS — Major E. L. Bale, Jr., Officer in Charge of the Dallas Marine Recruiting Office, has announced that the Marines are again offering young Texans an opportunity to enlist in the Marines as a group, with the formation of the Longhorn Leatherneck Recruit Platoon.

The Longhorn Leatherneck platoon will be composed entirely of Texans, who will enlist together, travel together, train together, and return home on leave together.

Unlike its forerunner the North Texas Marine Recruit Company, the Longhorn Leatherneck Platoon will be restricted to 76 men.

"Young men who meet the exacting requirements for Service with the Marines may apply for enlistment with the Longhorn Leathernecks," the Major said, "However, men with previous Marine Corps service are not eligible, because they are not required to undergo marine recruit training again," he added.

The group will be sworn-in, in Dallas on the 24th of August, and will be transferred to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, California the same evening.

"Because of the limited size of the Longhorn Leatherneck Platoon, interested young men are advised to apply immediately, in order to assure themselves a place in the platoon," Major Bale pointed out.

Residents of Ranger may apply for enlistment with the Longhorn Leathernecks at the Marine Corps Recruiting Office located at room 203, Post Office Building, in Breckenridge.

PEIPING RADIO CHARGES UN VIOLATION OF NEUTRALITY

By Robert Vermillion
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, Aug. 7 (UP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway flatly refused today to resume Korean cease-fire talks until the Communists gave a stronger guarantee that armed troops will be kept out of the conference zone.

The Supreme United Nations Commander also told the Reds that the talks would be broken off altogether if there are any further violations of the Kaesong area's neutrality.

Even if the Communists give the requested guarantee, a UN spokesman said, the truce conference probably cannot be resumed before Thursday.

Communist radio stations still had not replied to or commented on Ridgway's sharp rebuff to the Red Commanders eight hours after it was first broadcast.

However, the Chinese Communist Radio at Peiping counter-charged U. S. forces with violating Kaesong's neutrality. It said specifically:

1. About 20 American troops fired on Panmunchong within the neutral zone three times with carbines and machine-guns between 5:40 a.m. and 6:10 a.m. on July 16.

2. American and South Korean troops from July 10 through 24 penetrated to the vicinity of the neutral zone on 17 different occasions.

3. American planes out to bomb North Korea pass over Kaesong day and night, "thereby causing tension in the atmosphere of the conference site."

4. Bombardment of the fringes of the zone by American warships is heard distinctly in Kaesong daily.

"Despite these acts of violation by American troops," the Peiping broadcast said, "the Communist did nothing beyond calling the attention of the Americans to these incidents—"

"From these two different attitudes on the part of the two parties concerned, it may be clear that it is our side that really desires early realization of a truce and it is the American side that intentionally tries to block the progress of negotiations."

Ridgway sent his sharpest message yet to the Communist commanders in reply to their request for "immediate" resumption of the deadlocked cease-fire talks.

Ridgway said he doubted the Communist explanation that mortar and machine-gun squads were inside the supposedly neutral zone Saturday by accident. He in effect rejected Red orders against a repetition as insufficient.

"It must be clearly understood that my acceptance of the armistice talks is conditional on complete compliance with your guarantees of neutralization of the Kaesong area," Ridgway said.

"Any further failure in this regard will be interpreted as a deliberate move on your part to terminate the armistice negotiations. I await your acceptance of this condition."

Ridgway bluntly told Gen. Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier and supreme commander, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, Chinese commander in Korea, that Saturday's incident was neither "minor, accidental (nor) trivial," as they had contended.

The message threw responsibility for continuance of the cease-fire talks squarely back to the Communists. Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy and the three other American members of the UN negotiating team remained in Tokyo, apparently pending a Communist reply.

Ridgway's message was broadcast to the Communists shortly before 1:30 p.m. (11:30 a.m. Monday EDT). The Reds customarily do not reply for at least 24 hours to such messages.

That means that the armistice talks probably cannot be resumed in Kaesong before Thursday at the earliest. Ridgway broke off the talks Sunday after the UN delegation complained that a company of armed Communist soldiers marched past within 100 yards of the conference house Saturday during the 19th truce meeting.

It was the second time that the truce conference had been interrupted by the presence of armed enemy troops in Kaesong.

