Cease Fire Line Set

Fire Sweeps Gainesville Businesses

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 26 (UP)—Dantages were estimated at $250,000 today from a downtown fire that was out of control for an hour and a half here last night.

The fire, described by fire chief George Brown, Jr., as "the worst I can remember," broke out in Austin's Pharmacy and threatened to sweep an entire block of business houses before it was brought under control.

The pharmacy was the most heavily damaged but flames reached several offices on the second floor above the neighboring Southwest Bell Telephone Co.'s business office.

The telephone office, an office supply firm and a furniture store were damaged by water and smoke.

Shortly after firemen reported the blaze under control it broke out a second time but was quickly halted.

The alarm was turned in at 6:35 p.m. when smoke was seen pouring from the pharmacy. But that time, though, the flames had made considerable headway. They were fanned by a light north wind.

A truck from neighboring Whiteboro, 14 miles from here, answered a call for outside help. Cause of the blaze wasn't determined immediately.

Red Cross Has Food Ready For American POW's

TOKYO, Nov. 26 (UP)—The American Red Cross announced today that it has 11,000 food packages ready to deliver to American war prisoners in Korea as soon as an armistice agreement is reached.

The food packages are designed for prisoners who have become ill or undernourished as a result of an inadequate diet. They contain vitamin tablets, fruit juices, canned chicken and turkey soup, fruit, cereal, vitaminized coffee, dried milk, chewing gum and cigarettes.

Christmas Peace Hopes Are Dim

By Arnold Dibble
United Press Staff Correspondent
PANMUNJOM, Korea, Nov. 26 (UP)—United Nations and Communist negotiators agreed today on a 30-day cease-fire line for Korea, but hope was fading for an armistice by Christmas.

The full truce delegations will meet at 11 a.m. tomorrow (9 p.m. today EST) to ratify the line mapped out by two staff officers from each side at a marathon meeting.

Although technically this war will still be on, the fighting on the ground is expected to come to a virtual stop while UN and Communist delegates try to settle the rest of the armistice terms by the deadline—two days after Christmas.

Should troops of either side advance during the 30-day period, they would have to withdraw to the tentative truce line if an armistice agreement were completed before the deadline.

It seemed unlikely either side would gamble lives unless it became clear no armistice agreement would be possible before Dec. 28. If the 30-day period expires without an agreement, the opposing armies could advance at will and keep the ground they capture.

The full truce delegations will move on to the next item on the armistice agenda—an organization to supervise and inspect the carrying out of armistice terms—immediately after ratifying the tentative cease-fire line Tuesday.

Also on their agenda are arrangements for an exchange of war prisoners and recommendations to be made to the governments taking part in the Korean War.

Most observers were dubious that a full agreement could be reached in time to stop the war by Christmas, but vice-president Alben W. Barkley suggested a new goal at a press conference in Tokyo. He said he hoped for an armistice by New Year's Day.

The two Communist and two UN officers finally settled the location of the tentative cease-fire line at their longest meeting yet. They worked on until late in the evening over maps in their tent at Panmunjom.

