Around The Square

With Mack

If you don't think Eastland is on a boom, just ask us. We know it is hot and dry, and if you shoot a cannon right down the main street you wouldn't hit anything other than hot sunshine. But with all that Eastland is really booming, and we shall tell you why.

Where will you find another city of equal or similar population that has just completed a new hospital—a hospital free of debt and running right along just beautifully as if it had a mortgage hanging over its head? It was bought, built and paid for by the people of Eastland and their friends. Uncle Sam had never had anything to do with it, and Harry can't appoint a dozen different bureaus to come down and tell us how to run it.

We will run it just like we built it—by ourselves. This may not be "new deal" or "fair deal" style, but it is common sense style, and right now the hospital has more patients than it is days old.

Where can you find another city of equal or similar size in population, where the people are sharpening up their tools to begin work on a new mammoth task? Ranger is not supposed to answer this question, for Ranger is similar in size, and it owns half interest in the lake. It will take 18 months or two years to complete this building program, but while it is under construction many hundreds and thousands of dollars will be spent for labor, and that's going to help a multitude of people.

Where can you find another city of equal or similar size in population where construction on a modern new highway will begin within a very few weeks. This is a State Highway project, but a lot of new money paid for labor will find its way into the cash registers of local businesses.

These three major items we can not overlook. They mean a lot to Eastland's economy, to say nothing of Eastland's future. Something always happens just before it is too late. And while we are discussing these subjects, let us not forget that we have other things worthy of mention.

For instance our three garment factories. All are in operation at this time, while a few additional employees are to be added to complete the personnel. This means that approximately 225 women in and near Eastland are given steady employment with good pay.

The average paycheck for a week of five days runs about $43.00, while many of the more experienced women make considerably more. One woman last week said her check amounted to $66.00 which is, of course better than average.

But take 225 women earning an average of $43.00 per week and see what you have. Approximately $10,000.00 weekly or more than half a million dollars annually.

So if you have been inclined to decry hard times and dry weather, suppose you shift gears and go to some point where they are really having a hard time. You will be so happy to get back home you won't be looking for an excuse to do any griping. It may be just a little tighter than usual, but at least you will know it could be a lot worse.

We'll forgive you this time, but don't do it any more.

Twenty-two Men Charged In Huge Theft Of Timber

CENTER, June 19 (UP)—Charges of stealing $200,000 worth of pine timber, filed against 22 Shelby county men, were turned over to a grand jury Thursday for hearing July 7.

The 22 men were freed Wednesday in $2,500 bond after their arrest earlier in the day. Deputy Sheriff Avery Dalton said all signed statements admitting the theft.

Dalton said the thefts, from the Frost Lumber Industries, mostly occurred on weekends and moonlight nights. The timber, he said, was sold as pulp wood and railroad cross ties.

Three of the 22 men already have been indicted and will go on trial at the next session of district court.

VOTE, AND LET'S HAVE WATER

(Editorial)

Friday is election day. Balloting will be done in the two towns who are prospective water customers of the Eastland County Water Supply District. The question at stake will be the voters authorizing the city governments to enter into a water contract with the Eastland County Water Supply District.

The district has been created by an act of the Texas Legislature. The citizens of the area comprising the district have voted to authorize the water district directors to issue bonds and levy a tax if necessary for the construction of a dam and other water facilities on the Leon River. Rumors have it that a tax is to be voted on Friday. That is untrue, no tax will be at issue.

We believe that this plan has lost none of its attractiveness and that it is for everyone's betterment to approve the issue a stake Friday.

Breckenridge Tournament Is On June 27-29

PRECKENRIDGE, June 19 (Sp.)—The 11th Annual Invitational Golf Tournament of the Breckenridge Golf Club will be held June 27-29 following a Pro-Am on June 26. Russel Crowner, defending champion from Abilene, has already indicated he will attend.

Murrell Brown, general chairman of the Tournament, stated that the best greens are in excellent shape. "We are looking for a large turnout this year of between 100-120 players," said Mr. Brown, "and we are offering over $1000.00 in merchandise prizes."

James Roundtree of Dallas, Wilson Sporting Goods Company representative, will be the official starter. Qualifying rounds will be played on Friday with match-play starting Saturday and ending with the championship match Sunday afternoon. An orchestra dance will be held Saturday night.