Another meeting of the hospital group will be held at the Texas Electric Building at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Phillips Named OIIC Chairman For Community

J. R. Phillips has been appointed Eastland community chairman of the Oil Industry Information Committee.

He will administer the American Petroleum Institute information program in this community for 1951-1952 and is in charge of plans now in their formative stage for Oil Progress Week, October 14-20, according to an announcement from Abilene today by W. C. Barnes, OIIC, West Central Texas area chairman.

"In broadening the OIIC program in Texas this year," Barnes said, "we feel fortunate in enlisting J. R. Phillips' leadership in the vital Eastland community."

Barnes explained that Texas has been divided geographically into 14 OIIC areas this year with almost 700 oil and gas men serving on 331 volunteer community committees throughout the state.

"I await your acceptance of this condition."

Ridgway bluntly told Gen. Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier and supreme commander, and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, Chinese commander in Korea, that Saturday's incident was neither "minor, accidental (nor) trivial," as they had contended.

The message threw responsibility for continuance of the cease-fire talks squarely back to the Communists. Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy and the three other American members of the UN negotiating team remained in Tokyo, apparently pending a Communist reply.

KILLER'S PACE

BY JULIUS LONG

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: In order to save Rose Bidault from the electric chair, Star Williams, her lawyer and my (Jim Marshall's) boss, did some sleight of hand. Exposure makes it necessary now to prove Rose innocent or Star will be discharged. But Rose has been murdered and there have been two attempts on my life. I'm now at the La Jolla club for two reasons. Al Nanabarro, the proprietor, has been connected with the two men I shot in self-defense, and Sonya Sareeta, the lady magician who taught Star sleight of hand, did with the evidence at Rose Bidault's trial, performs there. I failed to get much out of Louise, Al Nanabarro's girl friend, with whom I made an acquaintance. But during Sonya's act she fired a gun and I was loaded with blanks at the audience. One shot was aimed at me but it was no blank and I ducked just in time.

SONYA didn't rejoin Stone. He went back to his table in the alcove to wait for her, and I saw him fidget as she failed to appear. Louise came out belatedly herself and climbed on a stool at the bar where I joined her.

"Drink?"
"Why not?"
I observed the bartender push a concealed button. Presently a lean character with a very dark complexion appeared at Louise's elbow.

"Are you being annoyed by the customer?" It was a rhetorical question calling for a stock answer, but Louise didn't give him a stock answer.

"Go take a running jump into the drink, Lou. This is a friend of mine. An OLD friend."

The character addressed as Lou looked somewhat startled, then he looked over with interest. I could see him make up his mind that he didn't like the way my hair was parted or something. He shot Louise a glance, then turned and walked across to the draped doorway of Nanabarro's office.

Louise looked frightened. "I shouldn't have said that, Mac. Better scam out of here while you've got a chance!"

"Not unless you go along with me."

Louise looked as if I'd gone nuts. Maybe I had. I was giving Nanabarro a perfect opportunity for cooling me. I didn't have any doubts that Madam Sonya Sareeta was taking her orders from Nanabarro. Which meant that he'd tried once already on the premises and would welcome a perfect set-up. I caught her arm. One of the barmen lifted a folding section of the bar at the end and came around fast.

She stepped into my eyes, then her gaze shifted to the approaching barman. She shook her head.

"No, Roy. It's all right. I'll take him out." She turned toward the entrance. I released my grip and followed her out silently. Then I took her arm again and marched her to my car. She was reluctant but I didn't have to drag her.

"You fool! I only meant to get you outside before Al came out of his office. They'd kick the teeth out of you! Let me go now, and I'll go back and gloss it all over."
"Nix. We're going to take a little ride."

I SAW her weaken. I opened the door, and she got in. I went around, climbed under the wheel and left the lot. The party she'd called Lou stood in the entrance watching, but no car tailed us from the lot. I turned north to River Road and stopped.

"Who are you?" she asked.

"Jim Marshall. Didn't Nanabarro tell you that?"

"No. Does he know you?"

"I work for Star Williams."

She pretended that meant nothing. "The criminal lawyer? I don't follow you."

"Just answer some questions. Here's the big one—what's Nanabarro's connection with the old Rod LaGrange gang?"

She looked puzzled. "How would I know?"

I grabbed her wrist and gripped it tightly.
"You know, all right. Tell me, when did you see Ted Delaney last?"
"I don't know any Ted Delaney."