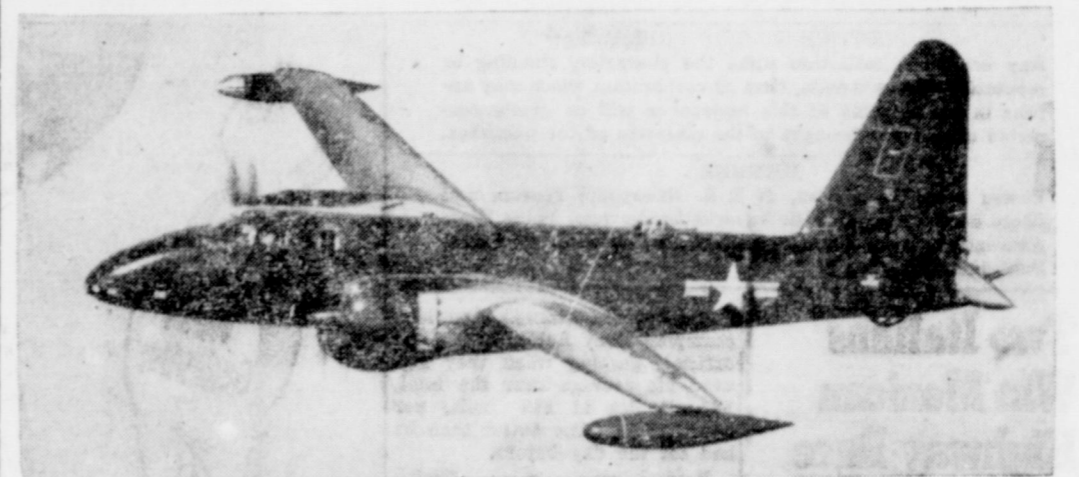

It had been agreed by a joint subcommittee that the 30-day line should be in effect the present latitude, but the UN and the Communists disputed who held 10 hills along the 145-mile front. They settled possession of four of the hills during a session Monday morning. The Reds agreed to them, and the UN conceded on the fourth because the battle situation had changed since the discussion began.

Possession of the remaining six hills was settled during the marathon afternoon-evening meeting. Although the exact location of the 30-day truce line was not disclosed, it was believed to begin south of the 38th Parallel on the west coast, pass south of Panmunjom and Kaesong, cross the parallel northwest of Seoul, run south of Pyongyang and Kumsong on the central front, and reach the east coast at a point not far below Kosong, 446 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

Service Station Operator Killed In Auto Crash

Funeral services for Lawrence Leroy Trapp, 43, service station operator of Cisco, who was killed in a traffic accident between Cisco and Breckenridge shortly after midnight Saturday, were to be held today at 10 o'clock in the Thomas Funeral chapel in Cisco. Services will be in charge of Rev. Paul Stephens of East Cisco Baptist church.

Trapp was instantly killed it is thought, when his car swerved off the highway and hit a mesquite tree. The accident occurred about 100 yards from what is known as "Dead Man's Curve." Survivors are his wife, one son, Roy Glenn Trapp of the U.S. Navy, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Trapp of Mineola; and three sisters, Mrs. Hazel Matthews of Lufkin, Mrs. Dorothy Hayes of Oak Lawn, Calif., and Mrs. Lela Baily of Wilmer, Calif.

More Mink Coats Enter Into Probe Of Tax Scandals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (UP)—Former assistant attorney general T. Lamar Caudle faced a barrage of questions today from house investigators who wanted to know about his wife's mink coat, pressure on him from congressmen, and trips to Italy and Florida.

Caudle, whom President Truman fired from his post as chief of the justice department's tax division 10 days ago, was the first witness as house ways and means subcommittee began hearings (at 10 a.m. EST) into his activities.

Caudle told newsmen after his dismissal that he had been subjected to pressure by congressmen and others prominent in official life to ease on certain tax cases which were under study for prosecution.

Subcommittee counsel Adrian W. Devinand said the investigators "would like to have Mr. Caudle identify the persons who tried to exert pressure on the Justice Department."

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath last night pledged "complete cooperation" with the subcommittee, which has dug up nationwide scandals in the Internal Revenue Bureau. McGrath promised to give the investigators full information about tax fraud cases providing justice department "confidences" are not violated.

Chairman Cecil R. King (D-Cal.) was not available for comment on McGrath's statement, but Devinand said the "fact that there is now a new statement by McGrath" indicates there may be some improvement. He referred to the Justice Department's previous protests against granting the subcommittee's demand for its complete tax files on the ground that such action might reveal the names of confidential informants and block further prosecutions.

However, two members of the subcommittee, Reps. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) and John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.), brushed McGrath's statement aside as inconsequential.

W. F. Barton Of Eastland Dies In Houston Hospital

Willis F. Barton, 73, 1007 S. Bassett Street, Eastland, died this morning in a Houston hospital, where he had been for the past several weeks.

