Stevenson - Sparkman Chosen Democratic Party Nominees

Sparkman Named By Acclamation

By Lyle C. Wilson
CONVENTION HALL, July 26 (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson accepted the Democratic presidential nomination Saturday and tired delegates wrapped up their party's national convention in a final session called to make Sen. John J. Sparkman the Illinois governor's running mate.

Stevenson picked the 52-year-old Alabamian as the vice-presidential nominee at a near-dawn huddle with President Truman and other party leaders.

The President, who had backed Stevenson for the top spot, was delighted by the addition of Sparkman to the ticket.

The last session of the 31st Democratic national convention started at 10:58 a. m., CST, less than 12 hour after Stevenson was proclaimed unanimously the party's choice for the White House.

Was Russell Backer
Sparkman was put in nomination by Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama who described his colleague as the "guardian of small business" in the Senate and an "acclaimed law scribe" in the struggle of free nations for collective security.

Sparkman, who had supported Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia for the presidential nomination, said he felt it a good thing to have a southerner on the ticket.

Sparkman's selection did not become firm until the dawn hours Saturday—only a short time before the convention was to meet.

The Alabama Democrat said he did not know whether there would be any opposition to his nomination on the floor.

Earlier, there had been indications that some determined backers of Sen. Estes Kefauver—another prominent contender for the spot—might make a floor fight to throw the nomination to the Tennessee Democrat.

Has Moved Up in World
However, party leaders were working hard to keep down any open opposition in an effort to present a "harmony-unity" front to the public for the coming campaign.

Sparkman, a 52-year-old Huntsville, Ala., attorney, climbed all the way on his own from a tenant farmer's cabin in the Alabama uplands to responsible posts in the Senate and the United Nations.

Born near Hartselle, Ala., he attended rural schools, was graduated from a county high school, and won his AB, LLB, and AM degrees from the University of Alabama, where he helped pay his way by working as a furnace-fitter and clean-up man.

He was a member of the Student Army Training Corps during World War I and began practicing law in Huntsville in 1923. He was elected to the House in 1936 and served there continuously until 1946, when he was elected to the Senate to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. John H. Bankhead, D-Ala.

Bailey To Fill Pulpit Sunday
Rev. J. Morris Bailey, pastor, returns to the pulpit of the First Methodist Church after an absence of two Sundays. "Growth Through Teaching" will be the sermon subject for the 10:50 morning service. Mrs. T. J. Haley will play the pipe organ for the service and the choir will sing hymns.

Sunday evening at 7:30 worship service the pastor will preach on the theme "Important Decisions." The youth choir will sing the evening service. Homer Smith will lead the congregational song service.

Sunday School meets at 9:45. The Sunday evening youth groups meet at 6:30.

TRUMAN PLEDGES SUPPORT OF STEVENSON; BESS VERY HAPPY

By Merriman Smith
CHICAGO, July 26 (UP)—President Truman peered into the smoky glare of the spotlights early Saturday and proclaimed wistfully "the end of an era" as he gave to the Democratic party its new leader and presidential nominee.

"We are at the end of an era and at the beginning of another," the President said, waving onto the stage of the Democratic convention its new slave and nominee, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

The 68-year-old president, from outward appearance, seemed more like a father than a fellow politician as he shepherded the 52-year-old Gov. Stevenson down the narrow runway to the podium.

He Quits Ovation
Once there the President, an old hand at such matters, turned palms down on the ovation that roared through the hall, pointing to his wristwatch to tell the crowd it was dangerously late for the radio and television audience.

When Stevenson started to speak, the President took a back seat on the platform between Speaker Sam Rayburn and Democratic National Chairman Frank E. McKinney. They chatted amiably during much of the nominee's speech.

Will 'Take Cost Off'
As he had indicated privately through his advisers on the convention scene several days before, Mr. Truman told the delegates he would be happy to run an all-out campaign for Stevenson. The President drew a blast of applause when he said:

"We are going to win in 1952 the same way we won in 1948, and I pledge you now that I am going to take my coat off and do everything I can help him to win."

Thus the President stepped out of his long position of party control and handed the reins to a man about whom he once had deep misgivings, but to whom he was looking for a resounding victory over Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP candidate, in November.

