Right now it looks as though Ike will be our next president, and while he may not be the greatest man on earth, he does seem to have some "raising." From what we can learn Mother Eisenhower was the type of mother that thought it better to have the ball game just a few minutes late, if it was to keep her children out of Sunday school. Ike also knows what hog and hominy means. He knows the hominy doesn't grow on trees and that hogs are not passed around as souvenirs.

Ike was born in Texas, and while his daddy dragged him off to Kansas at a very early date, no man can be very bad after being born in the Lone Star State. Up in the Sunflower State he grew into manhood, and what a man. Nobody is ashamed of Ike, and Ike isn't ashamed of anybody who is half decent.

He has made a wonderful military man — one of the world's greatest. He is hard enough to look Joe Stalin in the eye and tell him how the cow ate the cabbage, and soft enough to shed a tear should opportunity present itself. But among other things, Ike is not a politician. He isn't hunting a job, for he already has one. Yet he is a good enough American to abide by the demands of a majority.

Most men of the presidential class, ask for the job and then with the aid of friends (who want to be remembered after election) begin spending vast sums of money in an effort to take over. They are really seeking the job, either by fair means or foul. But in Ike's case the candidate is not seeking the job, but the job is seeking the candidate. Something quite out of the ordinary, to say the least. It is a record very few presidents can boast. Usually the job goes to the highest bidder, regardless of qualifications.

Now we are not saying that Ike will make a great president. We do not know. Even Ike hasn't made any broad assertions. He is as modest as he is truthful, and he is too modest to present his own name. The strongest words he has uttered concerning the presidency was when he told friends that he would serve if the voters of America wanted him. He didn't tell them how good he is, or how smart. He has never uttered a word about his qualifications. He has taken it for granted that Americans know him — that they feel he is honest and trustworthy. He does not claim to be brilliant, though his record proves him to be one of the world's most brilliant men. He hasn't told anybody about his excessive "smartness," yet he is brainy enough to head one of the greatest universities on the earth.

Some kick because he is a military man. We don't hold this against him. George Washington was a military man and the first fellow who says he wasn't a good president will likely come up missing. Also in his case the office seems to have been seeking the man, rather than the man seeking the office. Ike seems to have something in common with our first president. General Grant was a good president and a great general.

After all it is a matter of using bay mare sense and staying honest that makes a good president. We know Ike has plenty bay-mare sense and we think his mother taught him better than to lie or be a crook. We'll risk our vote on him and he will be elected if he will take the job. The job will be hard and we are not going to be critical, for it's going to take him a long time to clean out Washington. It's an awful mess.

Hospital Workers Needed Tonight

Hospital workers were praised for their numbers and for the work they accomplished at the hospital site Tuesday night and were asked to report again tonight that the work may continue, by M. H. Perry, construction chairman.

Studebaker Is Car Of Beauty

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 9 (UP)—The "Starliner," a five-passenger, hardtop convertible, is the pace car for Studebaker's 1952 models announced today, stated Mac Warren.

This newest body style by Studebaker is offered in both the Champion and Commander lines, and is available in eleven different two-tone color combinations and two upholstery options. The "Starliner" typifies, both outside and inside, the striking design and appointments of the company's entire series of new models.

Externally said Mr. Warren, the '52 Studebakers reveal entirely new front-end treatment and substantial re-styling in the rear. Hoods are longer and lower, with new emblems and ornaments.

The massive wrap-around bumpers are equipped with four vertical guards; two located under the headlamps, to protect the vehicle from the customary bumps encountered in day-to-day driving, and two smaller guards to protect the license plate from damage.

The most significant changes in the rear are found in the tail lights and trunk lid handles. The tail lights, which appear to be integral parts of the rear fenders rather than "added-on" assemblies, give the effect of extending the sweep of the fenders and thus a corresponding increase in body length. Their design, however, does not sacrifice any of the increased area of illumination which proved so popular on the '51 models.

Surer, yet softer and easier brake action has been achieved by changes in the brake pedal linkage. The use of floating, rather than fixed, rear shoes in the brakes makes both front and rear shoes completely self-adjusting.

Studebaker's much-talked-about such success a year ago on the V-8 power plant introduced with Commander and Land Cruiser remains essentially unchanged.

Heat-resisting, glare-reducing glass for windshields, side and rear windows is optional on all '52 models. Rear view visibility on convertibles has been greatly increased by enlarging the rear window areas by nearly 265 square inches.

Eleven solid color choices are available in addition to the eleven two-tone combinations offered for the "Starliner."

Such well-established Studebaker features and options as automatic transmission, overdrive, hill-holder, one-piece windshields, climacterizer and others are continued, said Mr. Warren.

Ten-Year-Old Girl Makes Solo Flight

MIAMI Fla., Jan. 9 (UP)—Betty Lee Bennett, 10 year-old fifth-grader, claimed the distinction today of being "the youngest soloist in American aviation history."

