

4 Amendments Are Defeated; Voter Is Wary

The defeat of four of the five proposed constitutional amendments November 13 proved that the people of Texas have become exceedingly wary and even alarmed over increased government costs, which always mean increased taxes, since all of the submitted amendments had for their main objective more money. In rejecting the amendment that would have qualified thousands of aliens to receive old age pensions the voters showed not only their respect for citizenship but helped out the old folks, who would have had to take reduced monthly checks under the terms of the amendment. Also, the results at the polls proved that people have awakened to the dangers of Socialism and want it stopped. There is now no excuse for calling a special session of the legisla-

The finances of the Texas state government are in excellent condition, according to the October 31 report of State Treasurer James, who itemizes 270 funds, nearly all having good balances, and with the total cash in all funds standing at $172,000,000. So Texas is far from broke. The general revenue fund balance stood at about $21,000,000, a remarkable showing when compared with the $3,600,000 balance in March of 1950. When Mrs. Miriam Ferguson was governor there was a deficit of $30,000,000 in the general revenue but no one got excited over it and no new taxes were passed at that time.

Methodists To Have Special Service Sunday

"Thanksgiving and the Christian" will be the sermon subject of Rev. J. Morris Bailey, pastor, at the 10:50 morning worship service Sunday at the First Methodist church. The church choir under the direction of Mrs. Cyrus Frost will sing the anthem, "King of Love My Shepherd Is", by Shelley. Mrs. J. P. Kilgore will play the pipe organ for the service and include in the organ music, "Thanks be to God," by Sheppard and "The Village Chapel," by Hopkins.

Sunday evening at the 7:30 worship service the pastor will preach on the theme "Mutually Encouraged by Faith." The men's choir will sing and James Edwards will lead the congregational song service. Mrs. T. J. Haley will play for the service.

Sunday school will meet at 9:45 and the evening youth groups will meet at 8:30.

UN Rebukes Russians

PARIS, Nov. 17 (UP) — The United Nations voted overwhelmingly today to begin study of the West's disarmament proposal Monday and to place the Soviet counterplan near the tail end of the agenda.

The UN's powerful political committee voted 45 to 5 with 5 abstentions to begin debate Monday on the global plan sponsored by the United States, Britain and France. U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson will lead off the debate.

The move was made over bitter objections from Russian delegate Jacob A. Malik.

Little Items Of Local Interest

Fred Maxey has joined the local Nimrod Club, and is now trying out his gun. If he kills more than he needs, and the weather moderates a little, maybe he will come back and stage a free barbecue.

Most stores in Eastland are now making plans for Christmas displays. In fact some of them have almost completed this work while others are waiting until after Thanksgiving to bring out their Christmas wares and displays.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE SET FOR WEDNESDAY EVENING

At a called meeting of the Eastland Ministerial Fellowship Friday night, it was decided to have a "Union Thanksgiving Service" Wednesday night, November 21, at the First Methodist Church, 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Wm. C. Emberton, Chairman will preside at the meeting. C. Melvin Rathel, will preach the sermon and all the ministers of town will take part. This has been customary in the past, but the last two or three years was omitted. All present expressed hope that every church would be well represented and that it truly might be a "Thanksgiving Service".

Everyone is urged to come and fellowship with us.

Church Speaks Words Of Hope, Pastor States

The subject for the morning service will be "The Eternal Struggle." Subject for the evening worship service will be "The Triangular Life."

If your are living your life and bringing up your family without any Church connection, here is a question worth considering.

Have you ever noticed how a Church—no matter how unpretentious—seems to light up the spot on which it stands?

Somehow one feels more comfortable, more contented, when looking at a Church. It speaks words of reassurance. Its very presence breathes hope.

No doubt you will admit that this is all true. Then why not go farther? Take an active interest in the institution whose mission is to carry light into dark corners and bring hope to heavy hearts.

Come to Church, the friendly church with a spiritual message.

Sgt. York May Enter Politics

PALL MALL, Tenn., Nov. 17 (UP) — Another "old soldier" stepped into the political battle shaping up over next year's presidential race today.

From his Cumberland Mountain home, Sgt. Alvin York, announced he is "considering" running for president. But the Congressional Medal of Honor winner said he will support President Truman if the chief executive sees fit to run.

