Name County Officials For Nov. 4 Election

With the all-important and highly crucial balloting date only 17 days away, Eastland County election officials today announced primary completion of pre-Nov. 4 arrangement, including appointment of judges and clerks for the area's 25 precincts, to handle what may be a record-setting presidential vote.

Mrs. J. A. Bates '53 March Of Dimes Drive

Mrs. J. A. Bates, of Ranger, will direct the 1953 March of Dimes campaign in Eastland County, it was announced Saturday by General Robert J. Smith, State chairman of the 1953 March of Dimes.

Mr. Smith said the appointment was made at the recommendation of the Executive Committee of the Eastland County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Other campaign appointments will be announced in the near future by the new campaign director, the State Chairman said.

"These funds will enable the local chapter of the National Foundation to continue providing whatever assistance is needed when polio strikes," declared Sgt. James Hendrick, Chairman of the Eastland County Chapter. "The National Foundation has always seen that no polio patient shall go without care for lack of funds. It is a fact, too, that this care continues until the patient has made his maximum recovery."

Sgt. Hendrick declared that he hoped all citizens of Eastland County would lend their support to Mrs. Bates and the March of Dimes organization during the annual drive in January.

Judge Grissom Attends Meet Of State Group

Chief Justice Clyde Grissom of Eastland, presiding magistrate of the 11th Court of Civil Appeals was in Austin this week for the session of the Civil Judicial Council which convened in the state capital Thursday. Mrs. Grissom accompanied the judge.

Judge Grissom is chairman of the Committee on Uniformity of Rules of Appeal, a member of the committee to amend the election laws on the Administrative Districts Committee, and on the Committee for Revision of Probate Laws.

The meeting of the Civil Judicial Council was held in Austin on Thursday, just prior to the meeting of the Judges' Association, on Friday and Saturday.

Judge and Mrs. Grissom joined Friday by Associate Justice and Mrs. Milburn S. Long and Associate Justice and Mrs. Cecil C. Colings. The Judges' Convention is held annually and is composed of District Judges throughout the state together with Appellate judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals, the Court of Civil Appeals and the Supreme Court of Texas.

The Texas Civil Judicial Council was created by the Legislature of Texas, and is a group of sixteen men whose duty is reporting annually to the Supreme Court, the Governor of Texas, and the Legislature. Their purpose is primarily to simplify and improve the administration of justice in Texas, and one of the present efforts of the Council is to simplify and make uniform the rules on appeal cases from the trial court to the Appellate Courts of Texas.

The committee presently consists of one judge from the Supreme Court, two judges from the Court of Civil Appeals, one newspaperman and nine lawyers.

They are paid no salaries and are a hard-working group of citizens working to simplify the laws on procedure to the end that justice may be more quickly and easily determined in all cases.

Ranger Rites For Mrs. Stiles Today At 2

Funeral services for Mrs. Peachy Emma Stiles, 85-year-old former Eastland County resident who died in Lubbock Thursday morning, will be held at the First Baptist Church in Ranger Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Rev. Ralph E. Perkins, pastor of the church, and one of her sons, the Rev. E. R. Stiles, of Fort Worth, will officiate during the last rites for the former county resident who was affectionately known to many as "Mother Stiles."

Mrs. Stiles, ill for about 10 days prior to her death in a Lubbock hospital, had been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. P. J. Sneed of Petersburg, for four years after having resided in the area since 1907. She moved to Ranger in 1921. Her husband, the late Cole Younger Stiles, died in 1905 in Tennessee.

Interment will be in the Eastland Cemetery Sunday afternoon and Killingsworth Funeral Home, Ranger, will be in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Stiles was a member of Ranger's First Baptist Church and had been affiliated with that denomination for many years.

Her survivors include three daughters, Mrs. R. P. Sneed of Eastland, Mrs. P. J. Sneed of Petersburg and Mrs. C. J. Gordon of Jefferson, Tex.; two sons, Rev. Stiles of Fort Worth and A. E. Stiles of Ranger; 31 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Pallbearers at the funeral will be Mrs. Stiles' grandsons.

She was born in Tennessee on Sept. 28, 1867.

Little Items Of Local Interest

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Shafer of Oklahoma City, but formerly Eastland residents, are spending the week end with their daughter, Mrs. Pierre Kohrnick and Mr. Kendrick. They plan to return home late Saturday afternoon.

