WHITTLIN'

BY DOLPH MOTEN

This department's knowledge of Falcon Lake, down on the border, is limited.

Except for the fact that Bovina people have been vacationing there by the boats-full for the past few years, we know little about it.

Some people have even wondered if you couldn't see more Bovina folks at Zapata, a town which is on or near the lake, during certain times of the year than you could in Bovina.

We don't know exactly why this particular lake has proven to be so popular with Bovina fishermen. The group of people who fit into that category have never been known to be hard to please, we understand, so maybe the lake doesn't have to be exceptionally good for them to like it.

Up until this week, we'd figured that the fishing was exceptionally good there and that it just wasn't any trouble to land the big ones at a fast clip.

According to one Bovina fisherman, just returned from Falcon, this isn't always the case.

"The fish don't bite especially good," he pointed out. "It rains too much and the weather is too cold for comfort sometimes during the winter."

We explained to our friend how he'd destroyed the concept we'd had for the popular resort and asked him why he was being so truthful, if he was.

"I'm not a chamber of commerce man for that country or that lake," he replied. "It might be a better idea to tell people who ask just how the situation is instead of telling them a bunch of 'fish' stories."

Now maybe people have complained about various conditions at Falcon before. But if they have they haven't done so in our presence. That was the very first time that we'd ever heard the place knocked.

We understand that a lake could have some, maybe several disadvantages, and still be the best available within a reasonable distance. And that may be the case with Falcon.

Falcon could be living on its reputation to some extent, too.

We don't have a thing against the lake, of course, but we were beginning to wonder if it was as great a fisherman's paradise as we had heard so often it was.

We still don't know, of course, but we do know one man who thinks some improvements could be made in it. That's more like places that we do know about—some people like them and others don't. In other words, there's no wholehearted agreement either way.

If Falcon continues to be as popular with Bovina people during the next few years as it has for the past few, we'll erase some of our suspicions about it.

Seriously, Falcon's greatest attraction to people in this area is that it's a good place to fish during winter months. And that's the time when people in a farming community usually have more fishing time.

We heard a fellow say several months back on the Falcon subject:

"If we had a lake at Bovina, the first thing the people here would want would be a bridge built across it so they could get to Falcon."

While we're "picking on" our own community to a certain extent, we might as well get this off our chest, too.

The entire United States, so to speak, is on a 50-mile hike binge and we haven't noticed any Bovinians taking longer walking trips than across a 60-foot street!

The best this community has done as far as the hiking fad is concerned is talk about it. That's not worth much.

Most serious talk we heard was submitted by Vernon Estes, who was tempted to make a 50-mile hike "just to see if he still could," he said.

Estes, however, wanted to be paid for his time. He said he'd guarantee to make the 50-mile trip in 20 hours for $100. The money evidently hasn't been raised because we haven't Friday will be work day at Bovina Roping Club's arena west of town.

Improvement of the lighting system will be the purpose of the work day, Al Kerby, club secretary - treasurer, says.

Plans are to install two more poles and 24 additional lights.

"We need every member who can possibly make it to be there or to send someone to work in his place," Kerby emphasizes. Members are asked to bring tools, such as shovels, post-hole diggers, etc., he adds.

Wilson's Sets Anniversary

Wilson's Super Market, located on Third Street in Bovina, will observe its 16th business anniversary this weekend.

Highlights of the anniversary promotion will be drawings for 16 sacks of groceries, one for each year of business for the firm, and 25,000 Gunn Bros. stamps.

Drawings will be conducted throughout the day Saturday. Visitors to the store may register for the free prizes Thursday and Friday, as well as Saturday, A. M. Wilson, owner of the super market, says.

A special drawing for children will be a feature of this year's event. Youngsters may sign-up all three days for a football with kicking tee which will be awarded Saturday afternoon.

Free balloons will be given to children and Clardy-Campbell milk train will be at the store Saturday to take area youngsters riding. Free ice cream will be served Saturday.

This year's anniversary is combined with semi-annual Shurline sale as it has been past few years.

The special event is announced in a 12-column advertisement in this issue of The Blade.