Her father, Alfred B. Bennett, an airplane company official, said Betty Lee completed her first solo flight last week after he had given her 18 hours of instructions.

"I wasn't worried a bit," said the young aviatrix, "and it was much more fun without daddy along."

New Eastland County Attorney Has The "Background" For Work

Joe Neussle, newly appointed Eastland County Attorney and Ranger's City Attorney, doesn't have to go far to get assistance with any legal problem that might have him temporarily "stumped."

As a first step he can turn to his wife who is a licensed lawyer herself and is Joe's chief "critic and counsel."

As you can readily understand, some of the legal problems will stump even a woman, one woman that is.

In that case Mrs. Neussle will have to call on her sister, Adelle Bourke, who is also licensed to practice law. If that fails, most people and lawyers would then throw up their hands in defeat, but not County Attorney Joe Neussle.

The next step would be consulting another lawyer in his wife's family. Mrs. William J. Chilcoat of Fort Benning, Georgia, another sister-lawyer of his wife. If Mrs. Chilcoat fails to come up with the right answer,

56 Miles From Port

Flying Enterprise Breaks Tow; Heavy Seas Hamper Connections

FALMOUTH, ENGLAND, Jan. 9 (UP)—Waves 23 feet high balked efforts to put a new towing cable aboard the foundering American freighter Flying Enterprise today.

With the deck almost vertical at times and the port rail under water, Capt. Henrik Kurt (stayput) Carlsen and his crew of one dared not try to clamber to the bow to catch, haul in and make fast a few cable from the tugboat Turmoil.

The 37-year-old New Jersey skipper and London-born Kenneth Dancy, who joined Carlsen's lonely vigil last Friday night could move on the pitching, rolling derelict only on all fours, handhold by handhold.

The old towrope snapped in rough seas about 56 miles south-west of Falmouth at 1:30 today (8:30 p.m. Tuesday EST), casting the Enterprise adrift in some of the most perilous waters around Britain.

At first, the Enterprise had been reported only 10 miles from rock-tipped Lizard Head at the southwest corner of England—an ancient graveyard of ships. In April 1947, the bulk of the old British battleship Warspite lost its tow at about the same spot and broke up on the rocks.

But the Enterprise's position at 8 a.m. (3 a.m. EST) was corrected to 30 miles from Lizard Head and 46 miles from Falmouth Harbor, the goal Carlsen had hoped to reach this morning.

The Turmoil moved in close to the Enterprise at dawn for an attempt to throw a new heaving line with attached towing cable aboard, but found no one in the bow to catch it.

Carlson sent word over his makeshift battery radio that it was impossible for him and Dancy to get to the bow, but he said they hoped to make it later in the day.

The big French tug Abeille 25, which with the U.S. Destroyer Willard Keith was standing by the Turmoil ready to lend a hand, radioed that the Enterprise was not in any immediate danger—provided a new towrope could be made fast during the day.

The casting adrift of the Enterprise was heart-breaking for Carlsen. It had seemed that victory in his epic two-week battle to save the ship was within his grasp when the new setback came.

He had intended to ride the listing, leaking freighter triumphantly into Falmouth Harbor tomorrow to the cheers of the seafaring town and the acclaim of the world.

Bunting already had been hung in the streets of Falmouth and Carlsen's proud mother and father, flown in from Denmark specially for the occasion, were waiting to greet him.

But now he cannot reach Falmouth before tomorrow at the earliest. At least 18 more hours of towing would be required to get the ship into port.

Paul Daniel Is Mercury Dealer; Henson Retires

Paul Daniel of Canton, Texas, but more recently from Mexia, has purchased the Henson Motor Company, local Mercury dealers. The business will be known in the future as Daniel's Motor Co., and will specialize in the Mercury line only.

Mr. Daniel plan very few changes. He will employ the same mechanic, D. C. Taylor, and other local help.

J. B. McConnell of Dublin, an experienced Mercury man, has been added to the sales staff. Mr. Daniel plans to be on the floor most of the time, and will be glad to have Eastland people visit him at his new establishment, on South Seaman. The old telephone number, 103, has been retained.

This change was made because of the serious illness of Mr. Henson, who is now in All Saints in Fort Worth.

Vickers' Child To Be Buried In Eastland

Word has been received here of the death at 1 p.m. Monday of 2 month old Gretchen Karla Jean Vickers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vickers at their home in Odessa.

Survivors other than the parents are an older brother, Richard Clayton Vickers, 2, and the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Armstrong of Cisco and Mrs. W. C. Vickers of Eastland.

Burial is to be here in Eastland cemetery, but the time had not been learned at press time.

