"Quo Vadis?" Know what these words mean? Well, we can tell you now, though we couldn't when women in Eastland began ringing our phone and asking the same question. For a day or so we brushed them off by telling them it was some kind of a question in the Latin language, and before they could ask anything else we would hang up. Finally in desperation we took off time to post ourselves. We knew the meaning of "quo," but that "vadis" may well have been the Chinese word for hamburger as well as anything else.

We listed all college graduates in Eastland, then cut all that did not have an A.B. degree. We went visiting, but learned very little. We went over to the show and questioned the "powers that be" over there. Finally we got our press sheets and gave them the once over. After a while we mixed press sheets, Latin dictionaries, and our own feeble mind into one mass of semi-intelligence, and got the answer. "Quo Vadis" is a Latin sentence meaning "Whither Goest Thou," or "Where Goest Thou?" In modern day English we would merely ask "Where Are You Going?" The majestic is a swell show and the works and all other connected with it, are wonderful people. However, we hope they "book" pictures with American "titles" for the balance of the summer. It's just too hot for us to be running around deciphering foreign language.

One of our customers called us up today and informed us that we do not have a Mr. Nickle in this area, but that a very fine citizen, O. O. Mickie, who resides on South Connellee is the fellow who spent good money at that "quilt auction" Tuesday. We knew we would have a bull or two in the list, but we regret very much that it happened to be our old friend Mickie, a swell guy, who helped us build that first barbed wire fence north of Amarillo. He was a member of the Shrine Band up there the day they marched across the hot sands.

Saturday, July 26th, Texas voters are supposed to go to the polls and vote for a new set of governing officers. Many people will stay away from the polls because of hot weather or other excuses. This should not be. If you allow other people to select your officers, don't start kicking if you find a new set who do not like. You have just as much right to vote as the other fellow—so vote.

Hugh Hardeman clipped the following from a National magazine and because of its great value we reproduce it. "Are you one who thinks our government is not run right—through the local city group, or through county, state and national officials? It is possible that the trouble lies with the voters themselves. Take a look at the decline in the vote record over the years. In 1896 over 70 per cent of the qualified voters voted in national elections. By 1912 this figure had dropped to 60 per cent. In 1924 only 49.1 per cent of the voters were interested enough to cast their ballots, while in 1950 only 44 per cent of the voters went to the polls. "If this continues our American way of life and free enterprise system is in danger. Citizens must go to the polls and vote. Let's start with the coming primary in July."

We need a good lot and we can't pay very much for it. We want to build Whitney Butler's new home on it, so if you have a good lot you will sell for a small consideration, or better still "donate it", see the proprietor of this column. Right now we are in a very receptive mood.

D.A.V.'s To Meet Baird July 23rd

The D.A.V.s are to meet the Baird Firemen on July 23, for a third game. It will be remembered that the D.A.V.s lost one 10-inning game to the firemen by a score of 8 to 2. Later they met for a second game and the D.A.V. team won with a score of 5-4. The game to be played next Wednesday should be a good one, and Manager Charlie McCoy is anxious for a good attendance.

Pig Scramble Adds Spice To Ranger Rodeo

Ten young men scrambling for greased pigs in hopes of getting 1 of two registered Jersey heifers; and giving away of the first two shetland ponies highlighted the action packed second performance of the Ranger Jaycee Rodeo. Ten chosen FFA and 4-H Club boys scrambled for five evasive greased pigs, two of which would bring the one catching the pig a registered Jersey. David Wesley or Strawn were the two lucky boys among the five catching a greased porker, and will get a heifer calf. Under the Jaycee Livestock improvement program the boys will return their first heifer calf to the Jaycees to be given away at another scramble.

"Tote" Mansker, Jr. formerly of Breckenridge an now a foreman at Conair Aircraft in Ft. Worth won the first of two ponies last night. Mansker's father is a former resident of Ranger. The elder "Tote" having been a teamster during the oil boom days, in Ranger.

The actual rodeo moved faster last night and gave the nearly filled stands their money's worth in rodeo entertainment. The specialty acts and bull-fighting clowns added to the night's outing of these fine fans who were very responsive and quick to applaud the exploits of the contestants.

Clark Schultz and his "Buckin Ford" are getting to be the talk of the town. This specialty act has drawn more comment than any in a long while. The antics of this contract performer and bull fighter gives the fans a run for their money with the actions of his and his red car.

Thursday night results, which ended the first go-round, includes BAREBACK BRONC RIDING (1) Booger Red Nixon, Breckenridge, (2) Lawrence Carey, Mineral Wells, (3) Bob Enzler, Auburn, Calif., and (4) Cotton Proctor, Belton.

SADDLE BRONC RIDING (1) Bill Barton, Clyde, (2-3) Alfred Cox, Clyde and Billy Hoyle of Georgetown, tied.

BRAHAMA BULL RIDING (1) Ira Akers, San Antonio, (only qualified ride in first go-round—remainder money split as "ground money")

CALF ROPING (1) Jack Saunders, Gatesville—14.4 (2) Buddy Fort, Lovington, New Mexico 16, (3) Ira Pack, Buckholt, 16.7, (4) Doyle Riley, Ballinger 18.3 (First go-round completed after last night's performance.)

