IT IS UNFORTUNATE that so many would-be experts are able to secure the spotlight so easily, and when they do, they can tear down in a few seconds what an industry such as agriculture has worked for years to build up.

One such example was the recent appearance on a national television talk show of a consumer advocate (her name escapes me, but it's not important) who was hurling slanders at the cattle feeding industry.

The TV guest was speaking out in opposition to the growth harmones used as a feeding supplement by feed yards, which help feedlot steers reach their maximum gain in the alloted feeding period.

Betty Shepherd Wins Contest

Betty Shepherd was the weekly winner in the Bovina Businesses' Football Contest in the seventh week of competiton.

Mrs. Shepherd was one of nine contestants correctly picking 13 games, and then out-guessed the other contestants on the Bovina-Springlake tie-breaker score.

However, none of the contestants' score prediction could be termed "close," as the winner missed by 28 points. Mrs. Shepherd's prediction was Bovina 20, S-E 14. Her only miss on the slate of games was in picking Notre Dame over Arizona. Betty received the weekly cash prize of $7.50 as first place winner.

Second place went to Jean Morgan, who was just a point back on the tiebreaker score. She picked Bovina to win, 21-14, and missed the actual score by 29 points. Mrs. Morgan received $5.00 cash for her prize. Her only miss was in picking Rice to beat Texas Tech, a prediction which lacked only three seconds of clock time in being right. Third place was captured by Laura Bartlett, also with 13 games right. Mrs. Bartlett picked the score to be 28-14, being 36 points off. Her miss was Notre-Dame-Arizona. She was awarded $3.50 in cash. Other contestants correctly picking 13 games included Al Kerby, Jr. (the previous week's winner), who missed the Baylor-Aggie game and was 37 points away, and R.J. Keyes, who missed Notre Dame-Arizona and was 38 points away.

Also, Lori Richards, who missed Tech-Rice and was 41 points off the score; A.M. Wilson, Notre Dame-Arizona, 41 points; Bobby Johnson, Notre Dame-Arizona, 43 points; and Chet Hawkins, Stanford-USC, 58 points.

Leading the standings after seven weeks are the three contestants with scores of 71: Roger Harris, Wayne Thatcher and Larry Wiseman.

Two points back in second place with scores of 69 are Brad Lance, Burry Thatcher and Tom Ware. Billy Shepherd and A.M. Wilson are next at 68.

Contestants are shooting for a grand prize of $100, to be awarded at the close of the 13-week event. Scores of all leading contestants may be found elsewhere in this edition.

was implying that the harmones used by the feedlots, if consumed in beef, might just cause the person eating the beef to put on more weight, or suffer other side effects, due to "leftover" harmones.

No evidence has ever been produced to indicate that such charges have even the slightest chance of holding a grain of truth, but this was beside the point for the consumer advocate, who had her captive audience of several million people.

When the TV guest was asked by the host what she recommended as a solution to the problem, her answer was "Just don't eat beef," which concluded her condemnation of the beef industry, without trial, hearing or whatever.

WE WERE DISTRESSED to learn that Fred Thornberry, the Republican candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture is apparantly about as far out of touch with the state's farming industry as anyone possibly could be, and yet, he is a candidate on the ballot for this vital elective office.

In a "media advisory" issued on September 21, Thornberry attacked statements made by his opponent, Jim Hightower, which was decrying the financial plight of the state's farmers. Hightower had said that some 10,000 Texas farmers had gone out of business in the past five years.

Thornberry "media release" ridiculed Hightower's statements, and argued that the fact that "only" 2,000 farmers per year were going out of business did not indicate that anything was wrong with agriculture.

The GOP candidate said that the term "went out of business" did not mean that this many farmers had declared bankruptcy or implied failure. "People change professions for a variety of reasons, don't we?" he asked in his memorandum.

