If you want a fight you won't have to walk a block before you will find some individual who will take you on for a few rounds. Of se this is all uncalled for, but people are actually looking for trouble and will make trouble if they get a chance.

We remember a man who lost a good contract, because when his employer offered him a bottle of beer, he insulted him. He could have given a civil answer, even though he did not drink beer. The employer had no intention of forcing him to drink-merely stated that he might have a bottle if he Had the reply been "No, thank you", the two men might still be friends, but his answer was an insult-one that will never be for-

Which reminds us that there are many people who are talking when they should be listening. They get into unnecessary trouble simply because they have the happy faculty of making the right statement at the wrong time or the wrong statement at the right time. Then here is a lot of explaining, and most of it is very unpleasant,

A motto in our office explains the trouble: "Even a fish wouldn't get into trouble if he kept his mouth shut."

Most of our difficulties are unnecessary and uncalled for, and the trouble is: "We talk too

The Grand Jury was in session day, for a few hours, but long enough to vote one bill of indic ment and examine a number of witnesses. From what we can learn they have cleaned the slate, and have voted another recess. They are to meet again on July 29th.

Carl Elliott is Eastland's new weather prophet. He had the nerve to tell us today that it will rain in Eastland before Monday night July 13. We pass the good word on, and will remember him in our prayers, yet if it remains dry don't tame us. We are merely telling you what he said.

One thing about it, if he can promote rain, he'll never have to run for office again. He may be crowned king, emperor or some other high-sounding title, and will live in the laps of luxury all

Car Washing Can Be Child's Play

Today's rising living costs have created a demand for do-it-yourself roducts in every field. In tune with the trend, is this new Car Mop that is the man of the house a chance to use efficient feminine housekeeptechniques in caring for his car and equips the ladies to do what was formerly a man's job.

Just introduced by a manufacturer noted for home cleaning products, the Car Mop is said to do away with the old water-soaking mud-spattering routine of car washing and to produce professional washing and drying results without hose or chamois.

Special features of the new cleaning tool that turn the trick are a flexible rubber hand that curves to follow car contours and fits into tight corners and grillwork, and a removable mop pad of sponge-like cellulose yarn that first washes, later soaks up the moisture. A 48" long handle reaches high on the car roof, covers broad areas quickly and keeps the user dry. To complete the job, the Car Mop also serves to sweep out car interiors.

Recommended car washing techniques that protect the car finish and produce best results are the use of cool or warm but never hot water and working from the top down to reach muddlest areas last. To speed-up cleaning of exceptionally grimy cars, a small amount of liquid detergent—an be used.