"I let go of her wrist. I laughed my discouragement."
"I don't know any Ted Delaney."

"I'm not worried about him."
"The heck you aren't! You wouldn't be here if you weren't. How did a kid like you, who looks smart, ever get messed up with a guy like Nanabarro—especially after the Frankie Martin thing?"

"She dropped her guard. I could feel her wince."
"I was a stranger in town. I got here right afterwards. None of the girls or none of the help at the club was discussing it. Al was nice enough, and I thought he was a good thing. Later I found different."

"Give me the information I need, and I'll free you of Nanabarro. Why, for example, was Rod LaGrange at the Bidault place today? What did he want there?"

But she was too cagey; she clammed up, and I knew I had made a mistake, calling her game as soon as I had. I should have played dumb instead of just being dumb.

I started the motor and backed out of the lot. It was all over—I had thought it.

"I thought, 'You fool, you've probably given her all the answers she wanted to know! Nanabarro was probably curious to know if I'd figured a tie-up between him and the LaGrange gang, and I certainly answered that one for her!'"

Fog, Rain Slow Korean Fighting

8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS

Korea, Aug. 6 (UP)—Rain and fog settled over the Korean war front today, limiting action to small patrol clashes.

There were six scattered patrol clashes on the central front in the area of Kumsong, where the Allies threw back five Communist probing attacks Saturday.

On the east central front the Reds lobbed mortar fire into United Nations positions. There was light troop contact north and northeast of the Hwachon Reservoir.

An 8th Army communique reported light to moderate enemy resistance to UN patrols which engaged Red forces of platoon to company strength. Allied patrols called on artillery to disperse enemy platoon-sized forces on the western and central fronts.

Before the rain settled in, UN troops had extended their hold on territory east and northeast of the cease-fire conference city of Kaesong.

One column advanced nearly six miles Sunday north of Koreangpo, 15 miles east of Kaesong. Another struck west across the Imjin River and ran into three Communist platoons. It scattered the Reds and advanced 1,000 yards before colliding with more enemy troops.

Southwest of Kaesong, Communist batteries fired 334 rounds of mortar and artillery shells Sunday at the Allies without causing any damage.

Change Of Venue Granted Guzik

PHOENIX, Ari., Aug. 6 (UP)

Charles A. Guzik, son of Chicago underworld figure Jake (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, was the winner today in his battle to disqualify a superior court judge from hearing his morals trial.

Judge Fred C. Struckmeyer disqualified himself from presiding over the trial, and the superior court advanced Guzik's trial date from Aug. 8 to Aug. 17.

Guzik, charged with performing unnatural sex acts with teenage boys, contended in a petition that he would not receive a fair trial before Struckmeyer because of the judge's "past rulings and statements."

163 Group Air Arm Proposed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (UP)

Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee called today for immediate action to build a 163-group Air Force and two additional super aircraft carriers.

The Georgia Democrat, one of the most powerful figures in Congress on military matters, said this extra air power is imperative to America's defense.

"If we are to have this force in time" Vinson said in a statement, "the decision to allocate the necessary resources must be made immediately, and the funds should be included in the next budget to be submitted to the Congress."

A $56,000,000,000 defense appropriation approved yesterday by the house appropriations committee, which comes up in the House tomorrow, includes funds for a 95-group air force. The present strength is about 87 groups.

Only one 1/2 new carrier has been authorized—a 59,900-ton ship with a near-flush deck, capable of launching recovering atomic bombers.

Vinson said two more such ships should be built as fast as possible. Of the three, he said, two should be assigned to the Atlantic and one to the Pacific.

His proposal for a 163 group air arm called for 138 combat wings and 25 troop carrier wings intended primarily for joint army air force operations.

"This country is today vulnerable to air attack," Vinson said. "The most effective defense against such an attack is adequate air power to meet it, and, above all, to strike back at its sources."

"It is impossible in modern warfare to postpone or avoid decisive action in the air. No matter how much strength we may be able to assemble on the ground or the sea, we cannot hope to defeat Soviet power unless we have superior strength in the air.

"Aid warfare, once begun, moves very rapidly toward a decision. If the air battle is lost, the war is certain to be lost. In order to win the air battle, we must have in being, an air force superior to any that could be thrown against us. An air force of the size that I propose is essential for the defense of our allies and for our own security."

Vinson said existing aircraft plants could turn out all the extra planes needed to build the stronger force. He did not estimate cost of the planes.

