When Christ was here on earth He was never too busy to stop and speak a kindly word to an unfortunate soul. He loved people and ministered to them. We were not all created rich, insofar as silver and gold are concerned, and the reason is most of us could not stand too much prosperity. Jesus loved the poor—Lazarus, the leproser, was a special object of pity, and yet He loved him, too.

We cannot hope to improve upon Christ's example. He, Jesus, was the perfect man, though He did not claim the honor, but meekly said "There are none good, not one. Save My Father which is in heaven. But be this as it may, use each year for the Yuletide, which time we commemorate His birth. Other than our own souls there is no other gift that he will receive from us. He asks nothing for Himself.

But there are things we may do that will cause the light of His countenance to shine down upon us. We can follow His example. We can remember and love the poor, even as He loved Lazarus. We can share life's blessings with unfortunates around us. Your silver and your gold will not attract His eye. To Him it does not glitter, but the items you may get in return for this silver and gold, if properly placed, will bring down His blessings upon you.

So at this moment we announce our plan to aid—The Telegram's Christmas Cheer Fund. The plan is not new and the Telegram is asking no applaud. Just do what you think Jesus would do and we'll be more than satisfied.

Eastland is a very normal little city, not a city populated by gutter-rats and professional beggars. But Eastland does have its poor. This does not mean that the poor are to be censured. It does not mean that they are shiftless, but through sickness, drouth and other misfortunes, they may be feeling the pangs of hunger. Pride holds some of them back. They would starve before they would ask for aid. We have children who need shoes and clothing in order that they may be warm and can attend school. We'll tell you more about this later.

The people of Eastland are kind and generous. Many Christmas baskets have originated here. There will be others we are sure, but the money given our Christmas Cheer fund will not go to duplicate these gifts. Some may be enlarged, in certain cases, if our fund permits. But one thing sure is that every dollar will go to the distressed in this community.

This is our sermon. We hope you enjoyed it and that you respond. Next week we will place some jars about town and you may drop your nickels, dimes and dollars in these jars. For checks and larger donations bring or mail to the Christmas Cheer editor in care of the Telegram. If we are in we will accept the donation and thank you. We are out leave with any Telegram employee and we'll get the money and credit you in the paper.

Scout Workers Plan Kick-Off Breakfast Mon.

W. B. Pickens, general chairman of the Boy Scout Finance campaign, has announced that plans are nearly complete for the big "Early Bird Breakfast" to be held Nov. 28 at 7 a.m. at the Hotel Connellee. Some 65 local men will be asked to attend the breakfast, and to work on the finance campaign during the day.

Eastland has four very active Scout units. Cub Pack 3 is sponsored by the First Christian Church. The cubmaster is Rev. Otto Marshall. Boy Scout Troop 6 is sponsored by the Eastland Rotary Club. The scoutmaster is W. M. Brown, Jr. Troop 103 is sponsored by the Eastland Lions Club. The Scoutmaster is J. F. Collins. Post 48 is sponsored by the American Legion Post. The Advisor is William Jessop.

All of the Boy Scout and Explorer units of Eastland attended Camp Billy Gibbons this summer. All units had a large percentage of their boys present at the camp; a total of some 50 boys. The Eastland Scouts made a fine record at camp. They participated in the Swimming, Marksmanship, Archery, and many other programs.

Girls Win, Boys Loose At Olden Games Tuesday

The Olden Hornets had it rough with the girls taking their game 37-33, while the boys dropped their game to Seranton, by a score of 38-31.

The girls' game was fast and rather rough, and with several Hilliard's girls on the sick list, many substitutions were necessary. McGotter playing a guard position for the Hornets, played a neat game. Canet for Olden turned in 16 points for Olden, trailed by her team mate Edwards with 10 points.

The boys' game was really a case of the Hornets not growing up. They were outclassed in that they were not tall enough to play their regular brand of ball. Coach Rowch took scoring honors with 16 points. With an add up by his team mates, Horn played his usual brand of ball for the Hornets.

