Usually we can find enough words to express most any thought that happens to come to our mind, but in trying to describe "hell" or rather the intense heat found there, we have always felt that in a way we neglected the subject. We can think of hot, boiling grease, and though it produces much discomfort, it isn't as hot as hell.

We see a torch (acetylene) turn right through a steel door or any other metallic slab, and it really takes heat to do this. Yet this torch is cool as compared with hell.

On a visit to the Texas Electric Service office yesterday, we discovered what real heat is. While discussing one of the big boilers at their Handley plant, we learned that they get steam so hot in the boiler that it will ignite straw, paper, etc. Mr. Pickens said the way they tested the boiler for leaks was to run a broom over the seams. If there is even the most minute escape of steam, the broom blazes up like a bonfire sprinkled with gasoline. When you can get water hot enough to start a blaze, it is hot, so we imagine heat in hell is of similar temperature.

A fellow early today told us that it was hot as hell in Eastland, yesterday, and we told him that we had never been in hell so we wouldn't know. We added, however, that so far as we could determine it was just about as hot as Buck Pickin's boiler, and believe me that is something.

It is so hot women are forced to wear asbestos coverings over light weight dresses, otherwise they might flare up in full blaze while crossing the street. Men who have been raised to think that it is vulgar to attend church services in shirt sleeves, are now leaving their coats at home and cutting the sleeves and collar from shirts.

People who have always insisted that they occasionally respired are now willing to admit that they "sweat" like a negro Steve-dore handling cressets dipped cressets. It may be a sign of poor breeding and bad taste for a man to "sweat", but before old Sol gets through with it it may be quite fashionable. It is just as natural for a hot man to sweat as it is for a skunk to smell. They just can't help it, and it's no disgrace.

Over at the Baptist Church the pastor has announced that men wearing coats to Sunday Services must put an extra dollar in the "collection plate." Personally we don't think Melvin could enforce this edict any more than Brother Heck can the monthly hospital "donation", but most people would rather pay off than to go to court.

There are about a dozen green weeds on the courthouse lawn that seem to be worrying some people. So yesterday we went over and asked Pete Clements what he was saying for. "Why, seed, you fool, what you think I've been doing with my bath water—hauling it into town just for the fun of it." Further conversation revealed that Pete does save his bath water, then brings it to town and pours it on the little weeds. "Grass had been dead for a long time," he said, "and the weeds I have been irrigating are to protect the courtyard lawn from soil erosion."

Next year, if it rains, Pete will have a few weed seeds to start a new lawn. Better get the City to let you pump a little of that damp sand from the city lake on your hedge over there. It is as dry as gunpowder going down the barrel of a muzzle-loader.

Boy And 'Nigger Shooter' Sends Girl To Hospital

Sue Hallmark, daughter of Mrs. Audice Hallmark of this city, is in the Eastland Memorial hospital, with a badly infected eye. While playing with brothers and other children she was shot in the left eye with a "nigger shooter."

Bandages will be removed from her eyes Saturday, and it is hoped here eyesight will not be impaired.

Deep Plowing Is No Cure For Wind Erosion, Claim

Deep plowing in itself is not a cure—all for wind erosion, W. M. Nixon advises farmers in August Farm and Ranch-Southern Aggricuturist.

"In fact," warns Nixon, "it eventually will do more harm than good, unless it is combined with an agricultural program which will put organic matter in the soil."

Nixon recalls that some Oklahoma farmers deep plowed their fields in 1950 and again in 1951 to stop erosion.

"They failed to include any negative measures, however, and the soil blew so badly last spring that big mounds of sand piled up along the edges of their fields," Nixon says.

He points out that other sandy-land farmers in the same area who practiced deep plowing since 1939 have controlled wind erosion and increased crop yields. Along with deep plowing, they carried on a program of cover cropping and stubble mulching, Nixon says.