Hospital Workers Reporting For Work Tuesday

Volunteer workers reporting for labor at the Eastland Memorial hospital Tuesday night included Horace Horton, Wayne Caton, L. D. Harris, Vic Edwards, Herb Weaver, Henry Van Geem, Hubert Jones, M. H. Perry, Carl True, Donald Brinkley, Bill Jessup, Bill White, Jack Carothers, Dub Kimbrough, J. O. Thompson, Ben Hamner, H. E. MacMoy, Dr. James C. Whittington, Bill Walters, Johnson Smith, Johnnie Collins, Paul Chaney, Chile Johnson, and E. M. Spurlin.

Host and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hardeman, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones, Miss Opal Hearn.

Ft. Worth Lions Be Entertained

The Lions Club met Monday at noon and enjoyed another one of those good Methodist dinners. Three visitors were in attendance. Most members were busy paying their first quarterly dues.

T. R. Atwood and his junior musicians furnished the program. They were small in size, and comparatively few in number, due to illness of some members, but their program was well received. Those playing in the band included Saul Pullman, Davis Byars, Golda Beth Skiles, Sylvia Alford, Freddie Taylor, Hampton Stamey, Paul Gattis, Lanny Lee and Marshall Fox, Jr.

Pfc. Robert Vaught, formerly a member of the Eastland band, but now a member of the U. S. Air Force Band at Luke Field, Ariz., was heard on two recordings. Mr. Atwood was high in his praise for the youngsters, and the Lion membership enjoyed the program very much.

Two Fort Worth Lion clubs will be visitors in Eastland at an early date. They will, no doubt, be given an opportunity to furnish the program, which will smell something like a rocco or Fat Stock Show.

Olden Swamps Strawn Quints; Juniors To Play

Olden Hornets went all out last night when they took two neat games from the Strawn Greyhounds.

In the girls' game Capt. Canet dropped in 17 points, trailed by Edwards with 14, with the usual game at guard by co-captain Jones. Coach Hilliard used substitutes freely to take a win of 51 to 21.

The boys took a fast one from a well coached club, with Capt. Rowch dripping in 29 points for the Hornets. Horn scored 8 points. Final score was Olden 52 and Strawn 25.

Official was Tate of Desdemona.

The Junior Hornets will see action Thursday night when they take on the Eastland Juniors at the Eastland gym at 7 o'clock. Admission is 10 and 25 cents.

Eastland Wins Over Scranton

Eastland's junior high teams, boys and girls, have two new feathers for their caps as the result of Monday night's games with Scranton teams. Both games were good and some real playing was seen.

Girls began at 7 o'clock, and won their game with a score of 26 to 13. Trout won high score with 21 points trailed by Taylor 2, Abbott 2 and Miller 1.

The boys went in for bigger stakes and took their game with a score of 35 to 30. Caton was high point man with 11 points. Graham made 8 points and Tankersley 6.

TO WORK CEMETERY

People interested in the Staff cemetery are invited to be present at the cemetery Friday, Jan. 11, at which time some general repairs and improvements will be made. Among other things the fence is to be repaired, so if you are interested, bring tools for that purpose.

High Taxes And Greater Military Budget Told In President's Speech

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UP)—President Truman summoned the nation today to "move full steam ahead" in its rearmament drive because the "threat of world war is still very real."

The chief executive, in his annual state of the union message, charted a stern course of continued high taxes, greater military expansion, tougher wage-price controls, fewer civilian goods and a more foreign aid.

Appearing before a joint session of congress—with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill looking on from the gallery—Mr. Truman solemnly told his countrymen that 1952 is a "crucial year" in the free world's defense effort.

His message coupled a grim warning with some degree of hope. "If we falter," he said, "we can lose all the gains that we have made."

"If we drive ahead with courage and vigor and determination, we can by the end of 1952 be in a position of much greater security. . . . If we put forth our best efforts this year—and next year—we can be 'over the hump' in our effort to build strong defenses."

Topical summary of President Truman's state of the union message:

Peace or war?—The United States and other free nations are passing through "a period of grave danger." Russia is increasing its "already excessive" armed might. There are signs of further trouble in the Far East. "The world still walks in the shadow of another world war. . . (but) we have made real progress this last year along the road to peace."

The task—The free nations must stick together and may have to maintain larger military forces "for years" to discourage aggression.

Korea—United Nations forces have turned back the Chinese Communist invasion "without widening the area of conflict."

Wage and prices— " . . . we intend to hold the line on prices just as tightly as the law allows. We will permit only those wage increases which are clearly justified under sound stabilization policies; and we will see to it that industries absorb cost increases out of earnings wherever feasible, before they are authorized to raise prices. . . . except where the recent amendments to the law specifically require us to give further price increases."

Inflation—Congress must enact "a strong anti-inflation law" and repair "the damage" done last year.

Taxes—There will be "high taxes over the next few years. They must be shared "as fairly as possible," and tax laws must be administered "without fear or favor of any kind for anybody."