Thornberry went on to quote some figures showing the total Texas farm assets for 1981 as being well above the farm debts for the same year, a very misleading statistic. We feel sure that a number of Parmer County farmers could supply Mr. Thornberry with a more valid set of figures.

The bad part about this situation is the fact that rural Texans won't elect our state officials, but depend upon their urban neighbors to elect the state's commissioner of agriculture. Farmers have to hope that enough of their city neighbors will know that Thornberry's statements are just "so much malarky," but the fact is that many people will probably accept them at face value. Thanks to Ralph Roming for calling this situation to our attention. Ralph, who has worked for the benefit of farmers on the state level, goes into the matter further in a letter to the editor in this issue.

Film Series Underway At Church

This past Sunday night the "Focus on the Family" film series, number two, was entitled "Shaping the Will Without Breaking the Spirit."

Dr. James Dobson says, "The will is made of steel. You can mold it, you can bend it, on the other hand, the spirit is the most fragile characteristic in human nature."

"The most common mistake that parents and teachers make in handling discipline has to do with using anger to motivate children instead of using action to motivate them," he remarked.

Dr. Dobson stressed the importance of hooking behavior to consequences. "How are you helping your children learn that they must face the consequences of their behavior?" he asked.

Dr. Dobson spoke of "firm limits administered with love, where the spirit has a chance to grown, where self-worth has a chance to flower, and where the will begins to be shaped. He mentioned the difference between discipline that bends the will and discipline that crushes the spirit.

These films are very worthwhile and should be seen by everyone that have children and want to be a parent whose discipline is such that your child's spirit will be able to flourish.

Film number three in the series will be shown at 6 p.m. Sunday at First United Methodist Church., Title of the film is "Christian Fathering."

ATTEND SEMINAR....Justices of the Peace Wayne Spears and Albert H. Smith were among the peace justices attending a seminar in Amarillo recently. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilcox of Bovina, was involved in an accident Friday morning at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Bales was enroute to Muleshoe, traveling on a country road. A pickup approaching from a side road seemed like it was failing to stop.

In attempting to stop, Mrs. Bales hit soft dirt and her car turned over, breaking her neck in two places.

She was taken to Lubbock Methodist Hospital, where she will be in the hospital for about six weeks. Saturday night at 7:15 p.m. Mrs. Bales gave birth to a baby boy. He was named Chad Eric and weighed seven pounds, four ounces and was twenty and one-half inches long. The baby is in fine condition and will be kept in the hospital with Ginger for a while. WRECKED AUTO....Shown is the auto driven by Billie Long Homer of Ruidoso, New Mexico, which was in collision with a cow early last Friday morning near the Central Compress. Eight cows had wandered off after a truck fire earlier. Mrs. Homer was slightly injured in the crash.

Ordination Service Is Scheduled Sunday

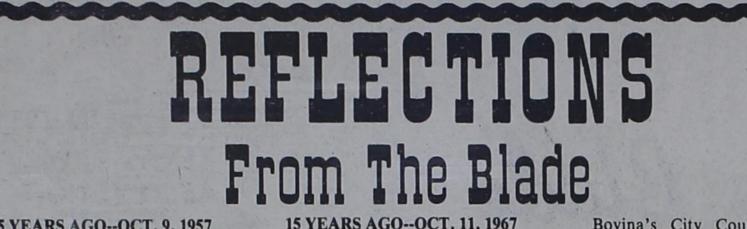

An ordination service will be held at the Oklahoma Lane Baptist Church Sunday, October 24, for the pastor, Wyatt Carpenter.

The special service, open to the public, will begin at 3:30 p.m. The church extends a special invitation to residents of the area to attend.

Rev. Carpenter, 31, is a native of South Carolina. He has been pastor of the Oklahoma Lane church since September. He and his wife, Dayna, are the parents of one child, Ashli Nicole, six months old.