Extra Workers Make Progress At Butler Home

With workers becoming more plentiful, construction of the Butler home is moving forward at a rapid pace. Windows and doors have been set and most of the floor work has been completed. Partitions are being made at this time, and the building has its first coat of paint.

Roofers are ready for the asbestos shingles, and it will not be long until the house will be complete.

Those working Friday were H. Y. Gibson, B. O. Harrell, Max Poyner, Charlie Sims, W. A. Harris, Arthur Wood, Lee Horn, Chas. Butler, D. O. Hogan, Charles Burkett and Bill Day.

Fellowship Class Entertains With Watermelon Feast; 75 Men Enjoy Social Hour; Quartet Is Featured

Seventy-five men from various Church organizations, men of Greek and Jewish families, but all Americans, attended the social hour provided by the Fellowship Class of the First Christian Church Friday evening. The party was staged at City Park, and the outstanding program of male quartet and solo singing followed the cutting of about 25 ice cold water melons of giant size.

This particular Class is one of the liveliest Church organizations in the city, and the members always see to it that nothing is left undone when they announce a "fellowship hour," at which times their friends are always invited. We have had occasion to attend the Sunday meetings of the Class as well as two or three of their "parties" and they are really worthwhile.

They insist on "Fellowship" and friendliness, and their teacher, K. B. Henderson, is splendid. To spend an hour in the class is to go away with spiritual food. The members strive to build up the class and keep a standing "welcome" for all men who are not affiliated with another Church or class to worship with them.

The men began gathering at the park before 6:30 and by 7 o'clock they were enjoying watermelon in the rough. If any individual failed to get his fill it was his own fault, for they had plenty of melons and more to spare, and during the second helping.

During the singing at which the Tommy Nichols quartet was very much in evidence, aided by James Wright, soloist, the music was interrupted long enough to auction off about a dozen large cold melons which we left over. The melons weighed from 33 to 54 pounds each.

The musical program was excellent, even to that of James Wright who does guitar and solo work in a splendid fashion.

Visitors were not bored with a lot of long, dry speeches, but an effort was made to make every thing informal and enjoyable.

M. L. Keasler was chairman of the entertainment committee, and he did a splendid job, as did all other officers and members.

Singing Will Be Held At Mangum

Eastland County Singers will meet at the Mangum Baptist Church Sunday for their regular song service. The singing will begin at 2:30 p.m., and the public is invited to be present.

Many good singers will be in attendance, and you may enjoy a pleasant afternoon.

Truce Talks All Recess And Little Progress Thus Far

PANMUNJOM, Aug. 9 (UP)—The Korean truce negotiations seem headed for another recess.

They are scheduled to be resumed next Monday following a week-long recess, but Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief United Nations delegate, well may immediately call another respite.

He warned the Reds at the last truce meeting that he will not put up with a rebash of Communist propaganda charges. And that is just what the Chinese and North Korean Reds are grinding out in broadcasts from their capitals.

Peiping radio led off the latest blast by claiming that American warplanes flew across the Yalu river into Manchuria 79 times during the first week of August. It charged a total of 398 sorties during the week and said one American plane dropped 21 bombs on a Manchurian town, seriously injuring two persons.

United Nations spokesmen made no comment on the propaganda charge other than to say Allied pilots have standing orders not to operate beyond the Yalu river border.

He points out that other sandy-land farmers in the same area who practiced deep plowing since 1939 have controlled wind erosion and increased crop yields. Along with deep plowing, they carried on a program of cover cropping and stubble mulching, Nixon says.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (UP)—Showman Billy Rose had the last word Saturday in his heated divorce battle with Eleanor Holm Rose—a scathing reply to her charges of his "peevishness and clenched fist on the dollar."

But Broadway observers felt certain that the beautiful Eleanor would come up shortly with an answer to the diminutive showman's tongue-in-cheek description of himself as a "tightwad" who made her get along on $17,000 yearly pocket money.

