About all we know about cows is milk taken from them will, when properly aged and churned, produce butter which is mighty fine as a substitute for oleomargarine. As they didn't do much milking during the recent stock show, we didn't learn too much.

Most of the cattle out there were of the T-Bone and veal cutlet type, of which we know little or nothing. We can remember eating T-Bones years ago, and as we recall, they were good. But during recent years they have been out of our price range. Veal cutlets are nothing more than little hunks of bull beef, several beaten in the wrong direction. They are really flattened out, and sometimes they get so tender you can almost chew the gravy.

But those boys out there didn't bring in any of the tough varieties. They had good fat Herefords and Angus, young and tender. Of course we will never be able to prove this statement, for those calves bringing up to six-bills a pound on foot, sliced steak will be so high we will die from old age before we ever get enough money saved up to buy a pound. Why don't they sell this beef by the ounce rather than the pound. This would enable a lot of us to have some good gravy anyway.

One fellow paid $693 for a fat calf, and he says he will put it in his deep freeze. He had better put it in a bank vault, for it will last longer. If he decides to sell some he will probably sell it by the kareit. It will be as valuable as humming bird liver.

But there is one good thing. The boys who fattened out those calves collected a small fortune for their labors, and we are glad they did. They have learned how to produce beef that will sell and show a profit, and in coming years they will likely look back to this one bright spot in their lives. Everybody is happy—even the people who bought the calves. And the show was a success.

In the "milkable cow" division were some very fine animals—just about as good as you will find anywhere. Eastland farmers and stockmen have given considerable attention to the breeding of high class dairy type cows and they may now enjoy the fruits of their labors.

When better cows are found, you will likely find them in this county. Our farmers and club boys know how.

We would like very much to be a cattle raiser, and would be if we had a cow or the purchase price. But with prevailing prices we will probably be forced to continue producing newspaper "bull" which doesn't pay off so well. We had rather have good, live bull beef of the bovine type, than all the newspaper bull in the world.

Yes, friends, we had a good show—best ever, it is said, and by the time we are ready for another show, many improvements will have been made.

Exhibits in the swine, goat and sheep departments were excellent, it is stated. Blindfold us and we can't tell the difference between lamb chops and chevon (goat meat), but we know what a pork chop is without being told. Ham is a wonderful invention, and when served with good fresh eggs, it can't be beaten.

The only thing that puzzles us is why we didn't make a farmer in the first place.

E. E. Wood

E. E. Wood, Pioneer Resident Of Eastland, Longtime JP Dies

E. E. Wood, pioneer resident and justice of the peace for 16 years, died at his home, 105 East Olive, St., Eastland, at 7 p.m. Thursday. He suffered a heart attack Wednesday night.

Mr. Wood, 80, was born Dec. 31, 1871, at Pirtle. He graduated from the Pirtle schools and the academy at Omen and later attended the Summer Hill Business College of Omen, where he majored in business administration.

He came to Eastland in March of 1890 and had been employed in the Eastland County court house most of the time since.

He married the former Carrie Day Dec. 6, 1891. Their 60th wedding anniversary was observed in 1951.

Mr. Wood was elected district clerk in 1896 and served three terms. He worked for various abstract businesses, later serving as justice of the peace for precinct one until his death.

He had been confined to his home since March when he suffered a heart attack.

Eastland Junior High Selects Good Citizens

The "Citizens-of-the-month" were elected at Junior High School this week in all sections of all three grades. Those who were honored for the month of March are:

6 A—Linda Waller, new pupil from Blum, Texas.
6 B—Evelyn Bailey
7 A—Herman Dempsey, of Morton Valley
7 B—Sue Mize.
8 A—Clyde Evatt
8 B—Richard Blue, new pupil from Stephenville.

Fifty new song books were recently purchased by the principal, Mr. W. C. Robinson, and the entire student body are enjoying a period of singing at least once each week, in separate class sections.

Student Gives Address At The Lions Luncheon

With the coming of spring, attendance at the Lions Club this week was up. A splendid and different program was enjoyed.