George Hannon, the new Pro from Austin, announced that among the players already signed up are Dick Stovall and E. I. Hopkins of Abilene and Burton Jones of Ft. Worth, runner-up in last year's tournament.

49th Armored Fares Better In Inspection

NORTH FORT HOOD, June 19 (UP)—The 49th Armored Division had 20 divisions rated as superior by the Fourth Army Thursday, instead of one, after the regular inspection teams looked over the Texas National Guardsmen a second time.

The inspectors admitted they probably had been too harsh during Monday's first inspection and said the guardsmen, holding their 15-day annual maneuvers, "are looking like real soldiers now."

Lone Star Steel Elect New Officers

DALLAS, June 19 (UP)—L. D. Webster of Dallas and W. O. Irvin Jr., of Daingerfield are new officials of Lone Star Steel Co.

The Lone Star board of directors, at its regular summer meeting, elected Webster vice president for public and employee relations and Irvin a member of the board to fill a vacancy created by the death of his father, President E. B. Germany announced Wednesday night.

FEDERAL LAND BUYING SPREE ROBS STATES OF TAX MONEY

ABILENE, June 19.—Uncle Sam started a land-buying spree in 1937 that has taken 65 million acres off state and local tax rolls and made the Federal government owner of one-fourth of the land area of continental United States, according to a bulletin just issued by the taxation and legislation department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Current Federal programs call for federal acquisition of many additional millions of acres, the WTCC declared.

The report said that a 1947 report of the Senate Committee on Public Lands showed that the government then owned from 35 to 87 per cent of the total land area of ten western states, as follows: Nevada 87 per cent; Arizona, 73 per cent; Utah, 72 per cent; Idaho, 74 per cent; Oregon, 53 per cent; Wyoming, 51 per cent; California, 46 per cent; New Mexico, 44 per cent; Colorado, 38 per cent; Montana and Washington 35 per cent.

The committee report is quoted as declaring that a federal policy land acquisition which stresses Federal ownership and control of all the resources of the United States had developed from activities of various government agencies.

"This policy is inimical to the proper and full development of many of the States—and seriously impairs the entire tax structure of such States and their local subdivisions," the committee report declared.

"The WTCC commented that 'this trend toward increased Federal land ownership is of comparatively recent origin. For many decades it was the established policy of the Government to dispose of its or accessible lands to private owners who proceeded to put them to productive use. Federal land holdings gradually diminished under this policy until in 1937 the total government acreage was a record low of 394,657,000 acres. By 1949, government acreage totaled 455,147,000. A recent unofficial check showed that approximately four million acres more had been added."

Sen. Knowland Denies Offer Of Veep Post

WASHINGTON, June 19 (UP)—Sen. William F. Knowland, R-Calif., denied Thursday that he has been offered the Republican vice presidential nomination in return for throwing his state's 70 national convention delegates behind Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Knowland told a reporter there was "no foundation" to published reports that such a deal was in the works.

"There is nothing to it of any type or character," he said. "There is no such understanding of any kind."

"The facts of the matter are that we have a California delegation pledged to Gov. Earl Warren. I'm the head of that delegation. The delegation is pledged to be for the governor as long as he is a candidate until he personally releases them."

"The vice presidential situation will not be taken up until the presidential situation is out of the way. If the delegation is released, it will make its own determination based on what it thinks is best for the nation and the Republican party. Its decision will not be based on any deal whatsoever."

Supporters of both Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower have had their eye on the 44-year-old Knowland since he topped even Warren in the recent California primaries. Knowland was renominated for the Senate on both the Democratic and Republican tickets under his state's unique "cross-filing" system.

Sng Sermon Be Given At Morton Valley Saturday

Theme of the program will be "The Cross," and will be illustrated with 10 original oil paintings.

The public has been invited to attend this service.

"Cadillac" Honeymoon Halted In Tennessee

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 19 (UP)—A 31-year-old Fort Worth, man and his bride were honeymooning in style—in a Cadillac—until police stepped in.

James M. Morse, the Texan, was arrested Wednesday and charged with stealing the Cadillac from a Dallas dealer and driving it here. Officers said Morse married a Memphis woman four days ago.

OTHER DISPUTES LEFT TO STATE COMMITTEE RULE

By Raymond Lahr
WASHINGTON, June 19 (UP)—Taft and Eisenhower supporters agreed Thursday that the Republican national committee did "the right thing" by taking on the job of referee in the bitter dispute over Texas delegates to the GOP nominating convention.