GIRLS BARREL RACE (nightly results) (1) Betty Lamb, Dallas—18.5 (2) Ted Lamb, Dallas 19.3, (3) Helen Bradford, Ranger—19.7

CUTTING HORSE CONTEST (1) Josey, owned and ridden by Bill Iler of Hailton City, (2) Old Colonel, owned and ridden by George Claescock of Cresson, (3) Shorty, owned and ridden by P. H. Thurst of Cresson.

As an added event the Buffalo belonging to L. R. Pearsons are ridden by volunteers, giving a number of fans their first glimpse of a buffalo, especially one being ridden by a man.

The next performance in tonight at 8:00. Another Shetland pony will be given away and another pig scramble held for three registered Jersey heifers by the remaining eight boys from this area.

The rodeo runs smoother each night, with the arena director and the cowboys getting things down pat and getting the show out fast.

Yellowjackets Take Game From Breck Tigers

Yellowjackets met the Breckenridge Tigers at ABC Field in Cisco, Thursday night, and according to their manager, played a good game. The score was 13 to 6 in favor of the Jackets. The Tigers, a colored team, will meet the Jackets again at an early date.

Stephen and Edwards pitched for Eastland, and did some splendid work. Manager Ables says, "The Jackets are to meet Cisco, in Cisco, tonight, and a good game is promised. Tomorrow they will take on the Stamford Indians, on the ABC Field in Cisco, and the boys declare they have no intentions of being scalped."

Southern Bolt Is Forecast At Democratic Convention

WORDS OF ADVICE—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, right, listens closely as he receives some words of advice from Carl Estes, Longview, Texas, newspaper publisher. Sen. Kefauver arrived in Chicago early to take personal charge of his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination at the National Convention beginning July 21. (NEA Telephoto).

Church Of God Camp-Meeting Began In Eastland Last Night; Public Is Invited To Attend Daily Services

Camp meeting time is here. Yes, to modern generations these are strange words, but to old timers brush arbors, and wagon box beds, of camp cooking and religious enthusiasm which furnished the pioneers with their chief source of social get-together. For Eastlanders the community will be given the rare opportunity to "turn the clock back," a generation or so, and attend the annual camp meeting of the Church of God which began at 7:30 last night at Warner Memorial camp ground, located a mile west of the city.

Services, which run through next Wednesday night, will be held at 10:30 a.m., 2:45 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily.

In addition to the general service, a ministers institute will be conducted at 8:00 a.m.; a religious education class at 9:00 a.m. each morning and Youth & Children services each evening at 6:30. The camp meeting will feature missionaries from at least two foreign nations.

The main convention speaker will be C. Herbert Joiner, pastor of Louisville, Kentucky. Rev. Joiner, who is well known as a camp meeting and convention speaker in the east and mid-west, will be preaching each evening and at various other services during the camp meeting.

Yes, it's camp meeting time, and while "shoots in the camp" are not a prominent feature of modern camp meetings, the flavor and atmosphere of spiritual enthusiasm, characteristic of bygone days, is evident. The Church of God, which prefers to use the name in its inclusive rather than sense, cordially invites the Eastland community to "Come to Meetin."

Methodists To Hear Dr. Riley

Dr. P. E. Riley, Executive Secretary of the Pension Fund of the Central Texas Conference, will preach at the 10:50 worship hour at First Methodist Church Sunday. There will be no evening worship service, due to the absence of the Pastor, Rev. J. Morris Bailey, who is out of the city.

Boy Scouts Will Visit Cimarron National Camp

Explorer Scout Troop No. 48, sponsored by the American Legion, will leave Sunday morning for Philmont Scout Ranch, for a two-week vacation. This National scout ranch is located at Cimarron, N.M. Twenty boys from the Cimarron Trail Council, will make the trip; nine of whom will be from Eastland. They are Bob Womack, Doug King, Jim Ed Willman, Joe Ernst, Jamie Jessop, Stanley Harris, John Whitley, Herbie Weaver and Joe Muirhead. Also boys from Breckenridge, Brownwood, Bangs and Goldthwaite will be in attendance.

Bill Jessop has arranged for Johnny Aaron's bus, and will drive for the boys. The trip back home will be quite educational as the boys will see some of the most enchanting scenes imaginable. They will come back via Taos, N.M., where they will see the old Pueblos, Eagle Nest Lake, and on to Santa Fe, where they will visit the Palace of Governors, and the New Mexico Art Museum. They will spend the last night out at the Bottomless Lakes, near Roswell.

Allies Turn Back Assault

SEOUL, Korea, July 18—United Nations soldiers and tanks hurled back a Communist tank-led assault on a hill northwest of Chonwon in a bitter, five-hour battle Friday and pushed on north to take new positions.

It was the first tank vs. tank engagement in months. The UN tanks claimed victory after destroying a Russian-built T-34 with a direct hit.

The Red attack began with an enemy artillery barrage. Shortly after several T-34s and a reinforced enemy battalion began slogging through the rain toward Allied positions.

Enemy tanks also supported a light jab at another hill in the Chonwon area, but it was easily repulsed. The Allies claimed they killed or wounded nearly 250 Communist soldiers in hot and frequent patrol actions in the central sector.