Hospital Floors To Be Poured On Sat. Says Perry

Thursday was observed as a holiday, even by hospital workers, who usually work their full time 5 days regardless of holidays, etc. However, superintendent Perry announced early today that the group will work tonight and most all day Saturday, if the weather permits.

Pouring of concrete will start Saturday morning, and it now appears that it will be only a short time until the roof too, is completed. Interior work may be done in comfort then, even though we have cold rainy weather.

UN And Reds Race To End Fighting By Christmas; Agree On Truce Plans

FULL ARMISTICE MUST COME WITHIN 30 DAYS AS AGREED

By Arnold Dibble
United Press Staff Correspondent
PANMUNJOM, Korea, Nov. 23 (UP)—The United Nations and the Communists agreed today to try to end the Korean shooting by Christmas. They set the stage for a 30-day race against time by settling their four-month dispute over location of a cease-fire line.

The break came at a dramatic subcommittee session. It brought the first official United Nations expression of hope that a full armistice may be achieved by Christmas.

The joint subcommittee agreed that both sides shall return to the present battlefield for a cease-fire if the rest of the armistice terms can be settled within 30 days.

If the armistice is not completed within 30 days, the cease-fire line will be moved forward or back to the battlefield existing when the complete agreement is ready for signature.

A four-man team of UN and Red staff officers worked until after dark tracing the present battlefield on large-scale maps. When they broke up for the day, only two or three major differences remained and these were expected to be cleaned up early Saturday.

The battlefield—which will become the cease-fire line if the war ends in 30 days—was expected to be approved by the subcommittee Saturday and submitted to the full five-man armistice delegations the next day for ratification.

Ratification Sunday probably will be only a formality and the negotiators undoubtedly will move on to the next item on the armistice agenda—inspection and supervision of the carrying out of the truce terms—the same day.

Officially the war will go on until final agreement is reached. But during the 30-day trial period, it was believed there would be an actual or de-facto cease-fire along the battlefield.

The line will have been drawn and no commander seemed likely to send his troops across it. No soldier was likely to vie for the honor of being the last man to die in bloody Korea.

For the first time, a UN spokesman said there is reason for hope that the war will be over by Christmas. Lt. Howard P. Levie of New York City, the UN command briefing officer, told newsmen that the Allies would not have set the 30-day limit in the cease-fire line proposal if they had not hoped for a truce by that time.

Levie said the UN and Communist staff officers working out the actual cease-fire line covered the entire battlefield during their deliberations Friday.

Where the disagreement over the line of contact amounted to a half-mile or less, he said, it usually was settled quickly in a spirit of compromise. Major differences of opinion were left for later decision, perhaps by the subcommittee.

He said hills, roads, rivers and valleys were the main stumbling blocks.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chief UN subcommittee member, announced the agreement on a cease fire line formula—the biggest step toward an armistice since the truce talks began July 10.

Union Service Well Attended; Rathel Speaker

The union Thanksgiving service held in the First Methodist church Wednesday proved to be one of the best services of its kind ever held in this city. The house was filled to overflowing, and people from every congregation in the city were in attendance.

Rev. W. C. Emberton presided over the meeting; he being president of the Eastland Ministerial Fellowship. Other local pastors took part. The Thanksgiving sermon was delivered by Rev. C. Melvin Rathel, Baptist pastor. Organ postlude was by Mrs. J. P. Kilgore. A vocal quartet composed of Clyde Fisher, Miss Kathleen Dunlap, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Adcock, sang "Shelter from the Storms." Mrs. W. E. Hallenbeck, Jr., was accompanist.

A free will offering was taken, and while we do not have the exact amount, the money will be turned over to the local ministerial group who are to buy useful equipment for the new Memorial hospital.