Some of the other decisions on delegate contests which the national committee announced Wednesday night were less pleasing to one camp or the other. But the overall "package" was accepted by both sides without public protest.

With 95 convention votes at stake, the way in which the delegate disputes are settled could decide the outcome of the neck-and-neck race between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft for the GOP presidential nomination.

The national committee took jurisdiction over disputes involving 72 delegates and 70 alternates, including the entire 38-member Texas delegation.

Contests involving 23 delegates and 23 alternates were referred to state GOP committees in Virginia, Louisiana, Georgia and Mississippi for decision.

The actions were based on a GOP rule requiring state committees to decide contests over delegates elected by districts and the national organization to settle disputes over those elected from states at large.

Taft would have been the gainer if the 32 district delegates allotted to Texas had been referred to the pro-Taft Texas GOP committee.

However, the Taft camp believed that the whole Texas fight would go before the national convention anyway. Eisenhower's managers have said they would insist on taking it there.

The Eisenhower campaign managers have charged Taft forces with "stealing" the Texas delegation by excluding Eisenhower supporters from the state convention. Taft reported that the Eisenhower backers were actually Democrats trying to take over the Texas GOP.

The Eisenhower organization was less pleased by the national committee's decision to refer contests over seven district delegates and seven alternates to the pro-Taft Louisiana state committee. The Eisenhower managers have threatened to fight these contests at the national convention, too.

While Taft could expect to benefit from the Louisiana decision, he could be hurt by a parallel ruling sending disputes over 13 district delegates and 13 alternates to the pro-Eisenhower Georgia GOP committee.

The national committee will hold hearings beginning July 1 at Chicago on the contests under its jurisdiction. Its decisions will supply the temporary roll of delegates for the national convention.

However, these decisions may be appealed to the convention credentials committee, which recommends the permanent roll to the convention. Finally, the decisions of the credentials committee may be appealed to the convention floor.

U. S., Russia Debate Germ Warfare Today

By Bruce W. Munn
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 19 (UP)—Russian delegate Jacob A. Malik and U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross squared off Thursday for a blistering germ warfare debate in the United Nations security council.

In opening the long heralded debate before the 11-nation council Wednesday, Malik studiously avoided bringing up discredited Red charges that U. S. troops waged bacteriological warfare in Korea.

Instead, he insisted mildly that all nations ratify the 1925 Geneva protocol outlawing germ warfare.

Gross abruptly described Malik's maneuver as a "fraud" and, in turn, suggested sending the ratification question to the UN's 12 nation Disarmament Commission for further study.

"There has been no evidence whatever placed before the membership of the UN or manifested in any other way on any other front throughout the world that the Soviet government has abandoned its campaign of lies regarding the question of germ warfare," Gross said.

Malik, returning to his opening statement, said Russia's appeal for ratification of the Geneva document "bears no relation whatever to the question of Korea."

Gross said Russia, while ratifying the protocol, felt free to use poison gas and loosen plagues against countries which did not ratify it and those "whose forces do not respect the restriction which is the object" of the document.

He said Russia, in accusing the U. S. of waging germ warfare in Korea, was getting into position to use such weapons itself "if it decides to declare that the states resisting aggression in Korea are its enemies."

Baking Heat Continues At Unabated Pace

By United Press
One town in Kansas got most of the Southwest's rain Wednesday as the area baked in a continuing heat wave.

At Salina, Kans., a savage wind and hail storm accompanied by 100-mile wind gusts injured three persons and caused extensive property damage during a one-hour rampage. Residents of the area west of Salina said some wheat fields were "flattened" by the torrential rain.

The vicious storm bore down on Salina as U. S. weather forecasters at Kansas City issued a storm warning for central Kansas and west-central and north-central Missouri. Most of the storm danger passed about 2 a. m. Thursday, however.

Throughout much of the remainder of the Southwest, however, citizens sweated.

Texas weather stations recorded only .01 inch of rain, at Daltart, as temperatures shot up to 104 at Presidio. Eight other Texas cities recorded high mercury readings of 100 degrees or more.

Missouri recorded only .01 inch of rain, at St. Jose, until some scattered showers fell Wednesday night and in Kansas the temperature soared to 105 at Russell and to 100 all across the southern half of the state.