Military Expansion—U. S. armed forces now total "nearly" 3,500,000—an increase of more than 1,000,000 in the past year. Some further increases will be recommended this year, "with particular emphasis on air power."

Civilian Production—Defense needs will mean "smaller production of some civilian goods." Cutbacks will be "nothing like those during world war II. . . . but there will be considerably less of some goods than we have been used to these past two or three years."

Politics—This is a presidential election year and "we have a great responsibility to conduct our political fights in a manner that does not harm the national interest." Mr. Truman gave no hint of his own political plans for 1952.

Company 3—D. C. McLendon, Capt.; Wade Massengale, Lt.

Numerous other committees were elected or appointed to function during the coming year.

VA Hospital In Need Of More Skilled Workers

Kerrville's Veterans Administration Hospital is seeking skilled technicians to fill well paid positions. Manager Judd H. Kirkham announced this week.

The hospital is in urgent need of two dietitians, a physical therapist, an occupational therapist and a medical social worker.

Dr. Kirkham's appeal for key personnel for the VA institution points out that the annual salaries for dietitians range from $3410 to $5060, and from $3410 to $4205 for therapists. Salary for medical social workers is $4205.

Generally speaking the qualification requirements for these positions are such as would meet the approval of the American Medical Association.

Applications and resumes should be sent direct to Manager, VA Hospital, Kerrville, Texas.

Clayton Rand Says

AMERICA'S BABEL

The American Telephone Company says Washington, D. C., is the talkiest city in the world, at least it has more telephones, per capita, than any other city.

According to the company, New York leads in the number of phones with 3,137,405 of them, but Washington leads in the number of phones and extensions per person. The average number in the entire United States is 28.1 per 100 persons, which is nine times the world average. But our blabbing Babel has 60.6 phones per 100 persons.

It isn't stated how many of these phones are private and how many public, but it's safe to say the city's telephone bills are paid by the taxpayers, which encourages conversation.

Then Washington enjoys the highest per capita consumption of whiskey in the world, and nothing loosens tongues at both ends like alcoholic stimulation. And most of the residents of the Capital City talked their way into public office or onto the federal payroll to begin with. They are professional talkers. And the most intensive concentration of bureaucratic government on earth, outside of London and Moscow, is in Washington. For 18 years now the city has run at the mouth.

Washington leads the world in the per capita consumption of whiskey, in wild rumors, public scandals and the number of phones. There's more to talk about in Washington than any other city.

NO SURVIVORS BY WILL HENRY

Copyright 1950 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with the publishers, Random House, Inc. DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

IT is not possible to know what history will ascribe as the reason for the Sioux not scalping Yellow Hair. I have given the real one: one great warrior's personal respect for another. For the fact that 48 hours later, Terry's column found Custer's body unmarked save for the wounds he took in battle, future generations of hero-makers may thank an "ignorant, vicious savage," Tashunka Witko, the war chief, Crazy Horse.

Now the Sioux turned on Butler and me like so many hunt-eager hounds. Yellow Hair was dead. The battle was over. They had won the greatest victory over white troops in their history. Now all that remained was to chase down the great soldier with the chevrons and Cetan Mani.

Best not to spoil such fun too quickly. Let them run. Let them have a start. Especially Cetan Mani.

Swinging up on Keogh's horse, Comanche, I grabbed Butler by the arm, shouting, "Let's go, Sergeant. They'll want a run before elevating our wigs." His hard jaw broke in that fast grin as he swung up behind me.

"By all means. Let's not disappoint 'em."

I let Comanche go a dozen jumps across the hill. Suddenly Butler called out, "Hit for the top, Colonel." I swung the horse hard left, putting him up the last few yards of the incline. "We'll make that hill even if Custer couldn't."

The soldier's words were grunted between clamped teeth and I knew he'd been hit.

The Sioux came right on our haunches, yelling and war-whooping but holding their fire now.

As we hit the rise, Sergeant Butler yelled, "Here goes the Seventh." He'd flung himself off the horse, hit the ground, rolled to his knees and had his guns smoking, almost before his words were out.

The Sioux split around the hill-top and came for me. But now the lead was singing and the fun was over. They meant business. Behind me I could hear Butler's guns still going.

Hearing alone remained to me of my senses I "heard" the blows striking into me. But they were without location, meaning or feeling. If I thought I heard a familiar, deep voice calling, it was probably only that I relived in that last flash of consciousness the memory of Tashunka Witko's gallant crying-out of "Quarter!" over Yellow Hair's fallen form. . . .

THE fact that I opened my eyes again at all will strain a generous credulity. That, once opened, they looked upon the scene they did, may prove too much even for the most willing believer. But however incredible, the fact still remains that I had the privilege of listening to my own funeral oration: the speaker, my Sioux "father," Tashunka Witko, Crazy Horse.

