Around The Square

By Macle

The status of "Around the Square" is still in the air. We offered to make it a daily headline rather than an every-other-day disappointment, if we got enough customers to justify. We now have 3 new readers and with three or four more you'll have to take it daily. Voting will end Saturday.

Jimmie Chambliss offered us a new Almanac, but it so happened that our copy arrived two hours before his offer was made. Since that time we have been studying the book, but there is so much information contained in that little 672-page pamphlet we are at a loss as to how to use it. We did learn, however, that Texas still remains the largest state in the Union and will continue to be so until we take in Alaska and the North Pole and combine them into one big state. Well then get some disinterested party to declare the new state out of bounds and Texas will revert back to place one, where it rightfully belongs.

Politically speaking, Texas is Democratic. It's against the law to be a Republican down here, but we are going to be forced to melt up the various factions of the party and re-put their conduct. When a fellow down here says he is a Democrat, he will likely be asked what kind. We have the full 57 varieties down here, and some of them look more like Whigs or Tories than they do Democrats. We have wet and dry democrats, white and black factions, Protestant and Catholic types, and a few real yellow-dog Democrats believes in predestination and that the world is flat. There is also the Dixiecrat and the so called regulars. Every now and then some old fool admits he is a Jeffersonian Democrat. Very likely he is lying about it, for we haven't seen an honest-to-God Jeffersonian Democrat since Kaiser Bill Hohenzollern. Emperor of heaven, hell and parts of Germany, got his first job splitting rails in Holland. Fact is we've wandered away from camp, and today we have almost as many kinds of Democrats and we have Democrats. Every mother's son of them trying to feather his own nest and get others to agree he is within his rights. If this keeps up one of these days the Republicans are going to gobble us up, just like the big bad wolf. And we'll have nobody to blame but ourselves. And when this happens soap-box oratory won't heal our wounds.

Forgot to mention the Democrat who votes "dry" and drinks "wet". Chances are he won't vote anyway — won't be able after eight o'clock in the morning. And too, he may forget his poll tax, but he won't forget his pint. He'll do a lot of talking, but people wouldn't know he was present only for his breath, which likely will have an odor similar to that of a pole-cat after a dog fight.

Guy Warden Gets $490.21 For Calf

Steer feeding has proven rather profitable to Guy Warden, Eastland county 4-H Club Boy. Last month he entered a steer in the calf contest at the Dallas fair. It weighed 1,043 pounds after being docked for shrinkage and sold for 47c per pound. Swift and Co. purchased the steer for Charles Pettit of Dallas. Wednesday Guy received a check for $490.21, in payment for the steer.

METHODIST SERVICES AT 5:15 THIS AFTERNOON

The Methodist evening service will be conducted today at 5:15 p.m. rather than at 7:30. This change was made in order to make it possible to attend church and still have time to be present for the football game.

Treasury-Revenue Heads Called By House Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (UP)—House investigators called Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder and Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Danlap for a secret briefing today (at 10 a.m. EST) on how the inquiry into the nation's tax collecting system will be broadened.

A House Ways and Means Subcommittee was expected to tell the two officials that it intends to expand its investigation to include everything from "improper influence" in tax fraud cases to reorganization of the Internal Revenue Bureau. T. Lamar Caudle, the government's top prosecutor of tax frauds, also faced further questioning by the subcommittee on his personal business "transactions." Caudle, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's tax division, was questioned in a long secret session yesterday and may be called again today.

Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.) said Caudle was questioned about a trip he made to Italy last summer which was paid for by a New Jersey wine merchant. He said Caudle also was asked about his various "associations." Including Frank (Alias Froy) Nathan, Pittsburgh businessman who was tried in 1946 on a black market sugar charge. The case was thrown out after a jury failed to agree.

Byrnes said the subcommittee also questioned Caudle about sale of some "oil property." Jess Larson, general services administrator, admitted to reporters that he had participated in an oil deal with Caudle, but said the connection has been ended. Larson, who said he now has "a modest interest" in an oil and gas lease in Oklahoma, denied that he ever had anything to do with Nathan.