He said the extra bases that would be required would cost about $400,000,000.

Air force manpower would need to be increased by about 300,000 men, he said.

In advocating a 163-group air force, Vinson jumped into a controversy that has been boiling for

It takes money from a lot of PIGGY BANKS to build a power plant!

Yes, money from piggy banks, and commercial banks too money from the savings of a lot of people. Thousands of people supplied the money for Texas Electric Service Company to build power plants, power lines and the other facilities that provide your dependable electric service. They invested their savings in the securities of our company, or they have a stake in this company as owner of an insurance policy or shares of a trust fund in the large groups of insurance companies and trust funds that have investments in our securities.

The part of Texas we serve is growing rapidly and the need for electric service is growing even faster. Texas Electric Service Company has spent more than $60,000,000 since 1946 to build new power plants, power lines and other facilities so Reddy Kilowatt can provide plenty of dependable electric power for the areas he serves. Yes, this construction program is still under way and is costing a lot of money. Most of it is "borrowed" through the sale of securities to folks who have faith in our future, and in the area we serve. The money you pay for electric service is used for the most part to pay our day to day expenses, such as wages, fuel and other costs of doing normal business, including the wages of capital. The additional new capital which is constantly being needed must come from the sale of securities.

Baseball Man Favored In Poll

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (UP)—Five Major League club owners said they favored a baseball man and the Washington Senators began an active campaign to elect minor leagues President George Trautman as the game's leaders convened today to pick a new commissioner.

Warren Giles of the Cincinnati Reds, Bill Dewitt of the St. Louis Browns, Cal Griffith of the Senators, Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies and Lou Perini of the Boston Braves all said before the meeting they favored a man from within the game itself.

Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals leaned away from a baseball man, and Del Webb of the New York Yankees, Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Charles Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox were undecided.

There was doubt that a commissioner could be elected at the meeting today. It takes 12 of the 16 votes to elect A. B. Chandler's successor.

Perini, a member of the screening committee to line up candidates for the $65,000-a-year job, said the list was down to 20 names. But Comiskey added that some names will be presented that are not on the screening committee's list.

In addition to Trautman, Giles and Ford Frick, president of the National League, are the top candidates from within baseball. Some club owners said they considered James Farley a "sports" candidate. Farley is most famed for his services within the Democratic Party, but he once was chairman of the New York Boxing Commission and attempted to buy the New York Yankees from the estate of the late Col. Jacob Ruppert.

Rule Concerning Unfinished Games Should Be Changed

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The White Sox flattened out like a spilled glass of milk the following Sunday afternoon, taking much of the steam out of Paul Richards' blast of the previous Friday night. Yet something should be done about the farcial finish of the called game, which gave the Yankees a big 3-1 decision when the score reverted back to even innings. The Chicago club, you will recall, scored three runs in the ninth, had the bases full with only one out when the rains came. Umpire-in-Chief Hank Soar waited until 12:32 a. m. then ruled the whole thing off. The rain stopped 10 minutes later.

Offhand, this observer would say that Soar acted a bit hastily in this case, what with the noble athletes frequently struggling until 2 a. m. these early-morning hours.

Old-line baseball men say that the score reverting back to even innings is as fair for one side as it is for the other. It depends on which side you're on, they stress.

Stubborn baseball men contend that suspending games instead of calling them would clog up the schedule, which is wholly untrue. Double-headers would not pile up toward the season's end, for example, if the owners, incessantly after more money with bargain bills the medium, utilized vacant dates, such as Mondays.

NATIONAL LEAGUE games suspended by the Pennsylvania 7 p. m. Sunday curfew are resumed right where they left off at the earliest possible date. The American League reverts them back to even innings, too, thus paving the way for additional rhabarbs.

The White Sox, writing the best baseball story in years, came into the Bronx only three-and-a-half games out of the lead. And you'll never be able to tell their followers, who had something to cheer about for the first time in 31 years, that the heart-breaking and most unsatisfactory ending of the opener did not knock them out of morale and the other two.

If an ordinary game curbed by a curfew can be resumed at the earliest possible opportunity, why in the name of Abner Doubleday can't the same thing be done with a contest that could very well decide the pennant? In this instance, the Red Sox and Indians are affected, too.