The Oglala bury their honored warrior dead on a high scaffolding. On the bed of this, along with the hero's body, are placed his finest weapons and ample food for the long trail out to Wanagi Yata. Beneath the platform is tethered the favorite war pony of the departed.

Beneath my cottonwood bier, gray with the snows of 14 winters, scarred and stiff from hunts and war raids, rolling his pendulous lower lip over the snagged, yellow cups of his remaining teeth, stood old Hussein. The Sioux might have picked 50 better mounts from any of the pony herds but they have a fine sensibility in such matters. This was undoubtedly the horse of Walking Hawk's heart.

The other thing: the weapons they'd provided gladdened the touch of my searching hands. A new rifle, two holstered pistols, plenty of ammunition for both, Yellow Bird's knife.

I didn't know how long Crazy Horse would talk but one thing I did know—when he finished, I got the torch.

Fortunately, he had his listeners' rapt attention. I was able to work atop the scaffold with comparative freedom. I slipped the holsters under me, buckling them on. I stuffed a partridge with pemmican, smoked fat, raw buffalo steaks, and three dozen cartridges for the rifle. My head hammered with blinding pain. Every move brought some new agony from the abrasions and contusions which covered me. My throat was on fire. I was dying for water. Still I worked frenziedly, for down by the fires Tashunka Witko was reaching his conclusion.

I slipped down off the far side of the scaffolding. Hussein whickered and my heart spasmed. I went over to him, whispering quickly, soothingly, knotting the lead rope hard around his reaching nose.

I led Hussein over the rise on which the scaffolding stood, down into the gully beyond. Tying him, I ran back up the ridge, flopped on my belly, snaked back down through the grass. After all, a booming fire never was bad theater.

IN the pocket of the sergeant's jacket was an Army tinder kit. I fished it out, wadded a pile of dry grass into the faggots crammed under my last resting place, began quickly striking the flint.

The fat sparks flew into the stuffed grasses, my breath puffing steadily behind them.

The vibrating growl of the packed audience accepting Crazy Horse's speech, rolled in my footsteps as I ran for the ridge-top. I no more than slid over into the dark of the gully than the whole skyline, campward, flushed red.

I could hear the sucking boom of the mushrooming flames leaping around the scaffolding; then the alarmed shouts and moccasin-hills of the running crowd. The hillside thronged with watchers seconds after I'd quitted it. My medicine was good. A milling, pushing mob of Indians trampled the slope over which Hussein and I had passed.

Our tracks wouldn't be found, tomorrow or any morning.

South Koreans Slaughter Reds In Hill Fights

8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Jan. 9 (UP)—Crack South Korean troops rallied today for another attempt to recapture two important hill positions in western Korea where they killed an estimated 1,000 Communists Tuesday in the heaviest fighting in six weeks.

An 8th Army spokesman said the 1st ROK Infantry Division, with the aid of United Nations artillery, took the heaviest toll of enemy troops since the beginning of the "little armistice" on Nov. 27.

The South Koreans cut deep into the ranks of "at least" four Chinese battalions in the continuing battles in the Sasi bulge area west of Korangpo.

However, the Chinese Reds were still reported in possession of the positions which the South Koreans first gave up on Dec. 28. Since then the strategic ground has been the object of a series of the most bitter battles of the entire sub-freezing front.

Ban On Airfields Only Point Preventing Korean Armistice

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Jan. 9 (UP)—The Communists yielded to all United Nations demands on supervision of a truce today except the one that would bring final agreement—a ban on military airfield construction.

The U.N.'s Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner promptly rejected the Red program.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's supreme headquarters in Tokyo backed up the Allied truce delegation with a "voice of the UN Command" broadcast warning that the Reds must agree to the airfield construction ban if they want an armistice.

The broadcast again charged that the Communist negotiators at Panmunjom are directed by the Kremlin and have no interest in the welfare of the North Korean people.

The armistice subcommittee discussing an exchange of war prisoners also made no progress.

Said the UN's Rear Admiral R. E. Libby of the prisoner discussion: "We sat and listened for about an hour and a half to the trumped-up charges and irrelevancies and to general drivel from (North Korean) General Lee, after which I said that as soon as they are ready to talk business, I should be happy to meet them."

Both subcommittees will meet again at Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Thursday (9 p.m. today EST).

WHAT WILL CONGRESS DO?—Congress is expected to move cautiously, if at all, through the legislative woods after reconvening this month. President Truman will probably get little that he seeks, except continued high military spending. Foreign aid is expected to find tough sledding, as will the President's expected request for higher taxes and his whole "Fair Deal" program. The Newschart above lists some of the major items before Congress. As in 1951, the legislative body is likely to continue to be most noteworthy for its investigations.

Looking Back on 1951—

... the inventory shows that the scales weighed out a good portion of the better things for us to enjoy. While the mistakes we made stick out like a sore finger, and our failures almost overwhelm us, yet these discouragements are small indeed compared to the unhappiness and tragic experiences of some who happen to live in other countries. We are glad we live here where we have had the opportunity to serve a host of loyal customers for more than a quarter century.