Ushers were from Church of the Nazarene, First Baptist, First Methodist, First Christian and the Church of God.

In his message Rev. Rathel confined most of his remarks to Thanksgiving and brotherly love.

Father Sends Sons To Jail

"It is a wise father that knows his own child."—Shakespeare (The Merchant of Venice).

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (UP)—Raphael Charres put both his sons behind bars today on narcotics charges because he loves them.

He said he could not have done it without the sympathy of strangers.

Charres, an unemployed metal polisher who had asked police to arrest his sons, said he felt like an informer against his own flesh and blood when 20-year-old Frank was locked up last week.

Years coursed down his cheeks yesterday when he signed the complaint that sent his second son—18-year-old Antonio—to jail but he said he believed he had done the right thing.

Charres, 55, told authorities he made his decision after he could no longer endure the thought of his sons becoming incurable narcotics addicts.

"Find my boys and arrest them," he begged police. "They are using drugs again."

Bad Tip

DETROIT, Nov. 23 (UP)—The lone chicken-lover among 15 prisoners who got a choice of jails on the basis of their Thanksgiving taste preferences, had the last laugh today.

The 14 prisoners who pleaded with Recorder Judge Joseph Killis Wednesday to be sent to the Detroit House of Correction where turkey was reported to be on the holiday menu, discovered their source of information was in error.

They, like the prisoner who went to the Wayne County Jail at his own request, ate chicken.

AMBASSADOR O'DWYER TOURS FALCON DAM AT LAREDO, TEX.

LAREDO, Nov. 23 (UP)—U.S. Ambassador William J. O'Dwyer toured the construction site of the $47,000,000 Falcon Dam today after citizens of the border area turned out to give him a warm welcome.

O'Dwyer, making his first visit here since he became America's representative in Mexico City, kept the tour on an informal basis after initial festivities were completed.

Accompanied by his wife and a retinue of embassy officials, the former mayor of New York landed at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, airport at 3:50 p.m. yesterday. He was officially welcomed by Gen. Francisco A. Higuera Jimenez, commandant of the Nuevo Laredo Garrison. O'Dwyer responded in what hearers called "pretty fair" Spanish.

The ambassador spoke again in Spanish last night to 200 business, political and military leaders of the two border cities who attended a banquet in his honor.

He said the world needs "cooperation among peoples without regard to national boundaries" in order to achieve "peace for our generation."

"I wish the relationship which exists between these cities could be made known to peace loving people everywhere," O'Dwyer said.

Speaking of the relationship between the U. S. and Mexico, the ambassador cited progress in the fields of agriculture, wildlife conservation, geology and rubber development.

"Our two governments working together have made fantastic strides," O'Dwyer said. "Just as these two cities cross the Rio Grande to assist one another in times of emergency, so have technicians, biochemists, agronomists, engineers and many others crossed this border to work together—for the mutual advancement of both countries."

The international dam he inspected today, located 75 miles downstream from here, was an example of such cooperation. When completed, it will furnish irrigation and power facilities to both nations.

Other events on the schedule included a luncheon for Mrs. O'Dwyer, the former Sloan Simpson of Dallas, and a barbeque tonight sponsored by the Laredo Chamber of Commerce.

The ambassador will leave tomorrow for Mexico City.

8th Army Ready For Long Winter Fight If Needed

8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, Nov. 23 (UP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today his forces "are ready for anything" the Communist may throw at them if the Korean "truce by Christmas" effort fails.

The Supreme United Nations commander made his defiant statement during a visit to front-line units in western Korea, where the Communists have been hammering in largely futile attacks for more than a week.

In the air, American Thunderjets damaged two Russian-built Mig-15 jet fighters in beating back the first Communist challenge to American air supremacy over northwest Korea in six days.

Only a few hours earlier, 10 B-29 night bombers raked the Communist airfield at Uiju just south of the Yalu River Manchurian border. First reports indicated the superfortresses strike was highly successful.