Funeral services will be held in Ranger at 11 a.m. Wednesday. Survivors are his wife, and a daughter, Mrs. Russell Hill of Eastland, two sons, Doyle Barton, Houston, and Donald Barton, New York City, N. Y., two grandchildren and three brothers.

Hospital Workers Needed Tonight

Work will be resumed at the Eastland Memorial hospital this evening, according to M. H. Perry construction chairman.

Workers were asked to report at 6:30 p.m. or soon thereafter, unless it rains, he said.

RESCUE WORKERS HUNT DEAD IN ALABAMA TRAIN WRECK

WOODSTOCK, Ala., Nov. 26 (UP)—Rescue workers sifted the twisted wreckage today of two luxury streamliners that collided head-on yesterday, killing at least 18 persons, according to latest authoritative reports.

Thirteen bodies had arrived at morgues throughout north Alabama early today and State Police helping with operations at the scene said it is believed four other victims still are buried in a mass of twisted steel that must

Eastland County Has Good Record In Bond Buying

Eastland County's sales totaled $321,127.00 during the first U.S. Defense Bond Drive. Nathan Adams of Dallas, state chairman, informed Cyrus B. Frost, Jr., local county chairman. The drive was held from Sept. 3 through Nov. 13.

Final sales figures showed that Series F bonds accounted for $125,647.00 and Series F and G for $195,480.00 of this country's total.

Sales of $27,778,453.25 in Texas during the drive were almost 50 per cent more than normal, Mr. Adams said.

"Normally sales for this period would have been about $18,000,000 or $19,000,000," he said. "And the fact that sales were so much higher is definite proof that the people of Texas are responding, as they always do, to the country's need in national emergencies."

The sales total for the state included $22,459,665.25 in Series E bonds and $5,318,788 in Series F and G. There were no state or county quotas, the goal being the "largest possible" volume of sales.

Mr. Adams expressed appreciation to the thousands of citizens who served as volunteers in the drive, but urged that they continue their efforts.

"The need for buying Defense Bonds will exist," he said, "with our country engaged in a gigantic preparedness program, these bonds form an important economic link in our defense."

Ten Year Old Robber Fails

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 26 (UP)—A 10-year-old boy, who tried to hold up a feed store with a loaded .38 caliber revolver, was held today for trial in juvenile court.

The boy entered the store wearing a red handkerchief over the lower part of his face. As John E. Meyers, an employee of the store, handed over the money he wrestled the revolver from the boy's hand.

At police headquarters, the boy said he and an 11-year-old companion had planned the stick-up together, but the older boy failed to show up.

Around The Square

By Mack

At this time we wish to make an announcement, and we hope it will simplify pronunciation for a few of our customers. You see "Around the Square" is owned and operated by the proprietor of the "POTPOURRI" column which appears each Sunday. "Mack" and Major Hoople McCordle are all one and the same. As a rule we limit subjects discussed in "Around the Square" to the western hemisphere, while in "Potpourri" on Sunday we take in the entire world and part of Texas. No one man ever fully covered Texas. A few people have asked the meaning of the word "Potpourri", so to avoid future confusion we translate the French word "Potpourri" to the original English. It means "Irish Stew," and in the future the column will carry that heading. We are Irish, but we hope we are not "stewed."

Now that we have settled the great problem, we pass on to our regular work.

Eastland is dry more ways than one. Liquor is scarce here, but no more so than water. Of course recent rains gave us a little boost, but even an optimist knows that little dab of water won't last forever. The city loosened up a little and allowed a few of us to take a bath, and we hope they notify us before we are put back on rationing. We might want another bath, whether we need it or not.

