

AROUND the SQUARE

Winter weather continues in this section of the state. Early today the thermometer was standing at 45 degrees which means that it was only 13 degrees above the freezing point.

We did help "kick" Harry out of Washington, but "kicking" at the weatherman seems to avail us nothing. When he decides to allow it to warm up he will do so, and the meantime all we can do is hope frost doesn't kill our tomato plants.

So far we haven't heard of anybody going into the bull frog business, for rain has not been sufficient. Yet these little showers we are getting certainly puts new life in growing crops and gardens.

We do not have what is termed a "bottom season", but we do have a fair top season and with continued showers we may grow some good crops.

One out of every three persons in Eastland county is a car owner. This includes men, women and children. We remember registering a car in this county some thirty years ago, and remember that our number was 165. At that time there were about 40 people for each car. Nobody but rich people and foolish newspaper reporters owned them.

How we ever came into possession of one is a deep seated mystery. Rich people paid cash for their cars, but we were far from rich. The only way we can figure it out is that some finance company must have taken a "liking" to us and let us scatter payments over a period of months—maybe years.

Financing in those days was not so easy as they are today. As we remember we paid about 146 per cent interest in those days, which of course included inspection, commissions, liability and the interest, all in one lump.

In those days we cranked a car by hand and not by foot or finger. We cranked that thing we had, on cold mornings, until our eyes popped out. Twenty minutes cranking would enable you to ride a mile if the "rooster" was in good condition, otherwise you would remove the spark plugs and spit on them. If this failed you would jack up a "hind" wheel so some more high powered cranking.

One thing the car would not do was pass a garage. If you tried it you were in for trouble, for it automatically turned in and if you held her straight she would die. And garage men charged more for service when they had to walk out to the street to do the work. Usually you didn't need very much but enough to delay you and pacify the car.

On one occasion we remember finding a man who was driving a big car all bogged down in the mud on the roadbed of what is now the Breckenridge highway. It appeared that he was hopelessly stuck, and rain was pouring straight down.

We were riding in ruts about 18 inches deep and knew we could not hope to bounce our little Model T out of them. So we backed up a few hundred yards and made a run for it, and when we got to a place where ruts were not more than a foot deep we managed to get the steering wheel a quick spin and out she came. We cut a few ruts to where the stalled car was and the man asked for help.

Modestly we told the man our car was small and light, but we would try. We got our pliers and took down a half mile of barbed wire fence and tied the cars together. (No bumpers in those days.) We told him to get in his car and start the motor. Our Model T wheezed a few times and then we saw the big car was moving forward. Over the hill we went with steam and water from our radiator blinding us. We stopped and began cutting the wire while the man stood in the rain and cried as though his heart would break.

We asked the cause and he told us he wanted our car. "What on earth do you want with this thing?" we asked. "I want it to put in my tool box so if I get stuck again I will have a chance to get out." Right then we would not have taken a million dollars for the Model T.

Once a smooth garage owner talked us into letting him "pull our motor" when there was nothing wrong with it, only the man had failed to replace the spark plugs after he had cleaned them. The plugs rolled off the motor

Stamey Speaks At Lions Club Tuesday Noon

The Lions Club program this week was one of the best held during the year, and attendance was exceptionally good.

Ten Lions were awarded attendance pins, denoting 100 per cent attendance during the past year. They include Gene Haynes, James Reed, G. P. Poe, Everett Plowman, Fehrmann Lund, Jack German, W. M. Crow, H. T. Weaver, Wendell Siebert and Ray B. McCorkle.

The committee appointed to arrange for Women's Night, stated that the meeting will be held in the basement of the Methodist Church on the night of June 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Richard Cox had the program and introduced O. L. Stamey, president of Cisco Junior College, who delivered an address. His subject had to do with the teaching of the Bible in Public schools.

Mr. Stamey favored such a plan, and gave his reasons for it. Our constitution was based upon the Bible, and the American ideals spring from it, he said.

When we go in for Godless schools we are in a way bowing to atheism. We probably should avoid sectarianism, but there is no excuse for leaving God and the Bible completely out of our public schools.