Let the league presidents and owners get around the situation any way they see fit, but any rule letting down hundreds of thousands of fans is a mighty poor one. It's much more discouraging than a bad ending of a good motion picture.

Umpire Defeats Abilene Team

"Umpires never lose an argument," and there was additional evidence to support the old saying today.

Manager Hack Miller of the Abilene Blue Sox became embroiled in an argument with the umpires last night at Pampa during a West Texas-New Mexico League game, and he lost.

Managers Are Confused As Well As Fans

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (UP)—Only one National League manager refused to pick the runaway Dodgers for the National League pennant today but four teams were named as likely winners in the American League race in a poll of the 16 major league pilots conducted by the United States.

Eddie Sawyer, manager of the defending champion Phillies, was the only national league manager who did not admit the Dodgers "were in." Sawyer refused to pick the finish, 1-2-3, as requested in the poll.

On the other hand, the American League pilots seemed as confused by their torried race as are the fans.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, Red Sox manager Steve O'Neill and Tiger Manager Red ing of Jesse Priest. The lone run came in the seventh inning.

Borger took another one-run margin victory, 8 to 7, over Clovis. The Clovis Pioneers threatened, however, to salvage the game with a two-run rally in the last of the ninth.

At Lubbock, the Hubbers scored seventh and eighth inning runs to nip Lamesa, 3 to 1.

Tonight's schedule: Pampa at Borger, Lubbock at Amarillo, Lamesa at Clovis, Abilene at Albuquerque.

Rolf refrained from picking the race at all.

Cleveland manager Al Lopez would not pick the race 1-2-3 but said the Indians would win, barring the loss of Larry Doby or Luke Easter.

Stengel said he thought his club "the strongest in the league but that tough breaks can decide the race."

"I'll say we would win," Stengel said. "But I'm no mind reader. I don't know who's gonna."

O'Neill said he still thought the Red Sox were the best team in the league but that he could not pick the finish.

Paul Richards manager of the skidding White Sox, stood by his team and picked it to win.

Zach Taylor of the Browns and Bucky Harris of the Senators picked the Yankees. Jimmy Dykes of the A's voted for the Red Sox and Lopez picked the Indians.

Skeet Shoot Goes In 20 Gauge Today

DALLAS, Aug. 7 (UP)—The 14th Annual National Skeet Shooting Championship moved today to 20-gauge competition with Benny Diorio sharing the spotlight so far with Frances Ellis of Jacksonville, Fla.

Diorio yesterday copped the small-gauge open crown with a perfect 100x100, but even then it took a shoot-off with Fred Westerman of Dallas, who also had a perfect round in regular firing. Ellis last year's open champ who Sunday won the sub-small crown, fired a 98x100 in small-gauge firing yesterday. Mrs. Leon Mandel of Chicago fired 98x100 to take the women's division of small-gauge yesterday beating favored Mrs. Ann Hecker of Tucson, Ariz., who last year dominated most women's events. Mrs. Hecker was runner-up with one less target than Mrs. Mandel.

D. Lee Braun, San Mateo, Calif., won second straight crown in the industry division yesterday, firing a perfect 100x100 to beat Fred Missidine, Sea Island, Ga., with 99x100.

Jimmy Clark, Bartlesville, Okla., took the junior title with 98x100, one target better than Jackie Rogers of Palestine.

A Little Patience..and It's Yours!

In all the world of manufactured products, there is nothing more difficult to wait for—once you have decided to own it—than a Cadillac car.

If it is to be your first Cadillac, it is doubtless the fulfillment of a long-cherished dream—and it is hard to wait for one's heart's desire, once it is so close at hand.

And if it is to be a replacement for your old love—well, experience has taught you how consistently and completely the good things come from Cadillac—and your curiosity is a force to reckon with!

To make it worse, temptation is all about you. Down the street and around the corner are cars to be had almost as soon as your signature is on an order blank.

But be patient and be firm—for there is a reason why other cars may be had so readily—while there is some delay in delivery of a Cadillac.

It is because so many wonderful people, like yourself, want only Cadillac—and will accept no compromise.

If we already have your order—turn a deaf ear to those who would have you compromise your preference for the sake of earlier delivery.

And if you want a Cadillac, but have not yet placed your order, come in and do so. We will talk with you frankly about delivery, so you may know about what to anticipate.

Remember—there is only one car which is recognized wherever highways lead as the Standard of the World—and that car is Cadillac.