Ground fighting simmered down after allied infantrymen repulsed five tank-supported Chinese attacks of battalion strength west of Chorwon on the West-central front with flame throwers and bayonets Thursday.

Ridgway landed at a forward air strip Friday minutes after a snowstorm began clearing. Accompanied by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the 8th Army, Ridgway rode north by jeep over muddy roads to visit fighting units.

Asked if UN troops were ready for another winter campaign, Ridgway said: "They tell me so."

Then he stated flatly: "We are ready for anything they have."

Search For Lost U. S. Plane Is Still Underway

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 23 (UP)—Search by air and by diplomacy for a U. S. Air Force plane and its four-man crew widened to cover five countries today.

Fifteen C-82 "flying boxcars" hunted over Italy and Yugoslavia in the first clear weather since the twin-engined C-47 vanished last Monday after reporting Romanian and Hungarian frontier guards fired on it.

Diplomatic inquiries to both Communist countries produced only curt notes that the plane, lost on a flight from Munich, Germany to Belgrade, had violated their borders. The protest notes to the U. S. government did not say what happened to it.

Today, the American embassy in Belgrade lodged an inquiry with Bulgaria. It was conveyed through Swiss diplomats since the U. S. has no diplomatic representatives in Sofia.

Two reports, that the missing plane had been located now appeared doubtful.

Capt. Marshall Fredrickson, Little Falls, Minn., director of the air search from the Treviso, Italy, base, said a report the plane wreckage had been found in the Italian Alps proved groundless.

American embassy officials cast doubt on a second report that the plane had been shot down in Romania and its crew interned. The account was given by a woman who said she had just flown in from Romania. She did not identify herself.

An embassy spokesman said "we do not put much stock in her story."

Fredrickson said a Yugoslav fighter that intercepted an American search plane near Trieste yesterday fired a short machinegun burst ahead of it and forced it down at Pola.

The Yugoslav pilot was reprimanded, he said, and the American crew invited to lunch with the Yugoslav air base commander.

The commander apologized for the pilot's action and the U. S. plane resumed its search a short while later.

Cancer Victim Will Get Her Dying Wish

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 23 (UP)—Twelve-year-old Nancy Voss died of cancer here last night and never knew that her last wish will be granted.

Nancy, who was stricken with the disease in the summer of 1950 while she was living in Ft. Worth, asked her mother after she learned she was dying if she could be buried in the city where she went to school.

Operations and hospitalizations cost money, though. Her father, S-Sgt. Malcolm H. Voss, is stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls. He feared the expense of a Fort Worth burial would be impossible to meet.

But citizens of her favorite city came through.

Three lots in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, near Nancy's old home, were offered. Eugene Seltzer, manager of Rose Hill Burial Park also volunteered a lot. Complete burial will be provided by another resident. An aerial ambulance company will fly the little girl's body to Fort Worth without charge.

Said her mother, "Oh, this is wonderful—to think she'll be provided with the thing she wanted most."

Four Probes Started On Train Wreck

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (UP)—Four investigations were started today into the sideswipe-collision of two New York, New Haven and Hartford passenger trains in a tunnel under Park Avenue.

Twenty-seven of the 1,100 suburban-bound passengers aboard were injured, two critically, when the trains collided yesterday.

Most of the injured received only minor cuts and bruises and were treated on the scene.