The Missouri high also was 100 degrees, at Joplin and Malden. There were scattered light thundershowers in southeastern Colorado and southeastern Wyoming. Temperatures were about normal in that two-state area.

U. S. weather forecasters said, with a high of 98 degrees at La Junta, Colo., and 85 at Rawlins and Rock Springs, Wyo.

The Oklahoma wheat harvest was virtually complete, with field hands moving Thursday into the Panhandle where one sixth of the state's grain waited.

Beaumont Doctor Named President Heart Association

Dr. J. C. Crager of Beaumont, recently named president of the Texas Heart Association, has announced the chairman and members of eight statewide committees. The appointments are in addition to members of the executive committee, which is headed by Dr. Crager, prominent Southeast Texas physician.

"There men will lead the Texas fight for the next year to reduce the ravages of heart diseases—number one killer in the nation," Dr. Crager explained. "They will be the leaders in communities throughout the state in the three major Texas Heart Association activities: community service, education and research."

Administration Pushes Opening Essential Mills

By Robert E. Lee
WASHINGTON, June 19 (UP)—The administration rushed plans Thursday to reopen a few steel mills for "urgent" defense production before Congress formally demands use of the Taft-Hartley law to end the 18-day old strike of 650,000 CIO Steelworkers.

Democratic and Republican leaders agreed that the House was "certain" to give overwhelming approval, late Thursday or Friday, to a Senate passed rider to the economic controls bill "requesting" President Truman to invoke the law and seek an 80-day anti-strike injunction.

Industry officials expected the government to announce Thursday which steel plants will be reopened by agreement with the union, to provide war goods for Korea.

The emergency plan engineered by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman is aimed at restoring some 600,000 ingot tons of steel production a month—about five per cent of the industry's total capacity.

Some capital quarters thought the move might provide the administration with an argument that the steel strike no longer warranted use of the Taft-Hartley law.

Congressman Tom Pickett Quits House

WASHINGTON, June 19 (UP) Rep. Tom Pickett of Palestine, Tex., will become executive vice president of the National Coal Association when he resigns from Congress June 30.

Appointment of the Texas Democrat to the staff of the coal association was announced Wednesday at Washington. Pickett previously announced he would resign from Congress.

The 45-year-old member of the national House of Representatives was first elected to the 79th Congress and was sworn in in January, 1946.

He is a native of Travis in Falls county, is married and has two daughters.

This was Harriman's first venture into primary elections and Kefauver's second setback in sixteen primaries. (NEA Telephoto).

ABILENE — Cost of construction in West Texas by the Department of Defense that is under way, that has been authorized by Congress, and that is being requested for 1953 will total $185,877,000, according to a report prepared by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Operation Fails To Cure Thief; Back In Old Trade

PITTSBURG June 19—Mildred F. Wright, 42, was back in jail Thursday convinced that a delicate brain operation has not cured his "urge to steal." The former Leechburg, Pa. resident, who risked his life so the operation could be performed, was arrested Wednesday night and held in connection with a string of jewelry store burglaries. The arrest shocked Wright's attorney and doctor. They believed he had been leading an exemplary life since he underwent the operation and was paroled from Western penitentiary in 1949. Wright, too, was disappointed to be back in jail. He shrugged off questions about the success of the operation, saying: "With me it wasn't."

followed his case with great interest. His arrest also "shocked" Allegheny county authorities who had to pay out about $30 per day during Wright's 63-day stay in the hospital.

Before he was paroled three years ago, Wright spent almost half of his life behind bars. Then after he landed in Western penitentiary Wright volunteered to undergo brain surgery to "cure my urge to steal."

Dr. Yale David Koskoff, noted brain surgeon, performed the operation in 1947. At that time Dr. Koskoff explained that he severed nerve fibers in Wright's brain hoping to effect a personality change. Two years later Wright was paroled and since then psychiatrists and criminologists have

Paris After Dark Exciting Evening Gowns Are New

Spectacular evening gowns from the mid-season collections in Paris include this dress (left) with "corset bodice" by Jean Besses. Black tulle is combined with cerise taffeta, with the latter worked into the tightly-swathed bodice. The taffeta is used for a sweeping panel-train. Velvet is important in the mid-season collections. Jacques Fath uses it (right) for a strapless evening gown of white lace with giant bow and streamers in velvet covering dress front. Brief bolero emphasizes a daring décollete, is worn with long black velvet gloves.—By Rosette Hargrove, NEA Staff Correspondent.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service bureau of the State Bar of Texas

Thousands of Texas are called each year as prospective jurors in our many state and federal courts. When chosen to serve, very few of these violate their oath with intentional misconduct. But honest mistakes have all too frequently brought the sincerity and ethics of an individual juror into question. Usually such errors arise from his misunderstanding of his function as a judge—for the jury is judge of the facts in the case before it.

