ONE WHO KNOWS TELLS OF BENEFITS OF MARCH OF DIMES

Dear Mrs. Bates, Ranger, Texas.
Dear Mrs. Bates:
I understand you are Chairman of Eastland County March of Dimes and I have a little grandson whom we have reared to his present age of eight years. In June of 1950 he was a polio victim almost totally paralyzed and it was thought he could not live.
We have had him in the hospital almost continually since he is still unable to use his hands and feet but much improved. We have returned him from Warm Springs, Georgia, where he had surgery and are taking him back this spring for more surgery, hoping to at least get him where one hand and arm will be practically normal so he can feed himself etc. I am telling you all this for I am afraid there are too many people who do not understand what a wonderful work the March of Dimes is doing. We would not even have a place to take the little fellow for a treatment were it not for the March of Dimes.
It is the most wonderful organization this Country has ever known. Wife and I have practically eat, lived and drunk polio for the last two years and spent most of our time around hospitals where we could see the ravages of Polio and also see what is being done to fight it, and it is, being done by the March of Dimes.
No one is denied the best treatment, modern science can provide, regardless of race, creed or color or their financial ability, but there are hundreds of children all over the Country that urgently need treatment that have to wait two or three months to be admitted, they urgently need more facilities and the only way they can be provided is through the March of Dimes.
I wish I could talk to every person in Eastland County and tell them what they are doing and what they need. If you should have any organization that meets and are interested, Wife and I would be happy to meet with them and tell them what the March of Dimes is doing and answer any question the folks are not clear on.

I thank God we have not had to call on the Eastland County Funds, so it leaves that much more for some helpless child that has to have it. I mean by this, that we have had help from the National Foundation, but have not found it necessary to call upon our own Eastland County Funds for help.
Mrs. Bates if there is any way I can help you get a few more Dimes and Dollars, please know, my time is yours for as long as you need it.
Yours truly
W. J. Ormsby

FUTILE EFFORTS—Rescue workers, top, hampered by constant cave-ins, dig frantically around the collapsed well which trapped its owner, Clyde Kemp, at the bottom where he was repairing the well tiles. After more than five hours of fruitless digging, Kemp's lifeless body was brought to the surface at his home near Texarkana, Arkansas. (NEA Telephoto).

Rest And Relax At Church, Says Local Pastor

The sermon subject for the morning worship service of the First Christian church will be "The Issue of Today". The subject for the evening service will be "The Greatest Teacher."
Too tired to go to church? You are "too tired to go to church?" That's sheer nonsense. There isn't a place on the continent so restful as the church. You are going to lie around the house all day, loll in a big rocking chair; go to sleep over a book, that isn't resting, that's loafing. Tell yourself honestly—did you ever see a loafer who didn't look tired all the time.
You have no need to loaf all day Sunday. An hour in church; an hour of quiet; the sermon, the reading; the uplift which comes from new channels into which your thought, your mind is lead, will rest you more physically, morally, intellectually, than all the day spent in trying to "rest"—Clipped.
Come to Church.

Presbyterian's Service Subject Is Announced

The Rev. M. P. Elder will use as his subject for the 11 a.m. service Sunday at the Presbyterian Church, "Faith, the great Essential".
A congregational meeting will be held immediately after the service, which all church members have been urged to attend.

Contract Let For Lake Work; Delay Expected

Bids on the City Lake repair and enlarging program, were opened Friday afternoon. Quite a number of bidders were present and their bids were received. Tentative contract was let, though it appears at this time that there will be some delay before actual work begins.
The bonds have been sold, but certain "red tape" is necessary before the actual cash is available.