Juniors Enter Magazine Field

Attention Citizens of Eastland! The Junior Class of E.H.S. is having a magazine campaign. A representative from the Curtis Publishing Company visited the Juniors Thursday November the 1st. He presented his plan and appointed a general business manager, Lonnie Young, assistant Business Manager, Donald Roff, and two team captains, Pat Simpson and Mary Ann Henderson. This magazine sale is for the profit of the Junior Class, not the profit of the individual. The date of selling ends November the 11. It is time now to think of Christmas gifts, renewals, and new subscriptions. Don't put off subscribing to that magazine another day. Contact either Pat Simpson, Mary Ann Henderson, or a member of the Junior Class.

We members of the Junior Class have set a high goal on selling, so help us to reach it!

VOTE FOR BONDS AND HELP CITY TIDE OVER GREATEST THREAT

The qualified voters in the City of Eastland, who own property in the City of Eastland, are urged to go to the polls at the City Hall on Saturday, November 3, 1951, and vote on the proposition for the issuance of $25,000.00 waterworks improvement and extension revenue bonds.

These funds are to be used for raising and widening the two spillways at the Eastland Lake, so that the capacity of the lake can be enlarged to almost double the amount of water it will now hold.

We have sufficient rainfall in Eastland, over a period of years, but it seems about every three or four years we have a very dry period, and our present lake will not carry sufficient water to tide us over and give us sufficient water for our normal requirements, thereby requiring restrictions on use of water. For instance, we had water over the spillways every month

Ila Gene Griffin, "Band Sweetheart"

Ila Gene Griffin Be Presented As "Band Sweetheart" At Game Tonite

Ila Gene Griffin, popular Eastland high school girl, will be formerly presented as "Band Sweetheart" at the football game tonight. She was chosen some time ago but the presentation was postponed until this date. Ila Gene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Griffin of 316 North Oak Street.

During high school days Miss Griffin has been signally honored on many occasions. For one year she served as a class officer, and for two years was associated with the annual staff. She also served two years as an associate editor of the Round-Up staff.

Miss Griffin loves all sports and was at one time on the basketball team. While a freshman she was a member of the Future Home Makers of America, as well as the "Rip and Sip" club. During the past three years she has been active in the A Cappella choir, and Bethoven's Music club. She has also served as a cheer leader in pep rallies, and taken part in many other school activities.

She is no stranger in Eastland and is deserving of the great honor bestowed upon her at this time.

If weather conditions do not improve presentation of Eastland's "Band Sweetheart" will not be held tonight. Many mothers say they will not permit their children to be exposed to rain and snow. If, however, conditions improve the program will be carried out in full.

Dr. and Mrs. Jolly New Residents

Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Jolly left today for Waco, where they will attend the homecoming at Baylor University.

Dr. Jolly attended Baylor and received a B. A. degree before going on to the Baylor Dental University for his D. D. S. degree. Mrs. Jolly also attended Baylor. She and Dr. Jolly and their infant daughter have recently moved here and are living on South Connelley Street. They are Baptists and have already affiliated with the local church.

Dr. Jolly has his office in the Exchange building.

West Texas Ranchers Perfect New Organization; S. Kimmell Of Cisco Is Chosen President

Organization was perfected last night for the West Texas Ranchers' Association. Sam Kimmell of Cisco was chosen president, H. H. Durham, 1st vice president and E. A. Ivey, second vice president. E. T. Fambro of Strawn was elected secretary treasurer. Mr. Fambro ranches in Eastland county, though gets his mail at Strawn. Ranchers from five counties make up membership. The counties are Eastland, Shackelford, Callahan, Stephens and Palo Pinto.

Directors for the first year will be composed on the following men: Callahan county, Douglass Fry, Weldon Isenhour and R. D. Williams; Shackelford county, F. R. Raymond, Fred Wylie and Floyd Hamilton; Stephens county, C. J. O'Conner, T. C. Fambro and Garland Coody; Eastland county, Sutton P. Cross, John Aaron and Robt. H. Donovan; Palo Pinto county; Harold Courtney, Frank Hightower and Alvin Kincaid. Directors chosen for Palo Pinto are not residents of that county, and will serve only temporarily or until Palo Pinto members elect directors to replace them.

This association was organized as a protective measure. A full time inspector, Aubrey Yeager, who will carry a State Ranger's commission will serve during the first year. While this primarily a cattle growers organization, farmers, and others interested in this work, are invited to become members. Membership fee is $5 per year, plus 10c per head for cattle owned, with the maximum set at 50 head. In other words a member owning 50 or more head of stock is to pay on the basis of $10.00 per year.