Ira Grigsby Instantly Killed When 6000 Volt Charge Passes Through Body; Funeral In Groesbeck Sat.

Funeral services for Ira Joseph Grigsby, 42, Eastland electrician, who died yesterday at De Leon, after coming in contact with 6000 volts of electricity when a high-line fell to his shoulder. Death was almost instantaneous, though funeral directors worked for some time with a pulmotor in an effort to revive him.

Mr. Grigsby had been living in Eastland for several years, and formerly connected with the REA. However, at the time he was employed by Taylor Electric Co., of Eastland, electrical contractors, who were doing some special work for the Texas Electric Service Co., at De Leon.

The accident occurred Friday morning, and the body was brought to Eastland in the afternoon. Later it was removed to Groesbeck, Texas, by the Hamner Funeral Home.

Funeral services were held in the Shelton Funeral Chapel in Groesbeck at 4 p.m. Saturday.

A son, Harvey Glen Grigsby, who is stationed at an Air Base in San Antonio, was notified of the accident, and he was flown to Abilene, where Eastland friends had gone to meet him. However, because of a severe rain, wind and Quite a number of members, some who had not been present for months, were on hand, and in some instances, made speeches. Included in with speakers were K. K. White, Geo. I. Lane, Milton Gaines, Dr. R. E. Townsend, Pat Murphy and Henry Pullman.

Many invitations were mailed out in advance and the reception was very good, it is said.

Officers and directors were named for the coming year, and Henry Pullman took some of the newly elected group to Dallas Saturday, where they are to attend a State Convention. The local post seems to have been taken on new life, and will no doubt be heard from during coming months.

New officers include: F. L. Bleck, Post Commander; 1st Vice Commander, William Coppack; 2nd Vice Commander, Berry F. Greenwood; Post Adjutant, B. P. Lee; Sgt. at Arms, S. S. Faircloth; Sgt. Chaplain, Newell P. McCarty; Finance officer, H. J. Tanner; Service officer, George Fox; Post historian, Chas. Russia Claims More Firsts In Shipbuilding

LONDON, Aug. 9 (UP)—Russia let it be known Saturday that she is a "great sea-going country" because she built the first steamboat, motor vessel, submarine, icebreaker and oil tanker.

Radio Moscow made the claim and also credited Soviet shipbuilders with inventing the longitudinal system of shipbuilding as well as "the theory of the unsinkability of ships."

The first steamship was built by Russian inventor Igor Petrovich Kuligin in 1804, following an idea expressed by the Russian scientist Remullin in the early 18th Century, Radio Moscow said.

Accepted records credit Joffroy of France with the first experimental steamboat in 1783 while Robert Fulton got his first steamboat operating in 1803 but didn't produce a practical model until 1807.

Radio Moscow said the first submarine was built in 1724 by Efik Nikonov, a Russian peasant. That would have been 170 years before U. S. inventor Lake produced the first western sub.

VFW Commander Urges Fight Against Reds

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9—The new commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Saturday asked the group to "fight the Comms where ever they raise their heads."

James W. Cothran, 37, of Bishopville, S. C., was elected to office Friday as the organization would up its 52nd annual encampment amid a stormy condemnation of the Embassy hotel for permitting a fund-raising group for 14 convicted California Communists to hold a meeting in its auditorium.

"I refuse to accept my oath as your commander in chief in this auditorium," Cothran said as he took the rostrum in the same hall where the fund raising group had been permitted to hold its meeting the night before.

"I pledge you that we will fight the Comms wherever they raise their heads—both at home and abroad. We demand that this party be outlawed and the 55,000 known Comms be deported from the shores of America," he boomed to the delegates who cheered wildly for 10 minutes after the announcement.

Installation ceremonies then were switched to the auditorium of a downtown hotel. Cothran was opposed to succeed Frank C. Hilton as commander in chief.