EIGHTH ANNUAL--

O'Brien, Reeves Top FFA Show

Pat O'Brien, with the champion steer, and Eddie Reeves, with the top barrow, were leading exhibitors at Eighth Annual Bovina FFA Project Show Saturday.

The show attracted some 65 animals to the judging arena. It was held in the school-owned show barn on Eighth Street.

Gene Pruitt had the reserve champion steer and Radford Venable showed the reserve champion barrow.

Jerry Lorenz had the first place sow and the first place gilt. No grand champions were named in these classes.

The show was conducted under the sponsorship of Bovina Lions Club with a minimum of near-$500 to be awarded in prize money. Prize money checks will be distributed at annual FFA banquet which will be in the near future.

From

SIX YEARS AGO
 February 27, 1957
 J. T. Hammonds began offering caged eggs for sale from his recently constructed caged hen plant north of town.
 Bovina Jaycees purchased a spraying machine to be used here to control flies and mosquitoes during summer months.
 School board terms of Earl Stevenson and Boye Taylor were slated to expire in April with no candidates announced for the vacant positions.
 Plans were underway for Bovina Schools to observe Public School Week. Various programs were being planned in connection with the special week.
 Pumper practice was highlight of a Bovina Volunteer Fire Department meeting. Otho Hammonds and Herman Estes gave instructions.

THREE YEARS AGO
 March 2, 1960
 Roger Ezell was named to a first team position on District 3-B all-district basketball squad.
 Cast of Bovina High's entry in district one-aet play competition included Verna Marie Estes, Marilyn Brandon, Patsy Hart, Cynthia Patterson and Suezey Estes. Play director was Roy Whisler, high school principal.
 Four candidates had been nominated for two school board positions. Terms of Bob Wilson and Wendol Christian were expiring in April.
 Bovina Water Superintendent John Wilson attended at water and sewer school in College Station.

2 Candidates--

sell were Mark Charles, L. M. Grissom, Burl Spears, Wilbur Charles, Pat Kunselman and Odie White.
 Signers of the petition for Rogers were Grissom, Spears, Wilbur Charles, Kunselman, White and Russell.
 Rogers is a barber. Russell is manager of Bovina Wheat Growers, Inc. Both are members of Bovina Volunteer Fire Department and Russell is a director of Bovina Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. Both candidates are also members of Bovina Lions Club.
 They are the only candidates who have been filed for the vacancies which will exist when terms of Al Kerby and Bud Crump expire in April. They have each served two years.
 Kerby has said that he would definitely not be a candidate. Crump said this week that he would not seek re-election.
 Members of the city council who have another year to go on their two year terms are Mayor Boyd Gilreath and Aldermen J. E. Sherrill, Jr., A. R. McCutchan, and A. L. Glasscock.
 A citizen who has lived in the city for six months may file his own name as a candidate or his name may be filed by petition. Deadline for filing is March 2.
 Hodge Rigdon has been named to serve as election judge.

Editorial Comment

Speak Now, Or....

Deadline for candidates to file for 1963 city council election is Saturday -- March 2 -- 30 days prior to the April 2 election.
 For school trustee candidates, the deadline is four days later -- Wednesday, March 6.

Two vacancies exist on each board and two names have been filed to fill the positions on each.

In the school trustee race, the incumbents, M. H. Carson and Grady Sorley, have been petitioned as candidates to succeed themselves.

Two newcomers to the political scene, Jerry Rogers and James C. Russell, have been petitioned as candidates for the city positions. (See story elsewhere in this issue of The Blade.)

We greatly appreciate the candidacies of the four individuals. But we would appreciate the candidacies of four more more than twice as much.

It's our opinion that all four men are as qualified as any for the positions and we have no doubts but that they will do excellent work in the positions they are seeking.

However, it's our opinion that more candidates will make for better government on the school district and city levels.

Our thinking is that the people need a choice of candidates when they go to the polls. In the first place, this will make for more interest in the elections and thus more interest in the government.

In the event these men, or any others, are elected without opposition and some decisions are made with which a majority of the people disagree in months or years to come, the voters are apt to look back to the elections and think, whether it's true or not, "We really didn't have any choice when we elected those representatives."

At the same time we believe that, we also believe that no individual should enter a race just as a pacer for the "real" candidates. That, too, is poor business.