Owing to inclement weather, attendance was not as good as it had been hoped, though there were representatives from four counties in attendance for the first general meeting. Eastland will be the association's headquarters. Sig Faircloth is to supply them with office space at the auction barn. He plans to have the offices completed at an early date. Directors will meet here on the first Thursday of each month, while the general membership will be called in for semi-annual meetings. These meetings will be held in April and October. An extensive membership drive will be made at an early date. The Cisco Bank has posted a $250.00 reward to supplement the Association's reward for the first arrest and conviction of thieves.

Atomic Bomb Recognized As Battlefield Weapon

Grand Jury Indictes Mac Wallace

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (UP)—A Travis County grand jury yesterday indicted Malcolm E. (Mac) Wallace on a charge of murdering Austin golf professional Douglas Kiser. Kiser was slain Oct. 22 at a "pitch and putt" course he operated at Austin. Investigating officers will not discuss the motive. Wallace was freed Oct. 25 after his bond was lowered from $30,000 to $10,000.

At a press conference yesterday after the indictment was returned, and U. S. Department of Agriculture economist said Wallace was "overwhelmed by the number of friends" who offered assistance after his arrest. He said he might "have an opportunity" to justify his friendship. Wallace wouldn't discuss the charges against him, but he declared: "Some things have been grossly distorted, not by the press and radio."

He said the people of Travis County "should not rest too easy about the observance of civil liberties" in the country. He charged he was held incommunicado for 25 hours and requested and did not get medical treatment. "I have had a lot of trouble since," he said, "I had truss shots, and I fainted twice."

At the time he was taken into custody, Wallace's left forefinger was gashed. He would not tell officers how it was injured. At examining trial last week, Wallace pleaded innocent to the murder charge.

Daniels Writes Texas Congress Members Letter

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (UP)—Texas Attorney General Price Daniel has called upon the Texas delegation in Congress to protest to President Truman and Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman any federal attempt to lease Texas' tidelands without specific approval of Congress. In letters to Texans in Congress, Daniel said any such effort would be downright dishonest and urged use of "plain and vigorous language" to stop it. "It appears to me," Daniel wrote, "it is a brazen thing for executive officials to await the adjournment of congress and then attempt to devise some means of leasing these lands in total disregard of the refusal of congress to authorize federal leases on the property—"

For more than four years, Daniel said, federal officials have "admitted" they have no authority to lease tidelands areas. "It would be downright dishonest for federal officials to reverse their previous opinions and seize the tidelands while the members of congress are at home during adjournment, and such a move must be stopped by plain and vigorous language—"

Texas Natural Gas Company Raises Its Rates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (UP)—The El Paso (Texas) Natural Gas Co. has won Federal Power Commission approval of new natural gas rates which will increase the company's revenue by about $5,400,000 a year.

The rates became effective when approved by FPC. They will affect gas customers in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. The company had requested a total increase of $9,665,000 in two separate applications. The FPC had suspended both applications, but one amounting to $2,465,000 a year had been in effect under bond since October, 1950.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Hamlett Set For Saturday

Truman And Gen. Eisenhower Will Meet Next Week

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (UP)—President Truman and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will have a chance next week to tell each other whether they might be opponents for the White House next year. Eisenhower is flying home from his European defense post for a week-end visit with his son at Fort Knox, Ky., and will meet with Mr. Truman and other high government officials Monday and Tuesday.

The meetings are billed as conferences on military affairs. The White House said there was no "emergency" in Eisenhower's European organizations. But there will be at least one private meeting between Mr. Truman and Eisenhower.

It would be a perfect time for the two men, who have great mutual respect and trust, to slip each other the answers they hold to the biggest political question today. Neither has said yet whether he will run, although Mr. Truman can have the Democratic nomination if he wants it and a strong bloc of Republicans are trying to draft Eisenhower as GOP nominee. They apparently left their hair down to each other in 1948, when Mr. Truman was a candidate and Eisenhower declined to run. Eisenhower has said that after the successful World War II European campaign Mr. Truman offered to help him get anything he wanted—including the presidency of the United States.

Mrs. M. Williams Granted Divorce

Mildred P. Williams of Rising Star was granted a divorce from Rupert V. Williams in Ninety-first District Court here Wednesday. She was also given custody of their child, together with an order for child support. She was represented by Mrs. Preston P. Mangum, Rising Star attorney. The case was not contested.