Poultry Growers Will Meet At Courthouse Tuesday; Broiler Market Has Been Guaranteed

Poultry growers in Eastland county have been very active for some weeks in an effort to increase broiler production in this area. Working in conjunction with County Agent J. M. Cooper, they have accomplished many things. Another meeting is to be held Tuesday, January 29, and some definite announcements are to be made. The letter which follows was sent out to representative individuals over the county this week.
"You and your wife are invited to a poultry meeting in the courthouse, here in Eastland county courtroom on the third floor of next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.
"National concerns have assured us of a definite market for quality broilers that we might produce. A representative of one company has accepted an invitation to be present at this meeting and discuss the market for quality broilers."
"Representatives of two feed companies have been invited to attend and to discuss with you, methods of financing the chicks and the feed for production of broilers."—J. M. Cooper.
A large attendance is expected as both men and women have been invited to attend.

RANGER WOMAN'S CAKE GAINS $78.50 FOR MARCH OF DIMES

Recently Mrs. T. L. Browning who lives in the cottage yard at Lone Star Producing Company Plant 101, attended a PTA meeting at Hodges Oak Park school in Ranger and heard Mr. Lester Crossley's talk on the March of Dimes. Mr. Crossley stressed the great need of more funds to help with the work of polio prevention, research and treatment. He explained what money received from the County fund went for and what part the Foundation furnished.
We wonder if there is not some other person, or persons who may come up with some idea that might equal this one by Mrs. Browning for raising funds for this wonderful work?
Mrs. Browning was so deeply impressed by the talk that she went home with the determination that she would do something personally to help in this worthy work. She baked a cake and took it to Ranger's Good Eats Bakery, for decorating. Mrs. Carville and employees decorated the cake for her and refused to accept any pay for the work as they desired to do their bit for the cause.
Mrs. Browning took the cake to Ranger Livestock Commission Company's auction barn and the management cheerfully agreed to auction it off and, as has been the reputation of those livestock

Dr. Boswell Named To State College Survey Committee

Dr. J. W. Edgar, State Commissioner of Education, has appointed his committee for junior college study and survey. Dr. G. C. Boswell, President of Ranger Junior College, was assigned to the committee on standards and criteria for courses and personnel.
A meeting of this committee has been called for March 5, at San Antonio.
The junior colleges of Texas have been placed under the State Board of Education and the State Board is at attempting a critical study surrounding junior colleges. At the present time no new junior colleges may be created due to the fact that a careful analysis is being made by the State Board to determine the feasibility of other junior colleges in the state.

The church invites you to attend these services and worship in a friendly atmosphere free from formality.

Egypt On Verge Of Break With Britain

Monday Paper Be Discontinued Because Of Newsprint Shortage

Due to a reduction in our 1952 newsprint allotment, we are being forced to make some changes in order to care for the needs of our patrons in the best possible manner. The only feasible plan seems to be that of eliminating our Monday afternoon edition. Effective Monday, January 28, you will receive five papers each week instead of the six you are now receiving.
The change was not a matter of choice, but a necessity. The matter of obtaining newsprint is beyond our control. In the past year we were given two reductions in our newsprint allotment; one for 5 per cent and a second for 10 per cent. By careful management of our newsprint we have managed to publish six editions per week, but now the shortage has become critical. We took the only alternative to conserve newsprint.
By eliminating our Monday edition we will be able to conserve our newsprint allowance. Just how long this will be necessary, we can not say, though in all probability for the duration of the critical shortage of newsprint. Our paper comes from the Abitibi Sales Service, Ontario, Canada.
Please bear with us as best you can, but be assured that we shall strive at all times to give you service you will appreciate. Most papers in this section of the state have increased their subscription rates, we do not plan to do this if it is at all possible to do otherwise.
We shall attempt to give you the news while it is news, in the best and most attractive manner.