By Marguerite Davis
CHICAGO, July 26 (UP)—Bess Truman was about the happiest woman in Convention Hall Saturday when her husband introduced Adlai E. Stevenson as the Democratic presidential nominee.

She may have had doubts before. But now she was sure. Harry S. Truman would not run to succeed himself in the White House. After Jan. 20 she can return to Independence, Mo. As the President addressed the cheering Democrats, Bess sat in a box and beamed. Once or twice she looked over at Perle Mesta, the minister to Luxembourg, and nodded her head.

"I told you so. He really meant what he said!" Mrs. Truman never was enthusiastic about life in the White House. She took over the first lady's job with misgivings when the late President Roosevelt died.

And when two Puerto Rican gunmen tried to shoot President Truman at Blair House one fall afternoon in 1950 she acquired a positive aversion to the job. Others, including Mr. Truman, said the assassins were gunning for the President of the United States. As far as Bess could tell they were trying to kill her husband.

OPS Ceilings Being Removed On Many Items

FORT WORTH—The Office of Price Stabilization has followed the dictate of Congress and removed ceiling prices from canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, according to an announcement made by the Fort Worth District OPS office.

But as important to the pocket-book as these foods are, housewives still have ceiling price protection for the great majority of food items when they go to grocery stores to do their shopping, the OPS said.

About 80 cents out of every dollar the housewife spends for food will go to buy a food product which has a ceiling price, stated the Agency.

Ceiling prices remain intact on such necessities of life as meat and meat products; bread, cake, cookies and other bakery products; milk, butter and cheese; cereals; coffee, tea and cocoa; oil; margarine; cooking and salad oils and a long list of other important foods which housewives regularly buy in grocery stores.

While ceilings have been removed from frozen fruits and vegetables, there are still ceiling prices on frozen meat items, as well as canned meats, canned fish and the like.

OPS ceiling prices on food, the agency states, will continue to do the job of checking inflation.

Greek Seaman Killed When Ships Collide

NANAIMO, B. C., July 26 (UP)—Two Greek seamen were killed early Saturday when the Greek freighter Triton and the S. S. Baranoff of the Alaska Steamship Line collided two miles east of Entrance Island, just outside the Nanaimo harbor.

Marine officials said the Baranoff rammed the Triton which was leaving the harbor with a load of iron ore for Japan. The Baranoff was passing on a regular coastal trip. The weather was clear when the collision occurred at 1:30 a. m.

The Triton was hit almost amidships, opening a deep hole in her bow. The engine room filled with water, but she did not sink. The Baranoff was reported only slightly damaged.

Stevenson Won On 3rd Ballot

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
CONVENTION HALL, July 26—The solemn little guy in the blue suit looked out at the thousands of men and women before him, and in Saturday's small hours told them "I accept your nomination—and your program."

With those seven words Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois told the 1,652 delegates to the waning 31st Democratic national convention what they had been wanting to hear.

They reposed with a tremendous wave of cheers, taking to their hearts the man who never wanted the honor they had given him and still doubted they had given it to the right man.

And when finally, he said that "in the staggering task you have assigned me, I shall always try to do justly and to love mercy and walk humbly with my God."

The delegates who had just nominated him for the presidency let loose and gave him their devotion without stint.

Expect Hard Work
Stevenson told those thousands of men and women out front that there is nothing but work—"hard implacable work"—ahead for "all of us." This is the Twentieth Century, he said, "the bloodiest, most turbulent age of the Christian era."

"Let's face it," he said. "Let's talk sense to the American people. Let's tell them the truth, that there are no gains without pains, that this is the eve of great decisions."

In a way it was a strange speech of acceptance. The short, slim little governor was introduced to the convention by President Truman at 2:13 a. m. ed. Mr. Truman presented him as a man "who would not make any deals with anybody," a man who stood where he did only because there had been "a real honest to goodness draft."

Stevenson stood quietly while the President spoke. He smiled, but it was a gleam sort of smile. His eyes glistened as the cheers came and the bedlam broke loose. Before stepping to the microphones he took a deep, deep breath.