White Leghorns Very Profitable, Is Opinion Of Local Poultryman

Wyman Blair may not have the largest poultry farm in Eastland county, though it is safe to say he has one of the best. His farm is located 3 miles west of Eastland on highway 80. A visitor is always impressed when everything seems to fit and be in place. And that is just what you will find when you visit the Blair farm. The soil here is a sandy loam with a generous sprinkling of gravel. All ideal for the successful breeding of poultry. Being built on top of a small hill, it has four way drainage, which is conducive to good health of the birds.

Mr. Blair has been in the poultry business for many years, and all his buildings are well built and substantial. Some are made of rock, some of concrete blocks and others are constructed of good quality lumber. All buildings have concrete floors and running water. This means all sanitary matters are being cared for as they should be. He has found it more profitable to buy baby chicks than to hatch them off himself. All his the first atomic troop maneuver in history yesterday at the Frenchman's Flat roving ground. The Congressmen were Melvin Price (D-Ill.), Charles Elston (R-O.), Carl Hinshaw (R-Calif.) and Chet Holifield (D-Calif.).

After watching a compact aerial A-bomb explode with a shattering roar heard more than 250 miles away, the congressmen had this to say in a joint statement: "Our country is crossing the threshold into a revolutionary situation. Tactical atomic weapons, if delivered accurately and sledge-hammer advantage."

They were impressed by the "finite nature of a single atomic blast," but admitted "the explosion yesterday morning could not by itself have performed military miracles." The United States needs mass atomic firepower to attain decisive results, they added, "just as we have always needed mass conventional fire power."

The Congressmen watched the awesome explosion from safe positions six or seven miles away. Then they moved forward with the advance parties of the 1,500 paratroopers who took part in the world's first atomic maneuver.

They disclosed that residual radiation was not intense shortly after the blast and that the troops could have pressed an attack near "ground zero"—the area directly above which the atomic burst occurred—without danger.

"We ourselves inspected equipment and tested facilities inside the critical blast area soon after the shot," they reported. They found that damage to equipment largely followed expected lines and that modern U.S. tanks and guns "stand up well against heat, blast and radiation provided the explosion is not too close."

The congressmen felt that the 1,500 troops that took part in the historic maneuvers, as well as the 3,000 military observers who looked on, were greatly impressed with the ability of the A-bomb.

"In talking to the troops about their reaction," the congressmen said, "we gained the impression that they developed both a healthy respect for the power of atomic force and a sense of confidence that they could use it effectively against an enemy and combat its use against themselves."

No atomic blast is expected today, and there were indications that the present test program will be completed within one week.

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

By J. FRED EDER
The weatherman has been the target for a lot of abuse, but reports coming in from Oklahoma hunters and those in the upper portions of Texas show a lot of gunners got their limit of ducks in early outings.

The prospect of cooler weather makes the outlook brighter for the days ahead. Colder weather definitely is needed to make lake hunting excellent, but it has been up to now—despite unseasonable heat—interesting for those who have ventured out.

This correspondent, in a weekend mallard hunt on the Oklahoma side of Lake Texoma, observed that fewer and fewer hunters are overgunned.

Anyone who glimmers for more open bays and smaller shot is overlooking one of the hunt's big thrills—the gunning skill.

It takes a combination of close patterns, large bore scatterguns coupled with a full choke and proper lead, along with a good call, to bring down a high, fast-flying duck.

Real shot gun skill is the greatest joy in getting the bird, but there are many skills to be combined for a successful day in the blind.

Not the least of these is the duck call, and the real waterfowl hunter thrills to the call well done. But to the master of the call it can also be a detriment, and usually is at the first of the season.

A post-mortem on this writer's first week-end hunt clearly shows the early-season tendency to be over-eager, to "decide" the flight in too close with too many misses being the result. This is because the birds are outside narrow shotgun patterns.

It is easy to overlook the perfect circling range of the birds overhead when a mallard hen is carrying on a snappy conversation with the duck call, or when you're gripped by the excitement of watching a green head drake with wings set and feet down glide in for a landing.

Fishing holds up pretty well despite the overlap of the duck season on Lake Texoma.

Tomorrow Will Tell Who Will Still Be In Southwest Race

The muddled Southwest Conference championship race goes through another wringing out process tomorrow.

When it's over, observers hope to be able to see more clearly which of six clubs still in the running must be considered as Prime favorites for the title to be awarded a month from now.