Other officers were Wayne E. Richards, Arkansas City, Kans., senior vice-commander, and Meton B. Tice, 43, Mitchell, S. D., junior vice-commander. Robert D. Handy Jr., was elected to his 29th term as quartermaster general.

Mrs. George Holm of Chicago was installed as national president of the VFW's ladies auxiliary, stepping up from senior vice-president. Mrs. Thomas F. Holts, Philadelphia, was elected junior vice-president.

In one of the few contested elections, Dr. Percy Grover of Calabasas, Calif., was elected surgeon-general of the VFW. Other officers elected were Timothy J. Turner, Dorchester, Mass., Judges advocated-general, and the Rev. Johnstone Beech, Gainesville, Tex., chaplain-general.

Heiress Met At Border By Lover

LAREDO, Aug. 9 (UP)—Miss Nancy Oakes, whose first husband was tried and acquitted of the murder of her father, was on her way to Mexico City Saturday, accompanied by her fiancé, Baron Ernest Lyssard.

Engagement of the couple was announced earlier in the week, by Lady Eunice Oakes, mother of Nancy.

Miss Oakes said she and the barron would probably take the noon plane for Mexico City. The barron surprised Miss Oakes by showing up in Laredo Friday. He originally planned to meet her in Mexico City.

McGranery Aided By "New Team" Is Set For Cleanups

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 (UP)—Attorney General James P. McGranery, backed by a new Justice Department "team," called signals Saturday for important federal prosecutions across the nation.

President Truman added several new top names to the department roster Friday. McGranery himself reshuffled the lineup a little and said "very fine progress" has been made towards a departmental reorganization.

The Attorney General said the department, which came under heavy congressional fire during the regime of McGranery's predecessor, J. Howard McGrath, has given the nation "the certain knowledge that wrong will be exposed and punished."

Late Friday the Attorney General announced three new cases which the department is preparing for court action:

1. A "flick" of indictments are to be expected from the department's investigation of job-selling at the big Chicago post office. McGranery said the question now is simply "how many" will be indicted as a result of irregularities in which post office employees seeking promotions to better jobs are said to have paid as much as $500 to superiors.

2. A grand jury will investigate reports of bribes and other irregularities in the 1946 sale of the St. Johns River shipyard at Jacksonville, Fla., as surplus government property. In what seemed to be a dig at former Attorney General Tom C. Clark, now a supreme court justice, McGranery said the case has "been around here for six years... should have been investigated more thoroughly... should have been presented to a grand jury then."

3. Deportation cases will be pressed against about 100 Canadians who obtained immigration visas fraudulently by misrepresenting their financial status to the U. S. consulate in Windsor, Ont.

Greco-Bulgarian Isle Dispute Is Major UN Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 9 (UP)—Greco-Bulgarian frontier dispute over tiny Gamma Island threatened Saturday to become a major United Nations issue after Bulgaria charged formally that Greece had displayed an "openly aggressive and bellicose policy."

Both sides now have filed protest with the UN secretary and UN peace observation commission members on the scene have warned that a "very dangerous situation" might result from the incident.

Greece ignored Bulgaria's protest. Officials in Athens termed the Bulgarian message "more Communist insolence."

Bulgarian Foreign Minister Mintocho Neychev told the UN secretary that the Greeks "provocatively" sent aircraft to the frontier area and opened a bombardment of Gamma Island after "all sorts of warnings and menaces to the Bulgarian frontier patrol."

The Bulgarian note did not mention whether Bulgarian forces had occupied Gamma Island. The Bulgarians withdrew Friday, according to an Athens communique, after the Greek bombardment.

Gamma Island is one of three sand bars on the Evros river which forms 10 miles of the Greco-Bulgarian border in Thrace.

Installation ceremonies then were switched to the auditorium of a downtown hotel. Cothran was opposed to succeed Frank C. Hilton as commander in chief.

Other officers were Wayne E. Richards, Arkansas City, Kans., senior vice-commander, and Meton B. Tice, 43, Mitchell, S. D., junior vice-commander. Robert D. Handy Jr., was elected to his 29th term as quartermaster general.