However, what we wanted to say is this: Over at the Rotary Club the other day we heard a fellow broadcasting a "Day Dream" in well chosen words he described Eastland's new lake and water supply. It was an enormous project, containing some 32,000 water acres. It was noted far and wide as being one of the state's best fishing points, but the thing that attracted us most was the beautiful boats on the lake. Yachts, sail boats, canoes and trim racers were seen on every hand. It was a wonderful sight. Now we would have all the water we could drink, and some left over to wash the family bus. Then came the crash—he was merely "day dreaming", and what we saw was a mirage.

But you know all this might be realized, and will be realized just as soon as we get thirsty enough to build a lake large enough to get out of the frog pond class. It's coming, and probably at an earlier hour than you may suspect.

Lakes do not grow on Christmas trees, and we don't have any neighbors who are in position to give us one. But when we go about the matter in a business like manner, we'll get the lake, the water and the boats.

This boating and fishing has been worrying us. It's getting too cold to fish, but if we had some bait we might be tempted to give the fish a fling. But remember we're very particular about the bait. Just any old kind won't do. Now a lot of you think we are talking about "liquid sunshine," just because Christmas is near. What we really need is some good "fish berries"—you know, the kind that put fish on a little jag, and while they are "out" and floating about on top of the water we scoop them in a boat. After they sober up they'll be sorry. And so will the fellow who tanks up on the above liquid sunshine.

We have seen the sunshine gizzlers trying to sober up, and it was pitiful. They felt and looked like black heads, and at times while scratching their heads they would get a splinter under their finger nails.

Let us hope this is a fair warning.

Save your money for the Telegram's Cheer fund. Already a number of jars have been placed over the city and others will be added this week. It is a worthy cause and you'll never have a cause to regret that you helped put it over. Big checks and folding money should be mailed or brought to the Cheer Editor. We would even stop on the street and accept a gift.

Newspaper 152 Years Old, Owned By Mrs. J. C. Lilly Of Eastland; Gives Account Washington Death

Mrs. J. C. Lilly, 310 East Main, has brought us a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, printed under date of January 1, 1800, though most of the items were dated December 1799. This is, no doubt, one of the oldest of all American publications.

The publication shows the publisher as being Samuel Freer & Son, but the state in which it is printed is not shown. The town is Kingston, and is either in New York or Pennsylvania, according to information garnered in the news and advertising columns.

John Adams was president at that time, and took part at the funeral and burial of George Washington, first president of these United States, of which paper carries a full account. A special poem under the caption "General Washington" and written by a very modest young lady, occupies almost a quarter of a page. All column rule on pages 2 and 3 were printed bottom side up, forming a heavy black border which indicated national mourning.

The use of the King's English at that time was very different from present day slang. Note the following taken from the advertisement:

FEUDIN' AND FIGHTIN'
The Alabama Farm Bureau (Democratic membership) meeting at Biloxi, Miss., invited Republican Senator Bob Taft to address the convention.

Veteran farm leader, Edward A. O'Neal of Florence, Ala., told the 2000 farmers, "We are all good Democrats but, by George, the Democratic Party is going slap to hell. . . . And I say if we cannot get in there and save the Democratic Party from its present leader we ought to go Republican if we want to."

Senator Taft said, "I'm a believer in States' Rights" and "local rights."

Many other items similar to these will be found in the paper which is a 4 col folio.

Many people have seen the original and have wanted to buy it or get a copy. If enough people are interested Mrs. Lilly plans to have it reproduced and copies may be obtained from her.

"Dog Chopper" Held In Jail

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 26 (UP)—A Bexar county man was held in jail "for protection" today after chopping off the legs and tails of his neighbor's two dogs.

W. M. Smith also was charged with two counts of cruelty to animals yesterday after his wife called officers to report the "chopping."

Mrs. Smith said her husband came home to find the two dogs in his yard. She said he tied them up with a rope then chopped off their legs and tails while she called officers.

Constable Bill Hancock later killed the two animals.

Sheriff's officers said they were holding Smith "for protection" from the neighbor.

