WPMC Nurses Commended At Inspection

"It had been eighteen long months since our last inspection," said Trina Wilson, RN, Director of Nursing at West Plains Medical Center. "The nurses knew there were three things in life they could count on: Death, Taxes, and the yearly Medicare Inspection. The long overdue inspection finally took place on June 17-18."

Mrs. Wilson said all the work of cleaning, audits, monitoring of patient care, and form changes paid off.

According to Mrs. Faye Ross RN, Medicare Inspector, West Plains Medical Center is a hospital and has a nursing staff that the entire community can be proud of.

Mrs. Ross gave nursing service high marks in the areas of cleanliness, organization, actual patient care given, infection control and completeness of nursing procedure manuals.

Her recommendations were few, but included Registered Nurses for the specialty areas of Operating Room and Obstetrical Department.

However, it should be noted that for some time now, Mrs. Wilson RN, the Director of Nursing Service, and Mrs. Pat

It's going to be a 'big' celebration once again -- when folks flock into Muleshoe for the annual July 4th festivities on Thursday.

Actually, activities officially kick off on Wednesday, July 3, with the annual Miniature Golf Tournament at the Mule Putt Golf Course at 7:30 p.m.

The tournament is for individuals, with an entry fee of $5. Three games will be played with the low score determining the winner. In case of a tie, there will be a 'sudden death' playoff.

Events will get started early with the ever-popular 10-K and two mile run. Registration starts at KMUL Radio Station, on the parking lot, at 7 a.m. with the race scheduled to begin at 8 a.m.

This will be followed at 8:30 a.m. behind the Ben Franklin store where registration for the World's Championship Mule Shoe Pitching starts. The pitching contest will begin at 9 a.m. and is expected to have some of the best mule shoe pitchers in this part of the country involved.

At 10 a.m. the Bailey County Civic Center will open to the public, with booths and entertainment inside, and kid's activities behind the Civic Center.

Alpha Zeta Pi and the Jenny-slippers are sponsoring the annual Kid's Day, which is open to all children, ages 3-12.

Scheduled are at 10 a.m. - 3-5 year olds, small bike race, hot wheels race and balloon break; 10:45 a.m. - 6-8 year olds, bike race, shoe race, sack race, potato race, and balloon break; winding up with the events for the 9-12 year olds at 11:30 a.m., including, bike race, shoe race, sack race, potato race and balloon break.

A spokeswoman said, "Every kid is urged to bring their bikes and fast feet to the coliseum Thursday and enjoy the outdoor fun and sun."

Entertainment during the day at the Coliseum will include square dancers at 10 a.m.; Muleshoe Gymnastics at 11 a.m.; Karate at 12 noon, and Kelley's Tumblers at 1 p.m.

Winding up activities at 2 p.m. at the Bailey County Civic Center will be the annual Old Settler's Reunion. Several awards will be given during the afternoon and a short business meeting will be held, with refreshments to be served. Providing entertainment for the Old Settler's Reunion will be the ever-popular Anchor Brothers Band from Sudan.

All eyes will be focused on Main Street and South First Street at 5 p.m. for the 'Freedom Parade.' The parade will line up at the Boy Scout grounds on South Main Street, travel down Main Street to Avenue B; double back on Avenue B to South First Street and travel south down First Street back to the Boy Scout grounds.

From the parade, the activities will move to the New City Park on West Avenue D, for an evening of food, visiting and entertainment, topped off by the fireworks around 10 p.m., to be 'shot off' by the Muleshoe Fire Department.

Entertainment during the evening will be The Cliff Allen group, 6-7 p.m.; Chubby Ray and the Comancheros, 7-8 p.m.; The Gospel Notes, 8-9 p.m. with the Anchor Brothers Band winding up the entertainment from 9-10 p.m. Other entertainment also may be scheduled, along with the awarding of prizes.

For the 6 p.m. barbecue, it should be noted, barbecue in the park has become an annual event for the folks on July 4th, thanks largely to a group of Bailey County 4-H'ers.