Like Caesar's wife, the juror must not only avoid wrong, but must also avoid any appearance of wrong. Otherwise, his integrity and honor may be brought into question by actions which are actually innocent but appear censurable to those who view them. By observing the following simple suggestions, the juror may be sure he is maintaining the highest of ethics, in which no possible fault may be found by others:

Hold yourself aloof from all persons (except other jurors) in any way connected with the trial of the case. That means that you should not mingle with nor talk to the lawyers, witnesses, parties, nor the judge, even though the discussion is wholly unrelated to the trial.

Do not guess at the judge's mit others to mention it to you or in your presence during the trial. If anyone insists upon talking about the case after you have explained to him that you are a juror and must not listen, report the matter to the judge immediately.

Do not commence your deliberations until you have heard all the evidence from both sides, the argument of the lawyers, and the court's charge. You should not mention the case except in the jury room when all other jurors are present.

Do not become a private investigator. All properly admissible evidence will be brought before you. Do not try to search out additional facts you believe to have been omitted. Do not even guess or speculate about facts not in evidence.

Be attentive to the evidence as it is presented. If you are to properly aid the other jurors in settling the fact questions, it will be necessary to listen carefully to all evidence presented.

Do not guess at the judge's opinion of the facts. You are the judge of the facts. He is not allowed and will not try to invade your province. His rulings on admissibility of evidence reflect no ideas or opinions on any fact question.

You should not mention or discuss your own personal experiences, or any knowledge that you may have of similar transactions. If you should disclose such information to others serving on a jury, the court would have to grant a new trial.

Accept no favors from and bestow no favors upon any person interested in the trial. However innocent the conduct may be, it will raise doubts in otherwise undoubting minds, and may even be subject to more serious insinuations and charges.

When in doubt ask the judge. If you are in doubt about your rights or duties as a juror, you should not ask anyone but the judge for information.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.

SENATOR SAYS OBJECT OF FOREIGN AID BEEN REACHED

ABILENE, June 19—Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana has uncovered a hoax which affects every American taxpayer, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce noted today.

"This hoax is being put over by the federal office-holders who are desperately seeking arguments in favor of continued heavy foreign economic aid," said a bulletin issued by the regional chamber's Taxation and Legislation department.

Remainder of the text of the bulletin follows:

Sen. Ellender tried unsuccessfully to cut $500 million from the $1.6 billion economic aid authorization last week. In the debate over his amendment, he quoted some testimony by Paul Hoffman, former ECA Administrator, that when industrial production in any country reached 125 per cent of the 1939 prewar levels, America's recovery help could be discontinued.

The startling facts presented by Sen. Ellender show that industrial production in Belgium and Luxembourg actually has reached 146 per cent of prewar.

Industrial production in Denmark has reached 162 per cent. It has reached 144 per cent in Italy.

It has reached 146 per cent in the United Kingdom.

And so on.

The average rate for all NATO countries was 15 per cent. Other countries participating in M S A have boosted their industrial production to an average of 136 per cent of prewar levels.

By comparing Hoffman's testimony with these figures, it would appear that continued economic aid from the United States should be stopped now.

But nothing could be further from the wishes and unrealistic ambitions of the office-holders who would have American taxpayers foot the recovery bill for years to come.

So they have switched yardsticks. Paul Hoffman's measurement was too good for them. And this is where the hoax comes in.

The substituted for the original 1939 index figure the much higher base rate of 1948—the year the ECA program began. This put the economic aid program in a different light.

But even with 1948 as a base the average industrial production index for NATO countries is 125 per cent—the same figure used by Hoffman—while for other countries it is 137 per cent of 1948.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, died of poison after posing as Dr. Basil Willing, psychiatrist. Basil had followed Duggan to expose him at a party given by another psychiatrist, Dr. Zimmer. Before Duggan explains he dies in a restaurant to which Basil had taken him. His last words were about a place where "no bird sings." Basil learns the name of the other guests from Dr. Zimmer, who was aware that an impostor was at the place. Basil is interested in Miss Katherine Shaw, a blind woman, who apparently had mistaken Basil for the faker. The next day Basil learns that Miss Shaw is dead.