Statistics indicated that there are some states where the Bible is taught, and has been taught for many years. Crime increase in those states has not been so large as in those states where the Bible is completely ignored.

The question is controversial, and a "hot potato", yet we feel the speaker's remarks were accepted by most of his audience.

CECIL SYLVESTER NEARING END OF WAR DUTY CRUISE ABOARD NAVY DESTROYER

Cecil R. Sylvester of the U. S. Navy is nearing the end of an eventful tour of duty in the Far East aboard the destroyer U. S. S. Halsey Powell, commanded by Commander A. S. Freedman, Jr., USN.

Sylvester is the son of Mrs. Trophie Johnson and Cecil L. Sylvester, formerly of Eastland, the sister of Mrs. Bill Harrison and grandson of Ray Todd, both of Grandson.

Sylvester's ship was mentioned on the front pages of newspapers around the world during the middle of January for its rescue of 10 fliers downed off the South China Coast by Red anti-aircraft guns.

For this job the ship was commended by the Commander of the Formosa Patrol in a citation reading:

"The expedition manner in which the Halsey Powell arrived at the scene of the airplane crash on 18 January and conducted rescue operations at night resulting in the rescue of 10 survivors is an example of highest readiness and ability."

The fact that rescue operations were conducted in severe weather conditions and water made more perilous by uncertain land marks and shallow reefs clearly demonstrates outstanding navigation and seamanship.

"Congratulations on a difficult job well done."

Hanson, Harris To State Meet

Brother of E. E. Shultz Dies In Chicago, May 2

J. H. Shultz, 52, brother of E. E. (Skipper) Shultz, Eastland, died in Chicago, of a heart attack Saturday afternoon at 4:30 p.m. For the past 25 years he had been connected with the Wrisley Soap Co.

He is survived by his wife, Marion, two sons, William R. and William Shultz; a daughter, Mrs. George Deyka, all of Chicago; a grandson; two sisters, Mrs. John Bower of Atlanta, Mo., and Mrs. John Baney of Davenport, Ia.; and one brother, E. E. Shultz, of Eastland.

Mr. Shultz left Saturday night for Davenport, Ia., where he will meet his sister, Mrs. Baney, and they will go together to Chicago, where the funeral is to be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Shultz and Gary will remain in Eastland and keep the studio open until Mr. Shultz's returns.

Track Coach Gene Young will leave for Austin Thursday with two very hopeful prospects in the 43rd annual Interscholastic League meet to be held May 8th and 9th. J. D. Hanson will represent this region in the 110 high hurdles and the 180 yd. low hurdles. Hanson has never run the hurdles previous to this year, but he has turned in some fine performances that have given him a reputation of one of the best hurdlers that have come out of this section of the country in a long time. He broke three records and tied one at the district meet in Gorman. Two weeks later, at the regional meet in Brownwood, he brought home two blue ribbons in both hurdle races and set a new regional record in the 180 laws running a fast 20 second flat. Twenty seconds flat happens to be the state record.

Jimmy Lyn Harris, represents Eastland in golf after qualifying with low medalist honors at the Regional Meet in Brownwood two weeks ago. Jimmy shot a 80-75 to come in first place in his class. He stands a good chance in Austin this week end for another first place gold medal.

New Battery Is Sweeping Nation

A battery made that is "Guaranteed for the Life of your Car" has expanded its scope of sales from Texas alone to some 15 states in less than one and one-half years.

The revolutionary product, the Span-O-Life Battery, was first placed on the market in August, 1951. (Span-O-Life Batteries, which are literally guaranteed for the life of the owner's car and not on a pro-rated basis, has since swept the nation.

If You Want To Own A Farm, Then Buy One; Dream May Be Made True If You Watch, Work To That End

If you really want that farm of your own don't give up the idea because it seems impossible. Look around at friends who have figured out a way. For some it was easy. Others have acquired farms against almost impossible odds.

Never in history has it been so hard to get a start in farming as it is today. Yet it's still being done—regularly.