Here's how they'll line up: Texas Christian, unbeaten in two conference starts, vs. Baylor, winner of one and tied in another, at Waco.

Texas, the defending champion who has broken even in two starts, vs. Southern Methodist, loser of its only title tilt, at Dallas.

Texas A&M, with a loss and a tie against its record, vs. Arkansas, a two-time loser in three starts, at Fayetteville.

Only Rice, which like Texas has lost by the day's games. The Owls play Pittsburgh at Houston in the only intersectional clash on the program.

Texas A&M were one-touch-down favorites and Baylor and Rice were favored by two touch-downs, but if the crazy pattern of this season's results carries through this season won't mean a thing.

The winner of the TCU-Baylor game will automatically hold first place which TCU now possesses without dispute.

The loser of the Texas-SMU game will virtually bow out of contention with two losses on its record while the winner will still be very much in the thick of the scrap.

Texas A&M must win today to keep its glimmering hopes, while Arkansas already is out of the running for all intents and purposes.

At Waco, it will be a question of whether TCU, "high" for two weeks in a row against the Aggies and Southern California, can keep up the terrific offensive pace that saw them score seven touchdowns in two games with Sophomore Ray McKown at the scoring trot.

Baylor, still featuring Larry Isbell and those great pass-catching ends, Stan Williams and Harold Riley, may be down a bit too after that comeback 21-21 tie with A&M last week.

Texas, which finally showed some passing attack in whipping Rice last week, will have to stop Fred Benner's passes if it hopes to break its jinx of never having beaten SMU in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas A&M gets a break in meeting an Arkansas club sadly crippled for its homecoming game. Four Parker regulars will be out of action and another is a doubtful starter, while A&M will be at virtually full strength despite bruises from the Baylor tilt.

Rice, except for Soph. Quarterback Dan Drake who will play but not be in top shape, will field a sound team against a Pitt club which led Michigan state 20-19 at halftime last week before finally bowing 53-27.

Veterinarians, Nurses Wanted By Government

The United States Civil Service Commission today announced new examinations for veterinarian (trainee) and medical technical assistant, both for filling positions paying $3,100 a year.

The position of veterinarian (trainee) are with the Bureau of Animal Industry in the Department of Agriculture and are located at field stations throughout the United States. Appointment to these positions is limited to students of veterinary medicine for on-the-job training during the summer months. When the student trainees are graduated from veterinary college, they will be eligible for a position as veterinarian with the Bureau. All applicants will be required to take a written test of general ability. In addition, they must have completed 4 years of veterinary medicine in an accredited college or university, 1 year of which have been in pre-veterinary medicine. Applications will be accepted from students who expect to complete the required college study by June 30, 1952. The age limits, which are waived for veterans, are 18 to 35 years.

Medical technical assistant positions are in medical facilities operated by the Public Health Service in Federal penal and correctional institutions throughout the United States. The Public Health Service desires men only for these positions. To qualify, they must have had experience and training which enables them to give nursing care and treatment in at least two of the following fields: Laboratory analysis, medical X-ray, physical therapy, pharmaceutical, or dental work. No written test will be given. Persons appointed will receive on-the-job training for a period of approximately 1 year in medical care functions at a penal or correctional institution. Those who complete the training course satisfactorily will be promoted to positions paying $3,825 a year. Those who do not complete the course satisfactorily will not be retained. The age limits, 18 to 62 years, will be waived for veterans.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Commission's Local Secretary, Mr. O. L. McDonald, located at local post office, from Civil Service regional offices, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications for both examinations must be filed with the Commission's Washington office. Applications for the medical technical assistant examination will be received until further notice; however, applications for the veterinarian (trainee) examination must be filed not later than November 27, 1951.

NO SURVIVORS BY WILL HENRY

Copyright 1950 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with the publishers, Random House, Inc.
THE STORY: John Clayton, a former civilian scout, is captured and adopted by the Sioux. Clayton falls in love with North Star, an Indian holy woman who is kidnapped by an old enemy named Slatemeyer. Clayton rescues North Star, but is surprised by Slatemeyer who prepares to kill Clayton just as Sioux Chief Crazy Horse appears.

“WELCOME to my tipi,” I called to Crazy Horse.

“I can believe you mean it,” he answered, flashing the rare Sioux smile. “What do you want done that sign where the Sioux might not. If they saw it at all they would see it wrong; figuring he meant to make a fight.”