The speaker was 20-year-old Maurice Smith, ministerial student from Howard Payne College, and the message he brought was not a sermonette, not a political blast, but rather a well prepared address that "hit the spot." One man stated this: "the best sermon I've heard in 10 years."

The young man is a talented speaker, never at a loss for words, and has excellent delivery. He talked to his group—not at it, was the way a man put it.

Summed up in a few words he told us America is strong and will likely remain that way because there are always enough good Americans to keep God on our side. He praised Lincoln, who advocated good government of, by and for the people, while Tom Paine was criticized for the attitude he took, when dark hours came.

Following this address Dr. Whittington, visiting Rotarian, gave valuable information concerning the bond issue and the new dam.

Other visitors included Rev. Curtis Simpson, pastor of Morton Valley Baptist Church and Rev. Gregory who is preaching there during the revival this week.

Rain And Hail Hit This City

Eastland proper got .12 of an inch of rain Thursday afternoon, mixed with considerable hail, though it is thought no damage of importance was done. Rain was heavier in some sections of the county, and some communities report high winds.

The storm covered a wide scope country and north of this city in the Ringgold section a severe twister was reported. Mineral Wells also got a storm of destructive proportions. Gainsville sustained considerable damage.

Heavy rains, with considerable hail, followed the storm.

COOPERATION

An Editorial

Cooperation is building a lake that will supply an adequate amount of water for the users of this area.

Through cooperating and working with one another we have reached a point where construction of the reservoir is both possible and feasible.

Cooperation between Ranger and Eastland, the city commissions, Chambers of Commerce, civic organizations, and individual citizenry has brought a dream, founded on adequate water for our city and industrial needs, to a point where it is near reality.

Tireless effort of men and women of the community has overcome obstacles of difference and bonded us into a unit working toward a definite goal, and above all working toward that goal together.

Another step forward will be taken on April 22 when eligible voters of the Eastland County Water Supply District cast their ballot on the $1,500,000 bond issue that will give the water district funds, with which they can take concrete action on building for the future of our community, through providing an adequate water supply.

A clear understanding of the facts concerning how everyone has cooperated, and how, with a little understanding and help from each of you, we may draw this dream founded upon a much needed source of water, into reality.

For many months men of Eastland and Ranger have been working together to secure necessary data and information on the possibility of building a water reservoir, and have given careful study to all phases required to make the water supply available. Recently they have become convinced the plan is feasible and economical, and merits the support of the citizens of the district, and have asked for your cooperation in giving them the funds with which they may have this supply placed available to everyone.

You can show an interest in your community, your fellow men, and show the appreciation justly due everyone devoting their time and energy to this project, by appearing at the designated voting places on April 22 and cast your vote in favor of the bond issue.

Price Daniel Is Happy Over Act Of Harry Truman

"Price Daniel forces are highly pleased over President Truman's decision not to run for re-election," Everett Hutchinson, manager of Daniel's senate campaign, said today.

"It will help the Daniel senate campaign because the people of Texas will remember that Price Daniel openly opposed Mr. Truman's re-nomination while Senator Connally never lifted his voice against it," Hutchinson said.

"Trumanism will still be an issue in the Texas Senate Campaign because it is part and parcel of Senator Connally's record," Hutchinson declared.

"Mr. Truman's retirement is only one step in stopping high taxes, waste, extravagance, graft and foreign policy fumbling. The next step is for Texas to elect a new senator to help a new president correct the mistakes of the past and chart the course ahead," Hutchinson concluded.

NOCONA SUFFERS HEAVIEST DAMAGE; THREE TOWNS HIT

By United Press

At least three small tornadoes and a smashing hail storm dropped out of North Texas thunderclouds late yesterday, causing minor injury to one man and property damage which one spokesman said may run to a million dollars.

Twisters hit Ringgold, a Montague County town of 350 population, and Pottsboro, a farm community of 381 in Grayson County. A third funnel brushed by Belcherville for a near miss, and hail the size of golf balls battered Nacona, the cowboy boot capital of Texas.

The storms came with a violent squall line which swept North Texas from west to east, whipping up dust clouds and gully-washing rains over areas where twisters didn't develop.