Each year, the Bailey County 4-H Exchange Group serves a complete barbecue meal to those attending the July 4th activities and festivities in the New City Park. The barbecue kicks off an evening of musical entertainment and fireworks.

This year, a plate will cost $4.50 which includes barbecue, potato salad, bread, pickles, peppers, onions, beans, iced tea or lemonade and all the other things that go well with barbecue.

Tickets will not be sold prior to the 4th, so everyone is invited by the 4-H to come to the park and buy a plate of barbecue.

Proceeds from the meal will be used for sending senior 4-H members on a 4-H Interstate Cultural Exchange. Local 4-H members will travel to Kissimmee, Fla. and stay with families there who are involved with 4-H. While there, the 4-H group will learn about how Floridians live their daily lives,

Bible Classes Are Scheduled At Lazbuddie

A program of disciplined Bible study for laymen, emphasizing "knowing what the Bible says as a basis for what it means" begins as The New Testament Study on July 10, at Lazbuddie United Methodist Church.

"We believe the time is right for a systematic and thorough Bible study for our churches," said Dr. Frank Warden, author of the new program. "There are excellent studies now, but these are usually books and portions of the Bible.

"Trinity Bible Studies gives a frame of reference and a total Biblical point of view. For more than five years, we studied the methods offering this kind of perspective on the whole Bible, and Trinity Bible Studies is the result. It has now grown to more than 120,000 students from Korea to India."

The Lazbuddie pastor, Les Burrus, commented, "The plan of the course looks toward ten semesters, each ten weeks in length. We will begin the second course of the New Testament Survey, following will be depth studies of every word of the Bible.

"Not intended as 'mere devotional or occasional' material, these studies call for a disciplined commitment. The student is expected to attend weekly classes, complete daily assignments and prepare for BIBLE VERSE examinations. However, the approach is neither heavy nor scholastic. Unique visual learning aids, cartoons, and memory techniques present abstract Biblical concepts in memorable form. The Hebrews knew how to use visual aids -- they are scattered throughout the Bible. We believe these are in good taste, and they will fix the important personalities and events in the mind."

The course begins July 10, and is open to any interested person, reminded the minister. The registration fee of $7.50 may be paid at the first class session, and you are asked to sign up by July 5. For more information, contact the minister, Les Burrus at 965-2121.

Hunting Licenses

Cost Increased

Resident and non-resident Texas hunting licenses will cost more in 1985-86 as a result of action by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission last week.

Commission Chairman Ed Cox Jr. said the commission members all regretted having to raise license fees, but additional revenue is required to maintain Parks and Wildlife Department functions during the coming year.

The most dramatic increases were for nonresident hunting licenses, with the general non-resident license price raised from $100.75 to $200 and the nonresident small game license from the current $37.75 to $75.

Staff members told the commission that the increased fees bring the cost of Texas non-resident licenses more in line with those in other states, and especially those states which provide the bulk of hunters visiting Texas.

All the increases will be effective Sept. 1, 1985. Licenses for the 1985-86 seasons will be

Social Security News & Views

UPDATE EARNINGS REPORT

People getting Social Security benefits who made a report of their estimated earnings for 1985 early in the year should be sure to report any changes in their estimate that has taken place since the report was filed. Or, if they did not make a report because they did not expect to earn over the annual earnings limit but their circumstances have changed, they should also report this to the Social Security office.

The monthly benefits of working people are based on their estimate of earnings reported on their annual earnings report to Social Security, due by April 15 of each year. Failure to report expected earnings over the limit could result in an over payment. The law states that overpayments must be repaid either through deductions from future checks or through refunds.

In 1985, the earnings limits are $7,320 for people 65 through 69 and $5,400 for people under 65. People 70 and over during all of 1985 are not affected by the earnings test.

Failure to report changes in earnings is one of the major causes of overpayments.

Letters will go out next month to people in target groups most likely to be overpaid because of excess earnings. The letters ask people to update their estimates of 1985 earnings, if necessary, to avoid overpayment problems.