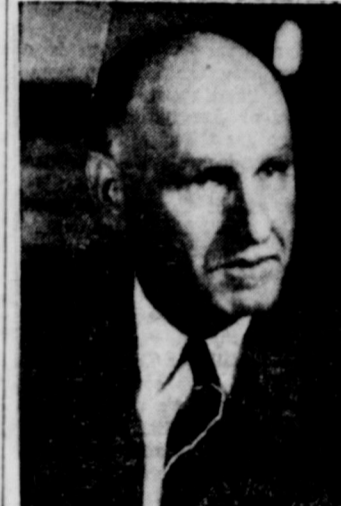

'Could Have Picked Better'
If he was nervous, the nervousness soon wore off, and in a moment he was telling the leaders and rank and file members of his party that "just winning this election" is not the important thing.

The delegates sat on their hands when they heard that. But he went on to say that what concerned him is not the victory "but how it is won."

The delegates decided they liked that and made him stop talking a moment while they applauded.

In a crisp, precise, far-carrying voice, Stevenson told the Democrats that they could have picked a better and wiser man, and a voice from the back of the hall shouted, "There ain't none." Other voices joined in to shout down the governor's disclaimers of merit.

He went on to say he had never wanted the presidency "because the burdens of that office stagger (Continued On Page 2)

Rotary Head To Visit In City

ARLINGTON, Texas, July—Dr. Ernest H. Hereford, governor of Rotary District 156, will make his annual visit to the Eastland Rotary Club Monday, August 4. He will confer with President W. L. White and other Eastland club officers on Rotary administration and service activities.

Dr. Hereford, who is president of Arlington State College, is one of 207 district governors who are supervising the activities of 7,600 Rotary Clubs in 83 countries throughout the world. Total Rotary membership is now estimated at 360,000.

In his address to the Eastland club the district governor is expected to emphasize Rotary's program of student fellowship which enables outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own as ambassadors of good will. Rotary recently has spent more than $1,000,000 on the scholarship program.

Water Shortage Is Serious; New Restrictions

The water shortage in Eastland Lake has now reached a point where it is necessary to take drastic action in order to conserve what water we have left, in order that we might spread our water usage until such time that we might have sufficient rains to replenish the supply.

The water level is now 118" below the spillway, and is dropping at the rate of 15" per month. The water users have cooperated wonderfully during the past year of the water shortage, but we will now have to ask that you make a desperate effort to conserve water still further, if at all possible.

We certainly do not want to haul water at $7. per 1,000 gallons, if, by further curtailment we can avoid this.

At a special city commission meeting today, the commission set up ordinance No. 344 restricting the use of city of Eastland water for washing automobiles, trucks, or any other vehicle, or for cleaning floors, or driveways of and in commercial buildings, or businesses, or for watering lawns, shrubbery, gardens, trees, or other vegetation, save and except the use of bona fide waste waters after domestic use thereof. Any person violating this ordinance shall be fined not less than $5.00, and not more than $100.00.

The restrictions on washing automobiles and trucks applies to all filling stations using city of Eastland water in addition to all individuals, as we must restrict washing all cars with city water. This does not apply to watering plants in flower pots.

We have just completed putting in a sump at the lake, and we hope, with this sump and the wells we have drilled we will be able to get sufficient water from this source to take care of the heavy evaporation of water in our lake. EASTLAND CITY COMMISSION

Louisiana Is Opponent Of Rights Plank

CHICAGO, July 26 (UP)—Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana Saturday attacked the civil rights and "limited debate" planks of the Democratic platform, registering his protest with the national convention.

Kennon, whose delegation won the right to participate in the convention Friday after refusing to sign a loyalty oath, said Louisiana Democrats were unable to vote against the platform because of the loyalty squabble.

"Denied that privilege then, we record it now," he said in a statement to the national convention. Kennon singled out for disapproval "the dangerous civil rights, FEPC and limited debate planks."

Debate limitation is aimed at shutting off Senate filibusters through which southern lawmakers have blocked civil rights legislation.

"We in Louisiana believe in fair treatment to all Americans and our record justifies this statement," Kennon said. "However, we are unalterably opposed to unconstitutional and socialistic federal interference in this or any other field."

"Such socialistic type measures are repugnant to the right-thinking democratic people of my state and the nation."

He said the "scatter" set in the convention by the "left wing element" of the party is now clear. He said the South is the last stronghold of "true democracy."

"For this reason, the left-wingers take delight in calling us reactionaries and focusing the attention of the world upon us, knowing full well that until they have destroyed this last stronghold, they can never make complete their selfish and destructive control of this great party," he said.