POTPOURRI AND WORSE

(By Major Hoopie McCorkle) Telegram Philosopher

Summertime is visiting time, and while we have done very little visiting so far, we usually like it very much. However, during recent months a great change has come over people. People who, in former years treated us pretty well, and seemed glad that we came their way, carry a troubled look these days.

When we do go visiting about the first thing they ask us is how long we plan to stay. Formerly they insisted that we remain for several days, but now they look relieved when we tell them we are in a hurry and will leave the next day.

One place we went recently, and a place where we are usually met with smiles and kisses, we got such a cold reception that we had to put on a coat to keep from freezing. We were somewhat upset, so we finally asked the man of the house what was wrong.

Being a good friend he broke down and told the truth, and it was about like this. "Usually we are glad to have you, and are now, so far as that is concerned, but it so happens that we are about out of groceries, and as I have no job, we have just been wondering what to do when and if company should come."

The explanation was simple and complete, and we had found the answer to the $64,000 question. People are just as glad to see you now as they were a year ago, but with groceries selling at such high prices, it isn't every family that can take on a half a dozen unannounced and unexpected visitors to feed for a week or so.

Feed 'em baled hay, if you wish, and every visitor will cost you a couple of dollars a day. But you won't feed 'em hay, but on the other hand they will be fed on chicken, cake and priceless meat.

Recently we were talking with a middle aged woman who is a widow. She works and supports two children, and a dollar must do its full duty at this home. She mentioned the fact that she had had so much company she didn't know what she was going to do. In-laws (maybe out-laws, too)

But you can keep their cherubic babyhood through the years in professional photographs. After-naptime appointments at your convenience.

Shultz Studio

With several children had just about eaten her out of house and home. She was in a good humor and thinks a lot of the people in question. Yet they had "bounced" her grocery bill up so high she couldn't pay it all. Actually the food bill for the week was larger than her entire pay check, for the same time. Such things are bad. While they were rising around, enjoying a vacation, and consuming her groceries, she continued to work. She most likely will have no vacation herself, but by working long hours she will be able to help other people finance theirs.

We had a cousin breeze through town a short time ago. He has a wife and several kiddies, and we endeavored to feed them. But do you know what that boy did? He went with us to the grocery store and watched us do the selecting. Then when the checker began with the little adding machine he pulled up by our side and handed him a $20.00 bill before we could write a "hot check."

Now we could have financed that foot if we really intended to do so, but he showed a proper spirit. On another trip he phoned us after he got in town, that they would be out, but warned us that "we have brought our own hay, so don't be alarmed." Just proved that he was out for visiting and a good time and not a grocery seeking expedition.

Next time he comes we hope he forgets his groceries and tries some of our red beans.

We know a fellow, now who is in East Texas visiting with his wife's kinsfolk, not because he cares anything about them, but he is too lazy to work and buy his own high priced groceries. Just lets somebody else feed his family.

Now we do not wish to be misunderstood, and we are not against vacations and visits. But with living conditions as they now are, people should use some discretion. When you take your wife and kids and go visiting, just remember those you have elected to "entertain" you will have to blow in from five to seven dollars a day for food as long as you remain. Maybe they are not able to stand the financial burden, for salaries, in many instances, have never caught up with the high cost of living.

But these people will feed you and yours, even if they have to charge, mortgage their future paychecks, and steal to do it. We know families right here in Eastland that serve more "free" meals to guests than they consume themselves. In all probability they will continue to serve the free meals for an indefinite period for they prefer this to "setting" the dogs on company when they see you coming. But if you keep on mooching free groceries, you may come face to face with the business end of a shot gun one of these days.

Most people will not order visitors off the place, but they will chew their finger nails up to the first joint, while trying to hold their temper.

