Tanner Wins 1954 Convention For Eastland

H. J. Tanner returned Tuesday evening from Lubbock, where he attended the Chamber of Com merce Managers' Association of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and he really brought home the bacon, for he obtained the next meeting of the group for Eastland.

Mr. Tanner considered this quite a feather in his cap, for he was bidding against much larger and wealthier cities, such as Midland and Amarillo. He said the meeting would be held sometime next April.

He reported a very good convention attended by more than one hundred persons, 69 of them managers, covering the entire West Texas area. The convention was held in the Caprock Hotel. They were entertained royally and heard many good speakers.

Open Space Is Big Factor In

"Hundreds of square miles of residential subdivisions, containing no more open space that the ninimum amount required in private yards, are being developed every year in the United States," according to the American Society

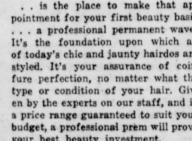

Once subdivision and development have taken place, it is almost mpossible for a city to provide sufficient open space without de-molishing buildings or redeveloping the area, the society said.

It said many cities and counties nave incorporater in their subdivision regulations a requirement that some land be dedicated for nent to insure that public open paces such as parks are provided in newly developed residential areas, the society said.
