BHS Class of 1962 Has 40th Reunion

Seeing old friends, exchanging school memories, viewing pictures and talking about families were the highlights of the Class of 1962 reunion held July 4. Judy and Wayne Rhodes opened their home to the exuberant group as an attempt was made to catch up on forty years in one day. The main food course of beef fajitas was provided by Ben and Stella Rejino of Friona.

A class spokesman said, "Thanks to all of you who came by to see us at the 4th of July picnic as it was truly wonderful to visit with you. We all seemed to realize how great it is to be able to say that we are a section of history of Bovina High School, a part of that special group of people who lived some of their lives in small town Bovina."

The group attended the July 4th parade and toured the school building. They expressed that the school had been well maintained since they graduated 40 years before.

The Class of 1962 had 16 graduates. Of that number, one, Mary Taylor Langston is deceased. Out of the 15 remaining, 14 of them attended the reunion. There were only five male graduates in the class and all five of them attended. It was the first reunion for the class in 20 years but they decided to have another in two years.

Those in attendance were: Jim and Lindy (Dean) Varner of Phoenix, Arizona; Buddy Turner of Austin; Jack and Pat (Crawford) Turner of Friona; John and Faye Sikes of Lubbock.

Also, Bob and Linda (Gilreath) Summer of Seminole, Texas; Jerry Rigdon of Lubbock; Wayne and Judy (Meacham) Rhodes of Friona; Ben and Stella Rejino of Friona; Olen and Pauline Johnston of Decatur, Alabama.

Also, Dean and Marilyn (Brandon) Watson of Friona; Christine (Wassom) Johnston of Hobbs, New Mexico; Janice (Leake) Carpenter of Clovis and Jerry and Floye (Smith) Burnett of Fredricksburg.

My Turn

by Carol
Ellis

IT WAS A LITTLE LATE this year. The yearly gas price hike usually happens right before we all get ready to travel here and there for summer vacations; often in late May or early June. But there's still plenty of family travel time left before school starts.

There is a neat story in Bill's "Ellis Family" book about a trip, when his grandfather's family, including the old great-granddad, plus several other relatives and neighbors all moved from Western Oklahoma to Bailey County, south of Muleshoe in 1931. The group traveled in several horse-drawn wagons, one car, and a couple of trucks, with one pulling a trailer.

The trucks were the rugged old Willis brand which was the forerunner of the Jeep. It's a good thing the vehicles, as well as the people, were rugged because there weren't any highways back then. In fact the roads were unpaved and in many places they were just a trail. They traveled across what is now Highway 70 and 86.

At times they were obliged to get out and open gates across someone's ranchland and then close it behind them. When stopping for the night, the men would look up the owner of the property to ask permission for the group to camp there for the night. Without fail, they were told to just let their animals graze in the fields, because there was plenty for all.

The children, from little ones to teenagers, thought the trip was great fun. . . seeing new sights, meeting new people, camping out, cooking over the camp fire.

We traveled the same route last weekend when we went to the annual Ellis family reunion in Oklahoma at Lake Murray near Ardmore. We made it in six hours (plus a few rest stops) at 70 miles per hour over mostly four-lane highways. Bill noted that the miles we traveled in one hour, would have taken three and one-half days for his family group making that same trip in 1931. Our "caravan" consisted of two cars, and one SUV pulling a trailer with two jet skis. We all stayed in communication with one another via three cell phones.

When our kids were younger there was a lot of whining from the three in the back seat. "Are we there yet?" "Mom, he's getting on my side of the car." The standard reply from the front was "You kids better straighten up or your Dad will stop this car right now." The threat was implied. No one ever actually knew what that meant. We sang songs and played a lot of word games, the alphabet game and license plate tag.

Then somebody came up with those small hand-held electronic games that emitted beeping sounds from the back seat to drive parents crazy. We breathed a sigh of relief when they came up with the Sony Walkman and the kids played their own brand of irritating music while wearing earphones.

Well, family road trips are still evolving. The family vehicle has now turned into an electronic cocoon, sheltering passengers from the world that is passing by outside the windows. Hyperactive kids are belted into their seats in the back, barely able to wiggle. The TV screen and VCR keep them entertained with movies and cartoons. There are dual headphone jacks for the kids, so no noise drifts up to the front while Mom and Dad chat, or listen to their own CDs. Everybody rides along in their own little private world, and the only whining we heard was once when we stopped; "We weren't through with our movie yet."

But there is more to come. Soon there will be computers complete with rolling Internet access in the new cars, plus electronic mapping systems for getting from one place to another without traffic jams or detours. And of course as the kids get older they'll be playing Gameboy and Nintendo on their backseat TV screen. Time marches on.

Except for the air conditioning, have we really improved the family summer trip, over that slow-moving two and one-half week journey our ancestors made across the farms and pasturelands of mid-America?

Bill says that his parents, grandparents and great-grandparents were just a tougher breed than we are. They worked exceptionally hard for what they had; weathered the Great Depression and the "Dirty 30s." And they felt they had had a good life in spite of all this. You know what...I think they did.

Sherley-Anderson Sale Is Pending

AGP Grain Cooperative has announced plans to purchase grain elevators from Sherley-Anderson Grain Company.

AGP, headquartered in Omaha, Nebraska, will purchase facilities in ten Sherley-Anderson locations near Clovis, Farwell and Bovina. Terms of the sale were not disclosed.

"The Board of Directors approved this purchase to expand destination markets for our local cooperative members and their farmer owners," said Marty Reagan, Chief Executive Officer (CEO). "By linking these facilities and the customers they serve in the Texas Panhandle with AGP members, we have enhanced our ability to add value to Midwestern grain production." The grain elevators represented in the purchase have a combined storage capacity of approximately 24 million bushels. They are served by the Burlington Northern Santa Fe Railroad and are located on major highways.