VIII
IMMACULATE was the word for Katherine Shaw's drawing room. Every sunlit surface shone as if it had just been polished.

Inspector Foyle looked about the room and frowned. "No ash trays." There were some nice bits of enamel from Limoges, some pretty pieces of porcelain from Meissen, some glittering bowls of cut crystal. But they were all stiff boxes, figurines, or vases. Nothing in the room could possibly be mistaken for an ash tray.

Charlotte Dean stood on the threshold, a tall, narrow woman with long-fingered hands and slender feet. "Inspector Foyle?" She spoke in a high, sweet voice. "I recall your appointment with Miss Shaw this afternoon, but—don't you know?" "That Miss Shaw is dead? Yes, I know," Foyle answered gravely. "And I'm sorry that I must insist on keeping the appointment—with you."

"Then won't you sit down?" She sat with ankles crossed, hands resting lightly on the arms of her chair, an easy posture that suited the chair and the room. A shaft of sunlight fell across her face, and Basil saw eyes red and swollen as if she had been weeping.

"How did Miss Shaw die?" Foyle asked her.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, died of poison, possibly by a snake bite. Basil Willing had followed Duggan to the home of Dr. Zimmer, a psychiatrist, and had been given a chance to explain, but Duggan had died before he could do so. The next morning Miss Katherine Shaw, a blind woman, who apparently had mistaken Basil for the faker at Dr. Zimmer's home, is found dead in her bed. Basil and Inspector Foyle go to the Shaw home to question Brinsley, the dead woman's nephew, and her secretary, Charlotte Dean, who also were at Dr. Zimmer's dinner party.

IX
FOYLE sighed. "Somehow we must establish the relationship between Duggan and Miss Shaw. Who attended to her correspondence after she went blind?" "I wrote personal letters at her dictation and read her letters received. Her lawyer attended to business matters. He had power of attorney."

"I'm afraid I'll have to ask permission to go through her papers." "You'll have to ask her nephew, Brinsley, who is also her heir. I'll call him."

When Charlotte had left the room, Foyle looked at Basil quizzically. "One of those cases where we may never find any evidence." "Autopsy?" "What will we find? Codeine. So what? She could have taken it herself. She could have saved up pills for an overdose."

Basil walked over to the window and stood looking out at the sunny street. "Duggan's murder seems to have been an afterthought—a clumsy improvisation under stress. Miss Shaw's murder was carefully planned—if it was murder."

SENATE SHELVES TRUMAN'S NON-POLITICAL JOB PLANS

WASHINGTON, June 19 (UP)—President Truman's plan to take 21,000 postmaster appointments out of politics went to the dead letter office Thursday.

The Senate Wednesday by a 56-29 vote disapproved Mr. Truman's plan to remove postmaster jobs from the political patronage system. Then it quickly killed similar plans affecting some 94 U. S. marshals and 51 officials of the Customs Bureau.

The plans would have taken effect Friday had they not been disapproved by either the Senate or House.

After brisk debate on the merits of patronage, the Senate decided to keep the present system whereby by jobholders are appointed by the President on advice of a congressman or state chairman of the President's party, and confirmed by the Senate.

Chairman John L. McClellan D. Ark. of the Senate Government Operations committee, which recommended killing the plans, said the proposals would not abolish political appointments.

There is politics in filling the jobs, McClellan said, but it is "open," local politics for which congressmen can be held accountable.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey D-Minn. led avowed foes of the spoils system in a losing battle for plans. "The American people are sick of corruption and the political patronage system," Humphrey said. He added that congressmen have more important things to do, such as running the country, than spending their time filling minor jobs.

Green Card Can Take Guesswork Out Of Marketing

Farmers can take the guesswork out of selling their cotton with a green card.

This green card shows that the cotton has been classed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration. A green card showing the grade and staple is issued for every bale of cotton classed.

Farmers belonging to cotton improvement groups receive this classification without paying a fee. Also they receive a USDA price quotation sheet to keep them posted on what the cotton is worth.

Both services come from PMA's classing office at Dallas Texas. Manager of this office is Mr. Sam W. Martin.