The Pottsboro twister spun two houses off their foundations, damaged several others, and accounted for one reported casualty. Martin MeSmith was bruised when his home was twisted around on its foundation.

Heavy rain and hail accompanied the Pottsboro blow, and damage has been estimated there at several thousand dollars.

The twister at Ringgold unroofed a barn, peeled the top off a corrugated iron feed store building and pushed it 10 feet off its foundation. Several small sheds were blown away. Heavy rain and hail as "big as hen's eggs" pounded the town ahead of the wind. Autos and windows were damaged.

However, the heaviest damage appears to be at Nacona, a town of more than 2000 population. Chamber of Commerce Manager Jeff Henderson said the damage is "terrific" and will run high— "maybe a million dollars."

Nocona publisher Rowland Peters said windows were knocked out of his plant and that of homes and stores lost almost all their north windows. Skylights were smashed in business buildings, allowing rain to soak merchandise. Many neon signs were wrecked.

Weathermen at Dallas said the squall line was completely out of Texas by dawn. It was causing a thunderstorm at New Orleans and rain at Birmingham, Ala., at 8 a.m.

The winds also were responsible for a costly fire on range lands near the West Texas town of Haskell. More than eight sections of grass land were blackened as wind kept a fire started by lightning going for 10 hours.

Most of Texas is fair today. There was some fog at Alice, Corpus Christi and Brownsville, and a ground fog at Victoria this morning.

A cold front following the squall line is expected to keep winds strong throughout the day, threatening new dust blows in West Texas. However, weathermen say the front is dry and will cause no moisture. It is expected to be generally cooler over the state tonight, and some warmer tomorrow in West Texas.

The Automobile Is Darling But Dangerous

..... says a news commentator and here's what he meant: The Automobile outpaced War as a mass killer in February of this year when its fatality toll exceeded for the first time in history the toll of the nation's military dead since 1775. That's the sorry angle but the other angle is darling. Americans can't get along without the automobile and we intend to keep it. But we must be more careful in its use and keep it insured—just in case!

that's economical and easy to prepare—popular fish filets. They're tasty sauteed or sauced, also fixed this way: Sprinkle filets with salt, pepper and paprika. Spread with real mayonnaise and broil about 6 to 10 minutes, depending on thickness of filets. Garnish with chopped parsley and lemon wedges.

Speaking of Lenten dishes, add a hearty note to your favorite casserole of cheese and macaroni by stirring a can of sliced mushrooms into the sauce.

NEWS FROM Morton Valley

We give up. We just can't tell whether our fruit has been killed or not. In July or August when we go to the orchard we will know whether the peaches are good or not. We are not the worrying kind.

The children of Mrs. John Nix helped her celebrate her birthday last Friday at her home. The dinner menu consisted of barbecued chicken, vegetable, salad and birthday cake, and was brought by the children. Mr. Nix "topped off" the dinner by making iced cream in his freezer. Canasta was played following the dinner. SODA ON THE RANGE

How many ranges get the care they deserve day to day, meal to meal? Yet a few minutes time when it is most needed will keep a range sparkling and efficient. Here are a few pointers to keep in mind.

Most ranges have a porcelain-enamel finish, therefore range care usually means porcelain-enamel care. For example, there's the problem of food acids—milk, tomatoes, or fruits—left in spots on the surface. They may stain it. Some range enamels are acid-resistant, but unless you are sure of your range it's best not to take chances. You'll be absolutely safe if you wipe them off immediately with a dry cloth or paper towel. Then, when the range has cooled, wipe with a damp cloth sprinkled with baking soda.

It's always wise to wait until the range has cooled before using a cold damp cloth because sudden temperature changes on some range enamels may cause "crazing." Crazing shows up as a fine network of cracks that definitely and permanently mar the appearance of the surface. Always be careful, too, not to drop heavy objects on or surface or hit them against it—this, too, can cause bad chips or crazing.