Green Thumb Program Survives Budget Battle

For almost 1,000 older workers in the Texas Farmer's Union Green Thumb program, the "battle of the budget" came to a happy conclusion with the recent Congressional override of the President's veto of a supplemental appropriations bill.

The bill provides money for a variety of programs and agencies ranging from the defense department to NASA to Title V of the Older Americans Act, which funds TFU Green Thumb and other senior employment programs, according to John Willingham, Green Thumb Assistant State Director.

Speaking to 48 Green Thumb workers at a training session in Tulia on October 18, Willingham said the Congressional override was "decisive" in saving the jobs of more than 54,000 Title V workers nationwide. The workers are all 55 and over, low income, and provide services for libraries, schools, senior

City Man's Father Dies

Funeral services for Harley H. Widner, 71, who died in Las Cruces Saturday after a lengthy illness, will be conducted at 2 p.m. (M.D.T.) Wednesday from the Melrose Gym with John Snider, David Crow and Ray Lofton officiating. Interment will be in the Melrose Cemetery under the direction of Steed-Todd Funeral Home.

Widner was born May 21, 1911 in Elmer Jackson County, Oklahoma, and came to New Mexico in 1912. He had farmed in the Melrose community and was employed by the Melrose schools for many years. He served as postmaster in St. Vrain and was a member of the Church of Christ in Melrose. He was married to Edith Newman on March 4, 1933 in Tucumcari and had been living in Las Cruces for two years.

Survivors include his wife. Edith of the home in Las Cruces; four sons, Lawrence of Bovina, Harley and Jamie both of Las Cruces, and Lynell of Albuquerque, N.M.; six daughters, Gay Johnson of Animas, New Mexico, Sharon Yarbrough of Las Cruces, N.M., Susie and Nyla of Albuquerque, N.M., Karen Lightfoot of Roswell, N.M. and Debbie Hanks of Clovis, N.M.; three sisters, Irene Vance of Caldwell, Idaho, Mary Hodges of Clovis, N.M. and Winnie Triplett of Twin Falls, Idaho; three brothers, Cleo Widner of Melrose, N.M. Johnny Widner of Redding, Calif., and Melvin Widner of Amarillo. He was preceded in death by one son, Neville Widner.

Pallbearers will be his nephews. A memorial scholarship fund will be established at the Melrose High School, in care of Ray Lofton of Melrose.

Dear Editor,

As the general election nears and the political pot comes to a rolling boil, often out of desperation a candidate will reveal his true spots and convictions.

Such is the case of Fred Thornberry, the Republican appointee for the state agriculture commissioner's race.

In a press release by Mr. Thornberry on September 25, Mr. Thornberry stated that Texas agriculture is in "very good economic condition; the fact that Texas has lost 10,000 good productive farmers during the past five years proves that Texas agriculture is strong, that the debt to equity ratio of 15 percent is very healthy and that there is much adoo about nothing concerning corporate control of agriculture."

Certainly anyone that would make such absurd statements is totally out of touch with reality, has a terminal case of the dumb's, has had his head buried in chicken manure for the past five years, and would be an absolute insult to our state.

At a time when our entire economy is at an all-time low due mostly to the agriculture depression that started in 1977, it is unfortunate that the Republican Party would choose to replace their duly elected candidate with this college professor with a doctorate degree in chickenology.

However, there are other bypartisan, far reaching repercussions as a result of such irresponsible remarks. The impact these statements could have in our urban sector where there has been countless months of Hopefully, most voters and citizens will consider the source of such statements and not too much damage will be done. It is inconceivable to me that the voters will elect this man into any responsible position.

To campaign vigorously for an office is what our system demands, But--it is unforgiveable to declare the opposite of a situation to be the truth in order to deceive the public and only shows the temperance of the man.

By LAURA JACOBS There's something new in microwave ovens today: a bit of metal here and there. And if MIGHT be OK--if you STRICTLY follow all manufacturer's directions and understand them.

