When those bids are opened at City Hall tomorrow, voters in Eastland will have completed their task in connection with lake and spill-way improvements. They voted the bonds sold them and have hired men to do the work.

Of course we are not foolish enough to think that we have solved the water problem for all time to come, for we have not, though we have made a good start in the right direction.

Work at the lake can be completed within a short period of time, and it may be we will be enabled to get in on the spring rains (if any) and that will mean plenty drinking water and maybe a little for gardens and flowers during the summer months. That will be an improvement over last year.

But the water problem will not be solved until we have facilities to care for all water needs, commercial, industrial and otherwise, for years to come.

Next week we will have another election. Eastland will have an opportunity to say "yes" to Ranger's invitation to join them in a mammoth water project that will spell independence for the entire county, so far as water is concerned. So far we have not found a voter who has stated his intention to oppose it. It would be wonderful if it could be unanimous, but we suppose that would be asking too much.

However, men act very funny at times. Opposition brought about the crucifixion of the greatest man who ever lived. So we are always looking for opposition. Right now the weather is cool and we have a little water in the lake, and we have people who have such short visions they can't figure their needs two weeks in advance. If the weather was hot, and the lake dry, and these opponents were spitting cotton, they might at least consider the plan, whether they voted for it or not. But people here have been spitting cotton for a long time, and this election might go over the top with a bang. We are predicting a landslide.

Doc Davis and Fred Maxey haven't lost confidence in the country even if some of us have been trembling a little. Doc says he has seen it this bad for three years at a time and then get worse. Fred says he has known Texas as a long time, and it has always rained just before it was too late. They are brightening up their store with paint and new displays.

This August weather we have been enjoying all during January seems to be playing out. They had a little blizzard up in Fairbanks, Alaska the other day, when the thermometer dropped to 60 degrees below zero. Rather chilly, we say.

We are not looking for anything like this in Eastland, but you know those blizzards have to go South in order that out, and lots of them kick us in the slats while passing by. We would be willing to take a little zero weather if the weather department will mix a little California dew with it. That arid section boasts a 16-inch dew last week. With much moisture in this county during the next six months, cotton would make 2-bales to the acre, and we would not be able to stack the peanut crop on the ground on which it was grown. A 50-acre pasture would be large enough to fatten out a thousand head of steers.

But we just don't have the dew.

KEAUVER SHOPPING FOR AID IN HIS PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (UP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, who has assured the Democrats a party fight this year, began casting about today for promising state primaries in which to make his long-shot bid for the presidential nomination.

He already has entered the Illinois Primary, and he announced plans to enter in California. He promised to disclose within a few days what he will do in other states.

The Tennessee Democrat, who captured national attention presiding over the Senate Crime Investigation last year, announced at a news conference yesterday that he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination. He said he is in the race "to the finish", whatever President Truman may do about seeking reelection.

The fact that he gave no heed to Mr. Truman's still undisclosed plans has already led some administration Democrats to join a stop-Kefauver movement.

Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) has been entered in the Illinois presidential primary with the backing of state organization Democrats. When pro-Kefauver activity appeared in Minnesota, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) was persuaded to become a "favorite son" candidate in that state.

Some Democratic party strategists have predicted a similar pattern in other states where Kefauver may decide to bid for delegates who will pick the nominee at the party convention next July.

If Mr. Truman decides against seeking reelection, few expect him to support Kefauver as his successor.

In his announcement, the Tennessee Senator said world peace is the paramount issue today. He said he was proud of foreign policy achievements under Democratic administrations but that he would hope to develop "positive and creative elements" in foreign policy.

French Troops Recapture Lost Town In Tunisia

TUNIS, TUNISIA, Jan. 24 (UP)—Heavily armed French troops and police today recaptured the town of Teboulba, 90 miles southeast of Tunis, from Arab Nationalists.

The French suffered some casualties in re-taking the town, which had been seized last night by Neo-Destrou (New Independent) forces. However, the casualty figures were not released immediately.

At least 27 persons were killed when the Nationalists took Teboulba and clashed with French forces there and at the nearby fortress town of Moknine.

It was the Nationalist's first seizure of territory in disorders which started Jan. 15 and in which at least 56 persons have been killed and more than 200 wounded.

French troops poured into Tunisia today from Algeria to reinforce garrisons throughout the protectorate. Before the disorders started, French forces in Tunisia totalled 25,000 men and 1,100 officers, plus several native companies, and several battalions of Provincial Gendarmes and police.