Now we have merely touched this "tender" subject, but it is one that needs a general airing. We didn't figure we would keep you from going visiting, but this little squib may make it easier for you to remember when it is time to go. We are going to do a little visiting ourselves, and those of you who may be arranging to give us a surprise party, come right on. You will be welcome, and we'll treat you nice as long as the groceries last, but we are not going to be embarrassed at all when the groceries play out. We won't give you a demonstration in false modesty, but when the arder says "empty" we'll tell you that if you expect any dinner that day you had better try your hand at promoting a soup bone and a loaf of bread. We'll furnish the water if we can get it.

FAIR ENOUGH — Dorothea Smith, actress with the Michigan Summer Theater at Michigan City, Ind., doesn't need a sign to tell the world she's a fair member of the fair sex. The sign she holds really advertises the city's third annual Town and Country Fair.

Some mighty good people operate on a budget system. They set aside, let's say, $100.00 for groceries, and when that hundred is gone they "fast" until next pay day. If you come along and consume that hundred dollars worth of food for them during the first week of the month, some of them might starve to death before the next cargo of groceries arrive. That means you will be guilty of murder, and should be punished accordingly.

"Hunger" and a desire to get something for nothing prompts more visiting than "brotherly love."

This is right whether you are willing to admit it or not. Visiting has been on the increase every since steak went to a dollar a pound. And this 95c coffee is going to produce more tea drinkers than you may think. Come to see us, sometime!

Ex-Communist Grateful Over Judge's Order

WENDELL N. H., Aug. 9.—Karl Assari Latva choked up with gratitude Saturday after the Justice Department assured him that unless the FBI turns up new evidence against him—he will not be deported for unwittingly joining the Communist party 18 years ago.

The 49 year old loom-fixer was described by his war veteran sons as "overwhelmed" by U. S. Attorney General James P. McGranery's promise to use his discretionary powers to prevent Latva from being deported to his native Finland.

Latva was ordered to leave the country after admitting to a naturalization investigator that he joined the Communist party for four months in 1934 and paid 90 cents in dues. He said he thought he was joining a union that would help win a textile strike then in progress.

"I don't think, in good conscience, the American people would except me to prosecute if these facts are borne out," McGranery said in Washington Friday night.

Latva's two sons, Carl, 28, and Paul, 26, said McGranery's assurance "certainly is good news. It's wonderful to get such quick action."

Latva also received cheerful tidings from Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Penn., co-author of the new Walter-McCarran Immigration Act.

Walter said that under a provision of the act effective next Dec. 24 a Communist will not be deported if his record and character have been satisfactory for 10 years after quitting the party.

The new law, Walter said, is "very liberal and generous" toward anyone who "may have joined a subversive organization without knowing its true aims."

Latva's attorney, Frederick F. Cohen of Boston, said he was "pleasantly surprised" by both McGranery's and Walter's statements.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF EASTLAND, TEXAS: SECTION I. That it shall hereafter be unlawful for any person within the City of Eastland, or without the City of Eastland, if using City of Eastland water or water system, to use such water for washing automobiles, trucks, or any other vehicles, or for cleaning floors, or driveways of and in commercial buildings, or businesses or for watering lawns, shrubbery, gardens, trees, or other vegetation, save and except the use of bona fide waste waters after domestic use thereof.

One Firm Building Town For 70,000 People In Pennsylvania

By HERMAN W. NICHOLS

LEVITTOWN, Pa., Aug. 9 — You won't hear any more from me about the lack of a decent-size medicine cabinet in the American bathroom.

I've found one big enough for a guest room, almost.

This dream cabinet is 48 inches long and 36 inches high. More important, it contains four shelves that are 10 inches deep. No more of this reaching for the shaving gear and fighting off a shower of bobby pins, hair nets, toe-nail clippers and corn plaster.

A double-sliding mirror hides all the contents after the morning cleanup.

Found In New Town

The cabinet is standard equipment in all of the homes in the $200 million construction program in this brand new town, located in Bucks county in the heart of a critical defense area. The site is 25 miles north of Philadelphia.