Our main point is that it's only a matter of days until it'll be too late to do anything about your choice of city and school representatives for the next several months.

These are your governments and it's up to you to see that they are conducted the way you think best.

As is said somewhere else, "Speak now or forever hold your peace."

Or in words that are even more plain -- Do something or don't bellyache!

heard of him starting out. That isn't too much pay for such a chore, according to our way of thinking. That would figure $2 a mile or $5 an hour if he made the trip in 20 hours. On second thought, those wages might be a little high. But for a man of Estes' ability, they wouldn't be overly unreasonable.

(One cup of coffee will be considered full payment for that statement, Vernon. We'd charge more but we fear that the total number of people who will believe it wouldn't justify anything above that).

Pay or more, we certainly like to give some 50-mile hikers, from Bovina, some publicity, complete with pictures. At the same time, we realize that spending 20 miles on a hiking trip could be considered a tremendous waste of time. And that might be our consideration, too.

As a matter of fact, we're confident we could make the jaunt ourselves, easily enough.

Except for that waste of time angle, we'd be ready to start!

REPLACES NICHOLS---

Osborn Named To Head County Stock Show

Bill Nichols, general chairman of the Parmer County Junior Livestock Show, has moved from Friona, and appointed M. C. Osborn to succeed him as head of the annual show, scheduled March 7, 8 and 9 in Friona. Osborn announced the following show superintendents: Flake Barber, barrows; Martell LeVeque, steers; and Orho Whitefield, sheep.

He also reminded show entrants that weighing in of the barrows will begin at 1 p.m. Thursday, an hour earlier than usual, because of the large number of entries expected in this division.

Sheep will also be accepted Thursday afternoon. All animals are to be in their places by 6 p.m. Thursday. Prejudging of barrows and lambs will begin at 7:30 a.m. Friday, with judging to follow.

Weighing in of steers will be Saturday morning starting at 7 a.m. Judging of steers will start at 9 a.m., with the sale all animals at 1 p.m.

Charles Smallwood, head of the Agriculture Department at West Texas State College, will judge the show, open to students of vocational agriculture or 4-H Club members.

The show coincides with Public Schools Week, with the main judging coming on Friday, which is a school holiday in the county because of the district teachers meeting.

The top ten steers in each of four divisions will be sold. Sixty barrows and 30 lambs will also be shown. Grand and Reserve Champion steers and barrows must sell, and the champion of each lamb division must also sell.

IN BOVINA---

Final Polio Shot Available Sunday

Parmer County residents will avail themselves of the third series of mass immunization clinics which will administer Sabin Oral polio vaccine Sunday.

Clinics at Bovina, Friona and Lazbuddie will administer Type III vaccine to all who have not had it. As in the past, Friona and Lazbuddie clinics will operate from 12 noon until 4:30, and the Bovina clinic will be held from 1:30 to 4:30. They are scheduled at the school cafeterias at each location.

All persons are urged to take the Type III dosages, according to County Health Officer Paul Spring. "Because of the early scare regarding Type III vaccine, some recommended that people over 40 not take it, but we now feel it is safe for everyone," Spring said.

Those who have had one or both of the other types of vaccine are requested to bring their record cards so that notations may be made. Type III may be taken whether either of the other two types were taken or not.

"The order of the shots does not matter. Each one protects the person against a different type of polio. The main thing to keep in mind is to take the inoculations at least six weeks apart," Spring said.

As was the case with the previous clinics, the vaccine is free to the public, but donations will be accepted to defray expenses of administering the vaccine.

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

by James E. Edwards

What do you mean "Foot comfort isn't important"?

The most important property of an adult's shoe is the comfort - or lack of comfort.

The "but" is that children can be perfectly comfortable in shoes that will permanently deform their feet.

"Too little too late" was the description of lack of supplies in World War II.

Group Is Back From Tour

Seven Farmer County residents returned this week from the third annual feedlot tour sponsored by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Those attending were Joe Jones, Harry Johnson, Tulon White, Boye Taylor, A. W. (Dub) Anthony, Jr., V. T. Tanner and Bruce Parr.

"We had a very interesting trip," said Anthony, immediate past president of the organization.