Allies Thrown Off Two Key Hill Positions

8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, Jan. 8 (UP)—Counter-attacking Communists recaptured two bitterly-contested positions in western Korea today only a few hours after United Nations forces ousted them.

The Reds took one objective in a furious hour and 20-minute assault at two-battalion strength and recaptured the second in an hour and 39 minutes with one battalion. Both battles ended almost simultaneously.

Only a few hours earlier U.N. forces had stormed back into the strategic advanced positions west of Korangpo they had lost to the Reds Dec. 28 and had since fought and the second after 10 minutes.

The Reds, beefing up their attacking forces, recaptured both positions after bitter battles supported by two Red tanks or self-propelled guns.

Allied units along the remainder of the 15-mile front reported only light to moderate contacts with Red units up to platoon strength.

In the air, 17 U. S. F-56 Sabrejets tore into a mass of 100 Communist Mig's, damaging one in a 20-minute battle over Sinanju in Northwest Korea. It was the third straight day of air war over Korea and boosted the three-day bag of Red planes to 20 destroyed or damaged.

In another encounter with the Russian-built jets over "Mig Alley," Sabrejets exchanged a brief firing pass with 10 Mig's out of a flight of 50, but no damage was inflicted on either side.

The bald eagle was adopted as our national emblem by Congress on June 20, 1782.

Marina Koshetz Will Sing In "Merry Widow"

Beautiful and blonde Marina Koshetz, singing star of movies, radio, opera and concert halls, will sing the title role in "The Merry Widow", Jan. 30-Feb. 3, last five days of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth.

Recent films include "Two Sisters from Boston" in which she sang with Lauritz Melchior; "No Leave, No Love", "Holiday in Mexico" and "Luxury Liner." The young soprano also has made five solo appearances with the Boston Symphony and three Hollywood Bowl appearances with Leopold Stokowski conducting.

Edward Everett Horton, movie, stage and radio comedian, will play the comic lead in the ever-popular light opera presented by the Fort Worth Civic Opera in Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium adjoining Will Rogers Coliseum, scene of the rodeo. "Merry Widow" performances will be at night except the final day, which will be a matinee.

Rita Hayworth Ready To Work

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 9 (UP)—Rita Hayworth, suspended by Columbia Pictures for refusing to work, notified the studio she would be ready today to rehearse scenes for her comeback movie.

The studio announced only that the titian-haired star, estranged wife of Indian Prince Aly Khan, has agreed to return to work on the movie, "Affair in Trinidad."

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—There is no happenstance about the supporting casts David Weisbart rounds up for his motion pictures. He selects the players by consulting his "past performance chart."

The young producer, who came up from the film editor ranks at Warner Bros. used his "past performance" system in selecting a cast for "Mara Mara" adventure drama starring Errol Flynn and Ruth Roman.

"Raymond Burr, for instance," Weisbart said, "was chosen for the role of Brooks Benedict, Flynn's opponent in 'Mara Mara,' after director Godron Douglas and I studied his performances in all his past pictures."

"We agreed, particularly after seeing him as prosecuting attorney in 'A Place in the Sun,' that there was a competent, forceful actor, not the obvious heavy type, who would fit himself to the appraisal in the script—a person not extra-ordinary in any way one that a woman would feel safe with, and a man would feel safe with too."

He said it was the same sort of appraisal that led to selection of Paul Picerni.

"Here is a young actor who needs only the right opportunity," Weisbart said. "He is a young William Powell type who can project the precise speech and elaborate non-chalance of the character."

Warsaw Court Sentences Five To Death As Spies

LONDON, Jan. 8 (UP)—Five persons accused of spying for the United States were sentenced to death today by a Warsaw court.

actress Steve Ranier, Manila private eye.

Richard Webb was chosen as Flynn's hard-drinking business partner partly because of the way he impressed Weisbart as Randolph Scott's younger brother in "The Champagne Bandits."

"He has a fine speaking voice and a splendid physical appearance, and as a hard-luck weakling will carry strong sympathy," the producer said.

Weisbart said old screen tests are as valuable in choosing his players as are pictures that get on the screen.

"Hollywood has millions of dollars invested in screen tests filed away in laboratory vaults," he said. "There may be a great discovery awaiting the producer who finds a rare talent that was tested for the wrong part."

the official Polish news agency PAP reported.

It identified them as Tadeusz Gluchowski, Wlclaw Korwel, Eugeniusz Falkus, Edward Dlugosz, and Edward Ryszard. No further details were given.

The trial was the latest in a series announced by Russia and its European satellites in the last three months of spies allegedly recruited by the U.S.

Russia, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria previously had reported similar trials. All except Hungary charged that the spies were dropped by parachute from American planes.