O-Life's were only being sold in Texas by some 190 dealers. By the end of 1952, the dealer list had grown to number 1,700 in ten Southern states. Five new states have been added since the beginning of 1953, bringing the total to 15 states. King Motor Co., is the Eastland dealer.

Robert V. Abshire, Span-O-Life president, has announced plans to expand to all 48 states before the end of 1953.

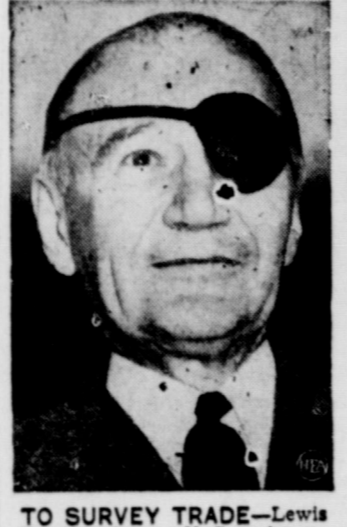

In addition to the expansion of sales, Span-O-Life production will also be increased by some 300 per cent by the acquisition of a new 27,000 square foot plant in New Braunfels. The new plant will be in full operation by June 1, Mr. Abshire said.

Gus Dabney, general sales manager of the company, has reported that Span-O-Life sales in Texas alone were up 102 per cent in the first quarter of 1953 over the same period in 1952.

Another Texas product that will sweep the nation is the Span-O-Life battery.

"Buy buddy, can you spare two bits to a farmer who's down on his luck?"

TO SURVEY TRADE—Lewis Douglas, former U. S. ambassador to England, has been named to head a committee which will make a broad study of how much U. S. economic aid will be given to what countries. The group will recommend changes required to strengthen economies of the free world.

Buildings, fences and roads are helpful in making money, but the land decides the profits you will make. After you estimate the basic productivity of the land, determine the amount of production that you must have if you are going to come out in your investment.

Check soil maps, then look over every acre. There can be spots in individual fields that don't show up on the soil survey maps. Be thoroughly familiar with the weed condition.

Slant your farming activities toward the things that you do best, and then buy your farm in a community suitable for this type of activity. Don't be oversold on a well-painted set of buildings, because in themselves they won't Forget the house for a minute and check the rest of the buildings against the type of farming operations you intend to follow.

How is the house? Have your wife with you when you check this. You'll be surprised at what she will find—both good and bad. Remember, no house is perfect. Finally, remember there is one big difference between you and the man in the city—your place of business is also your home. Size up the community. Is it a good place to raise a family? Are the neighbors friendly and co-operative? Are they your kind of folk? Everything in this world isn't measured in dollars and cents, and there are a lot of things more im-

PROFIT NEWS FOR HOG MEN!

HOG SITUATION

Who said hog-raisers can't make money today? Some forecasters were pretty pessimistic a few months ago . . . but let's look at the facts now. In April of this year, top price for hogs at Sig Faircloth auction was $23.60. That was $5.50 higher than the same date a year ago . . . the highest April price in the past five years. Yet, Purina Hog Chows are down about $15.00 per ton compared to last year at this time. Hog-raisers have an opportunity to make about $5.00 per hundredweight more profit now than last year. With profit opportunities like this, it's good business to get fast growth on hogs. Lots of farmers all over the country are getting good, money-making growth by following the Purina Program. They're feeding Hog Chow as the supplement for corn or grain and marketing their hogs at 5 1/2 months, weighing 200 to 225 pounds. It takes 325 pounds Wilson hog mix or $11.86 to produce 100 pounds hog pork, real low-cost production. See your Purina Dealer, Wilson Feed & Seed, the store with the Checkerboard Sign—and get acquainted with the Purina Program for lots of pork. Aim for today's good profit with a sound feeding and management program. Ask for new low ton prices.

Sen. Johnson Reports—

Peace or a Sword
By Lyndon B. Johnson
Are we on the road to peace—real peace? That is the major question before all of us.
The Russians have indicated a willingness to settle some of the questions that have kept the Korean War alive. Possibly there will be a Korean truce by the time this appears in print.
Of course, we are ready for a truce on honorable terms. Every American wants to end the Korean fighting at the earliest possible moment. We cannot, however, permit the prospects for a Korean truce to lull us into a false sense of security that will cause us to weaken our defenses.
We must be vigilant—ready to discuss and accept proposals that will lead to real peace, but refusing to let down our guard.