“A-ah!” I called the Oglala warning word to Crazy Horse as I launched myself at Slatemeyer's back.

I caught his arm in the downstroke, deflecting it so that the knife ripped harmlessly through his leather shirt instead of into himself where he had aimed it.

In a second the braves swarmed over us.

But the giant white man reared up like a cornered grizzly, throwing warriors off like a huge dog shaking himself free of water.

Crazy Horse stepped in close, faster than I have seen any man move, and brought the haft of his war ax ringing down across Slatemeyer's skull.

I stood up facing the Oglala chief across the body of the whiskey runner. “Two times now you have saved my life,” I acknowledged gratefully, extending my hand.

He took it in both his but looked past me out over the valley as he answered, somberly, “It is not-fighters kills the other. Second; by virtue of mutual conviction that both have had enough, neither fighter will kill the other. In this case the waiting lancers move in and satisfy them both.

“The Sioux have no word for ‘lie.’”

As to the survivor, no matter what his status prior to the contest, he is entitled to the full rights of the tribe. In Slatemeyer's case this meant one thing; if he killed me he went free. And he would go with honor, riding my horse, wearing my weapons, being escorted in full honor to the boundaries of the tribal lands.

About midnight Yellow Bird came to me and said, “It is time. I am to be kola (second) for you.”

“What has happened to the Mouse?” I asked, not wanting to appear concerned about my own case.

“He is with his ancestors.”

“Did he die like a man?”

The tall Sioux spat viciously as though to rid his mouth of a bit of rotten meat. “He died like a mouse,” he said.

TOGETHER we strode toward the distant clamor by the fire. Still trying to fit the pose of the calm and collected, I questioned, “And Star? Where is she?”

“You will see her.”

He would not talk further and then as we reached the dark outskirts of the crowd, stopped short. “Here,” he announced stiffly, “is the knife of Mangus Colorado. Wear it.”

I took the long thin blade, feeling its beautiful heft and balance at once. I had never felt such a knife. It seemed alive in the hand.

“I give it. It is yours.” Turning, he was gone in the dark.

Alone I went forward, the cold rising from the ground, creeping through my legs, settling in my belly.

A deep “huck-hun-he!” ran around the packed circle of savages. Every eye swung in my direction as those nearest me parted to let me through. I walked looking neither right nor left, head high, warrior fashion; as nearly as I could.

Homecoming At ETSTC Nov. 10

East Texas State Teachers college will hold its annual Homecoming Nov. 10 with the classes of 1911, 1921, 1931, 1941 and 1951 as honored guests.

Registration will be held in the Student Union building at 9:30 a.m. and will be followed by a parade to downtown Commerce. Approximately 40 bands of the East Texas area and 50 floats are expected to take part in the parade.

Former students of the college will have a luncheon followed by a business meeting in East dormitory on the campus.

The Homecoming game pits the East Texas Lions against Stephen F. Austin Teachers College on Memorial Field. Campus organizations and social clubs are scheduled to hold their reunions at 5 p.m., and a Homecoming dance in the Student Union building 8 p.m. will climax the day's activities.

Reservations for the luncheon and for the football game are being accepted by Mrs. Cecil Ross, secretary of the Ex-Students association.

Texas A Leader In Farm Income

Texas was among six Mid-American states to make the “billion dollar farm income” club in 1950, according to a survey made public by Capper's Farmer.

Texas farmers received $1,993,263,000 in cash farm income last year, including $806,100,000 from livestock and livestock products and $1,187,163,000 from crops, says the survey, based on U. S. Department of Agriculture statistics.

The nationally-circulated farm magazine reports that the five other states in the billion dollar farm cash income bracket were: Iowa, with $2,058,101,000; Illinois, $1,720,080,000; Minnesota, $1,164,558,000; Missouri, $1,009,281,000; Kansas $1,000,790,000.

Total 1950 U. S. cash farm income was $27,920,746,000, comprising $15,598,222,000 from livestock and $12,322,524,000 from crops.

Farm income for 1951 is likely to set an all time high of $35 billion, or $7 billion above last year's level, the magazine estimates.

ROUND-UP

Gayle Parrack returned to school Thursday after a ten day absence because of an appendicitis operation. We are glad to welcome her back.
Tonight is the night! Ila Gene Griffin will be crowned band sweetheart. There will be a beautiful and impressive ceremony.
Neal Edwards and Erline Miller are the latest couple to stake a claim to the rock wall.
Members of the co-ed club are planning a hilarious slumber party.