Twentieth Season

In the 1985 "Texas" production, when the rider with the Texas flag looks down from the rim of the magnificent gash--the Palo Duro Canyon--to the audience seated in the Pioneer Amphitheatre 600 feet below--he sees new sets, new costumes, a new road and a new train.

It was reported that 9,563 people have seen the 20th season of this show in the first eight days.

"As always, there is a gift for the person traveling the greatest distance to attend. It is a small triangle like those which call the cowboys to eat. It was received by Paula Taylor of Australia; Vanitha Rozario from West Malaysia, John Shum of Hong Kong, Father Hugo Bohoja from Bogata, Columbia; Ann Laubert from West Germany, Lisa Loubin from Vienna, Austria; Eric Ryan from Cape Town, South Africa; and Johanna Tackli from Aalidrii, Switzerland.

"Sixth seven groups attended during these days. They included the US Country Express Band from Nashville which played in the patio two nights; the Reese Air Force Honor Guard which helped with the ceremonies on opening night; and such tours as the Dixie Gad-Abouts, the Carefree Tours, Travel is Fun, Buckeye, Ramblers, Good Sam and Dripping Springs. As well as coming from Texas, they originated in Arizona, Alabama, Georgia, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Kansas, Florida, Ohio, Louisiana, New Jersey, Maine and Tennessee."

Reserved seats are available on week days, usually and even when these are gone, cancellations and 300 spaces on the concrete steps are never sold in advance.

Advance reservations are recommended, but you may still sign up for cancellations at 6 p.m.

"Texas" runs nightly except Sundays at 8:30 p.m. June 12 through August 24. For tickets call 806-655-2181 or write Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

Hospital Staff Enjoys Picnic Last Weekend

West Plains Medical Center's employees and their families got together last weekend for a 'day in the park' and a picnic.

They played games, ate and enjoyed the music as played by Cliff Allen of Muleshoe; along with several musicians from area towns, including Bert and Nora Davis, Houston and Evelee Reed and Weldon Petty.

Volleyball provided a lot of action for many of the employees and administrative staff of the hospital, including Administrator Fred Johnson, who was the subject of one of the pictures reproduced here.

Children of the employees also enjoyed an afternoon of games and visiting with each other.

In an effort to become a closer knit group, West Plains Medical Center will be scheduling future activities for all the employees.

Congressman Against Plan On Post Offices

"The U.S. Post Offices in our communities are much more than just places where stamps are sold and mail is delivered," stated U.S. Congressman Larry Combest. "In a very real sense, the post office is the center of a community, its one central link to the rest of the world. This is especially true in smaller towns without mail delivery service.

How many of us have stopped by the post office -- even though we were not expecting any important mail -- just to see what may have come in? Here we gather with our neighbors to draw on a sense of community identity that goes far beyond the local ZIP code."

He added, "It is understandable why a community would work actively to prevent its post office from being closed, even if such a move was made in the name of governmental efficiency. In recent weeks, I have heard from many such concerned 19th District residents who fear that such a fate may befall their hometown post office.

"This widespread concern has been largely generated by the President's Private Sector Study on Cost Control in Government -- more commonly known as the Grace Commission. In order to achieve cost savings, the Commission has recommended closing 12,000 so-called "unprofitable" postal facilities.

Fortunately, continued Combest, the Grace Commission's proposal runs counter to existing federal law. Without an act of Congress -- which is highly unlikely -- this recommendation will never be implemented. The policy set forth by Congress in the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970 clearly states that the department is obligated "to provide services to bind the nation together..."

Congressman Combest also said, "The law also states that no small post office can be closed "solely for operating at a deficit, it being the specific intent of the Congress that effective postal services be insured to residents of both urban and rural communities."

"I am strongly committed to maintaining postal facilities in each community in rural America. Should Congress ever attempt to address this issue on the House floor, I will work actively toward preserving our rural post offices," he concluded.

Fireworks-Related Injuries: Another July 4th Tradition?