Two Italians Win Mexican Highway Race

JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 26 (UP)—Two Italian speedsters driving identical Ferrari automobiles who yesterday finished one-two in the five-day Pan American Highway race shared the spotlight today with an American champion who set a new world record for stock cars.

The two Italians, Piero Taruffi and Alberto Ascari, finished in that order, were only seven minutes apart when they came streaking across the finish line of the 1,933-mile race here yesterday.

In the top ten winners, American champion Tony Bettenhausen had officials gasping when they figured his average over the final, 230-mile leg at 113 miles per hour, three miles better than he had set the day before.

Bettenhausen, from Tinley Park, Ill., drove his 1951 Chrysler Saratoga over the trip from Chihuahua in 2 hours 1:23 minutes.

Over the trip Aaruffi averaged 90 miles an hour to earn his $23,180 first-prize money. But it was his breakaway driving in the early stages of the game that gave him the race. Taruffi finished behind both Bettenhausen and Ascari on the final two days' runs. His time for the entire jaunt was 21:57.52.

Ascari, the Italian champion, finished the run in 22:05.56 for $14,487 second prize money and an additional $2,318 in lap awards. He was first on four of the race's eight laps, but mechanical difficulty the first day cut his time.

The rest of the top 10 finishers were like this: William Sterling, El Paso, 22:13.46 for third followed in order by Troy Ruttman, Sterling's third-place spot was worth $11,590 while Ruttman received $5,795.

Bettenhausen set his new record trying to make up more than two hours he lost on the first leg when his brakes failed. He received $1,159 in lap money. This year's race started with 165 cars but only 36 finished. Three of the drivers were killed in wrecks and five other injured, all in the first two days.

King Will Wed Belly Dancer Wednesday

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 26 (UP)—Only a trousseau and superstition today delayed the Moslem marriage of Texan Sheppard "Abdullah" King and Egyptian King Farouk's favorite shimmy dancer, Samia Gamal.

The couple, whose romance began in a Paris nightclub and survived international publicity, received permission to marry from the Cairo government yesterday.

They set the date for Wednesday. "It will be impossible to be married tomorrow because I'll be busy with my trousseau," Samia said after receiving official approval of her marriage. "And I don't want us to get married Tuesday because superstition has it that is a bad day. So we'll do it Wednesday."

"Ike" Says He Will Rely On Little A-Bombs

ROME, Nov. 26 (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told the North Atlantic Treaty Council today that he was counting on the new "baby" tactical atomic bombs for the defense of Europe against Communist aggression.

Addressing the military committee of the council, Eisenhower said, however, that even the use of such bombs would not remove the need for 60 to 70 divisions of ground troops for his Atlantic pact defense forces.

Delegates from participating countries who are here to discuss defense problems met in secret today, but a spokesman disclosed Eisenhower's speech.

The supreme commander of the Atlantic forces said his Atlantic Pact command was "taking into account what new weapons might do to facilitate the task of building up strength in Europe . . . to face aggression."

"New weapons," it was made known, mean the new small atomic weapons recently tested in the United States in sight of troops. They can be used on the battlefield for limited destruction in contrast to the mass destruction of the larger a-bombs.

Eisenhower added to his "new weapons" statement: "But no new weapons will solve the strategic problem such as training and the men (who are trained) and their mobilization." Eisenhower pleaded with the

"We must pool our sovereignty and do the impossible to create a sufficient defense strength. The European defense force is one of those impossibilities that has to be achieved. Without a European defense force, there can be no security in Europe."

At a meeting this morning, defense ministers of the council agreed that Great Britain should be in charge of a new Atlantic Pact naval command in the English Channel and the southern areas of the North Sea.

treacherously thin ice to save the boy also fell through, but they were rescued.

Witnesses said Hodge had almost reached the duck when the ice gave away. Firemen labored for nearly an hour to save him, but his hands were so numb with cold he was unable to tie ropes thrown to him around his body. His body was recovered 45 minutes after he slipped below the surface.