Mrs. Hassell Heads Slate Of New Officers Of Las Leales

Mrs. H. L. Hassell headed the date of officers presented by the nominating committee at the first meeting of the new year of members of the Las Leales Club.

Mmes. D. E. Frazer, J. C. Whatley, J. O. Earnest and Bernard Hanna committee members presented the names of Miss Verna Johnson, for vice president, Mrs. Rudolph Little, Secretary, Mrs. B. F. Hanna, treasurer and Mrs. Johnny Kilgore, project chairman.

Mrs. Kilgore, president presided during the election and Mmes. Earnest and L. E. Huckabay served as tellers and declared the nominees elected.

Miss Verna Johnson was hostess for the evening and presented Mrs. Hanna, who reviewed Donald Powell Wilson's "My Six Convicts." The story, from behind the walls of one of the Nation's largest penitentiaries, was written by Dr. Wilson, Psychiatrist, and is the account of the six men who assisted him as members of his staff, during his work in the prison.

Mrs. Hanna's interpretation of the story was well received. Others present were Mmes. Anna Grace Bumpass, Wayne Caton, Fred Maxey, Don Parker, G. A. Kammer, Homer Smith, Joe Sparks, W. Q. Verner, Hubert Westfall, James Horton and Misses Jessie Lee Ligon and Eunice Nall.

TCU Widens Its Margin In Cage Race; Tops Rice

Texas Christian stood even further aloft from its Southwest Conference foes today on its 42-30 triumph over Rice last night—its third straight conference victory and 13th for the season.

At Austin the Texas Longhorns captured their first win, defeating Southern Methodist 41-31.

TCU's rout of Rice at Houston was a severe test. The lead changed hands 10 times in the first three periods. The score was tied seven times.

Scoring was low, Don Etheridge's 13 points was high for the Horned Frogs while Rice's Teague scored seven.

Texas had a more leisurely time of it. The Mustangs trailed all the way except for a brief third period flurry of game-tying tallies. Steer guard George Sealing scored 15 points; Darrell Murphy got 10 for the Ponies.

The conference rests until Friday night, when Rice meets second place Texas A&M at College Station and Baylor opens its season against TCU at Fort Worth.

The hippopotamus was nicknamed "river horse" because when swimming it exposes nearly half the head, resembling a horse.

Pace-setter for Studebaker's strikingly designed new 1952 models is the "Starliner," a five-passenger, hardtop convertible. It is offered in both the Champion and Commander lines, and is available in eleven different two-tone color combinations. Upholstery trim includes two different nylon options as standard, and two leather options as extra-cost choices.

Pig Rustling Takes To Trucks

DENVER, Jan. 9 (UP) — A new wrinkle in rustling has sprung up in the west.

An Arvada, Colo., farmer complained to police yesterday that pig rustlers had made off with three prime porkers from his farm near Denver.

Francis Fessler said he counted snouts yesterday and discovered that three of his herd of swine had disappeared. He valued the 200-pound porkers at $112.50.

Fessler said tire marks around the pen led him to believe the rustling was done in the modern mechanized style—with a truck.

WHAT—Ice In California?

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (UP) —What city has the ice-meltingest winter sunshine — Los Angeles, Carlsbad, N. M., Phoenix, Ariz., or El Paso,—was the center of a growing controversy today.

The question was injected into the annual winter sunshine debate which usually involves only southern California and Florida, by Mayor Walker Bryan of Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce.

They sent a telegram to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, challenging this city to a melting contest with the other sunshine cities. The question is: Will a ton of ice melt faster in Los Angeles, Carlsbad, Phoenix or El Paso?

Harold W. Wright, manager of the Los Angeles Chamber, was puzzled by the challenge.

"Ice? Good heavens, what can they mean," he said.

His assistants explained with the aid of a dictionary that ice was the hard, clear substance produced by refrigerators.

"Oh, that," Wright said.

Song Written About "Ike"

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (UP) — A 24-year-old Bronx songwriter literally got on the Eisenhower-For-President bandwagon today by composing a march entitled "General Ike."

Al Rubin said he composed the military tune less than 24 hours after he heard that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would be a draft candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

The march goes as follows: "My Uncle Sam's a lucky man if he gets General Ike, "My Uncle Sam's a lucky man if Ike gets into the fight.

"For Eisenhower is that one, the one who'll have 'em on the run "And when there is a job to do he'll surely get it done.

"My president of all the U. S. A."

How To Influence Policemen And Win Freedom From Jail

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Jan. 9 (UP)—Suspected burglar James Lewis Otney, 22, today was practicing again his theories on how to win friends and influence policemen.

Otney's plan worked last year. His "cooperation" won him freedom when he admitted to Oklahoma City police that he stole a $2,500 diamond watch. He even helped officers, and hospital attendants, recover the watch from its concealment—in his stomach.