In Paris, new French Premier Edgar Faure held an emergency session of his "war cabinet" to try to find means of dealing with the eight-day-old disorders.

New A-Bomb Plants May Be Underway

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (UP)—At least one, and probably several, vast new atomic production centers are planned under President Truman's secret blueprint for expanding a-bomb output, it was learned today.

The Congressional Atomic Energy committee is studying the expansion plan at closed hearings. No official details have been given out beyond the bare facts that it will involve a cost of more than $5,000,000,000 over a five-year period.

But informed sources said it can be assumed that an expansion program of that size will not be carried out simply by adding new facilities to the Atomic Energy Commission's established production centers at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Hanford, Wash., or at the new ones now being built at Savannah River, S. C., and Paducah, Ky.

These sources also noted that the Savannah River project — largest single industrial plant ever undertaken—will cost about $1,250,000,000 or one quarter of the sum involved in the proposed new expansion.

In other words, four new plants, each as tremendous as the 200,000-acre South Carolina project, could be built with the money Mr. Truman plans to seek.

The Home includes a modern stone building, well furnished, and 8 1/2 acres of land. It is valued at $10,000.00. Not only is the property free of debt, but the Post has a nice bank account, it is stated. "To celebrate this attainment we are giving all foreign service veterans, whether members or not, this free jubilee party", their spokesman said.

Chief feature of the evening will be the big "Feed", of course. It is to be a chicken barbecue, with appropriate trimmings and liquid refreshments, and they plan to feed at least 150 veterans.

"This is just an informal reunion of over-seas veterans, so there will be only a very short program—a photograph address by our VFW Commander-in-chief, and a Korean motion picture.

John Nix Makes Plea To Voters

To the Voters of Precinct No. 1 of Eastland County:

Talks with friends of mine helped me to decide to make the race for County Commissioner.

I have lived in this precinct all but two years of my life, and I have always tried to treat people right.

I feel that I am fully competent to do the work required of the office of County Commissioner. Any time I see an opportunity to help the people of the district, I will not fail to do my best to do so.

I am running on my own merits and have no criticism for my opponents. I hope to make the kind of race that regardless of the result of the July primaries, I will still have the good will of my opponents and their friends.

If the voters of the precinct see fit to elect me, it will be greatly appreciated, John H. Nix.

Kansas Pilot Has Tough Job Landing Plane

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Jan. 24 (UP)—A Kansas pilot who made several unsuccessful landing attempts at Will Rogers Airport and finally was "talked" safely onto the runway was in jail today under suspicion of drunken flying.

Control tower personnel at the airport south of here said the flyer, identified by county officers as Jack Travis Sanders, of Meade, Kan., bounced on the runway and repeatedly failed in attempts to land his two-place plane last night.

Will Rogers officials said they tried to radio instructions to the pilot and finally "talked" him down. The plane ran off the strip after nearly ground-looping, they said.

Reds Will Mark Prisoner Camps

UN Offer On Verbal Ban Of No Airfield Construction Refused

By Arnold Dibble
United Press Staff Correspondent
PANMUNJOM, Korea, Jan. 24 —The Communists agreed today to mark their 11 war prison camps to safeguard them against Allied air attacks.

Red staff officers also gave United Nations officers a map pinpointing all but one of the camps where 17,559 Allied prisoners, including 3,198 Americans, are confined. They promised to locate the 11th camp later.

In the stalemate truce negotiations, the UN gave the Communists another chance to settle the key armistice issue of airfield construction with a simple promise not to build up their air power.

The offer was in line with a reported Washington directive to "ease up" on armistice demands in the interest of speeding up a truce.

But the Reds refused to accept the bait. Neither was there any progress in the subcommittee trying to work out an exchange of war prisoners.

Thus the 27-day deadlock in the truce negotiations remained unbroken as the talks ended their third month since their resumption Oct. 25.

The Communists for a third time rejected a UN proposal for an immediate exchange of sick and wounded prisoners. Rear Admiral R. E. Libby promptly accused the Reds of trying to use the sick and wounded as hostages to force an armistice on Communist terms.

Both subcommittees agreed to meet again at 11 a.m. Friday (9 p.m. EST today).