York, a one-time conscientious objector who became America's number one Doughboy in World War I by single-handedly wiping out a German machine gun nest, said he has received "several" letters urging him to run for the Democratic nomination. Most of them, said the sergeant, came from the south.

York, now 64, also said he wrote President Truman asking why the atom bomb was not used in Korea and received a reply saying it couldn't be used without killing a large number of American troops.

UN Proposes New Armistice Plan

NEW PLAN WOULD END WAR ALONG PRESENT BATTLELINE

Texas Pelicans Arrive Safely In London

LONDON, Nov. 17 (UP) — Four Texas pelicans arrived by plane from Texas today to grace St. James's Park near Buckingham Palace. They posed sedately in their crate for photographers. The pelicans, Gal, Ves, Ton, and Tex, are the gift of Galveston, Tex., to Prime Minister Winston Churchill to replace two veterans which died.

Interest in breeding the pelicans—if not collecting their eggs to eke out the British austerity food rations—officials at once sought vainly to determine the pelicans' sex. Weary James Carter of the Galveston News, who escorted the pelicans, confessed:

"We caught them around Galveston but nobody had time to find out about their sex."

Unshaven Carter, who said he had not caught a wink of sleep on the flight from the United States, sighed:

"All this just to beat Louisiana. They offered to send pelicans but they didn't follow through. They said they would send two. We decided to do it in a big way and send four, so I went out and caught them on the waterfront."

Tom Hinton, St. James's Park bird specialist, met the pelicans at London airport with a box of fish to feed his new pets. He especially, was curious over their sex.

"It's very difficult to decide the sex of pelicans," Hinton said. "You have to watch their habits. It will probably be some time before we will be able to make a decision."

The pelicans offered no help. In their two-foot-high crate the pelicans, two black and two brown, just sharpened their 18-inch beaks and stood first on one foot then the other.

Hinton said one of his worries was how the Texans would make out during the bleak English winter.

Baptists Push New Activities; Sunday Program

Attendance and interest are on the upsurge at the First Baptist church. The crowds are increasing and the congregation is planning for many advances to be made. The budget committee will have its report ready to present to the church November 18.

The midweek prayer services have averaged 122 the past two weeks, but will not be held this week, because of the Thanksgiving service at the Methodist church.

The pastor's topics for Sunday are: Morning, "Wanted, More Fools"; Evening, "Lost in the Desert."

By Richard Applegate UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT PANMUNJOM, Korea, Nov. 17 (UP) — The United Nations proposed today a dramatic new armistice plan to end the Korean war before Christmas and the Communists tentatively accepted it.

The UN said it would accept the Communist demand for a buffer zone along the present battleline—provided the Reds agree to an exchange of war prisoners and other details of a formal armistice within 30 days.

But if no final agreement were reached, the new battleline would become the provisional cease-fire line and the next step would be up to the two armistice delegations. The UN compromise proposal was framed in Washington under pressure both from anguished relatives of American war prisoners worried by new Communist atrocity disclosures and from other UN members with troops in Korea.

U. S. Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes handed the plan to the Communists at a joint subcommittee meeting in Panmunjom.

A UN spokesman said the Reds gave this snap appraisal of the proposal:

"We have heard your proposal, but we have yet to make a full study of it. I can tell you this much. Your proposal seems in the main in accordance with our principles."

The Communists presumably will give a formal reply at the subcommittee meeting beginning at 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. today EST.)

Hodes also suggested that, as a preliminary step, staff officers of both sides meet at 10 a. m. tomorrow (8 p. m. today EST) to see how far apart they are on their interpretation of the actual battleline of contact.

If the Reds accept the new compromise proposal, it will be the biggest step toward a Korean armistice since the truce meetings began last July 10.

A UN communique outlining the plan said that with its submission, the UN command has "thrown the ball to the Communists."

"If they are sincere in their oft-expressed desires for an early armistice, they will not only accept the UN command proposal, but will exert every effort to help us reach a full agreement on an armistice within 30 days," the communique said.

If the present battleline is to become the cease-fire line, the UN plan provides that agreement must be reached within the 30-day period on these three remaining items on the armistice agenda.