"We need to keep working on marketing our grain sorghum -- we are gaining in that respect, but there is a lot we can do to bolster our California markets," Anthony said. The group toured several installations on the West Coast and points between. In addition, Anthony and Parr stopped in San Francisco for a visit with Noel Benger, former Farmer County resident, who is with the Ralston-Purina Company there.

"It is surprising to see what our commodities look like when they reach the markets," Parr said, indicating that improvements in shipping need to be made. "We saw one mill which indicated that it would buy 500 tons of maize per month if it could get it Johnsongrass-free," he said. "But we found a vast improvement in the condition of our maize this year," Anthony said. The group also saw a very interesting cooperative-type feed lot in the Stockton area, which they thought might bear checking into. It was the consensus of the group that the major market for the area's grain should be right here at home. "We have as many assets for feeding grain in West Texas as any place we saw," they said.

Lazbuddie FHA Picks Delegates

By Jan Nowell Lazbuddie High School FHA held its regular monthly meeting February 11 at the school. Gayla Seaton was selected as a candidate for an area FHA office, and Twila Gallman was named the voting delegate to the Area I FGA meeting.

The chapter elected to carry the CARE program through February. All donations to this program will be appreciated by the girls. The speaker who was scheduled to appear was unable to be present, so just the regular business meeting was held.

Good Public Relations Are Important To Farmer, Too

Good public relations are just as important to the farmer as they are to big industry and government.

So says James M. Patterson, an executive of the American Oil Company whose speaking engagements have carried him across the rural heartland of Mid-America.

Patterson urges rural citizens to communicate the "facts of life" to city dwellers.

"Many city folks believe," Patterson said, "that all farmers get big government hand-outs for not growing something.

You and I know it's not so. Less than one-fourth of agricultural produce gets any subsidy. Only 21 of 256 agricultural commodities -- less than a tenth -- receive any price support at all."

"Communicating facts like these to city dwellers becomes more and more important as population shifts and legislative reapportionment gives urban representatives more votes in the federal and state legislatures," Patterson said. "More and more, their success will depend on understanding public acceptance."

Already, Patterson said, the development of good roads and better communications have gone far toward erasing the image of the farmer as an isolated individualist living on a small farm.

"Certainly," he said, "we in the petroleum industry are well aware of the farmer as a major customer. We know, for instance, that the American farmer today spends a quarter of a billion dollars a year for chemical products -- many of them petro-chemicals -- that didn't exist 20 years ago, to say nothing of the vast amounts of gasoline and fuel oil he uses to power his farm equipment and head his place."

The importance of the farming business has led many industries to devote a large part of their research activities toward farm problems, Patterson said.

"Research in which our Company has participated shows that it is more profitable in cold weather to supply heat to poultry and other farm animals than to force them to generate it through food consumption," he said.

"We learned, for instance, that it cost just about one-fifth as much to supply heat as it does to supply extra feed to poultry. We learned that pigs consume 50 per cent more feed per pound gained at 40 degrees than at 60 to 70 degrees. And we learned that Jersey cows need less than half as much feed to produce a gallon of milk at 50 degrees as they need at eight degrees.

"Cooperative research of this nature points the way toward greater productivity and profitability for the farmer as well as increased sales for industry to the benefit of both," Patterson added.

Bruce Parr Heads Plains Gas Users

Bruce Parr, president of the Farmer County Irrigation Gas Users Association, was elected president of the parent organization, the Plains Gas Users

Association, in a recent meeting in Plainview.

Parr, who served as vice president of the organization during the past year, succeeds David Burgess of Tulla, former president. Dick Godwin of Hereford was elected secretary-treasurer of the organization, replacing another Hereford man, Jay Boston.

The Plains Gas Users was reported to be renewing its efforts to relieve farmers from the "high cost squeeze." Parr said "I would re-issue the plea that an organization is no stronger than the number and quality of its membership."

Micronaire Readings Available For Small Fee Through USDA

Micronaire readings on samples of cotton submitted for classification under the Smith Doney Program will be available on a fee basis during the 1963-64 season, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This service provides a measurement of fiber fineness of cotton as determined by air flow instruments. Fiber fineness is a quality factor important in spinning. Testing for micronaire readings is authorized under the Cotton Testing Service Act.