Police today were waiting for several Christmas "gifts" to be returned. Otney yesterday called recipients of his yuletide generosity and asked them to return the items, which he admitted taking from a drug store with some other loot which he already has brought from hiding for the officers.

Miners Union Tries To Join Pickle Business

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (UP) —The United Mine Workers Union apparently is extending itself into the Texas pickle business.

It was revealed yesterday in connection with a National Labor Relations Board case the John L. Lewis Union is organizing workers at a Texarkana, pickle plant.

The pickle plant's executives are disturbed.

"The pickle business is different from the coal business," Brown-Miller Co. plant manager George Klumb was quoted as saying. "Pickles which are bought on impulse might not sell if too highly priced—John L. Lewis has been able to get benefits for the coal miners that the pickle business might not be able to afford."

While the union was not involved directly in the complaint brought by Gaynell B. Loper and three other employees of Brown-Miller Co. of Texarkana, the UMW was identified in the intermediate report of the case as a labor organization within the meaning of the act (wage-hour law) and admits to membership employees of the respondent (Brown-Miller).

NLRB trial examiner Stephen S. Bean recommended to the board the firm "cease and desist from interrogating its employees concerning their union affiliations."

The full board will act on the recommendation at a later date.

Sweetwater Ball Club Goes Up For Disposal

SWEETWATER, Jan. 9 (UP) — Sweetwater of the Class C Longhorn League went on the sale block today after the 100 local citizens who owned the franchise voted to get out of the business because of high operating costs.

A spokesman said the group will try to find 20 local men to purchase the club and if that fails other cities will be contacted.

The Swatters finished in seventh place last season, losing $12,000 for the owners along the way.

Lawyer Sues Judy Garland For $130,000

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 9 (UP)—An attorney sought $130,000 today from singing star Judy Garland in a suit charging she repudiated her contract to act as her business manager.

Charles Goldring, attorney and accountant, filed suit against the actress yesterday asserting he signed an agreement to handle her business affairs Jan. 16, 1951.

He said Miss Garland promised to pay him five per cent of her earnings for the next seven years, which he estimated would amount to $2,600,000. He said she repudiated the contract last July 9.

He demanded five per cent of her estimated income and an accounting.

No Fuss Please

A KOREAN PORT, Jan. 9 (UP)—Sgt. Warren D. Sechrist is the 100,000th American soldier to be rotated home from Korea, but he doesn't want any fuss. He just wants to get home.

Sechrist, of Pittsburgh, Pa., told a colonel:

"Please don't make any fuss over me. Just let me get started home."

February Set As Tidelands Month

February will be "Tidelands Defense Month" in Texas, the Statewide Tidelands Committee announced today through its Chairman, Guy C. Jackson, Jr. of Anahuac.

Attention of Texans will be called to the Tidelands issue by means of newspaper advertisements and stories, radio broadcasts, magazines and other means the Chairman said.

Funds will be sought to carry on a national campaign for Congressional action quit - claiming the tidelands to the states.

"We are faced with a determined fight in Congress this next session", Jackson said. "We must carry the facts of the tidelands case to the people of every state in the nation. We must finance

Dent, Littlefield; Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, Bill Ware, Dallas; Texas Association of Commerce, Walter E. Long, Austin; Texas Press Association, Brad H. Smith, Westlaco. M. K. Weitzel, Austin, is Secretary of the Committee.

"Monthly magazines of the participating organizations will print a four page pamphlet in the February issue to help their members to participate in the drive for funds", Jackson said.

The House of Representatives passed quit-claim legislation in August of 1951 by a vote of 265 to 109. The Senate is expected to consider legislation in the current session. Funds raised by the Statewide Tidelands Committee will be devoted to a national campaign to awaken the country to the dangers of the tidelands decisions and to secure strong support in every state for Senate approval of a quit-claim bill.

Truman Sets '52 Budget At 53 Billion Dollars

WASHINGTON, Jan. (UP) — President Truman has approved a military budget of about $53,200,000,000 for the 1953 fiscal year, informed sources said today.

The total includes about $3,500,000,000 for construction of military bases and installations, and $500,000,000 for the overall operations of the Defense Department.

The remaining $49,200,000,000 for the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps is about $7,800,000,000 less than the joint chiefs of staff sought for the services during the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Informants emphasized that all of the figures must be regarded as approximate because of the possibility of last-minute changes before Mr. Truman submits his overall 1953 budget to congress late this month. But no major alterations in the total of the breakdown were foreseen.

The Air Force would get the lion's share, about $21,500,000,000 to enable it to expand from the present goal of 95 wing to 143 wings in late 1955 or early 1956.

The break-down for the other services, under present plans, would be:

Army $14,500,000,000 (B); Navy, including Marines, $13,200,000,000 (B).

The armed services originally asked for about $57,000,000,000 (B), exclusive of military construction and the overall Defense Department funds.