Iran Premier Presents List Cabinet Members

TEHRAN, Iran, July 26 (UP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh presented his new cabinet list to the shah Saturday and kept the war ministry for himself.

When Mossadegh first claimed the war ministry for himself nearly two weeks ago, Shah Mohammed Reza Fahlvi refused his approval on grounds it would give the premier uncontested control of the nation's armed forces.

This time, however, the shah was expected to consent. Mossadegh's resignation as premier 10 days ago in protest against the shah's rejection touched off bloody riots which forced the ruler in desperation to call back the national leader.

Brien McMahon Condition Is Said Critical

WASHINGTON, July 26—Sen. Brien McMahon D-Conn., was reported to be in critical condition Saturday in the Georgetown University hospital here.

A hospital official, while refusing to describe the nature of McMahon's illness, said that the senator's condition is "unchanged."

Dr. John McMahon, McMahon's brother, reported in Norwalk, Conn., Friday that the 48-year-old senator was in a critical condition with only a "50-50" chance of survival.

McMahon withdrew Thursday as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination because of his illness.

DALLAS, July 26 (UP)—Gov. Allan Shivers swept to re-nomination in the first runoff election Saturday night and Atty. Gen. Price Daniel won Tom Connally's U. S. Senate seat, both apparently without a runoff.

Former Rep. Martin Dies, first chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee, got the Democratic nod to return to Washington an day midnight still maintained the majority of the total vote he needed to win without a runoff, too.

In other statewide races, former Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd easily took the nomination for attorney general against Dallas attorney Curt Stiles in the office's first contested race in six years.

Ramsey Gets High Percentage
Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, with the highest percentage of votes of any candidate, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, Railroad Commissioner Olin Culbertson and Associate Justice Graham B. Smedley of the Supreme Court all were re-nominated in a walk.

The remaining contested statewide races, for place 1 on the Supreme Court and judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, were closed, and the summer's only runoff loomed in the Supreme Court battle between Civil Appeals Justice Frank P. Culver of Fort Worth and Houston attorney Spurgeon Bell.

District Judge Jesse Owens of Vernon apparently won the Criminal Courts bench race from another district judge, Kenneth W. Woodley of Austin.

POTPOURRI AND WORSE

(By Major Hoople McCorkle) Telegram Philosopher

This Democratic convention has certainly been a long, drawn-out affair. As we write these lines Friday they are still fussing with the first ballot. Of course it will take some time to get all the boys nominated for this year there are almost as many "favorite sons" as there Democrats. Every state seems to have several, and we are now sorry we did not attend. Might have been given a presidential nomination, but now that most everybody has one there is no honor of distinction attached.

Fact is they have some of the boys who didn't know they had been nominated. They were out for refreshments and didn't get back in time to vote for themselves. They had so many they began voting them in blocks of five, rather than giving each man an individual nomination.

It's all a kind of hollow mockery—just put on so the delegates would get their money's worth. They aren't going to nominate anybody that was done some time ago in Washington, and the only thing the delegates will have to do is vote "me too" when the time comes.

The whole convention has been flat, and nobody seems to care very much what happens or who gets the nomination—like the fellow they are interested in. This is the year where "persons" and not "parties" are being considered.

What America wants right now is a leader to get them out of the Wilderness of Despair and if seems at this Dwight D. Eisenhower may be the man. And while he is the Republican nominee for president it will be Democrats who really elect him. Only for the Democratic aid, Republicans would go down in defeat.

But we suppose that will be O.K. for Ike is about as much Democrat as he is Republican anyway. And after all it is not the party that will be depended upon, but the man designated and act and speak. If Ike keeps his nose clean, we have nothing to fear.

A lot of people seems to be greatly alarmed over the fact that so many Democrats are going to support the Republican nominee this year. Nothing queer about it and no cause for alarm. These people are good Americans and want to keep our country in that condition. That's why they are glad to join with their Republican friends in an effort to "clean up" Washington. It doesn't mean they have necessarily joined the Republican party for keeps, but rather it means they have volunteered to aid the Republicans in this great and worthy task.

Most of them will be back next year, voting as usual. Too much un-American activity in Washington to suit us, and we are willing to assist any party with a "clean-up" campaign.