1. Composition, authority and functions of the carrying out of the armistice terms.

2. Arrangements for the disposition of prisoners of war.

3. Recommendations to the governments of both sides on other problems growing out of the negotiations.

Hodes said the war would continue unabated on the ground, in the air and at sea during the 30-day period until the complete armistice agreement is ready for signing.

Should the UN or Communist armies advance during the 30 days, they would return to their present positions; for the cease-fire if an armistice agreement were reached within the 30 days. Otherwise, they would keep their newly-won territory.

Father Of Two Arrested After Teacher Raped

BROOKINGS, S. D., Nov. 17 (UP)—A 28-year-old father was held for questioning today in connection with the alleged rape-kidnaping of a young rural school teacher.

Robert Thwing, Aberdeen, S. D., was arrested yesterday in the trailer where he lived with his wife and two-month-old baby.

His arrest came after Mrs. Margaret Stadler, 24, told authorities she was kidnapped from her one-room schoolhouse Tuesday, raped and held for four and a half hours in her assailant's car.

She provided police with a description both of her alleged attacker and the car he was driving at the time.

Brookings police found the car and arrested Thwing a short time later.

Mrs. Stadler said she was alone in the rural school near Kimball, S. D., after classes were dismissed when her alleged attacker entered on the pretext that he was looking for a lost hunting dog.

She said he drew a knife and forced her into the car where he attacked her.

For a time, she said, he threatened to kill her until she pleaded with him that she had a two-year-old child.

"Every two-year-old child needs a mother," she said her attacker replied and released her.

Florida Senator Blasts Spot Wars

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 17 (UP) — "We are beating the snake's tail in Korea and letting the head live in the Kremlin," declared Sen. George S. Smathers (D-Fla.) here in calling for a step-up in efforts to settle U. S. relations with Russia.

Smathers said yesterday the nation "cannot continue to be outmaneuvered and involved in a little war here and a little war there."

Ridgway Verifies Atrocities Against UN Prisoners Of War

Tokyo, Nov. 17 (UP)— Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway formally accused the Communists today of mass murders of United Nations war prisoners in Korea, but an aide said an 8th Army report that 6,270 Americans had been slain appeared exaggerated.

The Supreme United Nations Commander mentioned no figures in his first official comment on what he called Col. James Hanley's "most regrettable" announcement that the Reds had murdered 13,400 UN war prisoners.

However, a headquarters staff officer said specific and proved cases of Red atrocities were considerably fewer than those charged by Hanley, chief war crimes investigator for the 8th Army.

Hanley's controversial statement that 6,270 Americans, 7,000 South Koreans and 130 other United Nations prisoners had been murdered was based in part upon "unscientific investigation," generalizations and possible duplications, the officer said.

Ridgway may release on Sunday, a further statement clarifying and qualifying Hanley's figures, the spokesman said.

However, he said no disciplinary action "was taken or is intended" against Hanley for releasing his statement to the press.

Despite Ridgway's confirmation of mass Communist atrocities, the Chinese Communist radio at Peiping broadcast an indignant denial and counter-charged that the UN had "inhumanly slaughtered thousands" of Red prisoners.

Ridgway's statement said it became evident to the UN more than a year ago that Communist protestations they were adhering strictly to the Geneva Convention in their treatment of war prisoners were "false."

UN investigators went to work at once, Ridgway said.

"It had been concluded some months ago that at an appropriate time, when the accumulated evidence warranted and when coordination had been effected with the proper authorities in Washington, this evidence should be made public," he said.

"That this coordination was not properly effected at the time of this release is of the utmost regret to this headquarters."

All concerned, he said, "share with me in deploring the anguish which this most regrettable incident has inflicted upon the relatives and friends of members of the UN command still carried on our casualty lists as missing in action."

Britain Will Investigate LONDON, Nov. 17 (UP) — Britain has instructed its ambassador in Washington to investigate the "entire background" of the release of an 8th Army report on mass Communist atrocities in Korea, a foreign office official said today.

The British press has criticized the timing and manner of Col. James Hanley's announcement that Chinese and Korean Reds have murdered 13,400 United Nations war prisoners in Korea. Hanley is chief war crimes investigator for the 8th Army.