Any group of farmers organized to promote improvement of cotton adopts a variety files an application, arranges for sampling and meets certain other requirements for its members is eligible for these services.

The application, which covers all farmers in a group, should be mailed to the Dallas Cotton Classing Office as soon as all members have planted their cotton. It is located at 1104 South Ervay St., Dallas 1, Texas.

Coupland Bank Robbed $1,857

COUPLAND, Tex., June 19 (UP)—A leisurely bank bandit who told the woman cashier he robbed "I haven't killed but two men previously" eluded state and county officers Thursday after escaping with $1,857 loot.

He had demanded not less than $10,000, but fled with $1,000 in $20 bills, $400 in $1 bills and $457 from a cash drawer. The bandit took his time at robbing Miss Lydia Etzel, assistant cashier, hanging around the bank until she was alone.

Miss Etzel said the man first entered the bank, and posing as a tractor mechanic, sought to locate someone for whom he claimed he had repaired a tractor. The bandit then left the bank, stopped on his way out to shake hands and chat with a campaign worker for a legislative candidate who had come in to electioneer.

The robber later returned to the bank while Miss Etzel was alone, walked to her cage and said, "This is a stick-up. I don't want less than $10,000."

C. W. Pfleger Jr., bank president, said Miss Etzel handed the man all the money available in a cash drawer, then challenged him to show her whether or not he had a gun. The man drew a nickel-plated pistol from his pocket.

He fled after forcing Miss Etzel to the bank vault, where he took $1,400. Pfleger described the man as between 30 and 35 years of age, about 5 feet, 10 inches tall and weighing about 145 pounds.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, was murdered apparently by poison which he may have taken in a drink at a dinner party given by Dr. Zimmer, also a psychiatrist, had followed Duggan to the party because Duggan had been posing as Dr. Willing. Duggan dies before he can explain to Basil. The next morning, an aged blind woman, Miss Katherine Shaw, who had mistaken Basil for the impostor at the party, is found dead in her bed. Basil and Inspector Foyle go to the Shaw home to question Brinsley Shaw, who had mistaken Basil for the impostor at the party, and her secretary, Charlotte Dean, who also were at the party.

CHARLOTTE'S face was white now. Brinsley preserved his equanimity. "I think you're on the wrong track, Inspector. It's quite clear that you think Miss Dean or myself gave Aunt Kay occasion to employ Jack Duggan. But you forgot one point: Aunt Kay never introduced this detective into her own home, where he would have had the best chance to investigate Miss Dean or myself. On the contrary, she made rather elaborate arrangements for him to dine at Dr. Zimmer's last night. That certainly sounds as if it were someone at Zimmer's whom she wanted Duggan to watch."

"What was her attitude toward the various people there last night?" asked Foyle. Brinsley meditated for a moment. "She liked Zimmer best. He is quite charming with old ladies. In less than a year he became one of her heroes."

"Who introduced Zimmer to Miss Shaw?" "Why, I believe I did." "Where did you meet him?" "Come to think of it, the first time I met him was at Rosamund Yorke's, but I didn't get to know him well until I became his patient."

"What was wrong with you?" Brinsley was taken aback. "I—well—I had what they call a nervous breakdown about a year ago. But I'm much better now. Zimmer knows his stuff..."

Brinsley looked at him keenly. "I take it Miss Shaw didn't care for smoking?" ventured Basil. "Not an ash tray in the house," Brinsley paced with a leisurely step. "I was supposed to come out here. Sometimes I'd sneak a smoke in my own rooms like a schoolboy."

They sauntered toward the window. "How could your aunt contact Duggan if Miss Dean didn't write the letter for her?" asked Basil. "She might have telephoned him, if someone gave her his number. I still can't believe she did."

"The fact remains that your aunt and Duggan died the same night. We know that Duggan was poisoned, and we suspect that he was employed by your aunt at that time," Basil said. Brinsley looked at him keenly.

"Are you suggesting that my aunt...?" Basil nodded. Brinsley considered this while the amorous cooing of pigeons filled the sunlit yard. "It doesn't mean that Aunt Kay herself was poisoned, for how could this hypothetical person possibly know it was she who had hired Duggan?"

"Miss Dean knew," said Basil. "Because she made out the checks to Duggan. When she says 'she forgot' she means that her conscious memory lost the fact. It was always there in her subconscious memory."