First we are Americans, and later we may be either Democrats or Republicans, which ever seems to suit our particular needs. The name means absolutely nothing.

Today, whether you wish to believe it or not, Southern Democrats, in platform and practice, are more closely related to Republicans than they are to their Northern brothers marching under the Democratic banner in "name" only. There is a great gulf between the two Democratic factions, and we doubt if it is ever bridged. On the other hand, most Republicans that we know (and that is several) work quite harmoniously with Southern Democrats—much closer than Northern Democrats.

First a man or woman is a Christian, after that they be members of the Baptist, Methodist, Christian or Presbyterian groups. But if we are the right kind of a Christian and a Baptist, we are willing for Methodist brothers to have due credit for all the good they do. We will aid them in their undertakings, rather than lambast them for not being Baptists. At least we feel this is the Christian plan, and we practice it every day. That's why we can be a Democrat and still say "amen" when a Republican does something we know is good. That's why we can vote for "Ike" when the time comes, and feel no remorse. And when we do this we will be just as good a Democrat as we ever was.

And do you know, we are not alone in this way of thinking. Thousands of loyal Democrats are going to do the same thing. They are not doing this in an effort to kill or cripple the Democratic party, but rather to save it, by purging and cleaning out those who gave attempted to corrupt it from the inside, to such an extent that something just a little short of a national scandal, exists at this time. This is a Democratic country—not a socialist state. We have no leaning toward communism. This is the "land of the free" and home of the brave," and we intend keeping it that way.

We want to see the Democratic party live and thrive, but just at this time we want it "shelved" and purged. And when the "is" is done it will come back on the scene as a fighting giant championing the causes of all mankind. It will be cleaned as by fire, and no taint will remain. Democrats will do this cleaning themselves; unsavory as

QUESTION: I am planning to make a few rooms in a walk-in basement. Would like to know the best and cheapest way to insulate the floor and walls. I plan to put down a rough wood floor, and plaster board on the walls. Have been advised to use tar and tar-paper. Do you think this is a good idea? I think it would give off an odor.

ANSWER: If you plan a wood floor, it would probably be better to have no insulation beneath it. Air circulation below would take care of any slight moisture, normal with concrete floors. Furring strips on walls also provide air space behind plaster board, which would take care of moisture at this point. You can lay tar paper if you wish without worry about the odor.

QUESTION: Will you please advise me on how to finish a white oak chest which I have just finished? Wish to obtain a satin-like finish with the natural grain showing.

ANSWER: Build up several coats of shellac and rub down with FFF grade pumice. Use a heavy cloth pad for rubbing. Sprinkle the surface with pumice, wet and wipe out the cloth, make all strokes in the same direction. If you want to make the grain in the chest a white color, rub the grain before the shellac is applied, then continue as above. Use a coat of wax to finish off either method.

QUESTION: Do you know of any cure for ants? We have a camp in the country and are bothered with them.

ANSWER: Best control developed so far is the use of dieldrin, dusted in powder form on visible ant hills, and spread in thin broken lines around door and window sills and other points of entry to the house.

FEED INSURANCE

A silo full of silage is good feed insurance. If pastures get short or a drouth hits the country, silage will help keep the cattle in good shape. Silage can be planned for use in the feeding program as conveniently and as easily as any other feed. And most important of all, silage is the best and the cheapest substitute for good pastures. Make plans now to turn a part of your sorghum crop into the silo. You will be glad you did when you start feeding it. Your county agent can suggest rations which include silage.

Deposit insurance for your money is also important. We insure your deposits up to ten thousand dollars in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. This extra service costs you nothing.

it may be. They will be wiser, though stronger than ever before.

Yes, it is unpleasant, and so is the amputation of one's arm. But if the arm is decayed and filled with gangrene, it is quite necessary.

Feeling as we do, and wishing to see right conquer we cast our vote for this purging. Painful but necessary.

Tomorrow we hope every qualified voter in Texas goes to the polls and votes. He may vote against our wishes and desires, but the very fact that he votes indicates that he appreciates his God given right. You can't do this in Russia and a lot of other countries. In this country your vote will be counted—in Russia it will not be.

It's worth something to be an American. It's a great honor and privilege—one we should appreciate.