The influential Manchester Guardian said "questions are being asked" about the possible political affiliations of Hanley.

The Guardian said anyone who makes "a critical inspection" of Colonel Hanley's figures will risk being "damned" by Senator McCarthy and his faction as a crypto-Communist.

British officials were at a loss to understand the release of such inflammatory charges of Red barbarity by a junior officer at a time when Korean truce negotiations are at such a ticklish stage.

POTPOURRI OR WORSE

A lot of people in Eastland are telling about a sand storm that was supposed to have passed through this city a day or so ago. As a matter of fact there was a little breeze and occasionally a few grains of sand managed to get up in the air, but it becomes our duty, as proprietor of this column to deny all sand storm claims. We did not have a sand storm. They don't ever have them in this country. At times some of the fertile loam of this country does roll over a time or so, but that is far from what they have in other sections of the state.

Down in East Texas they never have enough wind to blow the moss of the tree, in this part of the state weather and wind conditions are just about right, while in West Texas proper and on the plains they really have what might be termed mild sand storms.

We spent ten years out there, but really never saw a first class "sandie" while we were there, according to old timers. However, we remember seeing a few gentle zephyrs out there that could have been mistaken for a "sandie". One Thanksgiving day we left Lubbock enroute to Floydada, via Ralls. It was crisp and cool, for the thermometer stated it was 16 and getting colder. Also we had a western breeze pushing us along. This breeze registered about 80 m.p.h., only when extra puffs came along and boosted the speed up to 100 miles. The wind was a lot faster than our car, so by the time we had made ten miles our car was boiling over and burning us. No circulation. We got out to investigate and failed to close the car door. A heavy puff came along and the car began moving, so we figured if the wind had two doors to push we would move faster. We opened the other front door. Sure enough the car began picking up speed, and by the time we sighted the first town, Idalou, we were praying that the constable had blown away, for we were doing fifty miles an hour. In fact he probably couldn't have caught us anyway—too fast. On we went and when we sighted Lorenzo we felt impressed to whistle for brakes—only we didn't have any whistle. Remember we were being propelled by wind—the motor hadn't turned over in fifteen miles. We knew that we must turn North when we reached Ralls, but how to do it we didn't know. We threw the car in gear, but it didn't reduce our speed very much. Then we spotted a lot of mud and water in the borrow pit along side the road, so we drove into the pit hoping we would bog down. Only we didn't. Speed was reduced a little and then all of a sudden the car skidded, turned sideways and threw us out of the ditch and headed against the wind.

And only for very quick action on our part we might have been blown away. We had sense enough to turn the car around, lock the brakes and hold it in the middle of the road. In this manner we slid into Ralls and made the North turn. Here we picked up 10 sacks of cement to ride the fender of our car, so it would not blow over, and made it on to Floydada, just ten minutes late for the chamber of commerce banquet.

We learned next that the roof of the light plant in Plainview had blown away. A man hauling hay near Abernathy was picked up, hay, wagon, team and all, and so as we know he has never landed yet. If it had been a real sand storm we would have quit looking for him years ago. But with a light breeze like that one, he should be getting back most any day now.

We have seen a few real sand storms in our day. And when we say real sand storms, we mean the kind that would make an atomic bomb hunt shelter. Give one the Western type sandies a five-mile start, and it could blow all Communist Russia into the northeast corner of Siberia, and have enough power left to move the Rocky Mountains to the Eastern side of the Mississippi River. Yes brother, they beat Hadacol 49 ways from Sunday, when it comes to power. And to think, we love them—out of our sight.

We knew one fellow who was picked up by a sandie who had to be shot to make him heavy enough to come back down. The wind got him about a 100 feet up and the air and left him stranded. There he weaved and wobbled for about a week, when he asked to be shot. The national guard was called out, and the firing squad poured bullets into him for six hours. Finally he got so heavy he drifted back to earth. Last time we saw him he was delivering New Deal propaganda.

On another occasion we saw a wagon sheet plastered up against the side of a house. Foolishly we asked the fellow why he didn't take it down. His reply was that he couldn't until the wind settled, and that it would then come down on its own accord.