The micronaire reading service was introduced beginning November 1, of the 1962-63 season and was used extensively by farmers in West Texas and Oklahoma. A fee of eight cents per sample was charged for this service. The fee for the coming season will be determined by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and will be announced about May 1.

Applications for the testing service must be submitted by a ginner to the Agricultural Marketing Service, Cotton Classing Office serving the territory in which the gin is located. All samples submitted for classification from a gin that files an application for the micronaire service will be tested. Applications should be submitted as soon as possible but no later than July 1. Several weeks are required to install equipment and train personnel to provide the testing service to gins. Classing Offices may not be able to provide testing service to gins submitting applications after July 1, if a shortage of equipment and trained personnel occurs.

The gin that submits application for the service will be responsible for payment of the testing fee. Applications for micronaire readings and additional details regarding the service may be obtained from the Lubbock Cotton Division Classing Office of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

JOHNSON GRASS CONTROL IN COTTON WITH WEEDER GEESSE

In Tests conducted at University of Tennessee agriculture experiment station for Johnson grass control in cotton. Average yields were highest with geese. 737 pounds of lint per A, compare with 697 with the hoe and 668 with the herbicide (dalapon). The soil was somewhat sandy and the herbicide caused some injury to, and delay in maturity of, the cotton.

Net returns were $143, $107, and $106, respectively, for the three treatments. No charge was made for management and care of the geese. The fields weeded by geese and herbicide were essentially free of Johnsongrass at harvest, but not the hoed field. Cotton in the hoed field was hand-picked; it is presumed that yield and grade would have been lower had picking been done mechanically because of reduced efficiency where grass is present.

Parr To Speak At Curry Meet

Bruce Parr, president of the Farmer County Irrigation Gas Users Assn., was to be the guest speaker at an organizational meeting of the Curry County Gas Users Assn., at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Farmer's Electric Co-op Building in Clovis.

Members of the Pleasant Hill Farm Bureau have issued invitations to all Curry County farmers, who are using natural gas for irrigation, to attend the meeting.

A chart showing the results of cut-out tests made on winners at last year's Farmer County Junior Livestock show shows that the judge evidently knew what he was talking about when he placed the animals.

The grand champion Hampshire, when slaughtered, had a lean cut percentage of 58.2 per cent of the carcass and 43.55 per cent of its live weight, topped only by the first place middleweight Hampshire. Both hogs had a dressing percentage of 74.7, and were very close in all categories.

The tests were made by the West Texas Swine Testing Station at Canyon, and is financed by the Show Association, which contributes $2 per head to have the top animals charted.

Plans are to continue the program this year, according to show superintendent M. C. Osborn, and to also include one of the barrows which doesn't make the final showing, in order to see the contrast better.

Comments: In over all carcass cutout including quality the Grand champion pig was the top, however just considering the cutout the 1st middle weight Hampshire out cut the Champion followed by the Reserve Poland. The others fell in line fairly well but the crossbred pig was fatter than expected which cut his percent lean cuts down when the fat was trimmed off. The top pigs cut very favorably with our top station pigs and with the good pigs in some of the better shows.

TFB Official Says Perils In Wheat Referendum

"Farmers need to determine whether they want to operate under a free system, or whether they want to operate under a 'supply-management' system when he votes in the forthcoming wheat referendum," a Texas Farm Bureau official said in Hereford Monday night.

Bill Wedemeyer, Director of Research and Education for Texas Farm Bureau, addressed a meeting of approximately 150 farmers from several West Texas counties, sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau.

A good delegation attended the meeting from Farmer County. Those attending included Harry Hamilton, Frank Hinkson, R. L. Jones, Kenneth Precure, L. F. Bruns, Ernest Kube, Don Jones, M. T. Glasscock, John Armstrong, John Henderson, Clyde Goodwine, Spencer Hough and Raymond Euler.

"If a person wants supply management, I'd recommend that they vote 'yes.' If he wants freedom, he should vote 'no,'" Wedemeyer said.

The TFB official predicted that the U. S. Department of Agriculture had an "overall plan" to get farmers under direct government control.

The possibility was raised that farmers with less than 15 acres of wheat base may be allowed to vote, but only if they sign their intentions to comply with the program. Heretofore, farmers with less than 15 acres have not voted in national wheat referendums.