We shall never reach that state of sinless perfection, so far as politics may be concerned, but so long as we show a desire to correct our errors there is hope.

Cheer up brother! Won't be long until we are singing "Happy Days Are Here Again."

CITY ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE PROHIBITING THE USE OF CITY WATER FOR WASHING AUTOMOBILES, WATERING LAWNS, SHRUBBERY OR GARDENS, EXCEPT WASTE WATERS, FIXING A PENALTY FOR VIOLATIONS, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF EASTLAND, TEXAS: SECTION I. That it shall hereafter be unlawful for any person within the City of Eastland, or without the City of Eastland, if using City of Eastland water or water system, to use such water for washing automobiles, trucks, or any other vehicles, or for cleaning floors, or driveways of and in commercial buildings, or businesses or for watering lawns, shrubbery, gardens, trees, or other vegetation, save and except the use of bona fide waste waters after domestic use thereof.

SECTION II. Any person violating this Ordinance shall be fined not less than $5.00, and not more than $100.00. SECTION III. The fact that the municipal water supply of the City of Eastland is diminished by drought to the point where water will not be available for lawful domestic purposes unless conserved and the use thereof restricted to the individual minimum requirement, and the fact that the unrestricted use and consumption of said city water will immediately endanger the public health, and create a situation destroying the effective fire prevention and fire fighting methods of the City of Eastland, creates an emergency requiring the suspension of the rule requiring ordinances to be read at three several and separate meetings of the Board of City Commissioners, and that this Ordinance be put into effect immediately upon final passage.

I. C. Heck, City Secretary Jack Muirhead, Chairman of the Board of City Commissioners. The above and foregoing Ordinance was introduced by Commissioner Rushing, and seconded by Commissioner Linkenhogor and the same was passed and adopted by the following votes: Ayes Five. Nays: None, at Special Commission meeting July 25, 1952. I. C. Heck, City Secretary Jack Muirhead, Chairman of the Board of City Commissioners.

Miss Jane Stovall, Norman Durham Take Vows Saturday In Muleshoe Methodist Church

Impressive rites were performed in the First Methodist Church of Muleshoe Saturday morning, July 26th, at 9:30 o'clock, to unite in marriage Miss Jane Harriet Stovall of Muleshoe and Mr. Norman Nevill Durham of Eastland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Swann Stovall of Muleshoe and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Durham of Eastland.

Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Snyder, Texas officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Artistic groupings of Cathedral tapers provided illumination for the nuptial scene, while fountain arrangements of white gladioli and carnations accented the fern background. An arch, flanked by seven branch candelabra, framed the white satin-covered prie-Dieu. The double aisles were marked with tapers and white satin bows.

Miss Gwyneth Bigham, organist played the pre-nuptial music and also accompanied Mrs. Pat Bobo of Muleshoe, who sang, "At Dawning" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Helen Stovall, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Gerald K. Hornung, of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Joan Rambin Coats of Ft. Worth, cousin of the groom, were bridesmaids. The attendants wore identical ballerina length gowns of mist blue embroidered organza, fashioned with fitted bodices, full skirts, and fitted organza stoles. They wore short white fabric gloves and their headresses were circlets of mist blue organza and stephanotis. They carried heart shaped bouquets of blue carnations and white maline, tied with white satin ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a ballerina length crystal white embroidered organza, fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt. The gown was designed with decolletage neckline and cap sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap of illusion trimmed with satin and seed pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, centered with a white orchid.

Mr. Gerald Terry Watson of Post Arthur, served the groom as best man, and the ushers were K. Shelton Jennings, Austin and William E. Jordan of Austin.

A reception was given following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was laid with a cut-work cloth over blue taffeta. A three branched candelabra provided the background for the double heart wedding cake. Appointments were of silver.

The house party at the reception included Mrs. H. L. Blackburn, Mrs. J. J. Buxkemper, Mrs. B. L. St. Clair, and Mrs. Bob Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Durham will spend their honeymoon in Colorado. For travel, the bride wore a navy shantung suit. Her hat was white starched lace trimmed with seed pearls and rhinestones, worn with a nose veil. Her corsage was a white orchid.