The UN has been demanding that the Communists mark their prison camps and pinpoint their locations on a map after the Reds charged an allied plane dropped three bombs Jan. 14 on the hospital at the Kan-dong camp, 20 miles northeast of Pyongyang.

The Communists claimed 20 prisoners were killed and 45 wounded in the attack. All casualties were believed South Koreans.

The Reds finally agreed at a meeting of staff officers to mark their camps in Korean letters spelling out "POW" on a rectangular red background 12 yards by 24.

They also turned over to the Allies a map giving the location of all but camp No. 1 at Chang, 30 miles north of Sinuiju on the Manchurian border.

The Communist officers said a river there changed course. They promised to give the exact location of the camp as soon as the new course of the river had been plotted.

The UN in turn gave the Reds the location of Allied prison camps at Pusan, and three prisoner collecting stations. These already have been marked.

The UN hinted for the second straight day in the truce supervision subcommittee that it would drop its controversial demand for a ban on airfield construction during a truce if the Reds would give a simple verbal promise not to increase their air power.

But, as on Wednesday, the Reds turned a deaf ear to any compromise on the question.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner of the UN was believed to have proposed the compromise in compliance with a new Washington directive reported to call for an "easing up" in armistice demands in the interest of speeding up a truce.

No details of the purported directive were available here.

The hostess committee was Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Tanner, Mrs. N. N. Rosenquest and Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Ferguson.

VFW Post Plans Barbecue For Meeting Tonight

Celebrating the final payments of all debts, on their home or otherwise, V. F. W. members in Eastland are planning a grand jubilee meeting for tonight. The meeting will be held in their home just east of the city, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Home includes a modern stone building, well furnished, and 8 1/2 acres of land. It is valued at $10,000.00. Not only is the property free of debt, but the Post has a nice bank account, it is stated. "To celebrate this attainment we are giving all foreign service veterans, whether members or not, this free jubilee party", their spokesman said.

Chief feature of the evening will be the big "Feed", of course. It is to be a chicken barbecue, with appropriate trimmings and liquid refreshments, and they plan to feed at least 150 veterans.

"This is just an informal reunion of over-seas veterans, so there will be only a very short program—a photograph address by our VFW Commander-in-chief, and a Korean motion picture.

Baptist Sunday School Workers To Meet Friday

A Sunday school workers banquet and program will be held in the Fellowship hall at the First Baptist church Friday evening at 6:45 p.m., according to announcement made by the pastor.

Following the banquet Dr. W. L. Howse of Fort Worth Seminary, will address the workers. Dr. Howse is considered as one of the best Sunday school experts in the state, and will no doubt bring a message that will long be remembered.

Arrangements are being made to care for about 150 individuals, composed of Sunday school officers and teachers, and their wives or husbands. Every officer or teacher is urged to attend, as the meeting will mean a great deal to future activities.

This will be the first of a series of monthly meetings to be called by Moderator Cecil Collings.

New Oldsmobile Go On Display Friday, Jan. 25

Major style changes and important mechanical improvements characterize the Oldsmobile 1952 models to be introduced in Oldsmobile dealerships throughout the United States, stated John Osborne, Eastland dealer. Innovations in the new models, according to J. F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile general manager and vice president of General Motors, are a more efficient 160 h.p. "Rocket" engine with the high performance Quadri-Jet carburetor in the Series "98" and Super "88" cars; complete new styling and more luxurious interiors in the "98"; a new Super range for increased performance of Hydro-Matic Drive, and GM power steering, both available at extra cost.

Oldsmobile presents three lines of cars in 1952. The Classic Series "98", powered by the improved 160 h.p. "Rocket" engine, is available in three body styles—four-door sedan, Holiday coupe and convertible coupe. The Super "88" uses the same "Rocket" engine and has five body types—four door sedan, two door sedan, Holiday coupe, convertible coupe and club coupe. The Deluxe "88" series is offered in the four-door and two-door sedan and is powered by a 145 h.p. version of the "Rocket" engine with dual downdraft carburetor.

The overall length of the Classic "98" Series has been increased from 208 to 213 inches. Wheelbase also has been increased two inches to 124 inches.

In exterior styling, the Classic "98" with its high rear fenders and long deck creates a new styling silhouette. The wrap-around rear window is now one single piece of curved safety glass.