Our Government is Strong
Our system of government has weathered all the storms of its history. It is a system resting upon three pillars—a legislative branch that is a deliberative body and not a grand jury; a judiciary that determines the guilt or innocence of those accused of breaking the law; an executive who conducts business of the United States and its relations with other countries.
Let one wage guerilla warfare against the others, and our freedoms are weakened. Let one surrender its rights and authority to another, and our freedoms are gone.

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shollit

THE STORY: Al Kemmer, owner of High Hill Lodge, has been murdered with an .22. Eddie Fields, an ex-convict, who suffered wounds in the attack, believes it was a man who occupied a car afterwards, although Eddie didn't see the attacker. Dan Morrison, athletic director, is suspicious of C. O. Griscomb, who hates the intrusion of resort visitors on his land. As Dan goes to talk to Griscomb, he sees a man in a blue serge suit, handling Griscomb an envelope. Griscomb captures Dan and holds him at the point of a gun, but Dan outwits him, gets the gun and the envelope, which contains $500, from Griscomb.

FOUND Sergeant Healey in the office talking to Corporal Dillon. I flopped down in a chair beside the desk and told him the story about Griscomb and me and the Indians. It didn't set him on fire.

"Listen, Morrison, do you know what you did? You committed armed robbery. Larceny, when you took the gun. Assault and battery when you slugged him."
"Let's get to the point. There's a good chance his is the gun that drilled Rocky Silone."
"The pale blue eyes stayed calm. 'You're too excitable, Morrison—no wonder you got yourself in such a mess. Now, listen: Nobody can tell for sure whether a certain weapon produced a certain wound unless he has the bullet. We don't. The best you can do is make a rough guess. This gun is a high-powered rifle. A bullet from this kind of a gun travels at a very high speed and usually makes a nice, clean hole all the way through. It's not likely to leave a big, ugly exit hole like the one we found in Rocky Silone."
"Not likely? You mean you're not sure?"
"You can't be 100 per cent sure—I just finished telling you. For example, if the guy happened to be using defective ammunition, you might have got a ragged hole. But—"
"Okay, as long as there's a possibility—"
"You didn't let me finish. Nobody who owns a gun like this would use defective ammo. Look at the thing—the hand-checked walnut stock, the 10-power telescopic sight. This is a real shooter's gun—everything the best. A guy who uses a gun like this wouldn't use bad ammo."

I LOOKED unhappily at the gun. I couldn't give up this easily after all the trouble it had caused me. "He must have been up to something," I said doggedly. "What does a man go traipsing around with a gun like this for?"

"Hunting."
"This time of year?"
"Sure. There are things you're allowed to hunt in August: gray fox, wildcat, groundhog. That's what this man goes for—groundhog."

"How do you know that?"
"By the gun. Shooting ground-hogs is a real rifleman's sport."
"All right, boys," I broke in, "what're you going to do with this gun?"
"I'll hold it," Healey said reluctantly. "Because I don't know what you're liable to do with it."
"Okay. And here's this dough."
"Oh, no—I don't want that."
He pushed the envelope across the desk at me. "You take this back where you got it."

"You don't think this might be evidence of some crime—a payoff for something?"
"I don't have the least reason to think so. And neither do you. Morrison, Mr. Griscomb is probably on the phone right this minute calling our station or calling his lawyer. You're up to your big ears in trouble. If I were you, I'd rush this dough right back to him and see if you can talk him out of taking any action."
The office door pushed open. A trooper stuck his head in. "Sarge, you out here named Dave Fields wants to talk to you."
Healey's innocent eyes narrowed. "Bring him in."
Dave Fields walked in, looking like no vacationer you ever saw in the Poconos. He had on his Oxford gray suit, a stiff-collared shirt and tie, even his horizontal-brim hat.