"But how could she know that a man announced as 'Dr. Willing' was the man she had made out checks for as Duggan? And how could she know that Duggan was a detective?" Basil smiled. "Then why do you think Duggan was killed?"

Brinsley looked up at the sky where a white cloud was sailing before an otherwise invisible wind. He spoke slowly, as if he were thinking aloud. "Dr. Willing, have you done much work in criminology?" "I'd rather say forensic psychiatry. Except for the war years, I've been with the district attorney's office since 1938."

"You must have annoyed lots of criminals." "Thank you." Basil's voice was dry as he wondered if Brinsley Shaw were making a crude effort to curry official favor by personal flattery.

"There is one extremely obvious motive that might have made someone want to kill Jack Duggan, and it has nothing to do with my aunt. Is it possible that it hasn't occurred to you?" "Quite possible," Basil laughed. "At least this wasn't flattery. 'I'm not infallible.'"

Brinsley's gaze dropped from the clouds. His shallow, empty eyes looked directly at Basil. "Hasn't it really occurred to you that Jack Duggan was killed, not because he was Jack Duggan, but because he was supposed to be Basil Willing?"

Every implement works best, stands up longest, if operated within a recommended speed range. Take a planter for example. If you operate a planter too fast you not only shorten its life, but you get poor planting. You're likely to get "misses" that cut down yields and reduce profits. But if you operate too slow you'll waste time and lose profits too. For best results in planting, and in most all other field operations, right tractor speed is important!

The Proof-Meter—found only on the new Ford Tractor—enables you to hit and hold the right speed for planting and many other jobs, because it shows exact travel speed—in every gear—right before your eyes! And Proof-Meter does more . . .

5 Instruments in ONE! In addition to Tractor Speed, the Proof-Meter shows you Engine Speed, Power Take-Off Speed, Belt Pulley Speed, and indicates Hours Worked. Nothing else like it.

English College To Learn Texas Barbecue Method

CAMPBRIDGE, Eng., June 19—Texas insurance man Buster Shely prepared Thursday to teach faculty members of 600-year-old Corpus Christi College how to barbecue a steer.

The steer was sent to the college by the chamber of commerce of Corpus Christi, Texas, so the institution could celebrate its 600th anniversary in Texas style.

Shely, who said barbecuing was his hobby, arrived wearing a broad-brimmed hat and 12-inch boots.

USDA PREDICTS NEW RECORD FOR U.S. WATERMELON CROP

By Herman W. Nichols
WASHINGTON, June 19—The watermelon season is with us, and if the Department of Agriculture isn't mistaken we'll eat more this year than ever before.

In 1951, 85,207,000 melons, valued at $30,297,000 were consumed. This record is expected to be bettered this year.

The department has an interesting little booklet out called—quite properly—"watermelons."

There are 29 more or less common varieties of the giant of the cucumber family, making it a pretty big business.

Some Unusual Names
The growers have tacked some rather unusual names to the various kinds. For example there is the "Georgia Rattlesnake," which has a sweet taste and is fine-grained. There is the "Irish Gray," which grows up to 40 pounds.

Among others, there is a variety known to the trade as the "Yellow Ice Cream." It's yellow on the inside and has a sugary flavor.

Watermelons are fine to eat but not so easy to grow. A lot of things can go wrong from watermelon hill to the table, making it a highly speculative crop.

The Department of Agriculture lists all sorts of enemies of the melon. There are the cucumber beetles, which destroy the seedlings.

Cut worms and wireworms have been known to cause considerable damage. There is a small house-like insect known as the watermelon aphid. It obtains its livelihood by sucking plant juices.

The sale of the grown melons often is affected by the weather. On hot, sultry days the demand often exceeds the supply, but on rainy days, or in cool, unseasonable weather the demand falls off and the supply piles up in the back end of the grocery.

Other Problems, Too
The growers or wholesalers are not completely off the hook financially, even after the melons are picked and ready for shipment.

"A carload or truck load of melons may leave the farm in apparently perfect condition," the department says. "But if the cut stems are not treated with copper sulfate paste after picking, the melons may be so spoiled by stem-end rot as to be unsaleable when they reach the market."

Speaking of enemies of the melon grower, the department made an offhand reference to the defense of small boys, who are bitten by a streak of larceny when the first melon ripens. The department does not condone such thefts, but admits that little boys are the least of the grower's worries.