Ike At Retreat For Week's Rest

By Rex Chaney DENVER, July 18 (UP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower went into a week of seclusion at a mountain retreat Friday without showing the slightest concern over leaving the political spotlight completely to the Democrats. The Republican presidential candidate seemed to have but one objective in mind at the moment—to catch some trout. If he had any interest at all in what was going on in Chicago where the Democrats are gathering for their national convention, he did not show it.

He left here Thursday with plans to spend a week fishing in the cold, swift waters of St. Louis creek, a mountain stream that cuts through the 1900-acre cattle ranch owned by Aksel Nielsen, an old friend of Eisenhower's near the village of Fraser, Colo.

Summer at 30 Degrees Fraser is some 70 miles west of Denver on the western slope of the Rocky Mountains. It is known as the "icebox of Colorado," the temperature there often dropping below freezing on a summer night. It was 30 there Friday morning and 78 when Eisenhower arrived at the ranch Thursday, compared with 94 in Denver during the afternoon.

Everette Smith Is Buried Today

Funeral services for Everette Smith, 69, are to be held this afternoon at the Hamer Funeral Chapel, with Rev. Otto Marshall, pastor of the First Christian church officiating.

Mr. Smith passed away early Thursday following a severe attack. He has been a resident of Eastland for 34 years, and at one time conducted a produce business here.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. J. L. Yelding, E. E. Sharp, R. H. Reed, and B. F. Hanna.

Children From Boles Home To Sing Tonight

The Royal Chorus from the Boles Orphanage, Quinlan, will present a most interesting program at the Church of Christ in Eastland tonight. Admission, of course, will be free, and the public is invited to hear these youngsters.

They are making their tour in a Boles Home bus, sufficient in size to care for the 30 youngsters, who are to sing, as well as their counselors and leaders. The program will begin promptly at 8 p.m.

Middle-of-the-roadsers Try To Retain Party Organization

By LYLE C. WILSON CHICAGO, July 18—Events were building Friday toward a Southern bolt from next week's Democratic national convention. The trend was unmistakable, but middle-of-the-road politicians were moving in to keep the party together with a compromise platform and presidential ticket. With 72 hours to go before the convention opens, it was still anybody's guess whether the peace-makers could prevail over the left-wing elements who seem determined to repeat the 1948 pattern of sacrificing the "solid South" in order to woo votes in northern industrial states.

The North-South battle was joined in earnest Friday before the convention credentials committee and the platform writing subcommittee. The former faced a decision on seating "States' Rights" or "Loyalists" delegations from two southern states. The latter was enmeshed in the old familiar row over a Civil Rights plank.

All Short Of Victory Backstage, the candidates and king-makers jockeyed for position in the biggest fight of all-over the presidential nomination. Confusion still reigned in that free-for-all race, with all of the front-running candidates a country mile short of the 616 convention votes necessary to nominate.

Wetbacks Sent Home By Train

REYNOSA, Mexico, July 18—A special train loaded with Mexican workers who illegally entered the U. S. pulled out of Reynosa for Monterrey Thursday night and there was speculation this might be the American immigration service's new "secret weapon" against "wetbacks."

The trainload of men were to be deposited 150 miles in the Mexican interior, following their arrest on the Texas side of the border.

John W. Holland, district immigration chief, said at San Antonio Thursday the service was working for a "secret weapon" to replace the subject further.

The airlift, which air ferried illegally-entered aliens from the United States deep into the interior of Mexico fell before an economy minded Congress which slashed extra funds provided for its operation by the immigration service.

Billy Nash Is Struck By Car

Billy Nash, son of Mrs. Freida Nash, was hit by a car driven by Bruce Pipkin, yesterday, but his condition is good and he has been released from the hospital. He sustained a broken arm.

Mr. Pipkin took the boy to the hospital, immediately after the accident, and requested nurses to notify the Police case in no way responsible. Just a matter of a small child running in the path of a moving car. He also settled hospital and doctor's bills.

The boy returned home today.

The latest United Press tabulation gave: Sen. Estes Kefauver, 267 1-2; Sen. Richard B. Russell, 121; Averell Harriman, 115 1-2; Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, 53 1-2 Sen. Robert S. Kerr, 44.

Stevenson and Vice President Alben W. Barkley, Kentucky's favorite son with 26 1-2 convention votes, were the compromise candidates most frequently mentioned as likely men to hold southern and northern Democrats together.

Others Due In Friday Kerr, Barkley and Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina were due in Friday, the governor to lead the southern rebellion against left wing and administration domination of this convention.

Byrnes scheduled his arrival in time for the first round of the contest before the credentials committee which was taking up delegate contests from Mississippi and Texas.

Texas' Gov. Allan Shivers and Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi lead anti-administration delegations which are challenged by Truman Democrats. Texas has 52, Mississippi 18 convention votes.

One the next stage the platform subcommittee was playing to a packed house as spokesmen for labor, liberal and Negro groups warned the party to remain well left of center—or else.

Russell Changes Ways Sen. Richard B. Russell, Georgia, knows a trend when he sees one and has grabbed for the tailgate of the administration bandwagon by calling for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law, which he voted for twice in 1947.