Soil Conservation Vitally Essential

While Texas has never been noted for its excess moisture, it has been famous for beef cattle since the buffalo herds vanished. But the day the first turning plow landed in West Texas, real trouble began.

And the trouble is not in the land, but rather the methods used in caring for it. This was not appreciated until we began learning of dust bowls and lengthy droughts. So long as the ground had a covering, even though it was no more than a small amount of mesquite grass, the land was held intact, even during sand storm season. But when this ground was plowed up and the grass turned under, real trouble began. Wind and soil erosion have wrecked havoc.

Most West Texas land is very fertile, and when men could produce a bale of cotton to the acre, or a ton or so of kaffir or maize, they gave little or no thought to erosion. Now we have learned the full meaning of the word, for while the land will still grow good crops, the soil is gradually being destroyed. In time this will mean poor crops, for good crops will not grow on poor land.

But possibly worse than this, is that we have allowed our grazing land to deteriorate. This is real trouble. You may find West Texas pastures today that have been so neglected and over-grazed that a whole section would not care for a dozen head of cattle.

Something must be done and will be, about this. Soil conservation must be given prompt consideration.

PICTURE DISPLAY

Through the efforts of the Texas Electric Service Co., and their agricultural expert, Mr. Wheat, and in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service and Local Soil Conservation District, a large display has been placed in the lobby of the Eastland National Bank. Those interested in soil conservation will find their time well spent if they will see this display.

It is divided into four sections and portrays, in a fashion, four grazing areas. The first shows fat cattle, and the range is in excellent condition. It is at its highest production capacity, and at least 75 per cent of the vegetation is desirable for grazing. The soil is covered with growing plants and litter, and roots from the plants extend down for more than seven feet. This takes care of the soil—keeps it spongy and allows it to store moisture for dry seasons.

On this plot you will find Indian grass, side oats, grama grass and blue stem of all three varieties. This land is in perfect condition and is being cared for.

The second display shows a pasture in pretty fair condition. From 50 to 75 per cent of the plan life is good forage, and with proper grazing it will produce about three-fourths as much grazing as the first display. On this land you will find drop seed, side oats, blue stem and grama grass, but some ragweeds.

The third is not so good. Vegetation is scattered, and weeds are more noticeable. The soil is washing very badly and the pasture appears to be over grazed. In another year or so it will be almost worthless. You will find a little blue stem and grama grass, a scattering of Japanese brome, many ragweeds and some buffalo grass. But with all this it is twice as good as display No. 4.

Here you find a lone cow, and she is poor, and the grass poorer. Top soil is about gone and gullies predominate. It was grazed until one cow would starve on a hundred acres. You will find Japanese brome, Eryngo, a springling little blue stem that has been razed to death. You will find ragweeds galore, a small amount of very short buffalo grass, a few mesquite trees and prickly-pear and cactus. It is in a pathetic state—just about gone—almost too ar zone to be saved.

This is the picture that you will get when you see this display, and also the picture you will get when you go out and visit some of the ranches in this section of the state.

We have a few good pastures, but a majority come under the third and even the fourth classes.

With proper soil conservation measures, most of the land can be reclaimed but it will take time and energy. We have land that should never have been in cultivation, for farmers cannot exist on the crops they produce. If terraced and seeded to good grass they will, in time, make good pastures, and the farmer will realize more profit from the sale of a few fat calves, hogs, and other animals, that he would from his crops.

A study of this map might convince you.

Doggies Lose To Gorman

Eastland's Doggies had a 12-13 victory sacked up at Gorman Thursday night until the GHHS Kittens exploded in the final four minutes of play, blasted across with three touchdowns, and wound up on the triumphant end of a 30 to 13 score.

Many Eastland fans who followed the Doggies over to the enemy battle grid were disappointed at the loss, the juniors' initial setback in Oil Belt conference play.

There's still hope for the Doggies, however, with two more conference tilts yet to be played before the championship is finally decided and a Gorman defeat will spur Eastland's chances.

Hopes Dim For Replacement Of Yank Troops

WASHINGTON (UP)—Military officials in the nation's capitol see no early hopes of training enough South Korean soldiers to replace the American troops in Korean front lines.