The commercial ads for the annual have arrived and are very interesting. Students are shown in various stores and at automobile dealers posed with owners and employees.
Has Betty Hager secured that band jacket from Jimmy Chambers yet?

The American history students really appreciated Mr. Siebert. They have lots of fun and learn history at the same time.
Two new freshmen have joined the ranks of E.H.S. students.
The seniors lose Beth Haile this week. She is moving to Houston. Study hall elected Larry Miller the prettiest football player. Sarita is very proud of him.

Tuesday morning a centipede was running loose in the halls, but Mr. Hooker, our brave biology teacher, captured the wretched thing and did away with him. We doubt he'll be missed.

The choir has begun practice on Christmas songs for the school program.
Jane Myrick and Ann Day are feuding in a good natured way. Many high school students attended the Annual Ward School Carnival. A good time was had by all.

Be sure to patronize the Junior Stand at the football game. They will sell sandwiches, candy, gum, and drinks. The proceeds will go to putting on the Junior-Senior Banquet.
The basketball girls will be lined up against a brick wall and shot for annual pictures this week.

Zena Grissom's new beau is Edwin Aaron. Wonder if this affair will last any longer than the Aaron - Cox tie-up, which was dissolved by mutual consent after five days.

Charles McFatter, Paul DeBusk and Don Harris helped the P.T.A. women get ready for the Halloween Carnival.

Question of the week (actually asked by a small boy), "Mr. Stanley where is the third floor."

SLUMBER PARTY
Don Roff, Jimmy Mitchell, Lowell Herring, Jamie Jessop, Lonnie Young and Joe Muirhead spent last Saturday night in the Muirhead apartments. The group was entertained by different games during the night which was topped off by refreshments which included hot chocolate, coffee, and candy. Early the next morning the host prepared a delicious breakfast of eggs, burned bacon, dry toast, and a half cup of hot chocolate. The group enjoyed the outing very much and all were pleased with their departure (especially the people in the other apartments).

Junior Play Try-Outs Held The E.H.S. Junior play has been selected.
The name of the play is "The Boarding House Beach."
Tryouts are being held this week. The cast includes seven boys and nine girls. Mrs. Tye will direct the play and will be assisted by Mrs. Woloszyn. The rehearsals will begin next week. The production of the play will be on December 14.

Students Return From Trip Mrs. Tye, Bobby Fox, Babeth Quinn, Janie Dutton, and Gay Poe spent a very enjoyable weekend in Fort Worth. They attended a Texas Speech Convention at T. C. U. Friday night, they attended a Modernized Greek play.

NEWS FROM CHEANEY Mrs. Bill Tucker

By all means—put the derrick back up—we were coming down Main street, signalled for a left hand turn around the non-existent rig and a car zoomed by—it was a woman driver too—nearly brushing out front fender. Now if the derrick had been in its proper place, she couldn't have dashed by, disregarding all traffic rules. This is a consensus of opinion of the rural people who like to come to Ranger to trade.

Mr. William Melton underwent an appendectomy Wednesday afternoon at the Blackwell Sanitarium in Gorman. He is resting well at this report. Troy Melton from Gatesville, has been here at his father's bedside.

Recent visitors in the home of his mother, Mrs. Ann Love and Mr. and Mrs. John Love, were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Love and son of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perrin and daughter Maxine Warren and Mrs. Dale Warren of Baltimore, Maryland visited in Oklahoma with a sister of Mrs. Perrin's Mrs. Allen, who is in ill health.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Lemley and Mrs. Earl Bankston and son, visited in Turkey, Texas on Thursday, and on to Chickasha, Oklahoma where Mrs. Bankston will make her home for the time being. The Lemley's returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Warren of Baltimore, Maryland have been here the past week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perrin and other relatives. They plan to return to Baltimore Thursday.