Small Nations Make Peace Bid

PARIS, Nov. 26 (UP)—Asian, Arab and Latin American nations sought today to break an East-West disarmament deadlock in the United Nations.

The West's reaction to the moves was cool.

The main UN political committee, resuming debate in a mood of gloom following Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's third rejection Saturday of western peace proposals, heard the following peace moves:

1. India stepped forward again as a cold war mediator proposing a three-point program for peace in Korea, world disarmament and economic development.

2. Pakistan, Iraq and Syria formally proposed the Big Four powers sit down under the chairmanship of general assembly president Luis Padilla Nervo, of Mexico, to search for a compromise of arms cuts and banning of the atom.

3. Ecuador appealed to the Big Four powers to get together in secret immediately to work out a disarmament agreement.

An American spokesman said the United States agrees with the "philosophy and motives underlying the proposals," but, he added, the American delegation prefers that the issue be thrashed out in the political committee itself and eventually in the new disarmament commission proposed in the West's arms-cut scheme.

A British spokesman said merely it is very unlikely a sub-committee will be set up.

American delegate Dr. Philip C. Jessup said he probably would answer Vishinsky's speech and comment on the small-power moves at this afternoon's committee session.

The West appeared determined to avoid any moves to prolong the committee's debate on disarmament. It probably will press for a vote approving its arms-cut plan by the end of the week and hope the Russians will refrain from boycotting the projected combined atomic and non-atomic disarmament commission.

Price Hikes For Many Bakers OK'd

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (UP)—The government today authorized bakers whose profits have been "squeezed" by rising costs to raise prices on bread, pies and other products.

The Office of Price Stabilization said the increases would affect only "a small proportion" of bakers, principally in Houston, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Salt Lake City, Louisville and Fall River, Mass.

OPS could not estimate the amount of the increase, but said the majority of bakers already are receiving higher prices than the increased ceilings allowed for "squeezed" bakers.

Letters To Old Santa Sent On To North Pole

Following is a number of letters addressed to Santa Claus. We reprint them because Old Santa is one of our regular readers and we know he will read them.

Dear Santa:

I want a nurses kit, Jeannie Hanna.

Dear Santa Claus,
Will you please bring me some boxing gloves. And please bring my brothers and I a lot of fireworks like: firecrackers, baby giants and bombs. I want a Hoppy Long Cassidy watch. Please bring me a cash register to save money in and a bow and arrow, and some BBs for my gun. Will you please bring me some over shoes for when it rains.
Your friend
Jerry May

Dear Santa Claus,

I am writing you so you will know what I want for Christmas. I am 4 years old and want a neighbor doll a doll house and a set of dishes. Thank you.
Your little friend
Miss Mary Hardin

Dear Santa Claus,

How are you tonight? I am o.k. and trying to be a good little boy. So you will bring me a big red wagon and a truck, tractor and 2 little cars for me and my playmates to play with. Thank you very much
Hubert Hardin

Dear Santa Claus,

I am writing you tonight to let you know what I want for Christmas. I want a baby blue eyes doll and a set of dishes and a doll and buggy. Oh yes a little sewing machine.

Your friend
Princess Sullivent

Dear Santa Clause,
I am a little boy five years old and I have tried to be a good boy this year, so will you please bring me a tool set building blocks and a bicycle. And don't forget all the other little boys and girls.

Indiana Man Dies In Wreck

SEMINOLE, Nov. 26 (UP)—Otto Enos, 50, of Greenburg, Ind., was killed instantly in a head-on collision between two automobiles on U. S. Highway 180 near here last night and a charge of murder with a motor vehicle was filed today against 20-year-old New Mexico man.

The dead man's wife, Mrs. Shonette Isabel Enos, was seriously injured in the crash on a straight stretch of the highway about seven miles east of Seminole.

Gaines County attorney W. P.

Curry filed charges before Justice of the Peace R. P. Kelly against William Millard Harvey of Carrizo, N. M., driver of the other automobile.

Both cars were demolished in the crash.