Some microwave cookware now has metal or metallic coating, and there are a growing number of frozen-food items packed in metal dishes. Also, makes of aluminum foil say to use it in your microwave oven.

Manufacturers of the different ovens provide specific instructions for using metal--as do the makers of microwave accessories and aluminum foil.

Utensils containing metal elements IF DESIGNED FOR MICROWAVES should pose no threat to the microwave oven, utensils themselves or food. Their form or shape allows them to direct the microwaves in an energy-efficient manner.

DON'T OPERATE WITHOUT FOOD

Something old in microwaves still holds: do not operate a microwave without food.

A microwave oven's walls are made of metal and that metal reflects the microwave energy. So, to prevent damage, there MUST be some sort of FOOD "load" in the oven to absorb the energy Operating the oven empty--or with a metal container and NO FOOD--can cause great damage: fusion of the materials inside the oven and, in some cases, damage to the magnetron tube. If a metal container is put in the microwave oven alone-without food--it acts as a "second wall" inside the microwave oven, rather than an object to absorb the microwaves. KEEP METAL AWAY FROM WALLS One reason it's so important to follow directions STRICTLY is "arcing." This can happen if a metal utensil touches the microwave oven wall. It may cause an unsightly defect to the oven wall rather than actual damage to the oven.

Have a good week and thank you for calling in your news...

Q: Why should hunters have their vision checked annually? A: A hunter's decision to squeeze the trigger is influenced primarily by what he "sees," or more specifically, "what he thinks he sees." Many hunters are unaware that their vision is defective. They may think they see just fine, while others hesitate to admit they have a problem for fear they must give up their sport. Fortunately, most vision defects can be corrected and there is no need to give up hunting.

Q: Is defective vision really that dangerous?

A: Yes. A Minnesota Hunter Casualty study showed that 77 per cent of those who wounded fellow hunters had defective vision--and half of them were not aware of it. Also, it is estimated that as high as 15 per cent of our male population are either color-blind or color-deficient. Of approximately 17 million hunters, 850,000 cannot distinguish colorproperly, a dangerous threat to fellow huntsmen.

Q: What vision skills are needed to be a safe and successful hunter? A: Hunting is a sport that requires excellent hand-eye coordination. Reflexes must be fast, and the hunter's eye true if he is to hit his target with any degree of accuracy. He must be able to:

- Distinguish detail at considerable distance and against a variety of backgrounds.
- 2. Focus clearly on near and distant objects and switch focus within a fraction of a second.
- 3. Judge distance with speed and accuracy.
- 4. Detect objects and movements on either side of the target.
- 5. Identify colors and perform under a variety of light and weather conditions.

This message is brought in the interest of better vision by Drs. Armistead and Smith, Optometrists, Littlefield, Texas.

When heat and air make the difference

A crowd gathered in the country square, curious to see the large, strange-looking contraption of paper and cloth. The on-lookers laughed at Joseph and Etienne Montgolfier as the two men ignited the pile of straw and rags beneath their invention.

The unbelieving crowd gasped as heated air began to fill out the paper and cloth of the world's first hot-air balloon as it climbed steadily to the then-astounding altitude of about six thousand feet. Mike and Karen and children, Todd and Jennifer of Cooper, which is near

Rites Held Locally For C.R. Elliott

Funeral services for Parmer County pioneer resident C.R. Elliott of Bovina were held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, October 16, at the First Baptist Church of Bovina with Rev. J.L. Bass, pastor, officiating.

14

Burial was in Bovina Cemetery under the direction of Ellis-Blackwell Funeral Home.

Elliott died Wednesday, October 13 at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital. He was born March 12, 1892 in Linden, Texas, and came to Parmer County in 1927. Elliott was a veteran of World War

I, where he served in the Army. He was a member of the Farwell Masonic Lodge, the El Paso Scottish Rite, and was a past member of the Bovina City Council and school board.

He had served as the first president of the First National Bank (now First State Bank) of Bovina.