Students Rioting And Calling For War And Ousting British

By Walter Collins
United Press Staff Correspondent
CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 26 (UP)—Thousands of students demanding war against Britain, ran riot in Cairo today. They set fire to British establishments and smashed through a police cordon around the offices of Premier Mustapha El Nahas Pasha.
Egypt appeared on the verge of breaking diplomatic relations with Britain as the result of a pitched battle yesterday in the Suez Canal Zone city of Ismailia where at least 46 Egyptian police were killed.
Police fired into the air and hurled tear gas bombs in at least one attempt to disperse the demonstrators.
(The British Embassy in Cairo was understood to have informed the foreign office in London that

The banner was put in the Ranger Junior College trophy case in the administration spread over the back of the case in a very prominent position behind the trophies.
"Britain has lost Egypt. We regret our loyalty to Britain in 1942, when the Germans drove the British before them to the gates of Alexandria. Such an event will come again and then we won't make the same mistake." The newspaper appeared to be rejecting western efforts to get Egypt to join in a new Mediterranean Defense Pact against a possible Russian drive into the Middle East.

Pay School Tax Before Feb. 1st

Right now these school taxes are due, and if they are not paid by February 1st, they will become delinquent. This may be avoided if you will go over to the Exchange building and see A. M. Hearn, school tax collector before the deadline, which is next Thursday, Jan. 31st.
The school board is in need of these funds.

Ex-Con Admits Nine "Hobo" Deaths

SCRAMENTO, CALIF., Jan. 25 (UP)—A bearded ex-convict calmly related to police today how he murdered nine men with stones, clubs and a gun in the past year because "I had to eat—and I had to have money to do it."
Lloyd Gomez, a 29-year-old scar-faced farm laborer from Mexico, admitted he killed most of victims in "Hobo Jungle" mobberies which netted him only $2.26.

"The most I got from any of them was $24," Gomez said, "and the least was a nickel."
All of the slayings were verified by police records and had been listed as "unsolved."
Sheriff Don Cox of Sacramento County said Gomez could remember accurately the kind of clothing worn by his victims and the circumstances surrounding each slaying.
"There isn't a doubt in my mind he's telling the truth—we've got him cold," Cox said. "He's got a memory like an elephant."
Gomez, who has a jail record dating back 15 years, was picked up by city police a week ago after they found him wandering the streets, bleeding from a slash which ran from his left eye to the bridge of his nose.
He was charged with vagrancy and after a week in jail, called police in and said:
"I'm getting tired of living this way. I think I'll just wash the whole thing up."
Then he ticked off a list of nine slayings in the Northern California towns of Sacramento, Stockton, Merced, Oroville, Roseville, Marysville and Mojave. All his victims were hoboes or transients.

By Major Hoopie McCorkle

While 1952 is to be a rather important year, we hope the drouth doesn't have any part on the program. There are several things we do not need. We have already had too much drouth, too much Harry and too much August weather in January.

Correcting these oversupplies is largely beyond our control. We can't end the drouth until the good Lord gets ready for it to rain. And mere talk won't change the temperature of the weather. However, if we pay our poll tax we can greatly assist in the removal of Harry. And so far as we are concerned he has done more damage than both the hot weather and the drouth.

Every time he speaks it costs the tax payers a million dollars. He is never satisfied, either—always wants more. Even the drouth doesn't ask anything additional.

The heat is not exactly unpleasant, and we do save on our gas bill, but if this weather keeps on a few days these fruit trees might get the season mixed up and go to budding about six weeks too early. And this would mean no preserves on our biscuits. We cut out the butter a long time ago and for three reasons. First we are too poor to buy this product at 98 cents a pound, and second we are too fat to eat it, even if it was selling at a dime a pound, and third, we don't like it.

It's a funny thing that fat people are always hungry. Most of them are connoisseurs of good food, and they enjoy eating. Fat steaks, creamed potatoes, heavy malts, buttered toast, French fries, cake and ice cream will please all of them. And they are not looking for samples—want real servings. Most of them have permits which call for second helpings, if desired. This is the reason they are fat.

Of course you will find a "maverick" occasionally who eats like a hog, yet never grows fat. He is generally a dyspeptic, or maybe has in-growing toe-nails. He could eat pure lard and lose weight. We can drink strained water and grow obese. The only way we can figure this out is, that each individual hits this old world on equal basis with others. He is told to drink his milk until he sprouts teeth, and after that he will be given an order for 25 tons of groceries. When this food supply is exhausted the one and only thing to do is go off and die.