Parades, picnics and fireworks displays are all July Fourth tradition enjoyed by most Americans. Another, often overlooked tradition, comes in the after math of the holiday—those news reports about people blinded, maimed or killed by fireworks related injuries.

The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness, reports that in 1984, fireworks-related injuries rose 19 percent over the previous year. An estimated 9,857 people required hospital emergency room treatment last year, 1,255 of them having sustained eye injuries.

"Fireworks are not toys," cautions Dr. J Franklin Howell, Medical Advisor of the Amarillo Branch. "Yet, 74 percent of all those people injured last year were under age 24. Without doubt, we need to keep fireworks out of the hands of young people."

In a recent study conducted by Arkansas ophthalmologists, bottle rockets were found to be a leading cause of fireworks related injuries their.

The study revealed that nearly three-fourths of all injuries resulting in permanent vision loss were sustained by people harmed by bottle rockets.

"Small, but lethal, a bottle rocket is a single firecracker attached to a stick, and shot from a stationary object. Usually the suggested object is a pipe. However, more often than not, people use soda-pop bottles," says Dr. Howell.

According to the National Society to Prevent Blindness, these bottles can explode. Glass shrapnel thrown during the explosion can strike the face and eyes of bystanders, often causing severe, painful and irreversibly blinding injuries.

Among the other commonly available fireworks involved in injuries are firecrackers, M-80s, Roman candles, salutes and snakes. Even sparklers are unsafe. The Society says that a blinding burn can result if the sparkler makes contact with the eye.

"We recommend that people enjoy fireworks the one safe and same way this July Fourth," Dr. Howell adds. "That is, view them at a licensed public display. Not on a street corner or in the backyard."

Established in 1908, the National Society to Prevent Blindness is the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness through a comprehensive program of community services, public and professional education and research.

Down on the FARM

WATCH UP FOR POWER LINES

Power lines can be dangerous.

Touching irrigation pipe to a power line can divert the electricity through the pipe . . . and to anyone in contact with it. In this part of the country, this is the leading cause of farm injuries and deaths in electricity-related accidents. Any equipment of unusual height represents a potential danger. Lift arms on field equipment, combine auger spouts and even radio antennas can cause serious injury or death if they, and you, make contact with a power line.

Keep an eye up for power lines. Watch up, for safety's sake.

New Farm Chief Calls On Farmers For Activism

The new president of the Texas Farmers Union called today for 'energy and activism' on the part of Texas farmers as the 1985 Farm Bill discussions begin to heat up in Washington, D.C.

Joe Rankin, long-time TFU vice-president, and the successor to Mike Moeller, the former TFU president, spoke of the challenges facing Texas farmers as the nation's food and fiber legislation is written in Congress this year. Rankin had just returned from a meeting of Farmer Union presidents from across the nation, and Farm bill talk was the dominating theme.

"Texas is the second largest state in terms of agricultural production in the Union, and we have the chairman of the powerful House Agricultural Committee, Kika de la Garza, from here in our own state," says Rankin.

"Yet farmers here in Texas aren't identifying the need to become active in working their Congressman, or calling their Senator, or even writing the President on farm issues. The legislation that is being written right now in Washington is law that might carry us on until 1999. If farmers aren't involved in the process of writing that law, then that type of 15 year Farm Bill ought to be scary."

Our elected officials are going to determine for us what principals and objectives that we farmers are going to work under for at least four years, and possibly longer. The Texas Farmers Union advises farmers and ranchers to reach down and find some energy and activism, and go out and get their hands dirty in farm policy, since it is likely that that is the only way to have a say over what your future is in farming, and your children's future."

Policy positions formulated at the Denver meeting of the twenty-plus Farmers Union chief were:

--Adamant opposition to the so-called moving of commodity prices to determine future farm price supports.

--Support of a proposal now being entertained in Washington to establish an Agricultural Conservation Corporation to purchase farmland and keep land prices from further bottoming out.