They listed five reasons why the Army feels it cannot soon carry out Dwight D. Eisenhower's proposal to have Koreans take over the "brunt" of the fighting:

1. There is a limited number of Army men available for training duty.
2. There is a problem of supply and U. S. soldiers are the first responsibility.
3. The South Korean economy, which is far less mechanized than our own, requires men to produce goods to help Korea support itself.
4. Many of South Korea's finest leaders were lost in the early days of the Communist invasion.
5. Modern fighting demands long periods of training in the handling of complex weapons and equipment, and South Koreans are less familiar with these than Americans.

We Could Use Some Of These

WASHINGTON (UP)—Pedestrians who violate local traffic laws will soon begin receiving black-bordered cards from the police.

The card is headed: "I am a jay-walker. When I am injured or killed, please send me to one of the following hospitals."

It then lists eight hospitals and spaces for the recipient's name, address, blood type and next of kin.

A rampaging herd of Eastland Mavericks took to the air in the second and third stanzas Friday night to put the halter on the Buffaloes from Cross Plains by a score of 12 to 7.

It was a blonde bombshell by the name of Vern Meroney who notched a couple of touchdowns heaves to big J. D. Hanson for the two touchdowns that spelled victory for the Red and Black.

The herd staved off a determined Buffalo attack in the fading minutes of the game, and took over on their own fifteen yard line as the stubborn contest ebbed away. It was Meroney again who killed the remaining seconds by calling quarterback sneaks as the game went into the history books.

The vicious defense work led by Jamie Jessop, Norman Watson,

Don Chrisman, Don Roff, Joe Muirhead, and Doug Williamson, halted the final Buffalo drive. It was Jessop again who played his usual hard driving game on defense, assisted by Hanson—a d Pearson Grimes who did a fine job both on offense and defense as he filled the shoes of the ailing Fred Williams.

The Buffaloes led in the first down department by 12 to 6 and they were only forced to kick three times while the Mavs booted the pigskin eight times. The big guns for the Buffaloes were Jim Cade, Dwayne Wilson, Tom Scott, and Harris who punched through the Mav defenses time and time again, but were unable to cross the double stripe.

Next week the Mavericks journey to their third conference game in Santa Anna.

One Killed And Two Injured As Car Overtakes

Bingley Claud Barron, 50, is dead and G. W. Seaborn and C. W. Funderberg are in Eastland Memorial Hospital suffering minor injuries as the result of a pick-up crash near Mgrton Valley late Friday afternoon.

The pick-up apparently went out of control and overturned several times.

Barron was a foreman for the Taylor Electric Company, of Eastland. Seaborn and Funderberg were also employed by Taylor.

Barron's body was taken to the Hamner Funeral Home in Eastland. His wife, who was visiting a son at Vohbs, N.M., was contacted by officers, and she planned to leave immediately for Eastland, and was scheduled to arrive early Saturday. Funeral services have not been completed.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Gladys Barron of Eastland and two sons, Bob Barron of Galveston and Jack Barron of New Mexico.

Ray Hatton, Highway Patrolman, investigated the accident.

Olden Boys And Girls Take Two Games Friday

Olden's High School basketball teams began the new season in regular and proper fashion, with two wins.

The first games for the season were played in Desdemona, and both boys and girls found the basket often enough to crowd out their opponents. Coach Weaver's boys did some wonderful work, and when the game was over the score stood at 34-17 in their favor.

Coach Hilliard's girls also played a good game and won with a score of 20-19.

It will be remembered that the Olden quints made themselves felt all over the district last season, and teams this year are equally as good, it is said.

(By Major Hoople McCorkle)

Second Christian Church in Abilene, in their weekly Church Paper, tells us something about Heaven and other things. Heaven, according to the paper, is a pretty good promise—the best. Here it is—Heaven is 1952 wages, 1926 dividends, 1932 prices and 1910 taxes. If you vote like the average fellow, you will vote for all of that—the average fellow reasons almost nothing—just votes for the best promise. About the time a man gets important enough to take two hours for lunch, his doctor limits him to a diet of crackers and milk. This is the life—think it over.

A fellow had the nerve to ask us to listen the other day, and that is something, as we usually make it a point to do most all the talking. But we agreed to listen and he pumped us full of complaints. This fellow isn't satisfied with America's political situation, and he didn't mince any words when he began talking. He explained that he wanted a government alert to the communist menace, both foreign and domestic, a government that will stop the socialistic trend which gnaws at the underpinnings of our industrial production and security.