Fat, or may we say corpulent people, do not enjoy long lives, as a rule.

The "skinny" group just keep on living, even after their days of usefulness. We suppose they live to be about a hundred years old, but finally dry up and blow away. Fats do have one consoling advantage—they get to go to their rewards a little earlier. However, unless we change our ways we may not want the reward when we get it. Ever thought of that?

Men are queer ducks. Most of them think they are pretty smart, but we wonder. We know an old guy out in West Texas, who is probably paying taxes on 25 million dollars. He is an old bachelor (too stingy to feed a wife) and lives in a shack that we wouldn't let our dog live in, without first begging the dog's pardon. He has no close relatives, and even if he did have, he would probably rather burn his money than for them to get it. He wears the very cheapest of clothes, and they are always filthy.

On top of that, he is not what we term "Christian," so he is not looking toward eternal happiness. He has his wealth, but is not enjoying it. Nor will he allow others to enjoy it. He is just here because he is here.

His life has been a miserable failure. It would have been better for him and the world at large, had he never existed. The best he can hope for is that place we hope to shun. His epitaph, if he is lucky enough to get one, should read something like this: He lived for wealth and wealth alone—Gone and soon will be forgotten.

The little nick he may have carved in life will be obscured with the passing of his spirit. He hasn't amounted to anything in this world—just occupied valuable space.

This embittered man could have, should he have chosen, made the entire world a better place to live in. He could have brought joy and happiness to countless multitudes now, and for ages to come.

He could have established and endowed schools and colleges. Hungry children could have been fed, and weary mothers might have had their burdens lifted. He could have been loved and appreciated, and would have found happiness while doing good deeds.

Best of all he would have known people on this earth, and he would have known God. The visible fruits of his works would have crept into his life to the extent of filling him with ecstasy—could have enjoyed this cataleptic trance. And then in the evening of life when he would know his call was not far off, he could face those purple shadows without fear. Even the chill of death would not produce fright, for he would be so close to his maker he would say as the Psalmist, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil." He would go out in splendor for a joyous meeting with his God. And then through ceaseless ages he could sing his praises to the Great Redeemer.

But all this is matter of choice. This man, as all other men, must make the decision. For "as a man thinketh in his own heart, so is he."

We are not preaching or trying to do so—merely mentioning a few things we should all know. And our subjeck is not a myth, but taken from real life.

A week ago we predicted rain. This week we are not predicting. Some of our friends think we should listen more and talk less, anyway. However, we are not going to close up like a clam. It is just as natural for us to talk and write as it is for us to breathe, and in all probability we'll quit all three about the same time.

North Carolina has 383 rayon and silk mills with 807,767 spindles—more than any other southern state.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A face that has been absent from the motion picture screen for some five years is about to make its re-appearance in the neighborhood theater.

Its owner was greeted by an imposing array of flowers and a vigorous round of applause when she reported for work.

The face belongs to Anita Louise and the flowers and applause came from east and crew of Warner Bros. "Retreat, Hell!" in which she is ending her temporary screen retirement.

Miss Louise admitted she was dubious about her first day's work with co-stars Frank Lovejoy and Richard Carlson on the film, which is directed by Joe Lewis.

"Actually, I wasn't as nervous as I expected to be," she said. "I have spent most of my life acting and it didn't take long to get back into the swing of things."

Twice Parents
During her interval away from the screen, Miss Louise and her husband, Buddy Adler, a motion picture producer, have become the parents of a daughter, Melanie, nearly five years old now, and a son, Anthony, not yet two.

She said being a housewife and mother was wonderful but that the old longing for the smell of grease paint cropped up occasionally.

"I had many, many offers," she said. "Somehow the roles just weren't anything I was interested in. I wasn't sure I wanted this part, as Richard Carlson's wife, until I read the script."