The project is being built by the Levitt Brothers, Bill the builder and Alfred the architect, who call themselves the "world's largest builders of homes." In the last quarter century, the firm, headed by Abraham Levitt, the father, has built 22,000 homes.

The present program will be completed in three years and homes, housing a city estimated at 70,000. That will make Levittown the 10th largest city in Pennsylvania.

A year ago, Levittown was a green expanse of rolling farmland squat on 5000 acres which produced mostly spinach. There were 500 homes and farm buildings. Land worth $400 the acre and less suddenly became worth $1,200. The Levitts paid the asking prices. Mass production started early this spring and the first homes were delivered to the owners in June—or time. There are four models and two prices.

Benny Binion's Lawyers Battle Extradition

RENO, Nev., Aug. 9 (UP) — Attorneys for Las Vegas gambler L. B. Binney Binion were to go to court Saturday to prevent their client's return to Texas on federal charges of owing $14,000 in income taxes for 1949.

Binion and his attorneys charged that the federal grand jury indictment is another "political move" in an effort to try him on a state gambling charge in Texas. That state has tried persistently to force the return of the former Dallas resident who is accused of operating a million dollar a year policy wheel.

"As far as I know," Binion said, "I don't owe the government any money. It's all in the way you look at the deductions and the business expenses you list."

The federal indictment was returned at Fort Worth, but transferred to Carson City, Nev., after Binion agreed to enter a plea of not guilty or one of nolo contendere.

U. S. attorneys in Dallas agreed approval after Attorney General to the transfer but withdrew the James McGranery ordered the case back to the jurisdiction of Texas courts.

Federal Judge Edward P. Murphy of San Francisco will hear the government's motion Saturday which seeks to carry out McGranery's dictates.

Murphy is sitting in place of vacationing Federal Judge Roger Foley of Reno. Two of Foley's sons, both Las Vegas attorneys, are representing Binion.

The basic home is a three bedroom ranch type that sells for $9,990 on a minimum of 70 by 100-foot lot. The larger dwellings, or "country clubbers," come at $16,900 built on a quarter of an acre. These boast a 29-foot living room, three bedrooms and two bath-equipped with those out-sized medicine cabinets.

Real Fire Places

All homes have a brick, wood-burning fireplace exposed on three sides. Among the 30-odd extras that go with the properties are an all-electric kitchen, automatic washing machine, large thermopane windows, a radiant heating system, a sliding living room wall that makes the third bedroom part of the living room in the daytime, complete landscaping and a slice of one of the eight community swimming pools.

Bill Levitt and his brother were able to pare cost by ingenious things like eliminating the doors in bedroom closets and substituting a sliding bamboo curtain.

Bill lives in an apartment. Only the rich can afford apartments, is the way he puts it.

WATCH THAT SOIL

Grazing cattle on oats and wheat pasture during the winter is a profitable venture for many livestock men. Some of the newer varieties of small grain recently developed make high yields and are resistant to disease. But good farmers plowing their land for next winter's crops protect their soil against washing and blowing. It puts more money in their bank accounts, they say. See your local Soil Conservation Service technician for assistance in soil conservation practices.

Reds Win Hill After 8 Hours See-Saw Fight

By Robert Udick
SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 9 (UP)—United Nations and Communist troops battled for nearly eight hours Saturday in a see-saw fight for control of a hill east of the truce village of Panmunjom. The Reds finally captured the height after it had changed hands three times.

The Communists showered in 4,000 rounds of artillery and mortar fire on the Allied infantrymen during the day-long fight.

Heavy fighting also broke out Saturday west of the Pukhan river where two Chinese companies counter-attacked South Korean troops holding "Capitol Hill."

Battle-hardened ROK soldiers beat the raiding Communists to their knees in the Reds' latest and most desperate attempt to take the bitterly-contested hill which has changed hands six times this week.