His about-face on Taft-Hartley produced the first firm evidence the South may bolt this convention if it is pushed too far. That evidence came from Roanoke, Va., where a convention of Democrats refused at the last minute to pledge their 28-vote delegation to Russell as expected.

The Virginians are coming here uninvited instead with an agreement among themselves that they will meet again after the convention if the left wing takes over here.

Despite zooming general living expenses, the cost of liquefied petroleum gas has remained relatively stable, "spot survey" by LP-Gas Information Service, Chicago, among nation's dealers reveals. In contrast to an average rise of 63% in all items contained in U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics cost of living index, LP-Gas rates increased only 7% in ten-year period ending April 15, 1952. Also known as butane, propane, bottled and tank gas, the fuel is used principally in farm, small town and suburban areas.

Here's One Bright Ray in Living Cost Spiral—LP-Gas Prices up Only 7%

CHICAGO—In the face of sky-rocketing living expenses in practically all major categories, the cost of liquefied petroleum gas, used principally in rural, small town and suburban areas, has advanced only 7% since 1942.

This was revealed by the LP-Gas Information Service, Chicago, following a nation-wide "spot survey" among leading marketers of the fuel.

In the same ten-year period (April 15, 1942 to April 15, 1952), the average of all items contained in the cost of living index released by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics climbed 63%. Food prices registered the sharpest gain with a 92.3% rise. Other increases were as follows: house-furnishings—69%; apparel—60.2%; miscellaneous—54.6%; fuel, electricity and refrigeration—89.3%, and rent—28.6%.

Industry leaders attribute the stability of LP-Gas rates in contrast to the general rise in living costs to several factors. Among these are: (1) The tremendous growth in public acceptance and use of the fuel with resulting distribution economies; (2) the sharp increase in number of LP-Gas bulk plants throughout the country and consequent reduction in the area served by each; (3) the "incentive" rates offered to customers by most dealers to stimulate the use of new appliances, and (4) various technical and service advances contributing to greater efficiency and economy. Currently rated by many authorities as the nation's fastest growing industry next to television, the LP-Gas business has registered its greatest advance since World War II. Total gas marketed has nearly quadrupled, spurring from 4,525,230,960 pounds in 1945 to an estimated 17,384,000,000 pounds last year. Approximately two-thirds of the 1951 output went for household and farm use. The balance was consumed for industrial, chemical and miscellaneous purposes.

Striking evidence of the industry's rapid growth was given in a recent consumer survey by the LP-Gas Information Service which revealed that two-thirds of the families who now have LP-Gas ranges have been cooking with the fuel less than eight years.

The range is the No. 1 appliance in the millions of homes all across the nation equipped for LP-Gas service. Other domestic uses of the fuel are water heating, refrigeration, clothes drying, incineration and air conditioning. There are also hundreds of agricultural, commercial, industrial and transportation applications.

LP-Gas, the lusty "baby" of the petroleum family, is also known as butane, propane, bottled and tank gas. It is extracted at natural gasoline plants and refineries, compressed into liquid form for ease and economy of transportation and shipped in pressure vessels by rail, highway and water. Stable quantities are also transmitted from producing centers by pipeline.

Jacket was tested at the Groton, Connecticut, submarine base as Miss West looked on. (NEA Telephoto)

HE HAS A "HOT FOOT" FOR IKE—There's a long, long trail a-winding between New York and Chicago, and Abraham Nathanson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., covered every mile of it on foot. It took the Eisenhower admiral 33 days to tramp the trail leading to the Republican National Convention.

THEY'LL HEAR THAT GAVEL—Walter Fuss is making sure that delegates to the Republican National Convention in Chicago will hear the chairman's gavel over all the fuss and furor on the floor. He's installing the 10-foot oak sounding post which will touch the floor of the convention hall and carry those rappings for order to all present.

575,000 4-H'ers Get Training to Cut Farm Accident Toll

Farm safety surveys made by 4-H'ers show that matches within reach of small children and stairways littered with toys, jars and other articles were much in evidence as fire and accident hazards in rural homes.

Chicago—(Special)—More than 575,000 4-H Club boys and girls throughout the nation are receiving training in farm accident and fire prevention this year. The outstanding feature of this training in the National 4-H Farm and Home Safety program is to check and remove from farms and homes any conditions likely to cause fire, accidents or injuries. These 4-H surveys are acclaimed a valuable contribution to the nation-wide campaign to reduce the annual toll of 15,000 farm people dying and 1,500,000 being injured as a result of rural accidents each year.

Here is a report, made by a 4-H girl on behalf of her local club, after making a safety survey of every home in the community:

"In all homes having stairways that we visited, the stairs were full of toys, jars, tools and other articles," she stated. "In many homes people used kerosene to build fires. They also had oily cloths and papers stored close to the stove and flue. Matches and unlabeled bottles of poisonous liquids were within reach of small children. "On several farms visited, boards with rusty nails pointing upward were much in evidence. In our local schoolhouse, the ceiling plaster in the classroom was loose. If it fell it would cause severe injuries to the pupils. "After we had made our survey, we called a community meeting. Attention was called to the hazards we had found. Immediately following the meeting everyone present began work necessary to make our community a safe one. Every hazard we had found was corrected."