They have to have shop made equipment out there to register the weather and wind. We knew one farmer who tied a log chain to a telephone pole, so he could tell when it was too windy to plow. When the wind got up pretty high the chain would leave the ground and wave in the air. But when it got so strong that it did not wave, but was as rigid as a crow-bar, it was too windy to plow.

One reason why there are so many law suits out there of because farms have a tendency to change location. During one good sandie, New Mexico will lose several sections of land. A farmer down at Lamesa might arise some morning and find he doesn't have a farm at all, but a well stocked ranch. Brownfield citizens are kept busy moving their farms back from Lubbock county. Down at Tahoka a man will buy a sandy loam farm, and a week later discovers he has a salt lake inside his fences.

Now if you want to believe this stuff you are at liberty to do, but remember you have been warned. Just because you see it in this column doesn't necessarily denote that it is so.

And as a matter of fact if you are undecided we suggest you go see for yourselves, and when you get back come in and tell us what you think about that Garden Spot of the Universe. Only for old Rip our horned toad it would make us fear competition.

The U.S. Public Health Service, on the basis of final 1949 vital statistics, estimates that in baby born in the United States in 1951 will live for an average of 67.6 years.

Kin Notified Of Prisoners Death

TOKYO, Nov. 17 (UP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, in his statement today on the murder of war prisoners by the Communists, said that in every case where the death of an American had been confirmed, relatives had been notified.

Reporting that his command had been gathering evidence of Communist atrocities for more than one year, the Supreme Commander said: "Throughout the compilation of this evidence, whenever it was finally determined that the death of a soldier had actually occurred and after his body had been identified, a report was made in each case to the next of kin, regardless of the manner in which death occurred, in accordance with the normal casualty reporting processes."

Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps camps and stations now provide "trailer parks" so that GIs can keep their families together in these mobile homes.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
 The fact that man in God's likeness is immortal and spiritual is stressed in the Lesson-Scripture titled, "Mortals and Immortals" to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 18.

The Golden Text is from Romans: "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live."

Further emphasizing the point is the reference from the twelfth chapter of Proverbs, "The thoughts of the righteous are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceit. In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof is no death."

 One of the citations to be read from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, continues the theme thus: "From beginning to end, whatever is mortal is composed of material human beliefs and of nothing else. That only is real which reflects God. Mortal man is really a self-contradictory phrase, for man is not mortal, 'neither indeed can he be: man is immortal' (page 478)."

Miss Ruth Ramey Receives Special Recognition

Miss Ruth Ramey was given special recognition and presented an award for distinguished service by the National Home Demonstration Agent's Association at their meeting November 4th through 7th in Fort Worth. Miss Ramey now of Richmond, is a former agent of Eastland County. She has served as a demonstration agent for 28 years and in the presentation program, at Hotel Texas, it was said of her: "An enthusiastic dependable person, whose hobby is knowing and helping people. She has trained 12 assistants, helped develop the result demonstration. She has exhibited splendid qualities of leadership and industry."

A New High in Pie

There's news today! A brand new flavor in a pudding and pie filling mix—coconut cream—is now on the market! Brought out by a well known food manufacturer, it's rich in flavor, creamy in texture, has just the right amount of coconut blended right in and quite literally is "as good as home-made!"

It is mighty versatile too—equally adaptable for pudding or pie filling. Simple too! Just add 2 cups of milk and cook about 5 minutes. It's ideal, either plain or combined with other flavors.

Take this Chocolate Coconut Cream Pie, for example—a glamorously different pie, with chocolate used in the unbaked pie crust and flaked on top. This is just one of many delightful recipes for this new red letter dessert.

Chocolate Coconut Pie

- 1 package coconut cream pudding and pie filling mix
- 2 cups milk

Chocolate Graham Cracker Crust

- 1/2 cup cream, whipped and sweetened
- 1/2 square unsweetened chocolate

Place pie filling mix in saucepan. Add milk gradually, blending well. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil and is thickened. Cool slightly (about 5 minutes), stirring once or twice. Turn into pie shell. Chill. Spread with whipped cream. Shave chocolate on top.