"Growth in this area's livestock feeding and dairy production has created a strong market for Midwest grain and grain products," said Mike Knobbe, Group Vice President, Grain. "The Texas Panhandle is a key domestic destination market and fits our strategic growth plan to serve our members."

"Sherley-Anderson Grain Company has successfully served area farmers in Parmer and Curry counties since 1947," Knobbe said.

"And we look forward to continuing this long held tradition of providing quality products and services to our area producers."

AGP Grain Cooperative markets a variety of grain and grain products both domestically and internationally. It is closely affiliated with Ag Processing, Inc. (AGP), a cooperative which operates nine soybean processing plants and one corn processing plant in the Midwest.

AGP (www.agp.com) the largest farmer-owned soybean processor in the world, is owned by 243 local cooperatives and eight regional cooperatives representing nearly 250,000 farmers from 16 states throughout the U. S. and Canada.

Cattle Feeders Are Taking Their Hits

(Thanks to the Amarillo Globe-News)

Market losses continue to hit cattle feeders hard.

Industry analysts estimate Texas cattle feeders alone have lost nearly $550 million in equity in the last 18 months, according to Texas Cattle Feeders Association officials.

Speaking at a press conference at the Amarillo Livestock Auction on Tuesday, Richard McDonald, TCF president and chief executive officer, said that nationwide, $2.5 billion in equity has been drained from the industry since 1999.

"These losses are significant, and we've been searching for realistic, constructive solutions to the beef industry's marketing problems," McDonald said.

Cattle have been selling at below break-even prices for more than a year, he said, although prices may have stabilized somewhat in the past week.

There are several reasons that the live cattle market is hurting, McDonald said, citing record supplies of beef, chicken and pork; reduced business travel after Sept. 11; and reduced exports.

In an effort to stimulate beef demand and move heavy beef supplies, the beef checkoff launched a summer grilling promotion, he said. So far, 34 state beef councils have joined in to augment the $2.8 million national program conducted by the beef checkoff, McDonald said.

Nationwide, about 6,000 grocery stores are participating in the program that tells consumers that steak and ground beef make a terrific summertime grilling option.

Retail prices are down slightly but remain relatively flat regardless of the producer's price, said Jim Gill, TCF marketing director. But, he said, a lot of beef is moving through the market, so there must be some good featuring going on in some metropolitan areas.

Gill said higher feed prices could prompt cattle to be sent to market earlier, which will help tighten supplies. He said it could take a couple of months to put some leverage back into the market for beef producers.

"I don't know if we'll be making money, but we'll be doing better than we are now," Gill said.

McDonald said with a market situation like cattlemen face today, "there's no one single solution. It has to be a combination of things."

TCFA and the National Cattlemen's Beef Association are working in several different directions to address the depressed prices on a long-term basis.

"I'm glad to say that some concrete and proactive plans are in place to help cattlemen deal with the market situation they find themselves in," he said.

McDonald said TCFA and NCBA have asked for increased surveillance of the futures market.

"Last Saturday during the Cattle Industry Summer Conference, the NCBA Board of Directors took some bold steps by asking for a Congressional investigation in several areas," McDonald said.

The investigation will cover impacts on producers from packer and retailer concentration and possible statutory changes to antitrust laws and anticompetition laws to give producers the same protection as consumers, he said.

Also, TCFA is putting together a multistate Marketing Improvement Team to develop recommendations on actions that cattlemen and packers can take jointly to address the market.

TCFA also has initiated an industry wide analysis of the beef industry to be conducted by prominent business schools across the nation. "This systems analysis will give perhaps the clearest and most insightful picture we've ever had of industry structure from producers to consumers and where profit opportunities for producers might be found,"

McDonald said. "While this is not a short-term solution to our immediate market problems, this analysis will give us the knowledge we need to remain viable and competitive as our industry and our market continues to change. Most importantly, it will determine if the producer is getting a fair share of the consumer dollar."

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE SHEPHERDS' PROTECTORS

WHILE THE YOUNG SHEPHERDS GUARDED THEIR FLOCKS THEY IN TURN QUITE OFTEN WERE GUARDED THEMSELVES BY SMALL BANDS OF YOUNG MEN WHO WERE SUITABLY ARMED TO WARD OFF BRIGANDS AND OUTLAWS WHO MIGHT STEAL THE SHEEP. THESE YOUTHS WERE USUALLY IN SOME KIND OF MINOR TROUBLE WITH THE AUTHORITIES. FOR PAY THEY RECEIVED FOOD FROM THE OWNERS OF THE FLOCKS. SUCH AN ARRANGEMENT WAS MADE BY DAVID AND HIS SMALL BAND OF COMPANIONS WHEN HE HAD TO LEAVE SAUL'S PALACE UNDER THREAT OF DEATH. THIS MEAGER BEGINNING LATER LED TO DAVID AMASSING AN ARMY POWERFUL ENOUGH TO ENSURE HIS CONTROL OF THE ENEMY PHILISTINES WHEN HE WAS MADE KING.

Cancer Screening Set Aug. 21, 22 In Friona

The Women's Center of the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center in Amarillo will conduct a breast cancer screening clinic at Parmer County Community Hospital, 1307 Cleveland Avenue in Friona on August 21 and 22. Breast cancer affects one in eight women. The key to winning the battle against cancer is early detection by having an annual breast exam, mammogram and performing breast self-exam each month.

Participants will receive a low-cost screening mammogram. Each woman will receive a breast health risk appraisal and individual instruction by an RN in breast self-examination. Funding is available through the Texas Department of Health for assistance. All exams are done by appointment only. Call (806) 356-1905 or 1-800-377-4673 for more information.