Funeral arrangements for Enos were pending awaiting expected arrival here today of a daughter from Indiana.

Game Commission Asks Hunters To Help In Study

Quail hunters are reminded by W. C. Glazener of the Texas Game and Fish Commission that quail wings are again wanted this season to complete the study started last year on age and sex ratio and other important information concerning bobwhite quail.

Mr. Glazener said, "If you or any of your friends are in a position to participate, just let us know. We will be glad to mail you a supply of return envelopes on which you need not pay any postage."

Continuing, he explained, "It is our opinion that 300 to 500 wings will be required to serve as a dependable sample from a given county. Therefore, we will greatly appreciate any efforts you might make to fill such a need."

To the hunters who sent in quail wings last year will be sent an analysis report if they request it.

Pentachlorophenol, already widely used as a wood preservative, now shows up in an effective spray to kill weeds, particularly along railroad rights of way.

Your Scrap Dealer...

A VITAL LINK IN NATIONAL PRODUCTION

The scrap metal he gathers is as necessary for producing tanks and autos, nails and bridges, as iron ore from mines. He needs your broken machinery, old batteries, in fact anything discarded or useless made of iron and steel or other metals to send on to the mills. Most steel is made from 1/2 scrap and 1/2 pig iron. Other metals, too—zinc, lead, aluminum, copper, etc.—are re-used in production. Scrap is critically short.

Eastland Women Attend Dallas Cancer Meeting

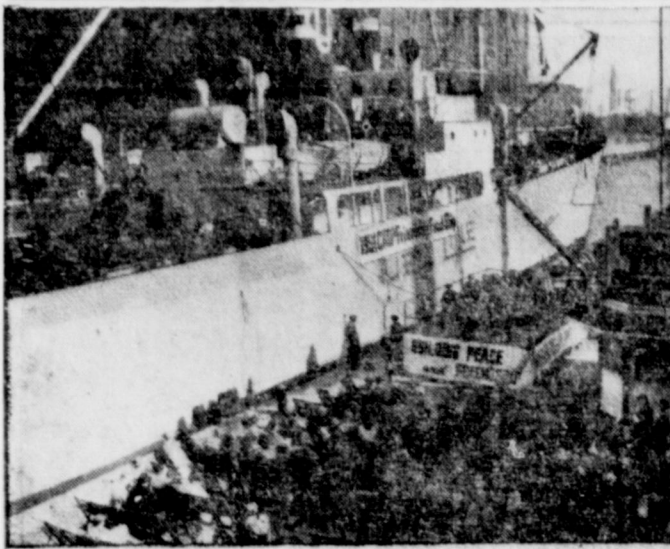

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins and Mrs. Billy Walters, Jr., have returned from Dallas where they attended the meeting of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society, held this week in the Baker Hotel.

The theme of the meeting was "When Will They Find a Cure for Cancer?", with more than 100 speakers handling the different phases and stressing the following article to be published for the public.

"There's a Cure for Cancer, if it is discovered early. The process of cure involves many steps. The last of these steps are taken by the physician. The first step is taken by the patient. "A cure begins before diagnosis; it begins in the mind of the patient who is alert to cancer symptoms, and who has learned to study the functions of his body. In most cases it is the patient, who can discover the symptoms of cancer first; it is the patient, who must go to the physician; it is the patient then, who initiates his own cure. He can make the physician's life saving task an easy one or he can make his own end a fatal one."

Mrs. F. T. Isbell has returned to her home here after having visited with relatives in Kentucky for the past two weeks.

FRIENDSHIP FOOD SENT ABROAD

Colorful dedication ceremony was held on United Nations Day for a Friendship Food Shipment contributed by American farmers to refugees in Germany through the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP). Part of the hundreds in attendance are seen being seated for the ceremony at the foot of Chicago's Michigan Avenue Bridge. The ship is the Norwegian overseas freighter SS. Ornefjell. Its gift cargo is the first of an estimated 1400 carloads of bulk foodstuffs that will be contributed to CROP's program of world relief this year. Four other shipments, destined for Italy, Greece, Central Europe, the Holy Land, Turkey and India, are clearing the Port of Philadelphia this month. Since 1947 CROP has collected 5400 freight carloads of foodstuffs for overseas distribution by its parent agencies, Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief.