He continued by saying, "I want a government with a firm foreign policy, not a butterfly policy of jumping from one experiment to another. I am tired of New Deal-Fair Deal word twisters, and the jugglers of slick phrases who try to conceal the 'Washington Mess.' "I want a plain, honest, serious government headed by men who love America and all it stands for. I want a return to the simple virtues of patriotism and a revival of confidence in the things that has made America great. I want an end to the mounting power and brazen arrogance of political bureaucracy. I want to see my country strong enough to be free and free enough to be strong. I do not want to trade liberty for socialism, which is watered-down communism. I do not want to be a 'kept' citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me, I want to stand on my own feet, proud and unafraid." After he concluded, we merely said "amen" and walked away, fully convinced that America is awake to its dangers, and plans to do something about it.

Soil conservation is coming in for some consideration at this time, and whether we know it or not our future prosperity and happiness stems from this program.

When our worn out farms and ranches are properly cared for we may expect better production and increased profits. A pasture that produces ragweeds, cactus and similar products, but little or no grass, is just about ready to be scrapped.

Terracing is worth all it costs and then some. It not only saves the soil from water and wind erosion, but builds it up to where it will produce profitable crops. It pastures it will likely be necessary to plant grass or some other cover crop. This will not only afford many deep roots will go down good quality pasture, but the soil and the soil making it possible to store water for drouthy seasons. We have seen pasture in this section that might be termed water-proof. Most all the top soil is gone, and the hard packed sand and clay on top turns water just like a duck's back. Very little moisture is retained.

We have been visiting Eastland county for more than 55 years, but the set-up of today in no way resembles the Eastland county we knew half a century ago. White face cattle have replaced the longhorn, but we are going to be forced to care for the land if this is to continue. Wind erosion and soil erosion have left their scars, but they may be healed and overcome if we will turn our attention to soil conservation.

Christian Science

"The preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; unto us which are saved it is the power of God" (1 Corinthians 1:18). As the Golden Text indicates, many have been saved from illness, sickness, and death through spiritual understanding and obeying the teachings of Christ Jesus, who showed us the way to overcome evil.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon as read in Christian Science churches this Sunday. This Bible verse brings out God's love for His creation: "In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him" (1 John 4:9).

Mary Baker Eddy, the author of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Keys to the Scriptures," says (p. 24): "The efficacy of the crucifixion lay in the practical affection and goodness it demonstrated for mankind."

... but it is valuable at least twice in your insurance experience. First is, when you get ready to buy insurance, don't select just any kind of an agent or any kind of policy. There's a big difference. Second is, when you have a loss would you rather have your friend at home with year's of insurance experience or some one living in Dallas, St. Louis or elsewhere, to handle your claim? Morton Valley HDC Club Have Enthusiastic Enrollment Luncheon

Mrs. Bobby Lee Emfinger and Miss Mildred Daniel, county home demonstration agent shared the spotlight Wednesday when the Morton Valley Home Demonstration Club held their meeting.

Preceding the program a covered dish luncheon was held, with Mrs. D. F. Williamson giving the invitation.

Mrs. Emfinger gave her demonstration on make up and hair styling using Mrs. D. F. Williamson as her model. She began by cleaning the face, showing the proper methods, then the entire facial makeup, stressing that color of cosmetics should blend with complexion and color of clothing to be worn. She then called attention to the new fall coiffure she had given Mrs. Williamson, which was the new short cut, swept around to one side with waves on the other. It was exceptionally becoming to Mrs. Williamson.

Mrs. Emfinger also told of the various types of shampoo and rinses. She told how to part the hair for each type of face.

Mrs. Daniel's demonstration concerned plaids and striped materials. She displayed the two types of plaids and told how to cut the material so that the pattern of the plaid would be carried out. She showed the type of plaids and stripes which should be worn by the different types of figures.

She told of the warm and cool colors which should also be a deciding factor when purchasing a dress or material.

Properly Managed Pastures Mean More Milk and Beefsteak Per Acre

Good pastures provide a tool against erosion, a way to revive abandoned land, and an opportunity to stabilize your income by getting away from too much row-crop agriculture.

It is a known fact that a good pasture will produce the equivalent of one-third to one-half more pounds of digestible nutrients per acre than would be produced by corn on the same land with the same treatment. An acre of good pasture will produce annually 3,500 pounds or more of digestible nutrients.

This is true because nearly all of the rain that falls on the pasture sod is soaked up for the grass to use. With proper management, soil fertility is built up more rapidly under a permanent cover of vegetation than is possible with any other use.