He blew his nose with a big handkerchief and went to a lot of trouble putting his handkerchief away. "I . . . don't think I told you my story right," he said, before he looked up.

Dave took the blast of stares from all three of us. He rocked a little. He breathed heavily through his mouth.
"I told you I was in bed all the time. . . . I wasn't. I was out—I was out taking a walk part of the time."
Healey let him stew a little while longer. Finally he said, "What makes you change your story, Fields?"
Dave glanced away at the window. "I wanted to correct any mistake—"

"You mean lie."
"Well, yes, Lie."
"So now you've worked up another alibi?"
"No, not an alibi. I'm telling the absolute truth. I started around 1:30 a. m.—after the dance. I went down to the lake and sat around there for a while, then I took that walk. When I got back, it was about 4 o'clock. I saw all the people around the office and they told me about a terrible tragedy that happened."

AND the unfortunate thing is, nobody saw you take that walk," Healey said drily.
"Somebody saw me," Dave said. "A young lady. That's the reason I told you that other story—because I didn't want to get Sally Ann involved."
"Sally Ann what?"
"I'm not sure . . . something like Fash."
"Sally Ann Prushnick," I said.
Healey grunted to Corporal Dillon. "Get her."
Sally Ann told substantially the same story as Dave's when they brought her in. But I left thinking that I'd seen Sally Ann in the crowd while I was getting the station wagon ready to transport Al and Eddie, and it was a lot earlier than 4 o'clock.
(To Be Continued)

Republicans, it will certainly serve none of us as Americans to use the tactics of the jungle against our fellow Americans. Still less will it serve us to use those tactics to tear down the great foundations of our government.
We cannot tear down the foundations without pulling down the house itself. If we pull down the house, we will all be buried in the ruins.

Can We Cut the Budget?
The budget can and should be cut. We must not forget that 87 cents of every Federal dollar goes to pay for past wars, foreign aid, defense, veterans' aid, and interest on the national debt. Even in the field of defense, three is much waste that should be eliminated. But it is hard to make any astronomical cuts out of that 87 cents.
Any saving will be welcomed by the hard-pressed taxpayers. But we are headed for a letdown if we look for "big savings"—savings that will balance the budget—this year.

Canadian River Dam
Secretary of the Interior McKay learned about the Panhandle's Canadian River Dam project last week.
The educational job was done by Joe Jenkins, former Mayor of Amarillo and now President of the Chamber of Commerce, and T. E. Johnson, editor of the Amarillo

Globe-Times. They were favorably impressed by Secretary McKay's interest. Rex Baxter, Manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, also was in Washington, had earlier visited the Secretary with Mr. Johnson. Mr. Jenkins attended a Civil Defense conference while here.

Wonderful Eating Any Time

It's hard to beat pineapple gingerbread for a quick and easy dessert.

Gingerbread is a perfect dessert or cofeetime refreshment any time. You can use your own favorite recipe for gingerbread or make one the easy way with quick and fool-proof packaged mixes and have it ready to serve in an hour.
You'll find that crushed pineapple adds a wonderful new flavor to an old favorite like gingerbread. A flat can of crushed pineapple holds about one cup, and the pineapple syrup replaces the rest of water called for on a package of gingerbread mix.
Here are some ideas to make gingerbread extra tempting: Serve it with whipped cream cheese; or sprinkle with a topping of confectioners' sugar. Or while gingerbread is warm, cut in squares and pour over vanilla sauce made from a packaged pudding.
Another idea is to bake in 12 greased muffin pans. Cool, and cut out a cone-shaped center with a sharp knife. Fill centers with orange sauce.

PINEAPPLE GINGERBREAD

- 1/2 cup water
- 1 package gingerbread or gingerscake mix
- 1 cup crushed undrained pineapple

Beat 1/2 cup water into gingerbread mix as directed on package. Add pineapple instead of remaining water called for. Pour batter into well-greased, 9-inch square pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 40 minutes. Serve warm, topped with a spoonful of softened cream cheese.
To bake muffins, fill pans 1/2 full and bake in moderate (350°) oven 15 minutes or until done.