Never use hard abrasives—that is, scratchy cleaners—on the top of a range. A safe product is baking soda. It is non-abrasive which means it cleans without scratching. Soda emulsifies grease, loosens burnt-on spots, quickly whisks away fruit and other acid stains. To clean the range surface with soda, just sprinkle the soda directly on the surface and then wipe it and the soil away with a damp cloth.

Sow Seed and Feed Lawn As Frost Leaves the Soil

Lift Sod in Low Spots, Fill in to Level, and Replace Sod.

With no seed is early sowing more important than with lawn seed. All conditions are usually favorable in the early spring, but become less so rapidly. After nights become warm correct sowing involves much more work, and the chances of success are cut in half, as compared with earlier sowing.

When deep frost has left the ground, but it remains moist, with cold nights, preferably freezing a little, grass seed and plant food will sink into the "honey comb" surface of the soil, with no need for top dressing. Both seed and fertilizer must somehow get below the surface: when the soil has dried out and become firm, this is not easy to manage without applying a top dressing of sifted soil 1/4 inch deep.

Never use a heavy roller. The object of rolling is to press the turf into contact with the subsoil where it may be lifted by frost heaving.

Heavy rollers compact the soil too much, and make it difficult for grass to grow. You cannot roll an uneven lawn enough to make it level. Depressions should be filled by lifting the sod, filling in the low place, then replacing the sod. During the growing season the soil must be loose and the surface porous.

New grass plants have a brief period in which to grow before hot weather and seed bearing time arrive together. Late sown seed may germinate well only to be killed by this ordeal before the plants are strong enough to endure it.

Before the dandelions bloom, the lawn should be sprayed with 2,4-D, and grass seed sown at spraying time will be delayed in germination. Annual use of 2,4-D is necessary for anyone seriously desiring a good lawn. With one easy operation all worry about lawn weeds can be ended; but care is necessary in using this material. Directions given by the manufacturer must be rigidly observed, and the spray must be prevented from reaching perennial plants in the borders.

Wonder Drug Promises Help To Many Young People

And now, a wonder drug to make your skin beautiful and free of eruptions.

Medical science now claims that for the first time in scientific history externally-caused rashes and pimples can be quickly and completely erased from any part of your skin by this revolutionary drug treatment, which successfully attacked 83 per cent of all cases upon whom it was tested.

So claims one of the nation's foremost physicians, Dr. Frederick J. Bailey, M. D., of Boston, former Boston Health Commissioner, a Navy Medical Corps Commander, who was formerly on the staffs of Harvard School of Public Health and John Hopkins.

Writing in the Rhode Island Medical Journal, Dr. Bailey revealed that the Massachusetts General Hospital employs the formula and the Cuticura Corp., of Malden, Mass., developed the drug, which produced highly successful results within 14 days in 83 per cent of the skin disease patients upon whom it was tested.

The drug is a combination of such well-known medicaments as sulphur and oxyquinoline, with natural unbleached petroleum products and complicated sulphur compounds. The base is incorporated into liquid, ointment and soap form for external use to purify the skin by means of triethanolamine and stearic acid.

Tests were made upon 587 persons of both sexes ranging in age from 13 years to 40 years. Some of the cases had persisted for years and had failed to yield to other known types of skin treatment, Dr. Bailey said.

A rigid diet was enforced and the skin disease victims were instructed to bathe their faces and other affected areas with the medicated soap or liquid at least three times a day. Then they covered the affected area with the medicated ointment. A record of 83 per cent successes was reported.

No other known drugs have been developed which so successfully and swiftly attack externally caused pimples and rashes—disfiguring diseases that often leave permanent scars on the face and back, according to Dr. Bailey. The wonder drug to free your skin of eruptions is now available in liquid, ointment and soap form. Dr. Bailey advised that those afflicted with superficial skin diseases consult their skin specialists about use of the drug formula.

But, if you have poor skin, you also must learn to relax completely and free yourself of worries and tensions, says Dr. Bailey. The famed physician claims that nervous tension makes sweat glands give off secretions which clog the skin when it is covered with invisible impurities to cause eruptions.

A study of 126 skin patients ranging in age from 11 to 36 years suffering from nervous exhaustion, showed their skin clear-