The battle for the hill east of Panmunjom started when a reinforced Red platoon hit UN advance position. The Allied defenders withdrew, but 10 minutes later they counter-attacked.

OH MY—Art Larsen threw up his hand to his face in disgust after missing a shot in his Davis Cup match with Atsuki Miyagi in Cincinnati, but went on to win, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3. The United States team swept the Japanese to qualify for the second round against Cuba in Havana. (NEA)

The UN assault was unsuccessful, however, and Allied infantrymen waited for air support to come in and soften up the Communists.

UN fighter-bombers ... the Reds with napalm and rockets and the ground troops followed up with their second attack. This time they were successful after more than an hour's fighting and recaptured the hill.

But 15 minutes later, the Communists came back in force and again the Allies were forced to withdraw.

In the battle for "Capitol Hill" an estimated 300 Chinese infantrymen, hurling hand grenades and firing sub-machineguns and rifles, stormed the height in force.

Nineteen MIGs Downed
They had sent 3,000 rounds of artillery and mortar fire crashing on the hill before the infantry charge.

Farther west, Allied tanks and infantry raided Red hill positions in the old "iron triangle" area. They killed or wounded 79 Chinese.

UN airmen concluded one of their most successful weeks against the vaunted Communist MIG-15 jet fighters and appeared headed for a record-breaking month.

The Fifth Air Force said in its weekly summary that American jet fighters shot down 19 of the Soviet-built MIGs and damaged 19 others during the past seven days. Not a single Allied plane was lost in the dogfights, the Air Force reported.

The Air Force said 23 MIGs were destroyed and 22 others damaged in the first eight days of August. Four of the kills and

Iranian Senate Denies Dictator Powers To Leader

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 9 (UP)—The Iranian Senate refused Saturday to vote dictatorial powers for Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

Instead the senate decided in three of the damage claims were recorded the first day of the month.

Only UN losses for the week were eight Allied warplanes downed by enemy ground fire or "unknown causes."

closed session to send a delegation of nine to see Mossadegh Saturday night and ask him the reasons for his demands for full powers in executive and legislative matters.

Among the rebellious senators who argued that Mossadegh's request was unconstitutional was his own son-in-law, Martin Daftari.

Another senator, Abolfazl Lesani, conceded he "might be committing suicide" by opposing the dictatorial powers bill, but added:

"Suicide is a far smaller crime than the destruction and murder of Iran's constitution. We must be prepared to sacrifice even our lives in defense of the constitution." The bill empowering Mossadegh to govern by decree was approved almost unanimously by the Majlis, lower house of parliament, and had been expected to get similar treatment in the upper house.

BUICK'S POWER STEERING?

It's the big NEWS of the year

THERE is a host of things that endear a Roadmaster to anyone who loves to drive.

There's the might of its Fireball 8 Engine — most powerful ever put in a Buick.

There's the thrift of its Airpower carburetor — a four-barrel automatic that literally brings increased power right out of thin air.

There's its hushed and luxurious silence — its poised and level ride that cost a million dollars to develop — and the infinite smoothness of its Dynaflo Drive.

But the thing that has brought the most cheers for this big and obedient beauty is Buick's version of Power Steering.*

Gone is the tug of turning, parking, maneuvering in small space.

Power Steering takes over the effort of turning the front wheels — makes it a one-hand operation.

Do you have to learn to drive all over again if you have this new Buick feature?

You definitely do not. On the open road, you have that same sure sense of command that you've always had. Coming out of a curve, you can loosen your grip, and the front wheels right themselves just as they do on every Buick.

But you'll notice this: When you suddenly hit loose dirt or sand — or a stretch of rough road — Power Steering smoothly goes into action — helps take up the jerk — makes control of the wheel easier and driving safer.

Wouldn't you like to try out this newest wonder — on a ROADMASTER or a SUPER? You say the word, and we'll do the rest.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.