Quotas do not apply on allotments of 15 acres or less if the farm's average allotment for three years shows it to be 15 or less with a 10 per cent decrease.

Cox Is Appointed To Watershed Steering Committee

Guy Cox, Farwell, was named as a member of the Running Water Draw Watershed Project Steering Committee from Parmer County at a meeting of the Commissioners Court of Parmer County recently. Tom Lewellen, Friona, was named alternate at the same meeting.

Cox and Lewellen will join other leaders from Castro, Lamb, Swisher, Hale, and Parmer Counties in Texas and Curry County, New Mexico, as a member of the Steering Committee for the furtherance of a vast watershed project for the control of flood waters, soil erosion, conservation of water, and possible creation of recreational areas for citizens of a huge area. This project will create a series of dams and lakes up and down the watershed from Clovis, New Mexico, through the Texas counties in the organization.

The Co-sponsorship agreement bringing Parmer County into the watershed project was brought about by the Commissioners' Court. Members of the court are: Tom Lewellen, Friona; C. H. Jefferson, Bovina; Guy Cox, Farwell; and George Crain, Lazbuddie, County Commissioners; and Loyde Brewer, Friona, County Judge.

WITH THE COUNTY AGENT DERYL COKER

John G. McHaney says that the outlook for 1963 points to another year of relatively small changes in farm product prices, output and marketings. Total realized net income of farm operators also is expected to continue around the levels of 1961 and 1962. The farm population and the number of farms will continue to decline in 1963. As a result, average per capita income of farm people from all sources, and net farm income per farm, at record highs in 1962, will rise further in 1963.

SUPPLY

Farm output in 1962 was about 107 per cent of its 1957-59 average and likely will exceed this figure in 1963. It appears at this time that the output of farm products will rise a little above the levels of the past three years. The final output will depend on a number of factors, including growing conditions and the impact of 1963 programs on acreage and production.

Carryovers of most major farm commodities into the present marketing years, particularly grain stocks, were less than last year. However, the carryover of cotton and dairy products was greater.

Livestock production in 1963 appears likely to increase as it has for the past three years. Production of livestock and livestock products increased more rapidly than crops during the past decade. Crop production in 1963, assuming current programs and average growing conditions, likely will change little from the reduced levels of 1961 and 1962.

Marketing of livestock and livestock products are expected to increase in 1963. Little change is expected in the total marketings of crops.

DEMAND

A gradually expanding domestic market absorbed a record quantity of farm products in 1962. The domestic market for farm products will increase again in 1963, at least in proportion to population growth. Combined per capita consumption of food may increase slightly in 1963.

Prospective trends in demand by consumers, business and government suggest that, on balance, some modest gain in economic activity is likely in 1963.

The value of U. S. agricultural exports in fiscal 1961-62, $5.1 billion, was a record high, four per cent higher than the previous record a year earlier. The volume of exports was equal to the previous year's record. The high level of agricultural exports is expected to be about maintained in fiscal 1962-63.

Clouding the long-time future for U. S. agricultural exports is the uncertainty surrounding the developing agricultural policies of the European Common Market.

PRICES

Prices received by farmers averaged about one per cent higher in 1962 than in 1961. Livestock product prices were slightly higher and crop prices were up more than two per cent.

Generally increased production of livestock and livestock products and relatively stable domestic demand conditions may result in slightly lower average prices for these products in 1963. Crop prices in 1963 are expected to average nearly as high as in 1962.

Price paid by farmers for production items is continuing its steady rise of the past decade and is expected to rise slightly in 1963. With farm costs continuing to rise faster than product prices, some farmers and ranchmen will continue in a price-cost squeeze.

FINANCIAL POSITION

On January 1, 1963, total farm assets in the United States were up $7.5 billion from a year earlier and $41.1 billion from January 1, 1961. Assets on January 1, 1963, were about 3% larger than on January 1, 1962. Most of the rise was due to a further increase in real estate values.

Farmers' equities declined gradually during the past decade, to $87 per $100 of total assets in 1962 from $91 in 1951 and 1952. Equities were about $86 per $100 of assets on January 1, 1963. The total debt owed by farmers and ranchmen January 1, 1963 was about six per cent more than on January 1, 1962.