They will reside in Austin, while Mr. Durham completes his study toward a Ph. D. in bacteriology and biochemistry. Mrs. Durham attended Texas Technological College and is a graduate of the University of Texas. Her husband attended North Texas State College, where he received BS and MS degrees, and at present attends the University of Texas.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Durham, Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Jones, Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Willoughby, Bronte; Mr. and Mrs. Worth Durham, Sterling City; Mr. and Mrs. W. Roy Morgan, Sterling City; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Rambin, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Joan Rambin Coats, Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harris, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Buxkemper, Colorado City; Mr. Shelton Jennings, Austin; Lt. and Mrs. Gerald K. Hornung, Wichita Falls; Mr. William E. Jordan, Austin; Lt. and Mrs. Fuston McCarty, Sherman; Mr. Jerry Perry, Mr. Marty Dworin, and Mr. Robert Pittillo, all of Austin; Mrs. Bob Hart, Columbus, Ga.; and Miss Katie B. Bray, Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Clyde Davis, Seagraves.

Sherrill Family Reunion Hosted By Guy Sherrills

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sherrill will host a reunion dinner Sunday at noon at their home, 300 East Plummer Street, for the children and grandchildren of Mr. Sherrill's father, J. M. Sherrill, all of whom will be here Sunday. Mr. Sherrill's children are at his bedside, 406 South Bassett Street.

Present will be Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tindall and sons Bobby and Jimmy of Sweetwater, Mrs. Harmon Carpenter and Carrol, San Angelo. Children of Mrs. Bob Tindall; Mrs. Orville Wildman and Sherry Kay and David Carter of Oklahoma City, children of Mrs. Edna Sherrill Carter, also of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Jim Lindstrom and daughter, Laurel Lee and Nimitz of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bacus and daughters, Linda and Sandra of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. James Sherrill of Eastland, children of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sherrill, hosts and hostess and the honoree, Mr. J. M. Sherrill, Mrs. Sherrill and their children, Mrs. Jimmy Mash of Breckenridge and Miss Gwen Sherrill of Eastland.

Also Mrs. J. Snyder, aunt of the elder Sherrill children and her children, Mrs. D. L. Houle and Lowell Snyder.

Members of the Quarter Back Club Ministrell and their families were the guests Thursday evening when Messrs. and Mmes. Art Johnson, E. K. Henderson, Jack Chamberlain and F. W. Graham hosted an old fashioned shower for James Roy Edwards and his fiancée, Miss Betty Ferrell.

The party, a watermelon feast was held on the lawn of the Johnson's home, 414 Hillcrest. Other than foodstuff the honorees were presented with a paper sack containing money for their Sterling silver, which was the surprise of the evening.

Lamesa Tea Reveals Wedding Plans Of Miss Alsobrook, Mr. Hardwick

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Alsobrook of 1407 Garner, Lamesa, Texas, announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Margaret to James Robert Hardwick, son of Mrs. Stella Lou Hardwick, 1005 North 12th, Lamesa, and Ray Hardwick of Killen, Texas, at an announcement tea from 4 to 6 p.m., July 25th, at the L. Berry home in Lamesa.

The wedding is to be in the First Baptist Church of Lamesa at 7:30 in the evening, with Rev. Robert L. Butler performing the ceremony.

White cake squares covered with yellow icing, pineapple punch and assorted nuts were served from crystal and silver appointments to approximately 200 guests. This color scheme carried out the bride-elect's chosen colors, yellow and white. Piano selections furnished background music throughout the evening.

The table was laid with an imported white linen cutwork cloth and an arrangement of Marconi Daisies was the center piece. Two yellow wedding bells revealed the names "Margaret and Jim"; and the date of the wedding, August 29th, was shown on white satin ribbons extending from the bells.

Cut flowers were placed at different points throughout the house.

Those in the receiving line were Mrs. L. Berry; Mrs. B. B. Alsobrook, mother of the bride-elect; the Honorable; Mrs. Stella Ipu Hardwick, mother of the bridegroom-elect; Mrs. Mattie Butler, grandmother of the honoree; and Mrs. Nannie Vaughn, grandmother of the bride-elect, all of Lamesa.

Miss Alsobrook is a graduate of Lamesa High School and a junior at Baylor University where she was a member of the West Texas Club. Mr. Hardwick is a graduate of Eastland High School and is a senior in Texas Technological College where he is a member of the Block and Bridle Honorary Fraternity.