Survivors include two sons, Lorn Elliott of Albuquerque, New Mexico and Bass Elliott of Lubbock; one daughter, Mrs. Inell Salman, Albuquerque; one brother, Lawrence Elliott of Odessa; one sister, Mrs. Naarah Marsh of Odessa; seven grandchildren and five greatgrandchildren.

Pallbearers were Tommy Little, Carl Osborn, Jeff Salman, Larry Elliott, Don Murphy and Tom Griffith. The family requests that memorial contributions be made to the Bovina Ambulance Service.

THE BOVINA BLADE, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1982, PAGE 7 Turnovers Costly To Ponies In 6-0 Loss To Springlake

Lack of execution at critical times, and untimely turnovers cost the Bovina High School Mustangs dearly in their game against the Springlake-Earth Wolverines here last Friday.

The Wolverines scored on a 12yard touchdown pass in the second quarter, and made the lone tally stand up for a 6-0 win.

The loss, second in as many outings for the Mustangs in district play, severely hurts the team's chances for post-season play.

"We had our opportunities. We had two or three good chances to score in the second half, and one or two chances in the first half. We stopped ourselves more than Springlake-Earth stopping us," said Mustang Coach Larry Helton.

Helton credited the Mustang players with a good effort, but cited the loss of three fumbles and a pair of pass interceptions as the difference in the ball game. In addition, Bovina had several long gainers called back for what Helton termed "silly" penalties.

Trailing 6-0 at halftime, Bovina came back and controlled the ball in the second half. They kicked off to Springlake-Earth, held on downs, and then began a drive. Getting down to about the 20, the Mustangs had Jon Riddle open in the end zone on one play, but couldn't connect for the touchdown.

The team then picked up a penalty which took the Mustangs out of range and S-E took over.

Bovina stopped another Wolverine drive, and S-E punted the Mustangs defensive game," Helton said. At one point, the Wolverines blocked a Bovina punt and took the ball at about the Mustang 15. But the Bovina defense dug in, and S-E had to surrender the ball at about the Mustang 35, leaving S-E without any points to show for their trouble. The Mustang coach singled out defensive players Mark Clayton, Jose Gomez, Joe Pat Wright for their standout efforts. He pointed out that Riddle, Greg McClaran and Henderson Griggs made good pass catches in the second half to help the team move the ball.

"And Richard Shepherd ran as tough as I ever saw anyone run." Helton said. Joe Black did a good job of returning punts, running a pair back for 16 or 18 yards each.

15 Members Attend YH Meeting

Fifteen members of the Bovina Young Homemakers attended the meeting October 6 at the Methodist Church.

A program entitled "Sex and your Child" was given by Dr. Schultz of Cannon Air Force Base.

The group discussed a Halloween Pumpkin Contest, which will be held October 29. Also discussed was the club's pastry wagon, which will be held November 19, with donations going to the Bovina Ambulance Fund.

Next meeting of the Young Homemakers will be November 2, at the Methodist Church.

into a hole. Bovina countered with a drive of their own, and paced by the running of Richard Shepherd, moved the ball to the Springlake-Earth 25, only to fumble and lose possession.

On Bovina's third possession, the team again had a drive underway, getting to about the same area in Springlake-Earth's end of the field, this time being turned back by an interception.

The defender tipped the ball, bobbled it, but managed to hang on before going out of bounds.

Even toward the end of the game, Bovina still had a chance, needing just a touchdown and conversion for the win. They drove to about S-E's 15, but being forced to pass, the Wolverines were better able to cover the receivers, and the needed score never came about.

Springlake-Earth registered the only points in the game with 4:24 left in the second period, when Mack Jordan tossed to Lorenzo Monreal for a touchdown. A kick try for the PAT failed, making the score 6-0, and that turned out to be the only scoring of the game.

"We broke down on our coverage on Springlake-Earth's touchdown, otherwise I thought we played a great * * * *