"It's a wonderful part. It's not long but full of warmth and human understanding."

Miss Louise's role is that of a wife and mother whose husband has been called back to active duty and sent to Korea with the Marine Corps.

The picture is a Milton Sperling production for Warner Bros. release.

Since 1900 coal production in West Virginia has increased from 23,000,000 tons to an all-time high of 176,000,000 tons in 1947.

Egyptians May Sever Relations With British

LONDON, Jan. 26 (UP)—The British Embassy in Cairo was understood today to have notified the British Foreign Office that Egypt may break off diplomatic relations at any hour.

British officials said they expect Egypt will demand closure of the British Embassy in Cairo, expulsion of all Britons and a boycott of British goods as result of the Anglo-Egyptian battle in Ismailia yesterday.

However, the foreign office said it did not expect to make a statement on the situation. Its policy appeared to be to wait for Egypt to make the next move.

GI's Going To School While In The Service

PLEASANTVILLE, N. Y. — Parents who fear that the draft will postpone their sons' college work should know that all over the world our soldiers are regularly enrolled students of American universities, with Uncle Sam paying most of the tuition. More than 400,000 men are today getting an education while in the services, states Charles Stevenson in a February Reader's Digest article condensed from The Rotarian. Many will return to civilian life with educational credentials enabling them to win better jobs.

The U. S. Armed Forces Institute, directed by Glenn L. McConaha from Ohio State University, has grown into one of the biggest correspondence schools in the world. For a $2 fee USAFI will give any serviceman courses in any of 334 grade, vocational and college subjects. It also offers extension courses from 47 cooperating universities.

Even in isolated detachments, from the Arctic to Africa, men may enroll for study. Large military bases have complete school systems. At some there is a branch of an American university at others, where a college is nearby, GIs may enroll as students.

Aboard the armed forces education program is as active as at home. Nearly 8000 men of our occupation forces are now studying at 60 schools throughout Europe and Africa. Louisiana State University recently opened a branch in the Canal Zone with 600 students. In the Far East, the University of California has 22 outposts from Tokyo to Manila. Even in Korea thousands of men are finding time to study, between battles.

From the military services some 500,000 men return each year to civilian life. "The more these men have been trained by education for the responsibilities of citizenship, the stronger our country will be," says Navy Captain J. J. O'Donnell, who heads up the armed forces' educational drive.

Life In These United States

From Readers Digest

I was taking my boss's young son on a trip through rural Louisiana, selling washing machines. After we finished a demonstration for a farmer and his wife they withdrew for consultation. We felt sure the sale was made, but when they came back we spent a fruitless hour trying to close it. Glimly we put the machine back on the truck, and I had started the engine when the farmer said, "Fellows, if I could sell one or two of them things, would you give me anything?"

"Sure," the dealer's son snapped. "We'll give you $20 for every one you sell, provided we only have to deliver."

"I bet I can sell my old lady one," said the farmer. As we started, dumbstruck, he headed for the house. He returned in a moment with his wife—who paid cash, deducting $20 for her husband.

"Shucks," said the farmer as we silently unloaded the machine, "you fellow just don't know to to sell washing machines." The way of a soldier with a telephone on a week-end furlough is something to watch. One Saturday morning a young GI changed a dollar in a crowded bus terminal, ranged the nickels in rows on the shelf to the left of the telephone in a booth, and placed a cup of coffee and a plate of doughnuts on the shelf to the right.

His first telephone call was lengthy, consisting on his side mainly of repetition of "Gee, honey," and "Sure thing, honey."

A middle-aged civilian waiting for a booth listened, looked over the array of nickels and finally went over to the lunch counter.

He came back with a plate of spaghetti and rolls, opened the door of the booth and said kindly, "Here, sonny, you'll be needing dinner in here if your girls are as talkers as this one."