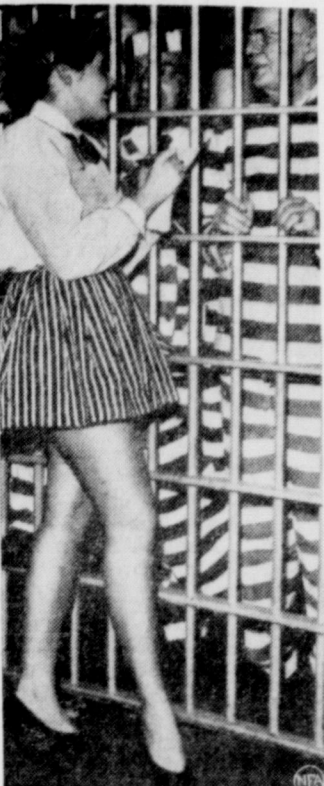

G. Stanley DeVal, is located now at Fort Worth and will continue to preach to the Alameda congregation each Sunday. He Fhaedia, Saturday morning they heard lectures by delegates from various universities. They lectured about the defects in the Speech Department of their school. Mrs. Tye and the girls enjoyed a luncheon given at the University Christian Church Saturday noon. The guest speaker was from New York. He gave the history on the theatre. The ones who attended are definitely more appreciative of the theatre.

Arthur Love was an overnight patient in the Gorman Sanitarium on Friday. X-ray test showed a badly aligned spine. He was feeling fine and at home again Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Lemley had as their Sunday dinner guests G. Stanley DeVal and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rodgers and family, but why in the world were Lavinnia, Pee Wee, and Joe Bob having to scrub the front porch? Surely they didn't track in that much mud!

Melva Love, Dee Rodgers and Sanford Lemley were busy getting a heating system for the church on Monday. They purchased the butane plant belonging to Jack Hart.

Mrs. Zelia Perrin was reported very low on Sunday, with no hope of recovery. Mrs. J. W. Case and Alen Forville visited her on Saturday, and numerous relatives are here at her bedside.

Truck Drivers Pay Million In Fines Annually

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 — To help stem the tide of Texas' rapidly depleting highway and road funds, more than 21,000 truck operators paid over one million dollars into the state road coffers last year.

The payments were not voluntary contributions, but represented $1,071,387 paid in fines and additional truck license and registration fees as a result of the arrest of 21,577 truck drivers caught violating the highway laws.

These startling figures came to light in the annual report released last week by Kent Odum, Chief of the License and Weight Division of the Department of Public Safety.

The report covers the fiscal year ending August 31st, this year. This arm of the Public Safety Department was composed of only 33 men, who are charged with protecting the more than 39,000 miles in the state highway system from being pounded to pieces by overloaded trucks.

Truck law violations on Texas highways are on the increase. The report shows 3,747 more truckers were found guilty and paid fines than in the previous year.

The fines and fees collected from these highway hawlers, the list of which reads like "Who's

Emergency Loans Available For Bankrupt West Texas Farmers

An additional source of funds for crop production purposes is available to farmers in a 21-county area in west Texas where an extended drought has caused a virtual crop failure, George I. Lane, County Supervisor, Eastland County, of the Farmers Home Administration has announced. His agency is to provide funds in counties who have suffered production losses on crops and livestock, for seed, fertilizer and materials for insect control.

Who? of the trucking industry in Texas, is paid into the County Road and Bridge and State Highway funds.

In addition to protecting the billions of tax dollars invested in state and county roads from overweight and over-axle loads, the License and Weight Division showed a substantial profit of more than $873,000 last year. For the fiscal year of 1950-51, the Legislature appropriated $197,000 to pay all the operating expenses of this department.

Counties included in the area are Donley, Hall, Collingworth, Childress, Dickens, Kent, Lynn, Garza, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Martin, Howard, Glasscock, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Calhoun, Eastland and Edwards.

Before a loan may be made, the applicant must have suffered damage as a result of the prolonged dry weather and he cannot obtain the credit applied for from banks or other responsible local sources. Disaster loans will not be made for the purpose of refinancing existing debts, either secured or unsecured, or for the purpose of refinancing existing debt, either secured or unsecured, or for the payment of cash rent.

Following a survey of the affected counties, L. J. Cappelman, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, issued a statement in Dallas concerning the purpose of the loan program. Federal credit if this type will be available to family-type farmers who have sustained losses and who cannot obtain from local sources the funds required to carry on their farming operations and put in a crop in 1952.

Designation of the area followed recommendations submitted by local credit agencies through Cappelman's Office. Designation is made by the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture, when justified.

Improved farming practices that are emphasized in the Farmers Home program are discussed and agreed upon between the County Supervisor and the applicant at the time loan application is prepared. Funds necessary to finance a crop program are available now, the Supervisor stated. His office is located in the Petroleum Building in Eastland.