--Any new farm program must have as its primary focus the return of profitability to agriculture, so that farmers and ranchers can maintain their operations, pay their debts, and consequently revitalize the struggling rural American economy.

Texas Sorghum Board Pushes Its Grain Sales

More Texas grain sorghum will soon be shipped to South America if Sheldon Shelton has his way. Shelton is a grain sorghum, cotton and pork producer who lives at Lamesa, Texas. Since 1983, he has served as a director of Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, a grain sorghum check-off program of the High Plains.

Shelton will spend two weeks in the South American continent as a member of a team working to promote sales of U.S. sorghum. The countries which currently offer the best potential for increased sorghum sales are Venezuela, Colombia and Peru. Shelton will deal "farmer-to-farmer" with pork and other livestock producers, telling them of his success in feeding grain sorghum.

The team is headed by Elbert Harp, Executive Director of Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board and the National Grain Sorghum Producers Association (GSPA). Other members of the team are Dr. Tom Sullivan, a poultry nutritionist from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln and Dr. Erick Erickson, Latin American Director of U.S. Feed Grains Council (USFGC). The mission is sponsored by GSPA and USFGC and is financed by Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board and the statewide grain sorghum check-off programs of Nebraska and Kansas.

Dr. Erickson reports that, "Sorghum is not taken seriously as a feed grain in Peru. As a result, the current government import levy system imposes a different, and much higher, duty on sorghum than on corn. This inequity effectively defeats any price differentials which might make sorghum competitive." The team will discuss this inequity when meeting with Peruvian government officials.

"There is also a lack of understanding of the yellow vs. brown (bird resistant) types of sorghum," Erickson said. Plans will be developed by the team to conduct some feeding trials for both poultry and swine in late 1985 to establish the nutritional and economic value of sorghum. Results of these trials could be used to adjust the current levy system once Peruvian livestock producers become interested in feeding sorghum.

Venezuela is already a major customer of U.S. sorghum, buying 250 thousand tons annually from the U.S. but the Venezuelan livestock industry is growing rapidly and it is believed that the potential market is much greater.

Colombia buys small amounts of sorghum but there, also, the people's demand for more meat, milk and eggs is pushing the livestock industry into rapid growth. Increased livestock production, of course, means greater demand for imported grain.

The team will conduct seminars for livestock producers and feed manufacturer's and hold meetings with key government, livestock and grain trade personnel. Technical information will be given on nutritional values of sorghum and its proper use. The team will also explain the U.S. sorghum marketing system and how to buy by U.S. grades. The schedule has been arranged by the USFGC office in Caracas, Venezuela.

Shelton is enthusiastic about the potential for bigger and more stable markets. "We know sales of U. S. sorghum can be put the right people in the right places at the right time. TGSPB has been doing a good job but our work is limited to the resources of the grain sorghum checkoff of 29 countries. We just can't do an adequate job

Offshore platforms could support sport-fishing industry

COLLEGE STATION — Obsolete offshore oil platforms in the Gulf of Mexico and along the west coast could provide the foundation for a lucrative sport-fishing industry, says a recreation and parks expert.

Rather than scrap the huge rigs, Dr. Robert Ditton of Texas A&M University suggests leaving some of the structures in the ocean because they act as artificial reefs which attract a variety of fish.

"Fifteen to 30 years ago the fish we've distributed all over the Gulf of Mexico. Then the oil and gas industries came in and built these vertical steel columns which attracted the fish that attracted the commercial fishermen and spurred the development of a recreational fishery," Ditton said. "Now we're at the point of wondering what's going to happen when these platforms are removed offshore Galveston, for example."

Ditton, who serves on a National Academy of Science panel looking into a variety of alternatives for disposing of the platforms, said there is considerable interest in retaining some of the structures for fishery enhancement purposes.

without the support of all producers."