LONG-TIME OUTLOOK

The outlook for agriculture in the U. S. and Texas during the next several years is based on the assumption that general economic conditions, international relations, weather and improvements in technology will continue about like they have for the past several years. The long-time outlook also is based on the assumption that government programs over the next several years will be designed to further reduce the large supplies of some of our major agricultural commodities.

Under these conditions, the upward trend in farm production probably will slow and could even decline somewhat. However, even though it may appear that supplies will be reduced, production will continue large. The domestic market for agricultural commodities probably will remain good and, with the help of government export programs, agricultural exports should continue large.

Texas farmers and ranchmen will continue to be confronted with a price-cost squeeze through the next several years, and agricultural production will continue to become more and more competitive among areas of production and among individual operators. Farms and ranches will become more and more commercialized and vertical integration in agriculture will continue to grow. Small, inefficient farms and ranches will continue to decline in number.

We do not, of course, know, but we do not believe most farmers will be blindly sold by USDA's several million dollar soap box advertising and threatening program without taking a deep personal look at the reasons for such a sales campaign being conducted.

Farmers generally, we believe, have enough sense to determine by their own studies if they are for or against a proposed 'increasing control program on their operations. We do not subscribe to the suggestion of some that farmers and ranchers do not have enough sense to operate their farms and ranches profitably without compulsion from appointed political opportunists.

We also hope and believe that extension service agents in counties over the nation are aware of their first responsibility to their state and county, and that they will refuse to be used to peddle bureaucratic probability propaganda designed to produce fear votes of yes on the upcoming wheat referendum. We also hope there will be a record turnout on the date of the referendum so that a majority of the producers will have spoken out regarding the program, whether it is yes or no.

Program, whether it is yes or no. Polls taken in Indiana and Illinois indicate that Farm Bureau member farmers were highest in opposing compulsion in farm control programs, with those who are members of no farm organization being next. Farmers Union and NFO members indicated support of compulsory controls in these states.

Frank Hinkson, vice president and membership chairman of your local Farm Bureau, is beginning to make plans for organization of membership drive groups who will work in March.

It appears that a new law may be this session, making financial responsibility compulsory before an accident. We know that many people favor this type of law, and if it is passed, we hope it will be properly administered and word.

AT DEEP ROCK STATION--

Second Burglary In Six Months

Second break-in in six months of Bill Moore's Deep Rock Service Station on Highway 60 occurred sometime Sunday morning.

This time burglars got an estimated $15 in cash for their trouble. In the last break-in, which was September 12 of last year, more than $350 in cash and checks was taken.

Entrance to the building was made by breaking the window in west door of the building and then reaching in and turning the knob.

Burglars broke into the soft drink machine, cigarette machine and candy machine.

The soft drink machine was most heavily damaged of the three.

Billy Don Read, who is in charge of the station while Moore is away on vacation, estimated that $10 was taken from the soft drink container, $3 from the candy machine and $2 from the cigarette vending machine.

The break-in was discovered about 8 a.m. Sunday when J.W. Wright, who was to operate the station that day, opened it for business.

The burglars ransacked inside of the building in search of more money, Read said.

The break-in was investigated by Sheriff Chas. Lovelace and Deputy Henry Minter.

Minter said the break-in occurred sometime between midnight and the time it was discovered. "I worked until a little after 12 and everything was in order then," he said.

State FU President Talks Here

Jay Naman, state president of Farmers Union, spoke at a breakfast meeting to members of Parmer County F.U. members Wednesday morning of last week in Bovina Restaurant.

Naman included Parmer County in a series of talks he made throughout the area last week on farm income.

His talk centered around the importance of farmers voting in favor of forthcoming wheat referendum.

"The county will have 2.3 billion dollars in wheat income with the program as compared with 1.7 million without it," the Farmer Union leader told his listeners.

Naman said that failure of the referendum to pass would: "Wreck the cattle market" because acres which are now being planted to wheat would be planted to animal feed which would then cheapen this feed and force the cattle market down;

"Increase government cost of wheat storage;" and "Jeopardize the stability of wheat income for all time to come."

Those present also discussed the membership drive for Farmers Union in Parmer County.