Medals of honor are presented to five county winners having the best 4-H records in safety work and a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago is awarded to the State champion. Eight of the latter will be selected as national winners, who will each receive a $300 college scholarship. Awards are provided by General Motors for the eighth consecutive year. The program is conducted under the direction of the Co-operative Extension Service.

Game Commission To Set Hunting Dates At Meeting

AUSTIN, July—The Texas Game & Fish Commission will meet in Austin Friday to determine some fall hunting dates NOT set by State law and to recommend seasons on waterfowl and doves which are set by Federal authorities.

The Executive Secretary of the Commission said the Commission will arrange 1952 seasons on deer, turkey and quail and some other species in the 28-county Panhandle area which, by request of North Texas sportsmen was placed under regulatory authority of the Commission.

The Commission also will fix hunting seasons in the nine-county area West of the Pecos, acting under regulatory authority given by the State Legislature. The regular seasons out there include deer, turkey and quail. The Commission will consider a limited season on antelope in the Big Bend country.

In recommending waterfowl and mourning dove seasons to the United States Fish & Wildlife Service, the Commission will study results of a state-wide sportsmen's poll in which approximately 11,000 Texans participated.

The bulk of North Texas hunters asked for a mourning dove season beginning September 1, the same as last year, and a waterfowl season beginning in early November. (Texas traditionally is zoned for mourning doves.)

South zone participants in the poll preferred a dove season beginning about mid-October instead of November 15 as was set last year. They also favored a mid-November opener for ducks and geese.

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, was poisoned after borrowing Dr. Basil Willing's name. Linked with Duggan's murder is the death of Miss Katherine Shaw, aged and blind, who apparently was to meet Duggan at the home of Dr. Willing, a physician, Brinsley, nephew of Miss Shaw, and Charlotte Dean, her secretary, cannot shed light on Miss Shaw's death. Basil calls on Rosamund Yorke and her husband, Theodore, who also were at Willing's home the night Duggan died. There Basil meets poet Stephen Lawrence. While Basil is talking about Duggan's death, Perdita, the poet's daughter, faints.

And there's something else I'd like you to do first, if you will."

"What is it?"

"Talk to a young man named Frank Lloyd. He's in love with Perdita and sometimes a lover knows more than a father. You can find him any afternoon in his office at the New York Star. Am I asking too much?"

Basil thought of the complexities of medical etiquette. Then he looked at Lawrence and saw the deep anxiety in the frail, old face. "I'll do it as soon as you arrange the consultation. After all, your 'Song of Sin' has always been one of my favorite sonnets."

THE country club stood on high ground overlooking Long Island Sound. Tree-shaded lawns and clipped hedges sloped down to a golf course near the water's edge. Through the fading light of the long spring evening shone an arch of lights, outlining the rounded top of the great window. Dancers could be seen gliding soundlessly behind the glass.

"Fairly good!" exclaimed Gisela. Cynthia Willing's handsome face hardened as she looked at her native sister-in-law. Her friends would label Gisela "unsophisticated" if she went about expressing admiration so artlessly.

"It's really a rather boring place," warned Cynthia. "But your unpredictable husband wants to meet these Canning people accidentally-on-purpose, so—here we are."

"Basil is a naturalist at heart," suggested Paul Willing. "He wants to see the local fauna in their native habitat after catching a glimpse of them at Dr. Willing's the other evening."

Cynthia preferred to linger at the bar and Basil sat beside her. Beyond he caught a glimpse of slim shoulders and a sleek gray head. Basil did not recognize the man until he turned his head and said, "Good evening."

"Cynthia, do you know Brinsley Shaw?"

Cynthia smiled and shook her head.

"Then may I introduce him? Mrs. Willing, my sister-in-law."

Brinsley asked Cynthia to dance.

Actually it was nearly 10 when Isolda and Bert Canning came into the clubhouse. Isolda's dress caught Basil's eye—a sort, strappless sheath of vermilion lace worn with satin slippers dyed the same flame color.

Canning, beside her, said nothing, but the bartender brought him a double brandy, evidently a standing order. Isolda's bright black eyes roved the room and alighted on Basil. She spoke to Canning. He gave Basil the briefest of nods.

SLIM figure strolled through the archway from the dance floor—Brinsley Shaw. He hastened his step as he saw Isolda. She held out both hands and he took them eagerly. Then he turned to clap Canning lightly on the shoulder and even Canning smiled a little.

Gisela and Cynthia were both dancing now and Paul had found some friends of his own. Basil picked up his own glass and moved to the stool Isolda had left vacant. Canning spoke without looking up.

"My wife says you were at Max Zimmer's one evening a few days ago but I don't remember your name."

"Willing."

Canning turned to stare at Basil. "The Willing who works with the District Attorney's office?"

"Yes."

"What are you doing here?"

"Amusing myself."

Dallas Firm Drops Part Book Lawsuit

NEW YORK, July 18—A portion of the libel suit brought by Neiman-Marcus, Dallas department store, against the authors and publishers of "U.S.A. Confidential" has been settled with the publishers agreement to publish half-page newspaper advertisement of apology in six cities.