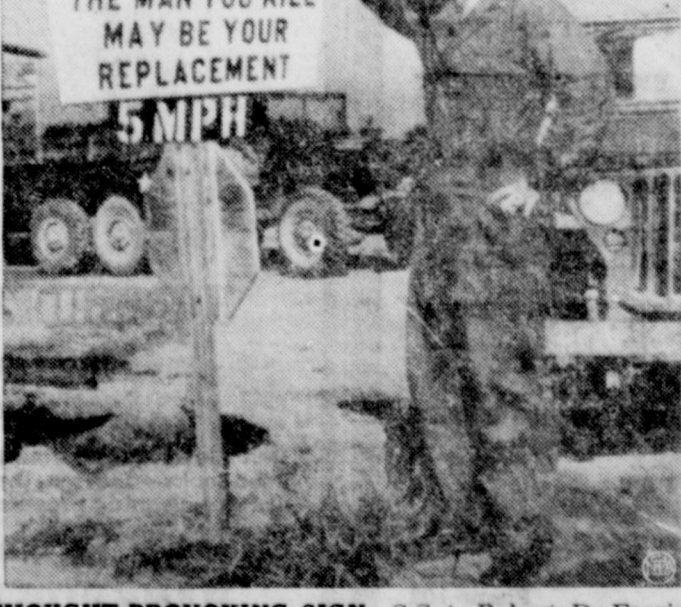

Investigations were called by the railroad, the Interstate Commerce State Public Service Commission and the New York County District Attorney's office.

The railroad's first wreck in 20 years occurred one year and a day after a wreck of two Long Island railroad trains, in which 80 persons were killed and more than 300 injured, at Richmond Hill.

Safe Enough

BERLIN, Nov. 23 (UP)—The East German Communist Party gave its women members some advice today on where to carry their party membership cards, safe from pickpockets.

"Pin it on your panties," a Communist pamphlet said. "Nobody can pinch it from there."

Rangers Defeat Schreiner In Final Game Wednesday Night

RANGER, Tex. (Special) — The Ranger Junior College Rangers ended their football year here Wednesday night by defeating the Schreiner Mountaineers from Keerville by a score of 27 to 0.
To start their 27 point scoring spree against the flu-weak Mountaineers the Rangers took over on the Schreiner 20 yard line when fullback Kenneth Burton, playing defensive linebacker, caught a Schreiner pass.
Three plays later Caddo Sanders went straight up the middle of the Mountaineer line from the eight yard line for the score. This was the first six of twenty seven points the Rangers would score against the visitors.
The half ended after a scoreless second quarter and with the Rangers leading.

Schreiner took the kickoff at the half on their own 25 yard line, in three plays they lost five yards and were forced to punt.
Ranger Bobby Boynton came charging through the Mountaineer line to block the punt and recover the ball on the Schreiner four yard line.
Caddo Sanders moved the ball down inches away from a score on his first run, two more running plays failed to go over. On the fourth down Sanders again took the ball and busted through for the inches needed for the score. Harry Weldon kicked the point and it was Ranger 13 to 0.
In the fourth quarter Ranger scored two more times to make the final count 27 to 0 in their favor.
Schreiner punted to the Ranger 27 yard line just as the whistle blew ending the third quarter. Two Ranger plays moved the ball to the thirty yard line where quarterback Jimmy Bridges pitched the ball to end Tommy Wilson for a play covering 70 yards to score. Weldon again made the point try and it was 20 to 0.

Deep in the fourth quarter the Rangers took the ball on the Schreiner 45 and in four plays scored with Buddy Hamrick making the final five yards for the tally.
The Rangers played much better ball than they have in the past. The big change came in the line as it was working against opposition about the same size.
This was the last game for the Rangers under the tutoring of Coaches Boone Yarbrough and Dick Henderson, and their first year in the Pioneer Conference.
Both coaches have said prior to the last game that the Rangers have a good ball club, but it is just too light to move against lines averaging over 200 pounds.
Another year is coming, the Rangers will be better acquainted with the conference and what it requires of a team.
New boys will be coming in from other schools and a much better team is in prospect for these two coaches and the college.