Shelton went on to explain that Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board is sponsoring a referendum during the first half of August to expand the sorghum promotion activities. Sorghum farmers throughout Texas, for the first time, will have the opportunity to vote to support grain sorghum market development, research and education through a uniform checkoff program. The referendum, if passed, will allow the farmer-elected board of directors to deduct up to one cent per hundred pounds of grain for sorghum promotion. Farmers who do not wish to participate will request and promptly receive a refund.

"Sorghum promotion is the responsibility of producers," Shelton concluded. "Unless we work to sell our crops, it won't be done. A one cent per hundred weight checkoff is a small investment when our future depends on it."

Number One Killer
Lung cancer is the number one cause of cancer death among men. The American Cancer Society reports that there has been a 400 percent increase in women's lung cancer deaths in the past 30 years. By the late 1980's, lung cancer is expected to surpass breast cancer as the number one killer among women.

Cotton's Market Share Holding Firm; Strong

COTTON'S MARKET SHARE HOLDS FIRM: Cotton's share of the U.S. apparel market held firm at 38 percent in 1984, according to the National Cotton Council.

James T. Howell, the Council's senior market analyst, said apparel continued to be the major end-use for cotton, accounting for almost 56.6 percent of its total consumption.

He attributed cotton's continuing strength in apparel to the increasing number of items that are made from either 100 percent cotton or from blends that are predominately cotton.

"Had it not been for serious drops in denim and corduroy jean production—major markets for all-cotton and cotton-rich blends—cotton likely would have made a competitive gain in apparel," Howell said.

Despite the decline in jean production, the men's and boy's slacks and jeans category again was cotton's No. 1 end-use. It consumed some 811,000 bales.

Other major apparel end-uses included men's and boy's shirts -- 615,000 bales; women's slacks and jeans -- 356,000; men's and boy's underwear -- 311,000; and women's blouses and shirts -- 168,000.

Over-all, cotton's competitive share of total fiber consumption was 25 percent, a decline of one percentage point from 1983. Last year's total U.S. consumption of cotton in all major end-uses was 5.90 million bales compared with 5.91 million in 1983 and 5.30 million in 1982.

Howell said the decline was not totally unexpected due to anticipated gains in home furnishings and industrial sectors

-- categories in which cotton is weakest competitively. Preliminary data indicate total fiber volume increased about 2 percent in home furnishings and 7 percent in industrial uses while apparel uses dropped about 1 percent.

In the home furnishings sector, which accounted for 30.9 percent of cotton consumption, towels were the main cotton-consuming product. They used some 690,000 bales -- the second highest over-all.

Other major home furnishings uses for cotton were sheets -- 375,000 bales; drapery, upholstery, and slipcover fabrics -- 305,000; and retail piecegoods -- 141,000.

Industrial uses accounted for 12.5 percent of cotton usage, with the major end-use being medical supplies which consumed 166,000 bales.

Traumatic stress reactions seen among veterans of World War II, Korea

TEMPLE — Post-traumatic stress syndrome, especially among older veterans of World War II and Korea, is more common than previously believed, says a psychiatrist with the Texas A&M University College of Medicine.

Traumatic stress reactions later in life may be brought on by pressures unrelated to war — among them the loss of a loved one or the sudden inability to work due to a heart attack — explained Dr. Merrill Lipton.

Hard work often was a safety valve for tension built up by reliving wartime experiences in the mind, said Lipton, co-founder of a three-year-old therapy program for veterans and ex-POWs at Teague Veterans Center, where Lipton is a staff physician.

Lipton and Teague Center social worker Dr. William Schaffer, feel their therapy program has been a tremendous success, but they believe the stories told by their clients indicate post-traumatic stress disorder occurs in many more people than previously suspected.

"Many of the individuals we have seen had been POWs. Most had raised families and were successful in business or professions until symptoms intervened in recent years," he said.

An effective part of the treatment for group members — the majority of which are in their 50s and 60s — has been discussions of recurring wartime memories, said Lipton. Clients feel they have worked out their problems with peers "who have been there."

Group members obtain varying degrees of relief from nightmares, irritability, anxiety and depression while usually improving relations with their own families and friends, he explained.