The store's $7.4 million suit against the authors, Jack Lait, editor, and Lee Mortimer, columnist, of the New York Daily Mirror, remains before the federal court, however.

Federal Judge John F. X. McGehey granted permission Thursday for Neiman-Marcus to drop the portion of its suit against Crown Publishers, Inc., and American-Stafford Press. The withdrawal of charges was made under a provision that the publishers advertise their apologies in newspapers in Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and San Antonio, Tex., and in New York and Los Angeles.

 HOLLYWOOD UP—It's a small world, all right.
 Two of the latest persons to find out are Kathryn Grayson and Virginia Mayo, among the more beautiful members of the film colony.
 They compared notes on the Warner Bros. studio lot, where both are working, and discovered they grew up only a few blocks from each other in the west end section of St. Louis.
 "Both of us played in Forest Park when we were kids," Miss Grayson said.
 "Just think, we probably used the same teeter totter," Miss Mayo chimed in.
 It was only after they became famous as movie stars that they discovered they both have fond memories of the big city on the Mississippi River. In fact, they had not even met until Kathryn showed up at Warners to star in the Technicolor musical, "The Desert Song."

Hit Them Young
 bright in both — each RACED66-Virginia, at the same time, was just finishing her starring role in "The Iron Mistress" at the same studio, where she has been a star for several years.
 It was while they still were youngsters in St. Louis that the theatrical ambitions began to burn bright in both girls. Each found a sponsor to help nurture that ambition.
 With Miss Grayson, it was Frances Marshall of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, who was visiting in St. Louis. She recognized in Kathryn's voice a promising musical talent and urged her to take vocal lessons.
 With Virginia, it was her aunt, Mrs. Alice Jones Wientge, who operated the Wientge school of dramatic expression in that city. She gave Virginia a personal supervision which provided the young girl with a firm foundation for her acting career.

Whitewing Again In Comeback Bid

AUSTIN, July.—The Assistant Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Texas Game & Fish Commission said reports from the Rio Grande Valley indicated a slight increase in white-winged doves nesting this summer.

He said estimates place the South Texas nesting population at approximately 200,000 birds this year. The 1951 summer census showed a nesting force of only slightly in excess of 100,000 whitewings.

The Assistant Director said the drop last year was "startling" since the 1950 population was placed at about 900,000. The 1950 harvest was estimated at 228,000 birds contrasted with only 58,000 last year.

The big reduction was attributed to a freeze that killed more than half of the Valley's citrus trees which had become the principal nesting area for the whitewings.

The citrus orchards still are far below the 1950 status but some of the whitewings are switching to remaining ebony trees in populated areas and other utilizing available citrus trees.

The Assistant Director who said the whitewings remain at "a dangerous population level," pointed out that the birds originally had nested in ebony thickets and had changed to citrus after the ebony growth had been leveled to make way for the orchards.

He added that Commission biologists who recently surveyed the whitewing population in Northwest Mexico found a "fair number of birds with a possible slight increase over last year."

The whitewing season, usually held on a week end in mid-September, is popular among Valley residents and also attracts hunters from many other states.

Explosion Kills Two Men Working Clearing Land

ACKERLY, Tex., July 18 (UP)—A tractor plowed over an exposed section of an abandoned pipe line supposedly containing only water, setting off an explosion and fire which burned to death two men and critically injured a third.

The resulting fire burned 12 hours after the explosion Thursday on a farm seven miles southwest of Ackerly, about 35 miles northwest of Big Spring.

The dead men were identified as Bill Oakes, driver of the tractor, and J. I. Brown, owner of the farm, who, with Holly Alejandro Casares, was picking up stumps already broken from the ground by the deep plow.

Casares was critically burned on about 20 per cent of his body. Wind had blown off soil covering the slight rise in the pipeline. It had been used by Shell Oil Co. to transport butane gas, but was abandoned four months ago and supposedly was filled with water.

Will Eastland County Voters Forget THE WALKER DEAL?

THE DEAL WITH HORACE WALKER TO COLLECT EASTLAND COUNTY TAXES THE DEAL THAT SHOWED, ACCORDING TO THE STATE AUDITOR'S OFFICIAL AUDIT, THE STAGGERING SHORTAGE OF

$101,900.00!

According to the Audit Still Remains Unpaid to Eastland County!

AS A PUBLIC OFFICIAL HE COULDN'T COLLECT— BUT AS ASSISTANT TO HORACE WALKER—!!

On Page 353, Volume 13, Commissioners Court Records of Eastland County there is filed a waiver by Earl Conner, Jr., then County Attorney, executed under date of June 19, 1945, in which Mr. Conner — now a candidate for District Judge — refused to file and prosecute suits against delinquent taxpayers in Eastland County because, as the waiver indicated, he couldn't make any money at it under the law fixing his official compensation. Under the law the County Attorney is charged with the prosecution of suits for collection of delinquent taxes.

But immediately after his term as County Attorney ended, Mr. Conner joined Horace Walker and assisted Walker for 3 or more years of tax prosecutions in Eastland County, helping file and prosecute suits against Eastland County property owners and to collect a sum of money of which more than $101,000 due the County of Eastland was never paid to the County, as shown by the official audit.