point to make it 14 to 7 in favor of Winters at the half.
In the second half of the Turkey Day clash the Winters eleven racked up 21 more points to 13 more for the Bulldogs.
Winters picked up seven more points after taking the Bulldog kickoff from their own 26 to paydirt in nine running plays. Hensley and Frierson teamed up to lug the ball down near the Ranger goal and Awalt made the final yard.
Ranger returned the favor a few minutes later when Jimmy Cole passed to Comacho in a play that covered 44 yards for another Ranger touchdown. Comacho failed to kick the point leaving Ranger on the little end of a 21 to 13 score.
In the final quarter Winters scored twice, the first resulting from a pass interception by Rodney Waggoner on his own 20 yard line. Waggoner took the ball in the clear and went all the way for the score.
Ranger was forced to kick after the Winters kickoff and Winters climaxed a 29 yard scoring drive with a pass from Zane Hensley to Minor Nelson for twelve yards and six points.
A few minutes later Ranger recovered one of their own punts on the Winters 22 yard line.

BULLDOGS BOW TO BLIZZARDS 35 TO 20 IN BI-DISTRICT TILT

RANGER, Tex. (Special) — There was just too much first quarter for the Bulldogs in the bi-district clash yesterday evening with the 9AA Winters Blizzards which Winters won 35 to 20.
The big Winters first quarter started when they recovered a fumble on the Ranger 35 yard line. Ranger had received defending the north goal with the wind in their face.
After taking over on the fumble on the Ranger 35 yard marker the Blizzards were held to just five yards on the next three downs, then with fourth down and five needed quarterback Zane Hensley shot a pass to big Bill Buchanan on the 10 yard stripe, from the ten Buchanan went over. Hensley made the first of five extra points for Winters to put them in the lead 7 to 0.
After losing eight yards in three tries after the kickoff after Winters first touchdown, Jimmy Comacho kicked the ball to Zane Hensley on the Ranger 45 yard line. Hensley brought the ball back to the Ranger 39 where the Bulldogs were penalized 15 yards for unnecessary roughness, putting the ball on the Ranger 24 yard marker.

As the Bulldog line held the Blizzards to only six yards on the next three downs, it looked as if Ranger would be able to stop the threat. But Hensley again used his pitching arm to toss the ball to Johnny Frierson for 15 yards and a first down on the Ranger four. Three downs later Dalvin Awalt bucked over for the score to put Winters ahead 14 points.
Ranger narrowed the lead down to seven points late in the second quarter after Comacho ran a Winters kick back to the 26 from the 35 yard line. The score came when Ranger came out into the spread formation for the first time during the game with Jimmy Cole back in the tailback slot. Cole took the pass from center and tore off around his own right end for twenty six yards and a touchdown. He got good blocking down to the ten, from there he eluded two Winters tacklers to make the final yardage. Comacho kicked the extra

Gerald Bagwell, in for Jimmy Cole at quarterback passed to Comacho for the final score of the ball game making the last count Winters 35 and Ranger 20.
Minus the services of two of their starters the Bulldogs didn't get organized until they were trailing 14 points in the first quarter.
The game was much closer than the score shows with the Ranger line and backfield coming out in good shape after the disastrous first quarter to hold their own with the Blizzards.

Christmas Seals Are Fighting TB

The Christmas Seals whose annual sale is sponsored in our State by the Texas Tuberculosis Association are gay and colorful touches for yuletide packages and letters. But more important, they also brighten lives and, in the words of the founder of the Christmas Seal Sale in the United States, Emily Bissell, said "thousands who had no hope and have it now."

Christmas Seal proceeds have week. She will have the stitches removed Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Walton slaughtered a hog last weekend. The meat was put on cold storage in Ranger.

enabled the Association to conduct an educational campaign which resulted last year in doubling the number of beds in State-supported TB hospitals; in provisions for major chest surgery and other improvements for scientific care of patients at these hospitals.

Science has made great strides against TB, but it still remains one of our greatest health problems in which early detection and treatment are of primary importance. If we do our part, some day TB will be no more prevalent and ultimately conquer TB is "not a doctor's affair; it belongs to the entire public." Everyone can help by buying and using Christmas Seals.