Interior appointments of the Oldsmobile 1952 models reflect more luxurious upholstery combinations and a tasteful selection of matching colors. Instrument panel, seats, carpeting, headlining, door panels and interior trim all harmonize in pleasant and colorful shades. Broadcloth, leather, nylon and Bedford cord offer a broad choice of upholstery in the various series to promote the individualized treatment available in Oldsmobile body styles for 1952.

The Deluxe "88" Series Oldsmobile for 1952 has a larger and roomier Fisher body, with a longer wheelbase of 120 inches and overall length of 204 inches. This makes comparable in size to the Super "88".

The 1952 Super "88" is powered by the same "Rocket" engine that drives the Classic "98". The Super "88", like the "98", uses the Quadri-Jet carburetor that accounts for the improved efficiency and boosts the horsepower rating from 135 h.p. to 160 h.p. Compression ratio is 7.5 to 1.

The Quadri-Jet carburetor is a further advance in high compression engine development achieved by Oldsmobile engineers. It consists essentially of a primary and a secondary carburetor, each of the dual downdraft type. There are four barrels in this compound carburetor set up. The Quadri-Jet is more efficient at metering the fuel for starting or low throttle operation due to better distribution of the fuel and air.

Other changes in the 1952 "Rocket" engine include a bigger capacity air cleaner and a single belt generator driving both the generator and water pump. The generator itself has been increased from 40 to 45 ampere capacity.

General Motors hydraulic steering, available on the Classic "98" and Super "88" at extra cost, fundamentally is power-assisted steering. It takes over the hard work of guiding or parking the car without destroying the "steering feel" so essential to safe driving.

Looking Back on 1951—
... the inventory shows that the scales weighed out a good portion of the better things for us to enjoy. While the mistakes we made stick out like a sore finger and our failures almost overwhelm us, yet these discouragements are small indeed compared to the unhappiness and tragic experiences of some who happen to live in other countries. We are glad we live here where we have had the opportunity to serve a host of loyal customers for more than a quarter century.

Maritime Needs Radio Operators

Today, there is a critical shortage of radio officers in the U. S. Merchant Marine. Ships carrying vital cargoes to our armed forces and allies are being delayed. As more ships are being placed in service the demand for radio officers will become more critical. In keeping with future needs and as a measure to relieve the immediate shortage of radio officers, the Maritime Administration through the U. S. Maritime Service is establishing at Sheepshead Bay, New York, a radio refreshing training course. Application for radio officer refresher training will be accepted from any former radio operator who has held at any time on or after January 1, 1935, a radio telegraph first, radio telegraph second, or TLT license and who has had six months' sea time on his license since that date. The length of this training course will vary from one to several weeks depending on the needs of the applicant. While in training, quarters and subsistence will be furnished without charge. Immediate shipboard positions as radio officers are now available.

Applicants interested in enrolling in radio refresher training now, or may be in a position to take this training any time in the future, please contact Enrolling Officer, U. S. Maritime Service, 1213 Masonic Temple Building, New Orleans, Louisiana.

All That Ado Over So Little

A man sought medical aid because he had a ringing in his ears. A specialist was flown from across the country. He recommended the removal of his tonsils. The operation resulted in no improvement so the patient flew to a famous clinic in the mid-west. There, he was advised to have all his teeth removed. This was done, but the ringing in his ears was just as pronounced. In desperation, he went to Europe and visited a famous surgeon in Vienna. The doctor examined the patient for three days and then told him, "There is nothing I can do. You have but six months to live." The doomed man shrugged and decided to make the most of it. He returned home, bought a flashy car, hired a liveried chauffeur, had the best tailor in town make him a dozen suits, and decided even his shirts would be made to order. "Okay," said the shirtmaker, "let's get your measurement. Humm. 34 sleeve, 16 collar—" "Fifteen," said the man. "Sixteen collar," the shirtmaker repeated, measuring again. "But I've always worn a 15 collar," insisted the man. "Listen," the shirtmaker said, "I'm warning you. If you don't take a 16 collar, you're gonna have a ringing in your ears!"

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, exhaustion and dizziness may be due to sluggishness of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes the important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used occasionally for millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the kidneys of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Police Chiefs Forecast Freezing Weather Jan. 30

BEAUMONT, Jan. 24 (UP)—Police Chief Jim Mulligan turned weather forecaster just long enough yesterday to predict freezing weather Jan. 30 in Beaumont, and he claims it hasn't failed to freeze on his birthday in more than 20 years. Mulligan brushed off his overcoat to show he takes his forecast seriously.