So successful was Mr. Walker's delinquent tax program — so far as he was concerned — that Walker went into Limestone County, among others, where he made a similar tax collection deal.

Limestone County records disclose that, subsequently, Mr. Conner took tax deeds to 90 more or less tracts of Limestone County property, for which he paid as little as 34 cents per acre.

A list of titles in Limestone County transferred to Mr. Conner by tax deed, and certified to by the County Clerk of Limestone County appears on the right hand side of this page. Thus it appears that Mr. Conner not only received pay for his services as assistant to Mr. Walker in Eastland County, but he was also able, at small investment, to speculate for large profits in the results of the Walker prosecutions in Limestone County.

Mr. Conner is now a candidate for judge of the 91st District Court — the very court wherein, as assistant to Horace Walker, he helped to prosecute tax cases and collect the more than $101,000.00 for which Walker and his bondsmen are being sued by Eastland County.

IT'S TIME TO REMEMBER

BEFORE YOU CAST YOUR VOTE FOR THE MAN WHO WILL SIT ON THE BENCH OF THE 91st DISTRICT COURT, WHOSE DUTY IT WILL BE TO PASS JUDGMENT IMPARTIALLY IN ISSUES INVOLVING PROPERTY AND PERSONS IN EASTLAND COUNTY AND ELSEWHERE—

LOOK AT THE RECORD!

The office of District Judge is the highest that Eastland County can grant to one of its citizens. The man who holds that office should be above reproach. He should be able to command the respect and confidence not only of the citizens of Eastland County but of the other courts of the State, and his past record should show a personal interest in the taxpayers whose vote he solicits.

It is important, therefore, that you consider very carefully the man you vote for as District Judge.

EVERY STATEMENT MADE IN THIS ADVERTISEMENT CAN BE PROVED BY COUNTY RECORDS!!

NATIONAL POLITICS STEAL SHOW FROM STATE STUMPERS

By United Press
National political maneuvers recaptured the spotlight from Texas office seekers Friday.

Rival "Loyalist" and "regular" Texas delegations to the Democratic national convention appealed to a credentials subcommittee for formal recognition at next week's convention. It set off the second Texas delegate fight in three weeks.

Gov. Allan Shivers, seeking reelection in the July 26 first Democratic primary, was at Chicago to lead the uninstruced "Regular" delegation in its fight for recognition and the right to cast Texas' 52 Democratic presidential nominating votes.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, who has opposition this year after 40 years Congressional service, also was in Chicago, where the 70-year-old lawmaker from Bonham will be chairman of the Democratic convention.

Candidate Tour State
Stay-at-home candidates in the coming primary continued swinging around the state, however, despite discouraging weather conditions.

And harmony began to look more like reality for Texas Republicans. The "new guard," swept into power with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, yielded to

Civil Rights Shapes Up As Chicago Issue

CHICAGO, July 18 (UP)—New Deal Democrats whooped up the civil rights fight Friday as the big issue on which they hope to grab control of next week's convention and write their own ticket for November.

The Dixie Democrats appeared to be in full retreat, putting out compromise feelers in an effort to avert an open break in the party. They refused to put any witnesses of their own before the Democratic platform-writing subcommittee, on the long chance that the fire might die off if they left it alone. They withdrew—but silently—Thursday was a parade of spokesmen for labor, liberal and Negro organizations demanded the 1948 civil rights plank plus a new Democratic pledge to end the Senate filibusters that have blocked anti-discrimination laws in the past.

Work On Other Planks
The platform writers laid aside the civil rights issue Friday to take testimony from a long list of witnesses on such varied subjects as women's rights, taxation, air transportation policy and farm programs.

The subcommittee plans to finish hearings Monday afternoon, and write a tentative platform for submission to the full, 108-member platform committee which may revise it at will. The finished product goes to the convention floor next Wednesday for approval by the delegates.

If it contains the civil rights plank the New Dealers want, the southerners may bolt, as they did in 1948 over the same issue.

Put Dixiecrats in Spot
The New Dealers expected the subcommittee to come up with a compromise containing no compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission FEPC and no ban on the filibuster. But they were confident the full committee would reverse that and predicted the convention itself would back them up.

"I think we're going to win the civil rights fight in the committee and the Dixiecrats will have to work from the convention floor," said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota. "It will be 1948 upside down."

At the 1948 convention in Philadelphia, the Democratic platform committee rejected the New Dealer's civil rights proposal but Humphrey brought it to the floor as a minority report and won. That was when the southerners walked out.

Three Known Dead In Jap Earthquake

OSAKE, Japan, July 18 (UP)—Three persons were killed and at least 82 were injured early Friday in a strong earthquake that rocked the city of Osaka and a 650-mile-area of central Japan.

Seismologists rated the strength of the quake as four on a scale of seven. They said the toll was relatively small because its epicenter was unusually deep—about 25 miles below the earth's surface under the mountains of nara prefecture.

Police said 31 houses and buildings were seriously damaged or demolished. Rescue work and the task of cleaning up the debris were hampered by strong rains that did not let up until daybreak.