Chocolate Graham Cracker Crust

Grate 1 square of unsweetened chocolate. Add 1 cup fine graham cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons sugar, and a dash of salt; mix well. Then add 1/4 cup melted butter. Press firmly on bottom and sides of 8-inch pie pan. Chill.

Education Group To Hear Writers On Sport Lapses

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (UP)

The American Council on Education's special committee to investigate "ethical lapses" in intercollegiate athletics today invited three prominent sports writers to express their views at the opening meeting here on Monday.

Leo H. Petersen, sports editor of the United Press; G. W. (See) Taylor, sports editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and President of the football writers association; and Columnist Hugh Fullerton, Jr., representing sports editor Ted Smitz of the Associated Press, were the writers invited to speak.

Chairman John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College, said the committee wished to hear the views of press representatives on the subject of intercollegiate athletics before going into executive session of Tuesday to consider a course of action.

A spokesman for the council on education said the committee probably will discuss gambling, cribbing, recruiting and general over-emphasis during its first two sessions.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, secretary-treasurer of the NCAA and commissioner of the Western Conference, and Asa S. Bushnell, president of the National Association of Collegiate Commissioners, were selected yesterday by NCAA's President Hugh C. Willett of Southern California to represent the collegiate body.

False Alarm

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17 (UP)

Columbus firemen blinked when they learned the cause of their run to a downtown hotel last night. They said a man had been boiling his socks in an electric coffee pot in his room and the pot boiled dry. Only loss reported was the socks.

West Ward Students Observe "Book Week" With Special Work

Early in September the students of the Fifth grade at West Ward School applied for membership in the "Texas Readers Club." At present there are 40 members.

"Emphasis has been stressed on the care of all books and especially new books or library books. The importance of opening a new book, keeping it clean and using it as a medium of pleasure during leisure, has not been overlooked, the instructor said."

During "Book" week, the children have had much pleasure and realized many helpful facts from their books. They selected prayers and poems for a Thanksgiving program, made attractive book markers, read and discussed books in class, she said. They also dramatized two stories from their basic reader, "Captured By the Indians" and "State House Square."

Climaxing the week of work, the children made a trip Friday afternoon to the Eastland Library, where they browsed around until they found the book of their choice, paid the fee and checked the book out.

Next week the students will be required to make individual reports giving: (1) Title and outline of the book. (2) Telling when and where the story takes place; (3) Telling briefly what the story is about and describing the principle character.

The purpose, that the students realize that books "take us to new places and to new people doing interesting things," has been accomplished and progress has been made in learning how to live in a world with people and their customs, the instructor said.

Mmes. Ruth Poe Herring, Hubert Toombs, Boggus and Turner cooperated in furnishing transportation for the class to the library.

Public Relations Award Presented To TP Railroad

DALLAS, Nov. 16—The American Public Relations Association's top award for outstanding achievement in Public Relations in the field of transportation has been presented to the Texas and Pacific Railway Company, it was announced Thursday.

The award was made to J. B. Shores, public relations director for the Southwestern rail line, by Harold E. Stassen, at an Awards Luncheon during the APRA Annual meeting in Philadelphia November 14-15.

The American Public Relations Association Awards are nationally known as the oldest and most highly coveted recognition of top performance in the profession.

The award to the T&P—one of the association's traditional 12 Silver Anvil Trophies given to industries and professions in recognition of outstanding efforts in influencing public opinion and in following noteworthy practices in the field of Public Relations—was made for its current series of Americanism newspaper and magazine advertisements developing the theme "How You Can Make America Strong."

Legumes Prevent Plow "Sole" That Stunts Cotton Roots

Searching for food and drink in the soil, cotton roots often are shunted aside by plow pan or sole, unseen enemy of the farmer.

Formed as a cement-like layer in the soil just below plow depth, plow pan is frequently found in fields where soil-depleting crops have been grown for many years.

Legumes like Hubam and Madrid sweetclover, used in rotation with crops, prevent plow pan. The myriad of tiny, vigorous roots they send down keep the soil mellow, capture needed nitrogen from the air, make it easy for crops following to tap sub-surface moisture and fertility.

With our population increasing and our farm land decreasing, proper land use is more important than ever.

The County Agent and Soil Conservation Service Technician will be glad to help you with your legume-crop rotation.