Looking Back on 1951—

... the inventory shows that the scales weighed out a good portion of the better things for us to enjoy. While the mistakes we made stick out like a sore finger and our failures almost overwhelm us, yet these discouragements are small indeed compared to the unhappiness and tragic experiences of some who happen to live in other countries. We are glad we live here where we have had the opportunity to serve a host of loyal customers for more than a quarter century.

TAKE ONE GALLON of good gasoline — 8.350 gallons of ordinary air—mix well and feed in small doses to a Fireball Engine—and what do you get?

Well, mister, the closest we can come to describing the result is to tell you—it's something like the mighty thrust of an airliner— swooshing down the runway for a take-off.

All of which is another way of saying that this newest and finest of Buicks can rev up to 170 horsepower, the highest in its distinguished history.

Now, you seldom need all this horsepower. But it's nice to know you can boss it around—even if you use no more than an eighth of it at 40 miles an hour.

BUT BUICK ENGINEERS never do things by halves.

In the process of getting this whopping new charge of power, Buick engineers also came up with more miles per gallon from gasoline.

And they did it with one of the neatest bits of ingenuity we've seen in years.

Instead of building a whole new engine—they focused on ways to feed a better mixture to the great Fireball Engine they already had. A mixture of fuel, which costs money, and air, which is free.

The result was the Airpower Carburetor—a four-barrel automatic—which works on a booster principle.

Two barrels are sized and designed to supply the just-right thrifty mixture of fuel and air for anything from smooth-running idle up to some 40 or 50 miles an hour.

Then—when you call for more power—for a quick spurt out of a tight spot—for an unbroken gait up a steep hill—or for full-throttle operation—the reserves go into action.

You have two more barrels—to feed the just-right thrifty mixture for extra power—something like "second wind."

LIFE'S GREAT behind this great-powered eight, but that's only part of the story.

The rest is about interior styling stepped up to a new plateau of excellence and taste—of silencing to a point where a whisper sounds almost loud inside this car in motion—of bigger brakes and a smoother ride—and of Power Steering* as you have always hoped it might be perfected.

How about coming in and getting that story soon?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Available on ROADMASTER at a moderate extra cost.

Police Capture 2, Kill 2 Of Juarez Bank Robbers; Two Escape

JUAREZ, Mexico, Jan. 26 (UP)—A one-handed bank robber died early today, the second victim of a brief but action-packed gun battle in a Mexican cotton field between police and a gang hunted in a $243,000 bank robbery.

Leopoldo Rey, a 27-year-old ex-convict, died of head wounds. His brother, Alfonso Rey, was cut down by the police bullets and died on the spot where the band of six men, along with a woman and a five-year-old boy, sought refuge in a farmhouse six miles south of Juarez.

Two of the band remained at large. They were identified merely as "Ray" and "Jimmy". They were thought to be headed for Los Angeles or San Francisco in a car. They had 341,760 Pesos and $38,158 in their possession, police said. A five-state alarm was broadcast for the men on the northern side of the United States-Mexico border.

The Rey brothers were shot after police surrounded the farm house and called to those inside to surrender.

Lorenzo Gonzalez, 21, and Simon Loya, 25, shouted that they would come out peacefully. The Rey brothers, however, defied the order and broke from the farm house. Both men were brought down in a burst of gunfire from machineguns, rifles and pistols in the hands of FBI officers, and a group of El Paso, sheriffs and border patrol officers.

Mrs. Margarita Monique also broke from the house, dragging her small son behind. The boy was the son of Leopoldo Rey. Mother and son were captured in the cotton field unharmed.

Much of the 1,517,000 pesos ($174,000) and $69,000 American currency was recovered from the farmhouse. Police also found 15 pounds of marijuana.

The two men who surrendered were jailed. They were questioned about the daring daylight robbery of the Bank of Mexico branch at Juarez, in which bandits bound 27 bank employees one by one as they came to work.

"On the stump of Leopoldo Rey's amputated arm were the words 'happy regards to my son.'"

Police said he was wanted for at least two robberies in El Paso, one of which was pulled in company with his slain brother.