When the shock came at 1:10 a. m. (10:10 n. m. CST, Thursday) terrified residents sprang out of bed, but found they could not stand because of the swaying. Craving on the floor they sought shelter under desks and in closets until the rocking stopped.

In Osaka, center of the shock area, power lines snapped like threads, gas and water mains burst and furniture was tossed around. Fires broke out in scattered parts of the city, but firemen, aided by the rains, soon put them out.

In Nara, one man died of shock and a second died in jumping from his second-story bedroom window. In Hyogo prefecture, a man was electrocuted touching a downed power line.

The quake was not so strong as the disastrous Fukui earthquake this year. Because of the fact it was so deep-seated, seismologists said there was no danger of the tidal waves which caused so much damage in the Hokkaido quake.

work from the convention floor," said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota. "It will be 1948 upside down."

At the 1948 convention in Philadelphia, the Democratic platform committee rejected the New Dealer's civil rights proposal but Humphrey brought it to the floor as a minority report and won. That was when the southerners walked out.

Iran's Newest Premier Seeks Oil Settlement

TEHRAN, Iran, July 18 (UP)—Iran's new premier, Ahmed Qavam, announced Friday that he will settle the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute or resign.

Qavam said his ultra-nationalist predecessor, Mohammed Mossadegh, who resigned Wednesday night, had "sacrificed the ends for the means" in his attempt to vindicate Iran's "rights" in the oil controversy.

The new premier made known his resolve to reach a settlement with Britain in his first communique since accepting Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's mandate Thursday to form a new government.

Mossadegh had provoked the dispute with Britain by seizing Iranian oil wells leased by the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. only to find that none of the company's old customers would buy oil from him.

Cut off from its multi-million dollar oil revenues, Iran is near bankruptcy. Thousands of oil workers are idle, the huge Abadan refinery has closed and the government is hard put to find funds to pay government employees and meet even day-to-day expenses.

A London dispatch said British sources were hopeful that a compromise could be worked out with Qavam where efforts to reach a settlement with Mossadegh had failed.

Qavam, known as Iran's "strong man" because he steered the country safely through a series of post-war crises with Russia, was taking over as premier for a fifth time.

Iranian army Sherman tanks still patrolled Tehran streets Friday and troops and police were stationed strategically throughout the capital to put down any violent demonstrations by Mossadegh's rabid followers.

IKE—

Nielsen confided to reporters that he was interested in what the Democrats would do at their convention, even if his guest had not shown any particular interest. He said that in the next two or three days he would install a radio in the log cabin where he and Eisenhower are staying.

"After all, we want to know who the opposition will be," Nielsen said.

Like An Expert

Eisenhower had little more than arrived at the Nielsen ranch yesterday before he was getting into his hip boots and fixing up his fly rod. He waded into St. Louis creek determined to show newsmen and photographers how any expert goes about landing a trout.

But it wasn't his lucky day. After almost two hours of casting his fly line up and down the creek he finally pulled out a small rainbow trout, one that couldn't have been more than seven inches long.

He good-naturedly posed for photographers with his tiny catch, although he obviously would have preferred to wait for a better day.

Eisenhower said he was going to start his vacation by "sleeping about 48 hours." He hasn't had much time to himself since he returned from Europe in early June to start his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

When a newsman said he hoped Eisenhower would have a good rest, the general smilingly replied: "I'm going to do nothing in a great big way. After all the fish can't misquote you."

Harry Comforted By Mrs. Truman

WASHINGTON, July 18 (UP)—President Truman, comforted by the presence of his wife, Friday spent what he hoped would be his last day of medical tests at the Army's Walter Reed hospital.

Mr. Truman is scheduled to leave the hospital sometime Saturday and return to the White House for a quiet weekend before settling down by his telephone and television set for the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

White House staff members were optimistic about the President's physical condition. Apparently he has thrown off most of the effects of his virus attack.

Mrs. Truman, who arrived Thursday from Independence, Mo., had lunch and dinner at the hospital with the President but returned to the White House for the night.

"REACHING FROM HEAVEN"

I want to recommend this picture to everyone! I think it is one of the best religious pictures I have ever seen. I have recommended pictures like Stars in My Crown, I'd Climb the Highest Mountain and now Reaching From Heaven. It is a must for everyone.

After a special screening we had sometime ago here is what some of the Cisco people had to say about Reaching From Heaven.

One of the most unusual pictures I have ever seen. It shows what Christianity is and how it works in the lives of ordinary people.
—Mrs. Grady James, 308 W. 4th St.

A very fine picture. Would recommend it to church people of all denominations and to those of no church at all.
—Mrs. J. W. Gill, 505 East 12th

I think this is a wonderful religious picture that meets people in a practical way.
—Rev. Grady James, Cisco

This is a picture with a terrific impact for the highest and best in life. A good family picture.
—Rev. J. W. Gill, Cisco, Texas

God, truly is "Reaching From Heaven" today, as always. He is ever mindful of us if we will but do our part. We should be interested in The Strangers. "Reaching From Heaven" is powerful and awakens spiritual need. Everyone should see it.
—Mrs. W. D. Johnston, 2097 Humbletown.