Beethoven Junior Music Club Has Meeting, Program In Weaver Home

Members of the Beethoven Junior Music Club met Monday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Weaver, with their son and daughter, Herby and Jana as hosts.

Jana Weaver led in the ritual and accompanied the group as they sang "For the Beauty of the Earth."

H. A. Elliott Of Olden Honored On His 87th Birthday Sunday

H. A. Elliott of Olden celebrated his 87th birthday Sunday by having five of his eight children and a large number of grandchildren spend the day with him.

Mr. Elliott was born in Tennessee and came to Texas when he was fourteen years old. He was a section foreman for a number of years, and served as janitor for the Eastland schools for some time while living in Eastland. He is the only surviving relative of his family at this time. There are five generations now living in his immediate family and four generations were present for the birthday celebration.

His daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sharp lives with Mr. Elliott at this time. The house was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and fall flowers. The birthday dinner was a traditional Thanksgiving feast with all of the good things that go with Thanksgiving. The birthday cake was rather unusual in that it was decorated as a huge turkey.

Children present for the day were Mr. W. A. Elliott of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Buster Elliott and boys of Olden; Mrs. Fred Hayes and son of Cisco; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Sanford and children of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Sharp of Olden.

Grandchildren attending were Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Bell of Weatherford; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gray and children of Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Squires and children of Ranger; Mr. and Mrs. Saw Rowch of Weatherford and Mrs. Mary Alford and boys of Weatherford.

J. A. Doyles Have Holiday Guests

Mrs. Brett Baillio and little son Brett Jr., of Victoria have been the guests here for the past ten days in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Doyle and were joined here for Thanksgiving and the return home by their husband and father.

Other guests over the holiday week-end in the Doyle home were Miss Anita Doyle, RN of St. Paul's hospital in Dallas, Meses. S. A. Doyle and Jot Redburn of Olney and Mrs. M. B. Goode, Mrs. Doyle's mother who will remain here for several weeks longer.

Adult No. 2 Social Slated For Tues.

A social for the Adult Number 2 Department of the First Baptist Church will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the fellowship room of the Church, Mrs. H. C. Westfall social chairman announced.

Rev. C. M. Rathel will be the speaker and Gay Poe will present a musical number. A. J. Blevins will be master of ceremonies.

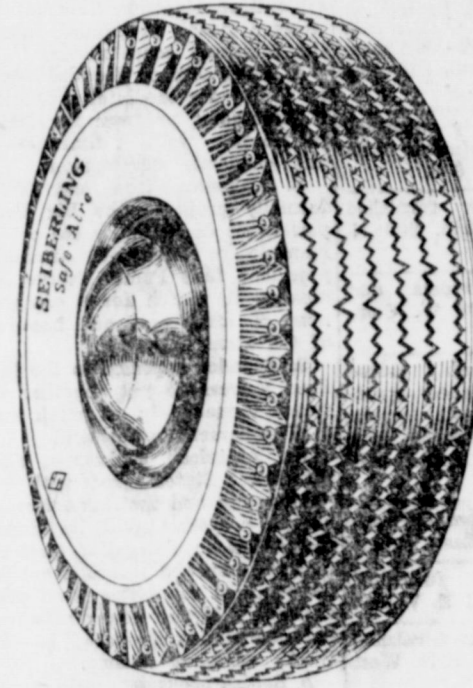

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Pumphrey of Stamford visited here Sunday in the home of Mrs. Pumphrey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George I. Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Pentecost visited with their daughter, Mrs. W. F. Harris of Electra, who accompanied them to Electra where they visited with their granddaughter, Mrs. Sellers and little daughter, Debbia.
