Calmness Needed

Some misunderstanding and ill-feelings are likely to result from the cantaloupe shed question. These dissensions should not be allowed to develop.

The complex workings of zoning and planning commission and city commission will surely be based on decisions members of both groups consider fair. None of the board members has a direct interest in whether the shed is allowed to operate in the restricted zone.

On the other hand, residents of the area where the proposed industry would operate temporarily have reasons for not wanting the city to allow the cantaloupe packers to skip zoning regulations.

The situation presents itself in a way that will require both sides to make concessions if the issue is to be worked out so that neither side will be injured by the decision.

Foremost among the points everyone involved should keep in mind is that personalities are not important and the issue is not so important that good will among citizens should be sacrificed.

Small town governments have a tendency to operate on an informal level which leaves room for misunderstandings because their business isn't recorded word for word so that misconceptions about the order of business are given opportunity to develop.

Three sides stand in the controversy--not necessarily opposite each other. The cantaloupe firm, residents of the area around the proposed site and City of Bovina all stand to lose from an unwise decision. But with calmness dominating, neither side need give up more than the others.

Safety Week

We are in the midst of Farm Safety Week being observed across Texas and the nation.

The special week is set aside by the governor and president to emphasize a safety education program that should reduce the alarming rate of farm accidents.

One doesn't have to look far to see the effects of a farm accident. A limb missing here, fingers gone there and an occasional tombstone tell what farm mishaps have done.

Farmers are not a careless breed. They are pressured into taking careless chances because of the pressure placed on them by their complete reliance on good nature of the elements.

They aren't on a strict production schedule as factory personnel are.

It is difficult for a farmer to remember and observe all safety rules when the grain is ripe and a storm is brewing. But perhaps continued observance of safety week will impress safety so deeply into the subconsciousness of farmers that numerous mishaps will be prevented.

Each night a special music program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Bedford Caldwell, music director of the church.

Rev. Edens singled out the men's breakfast sessions as especially successful. Dr. Bratcher preached at each session.

Yields have been figured on wheat demonstrations which will be a special interest to farmers who farm wheat on sandy soil in Farmer County. The reports on Cecil Winegeart and Walter Kaltwasser were figured in my office. The results from Mr. Kepy and Leon Billingsley were figured by them and reported to me.

The purpose of these demonstrations was to determine the value of phosphate applied to winter wheat on sandy land in Farmer County when all other farming practices were the same with exception of the phosphate. The cost of net P as reported here is about 10¢ per pound.

Attention, farmers and ranchers: The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council warns that machinery, drowning, firearms and falls are the leading causes of death on farmland and around the farm buildings. About 3,500 persons die in needless farm and ranch accidents each year. Don't be an accident statistic! Practice safety not only during National Farm Safety Week.

The use of 2-4D for weed control is recommended only when weeds cannot be controlled through cultivation. Sorghum is most tolerant to 2-4D when 6 to 12 inches tall. Severe injuries may occur from treatments applied to sorghum when the plants are less than 8 inches high and also during the advanced stages of growth, particularly in the bloom stage.

The sorghum root system sometimes does not develop properly when plants are sprayed with 2-4D and more lodging may occur. Keep in mind the Pure Food and Drug Administration has set a "zero" tolerance for hormone type herbicides on grain sorghum.

4-H Camp will be held August 1-2-3 and 4. We always need leaders to help out and everyone is invited to go along. We will need 4 or 5 pickups to haul boys and several tents and tarps to keep us partly dry while in the mountains.

Family discord often is due to failure of all family members to agree on financial practices, according to Mrs. Elsie Short, extension home management specialist of the Texas A&M College System. The effective operation of any family as a unit is influenced in part by the kinds of arrangements it makes to handle financial matters and by the attitudes of family members toward those arrangements. Close family relationships can be developed when there is mutual understanding and agreement in regard to the use of money.

Planning income, expenses, and family goals and making the plans work may not be an easy assignment at first. But families who have earnestly worked at it for several years say it strengthens family life, provides good training for the children and helps to save money, energy and time.

"Money--Family Style," an extension bulletin, gives practical suggestions for managing family income... Copies are available from your county extension agent's office.

Does work in your kitchen tire you? If so, why not check your storage arrangement for equipment and supplies. Convenient storage can save you lots of time and energy, reminds Charlotte Tompkins, extension home management specialist of the Texas A & M College System. Plan for the best use of space inside your kitchen cupboards. Here are suggestions offered by the specialist.

Get rid of (or store some other place) all utensils and supplies you are not using. Store utensils, dishes and supplies at places where you first use them. Store together the things you use together. Use the easy-to-reach and easy-to-see spaces for things you use most often. Place utensils, dishes, cutlery and food supplies so that moving one to get another is unnecessary. Put only like kinds of things in front of each other on a shelf. Stack together only things of the same size and kind. Plan to keep on the same

Cantaloupes Late But Looking Good

Cantaloupes in the Bovina area will be about three weeks late this year, but the crop is looking good, says Otto Ables of Salt River Valley Produce Co.

Work was progressing this week on a second packing shed in Bovina. The new shed will be operated by the Salt River Valley company, which has 300 acres of cantaloupes contracted in the area.

"We did have 500 acres of cantaloupes here, but 200 of them were destroyed by hail," Ables says.

In all, there are about 700 acres of cantaloupes in the Bovina area which will be handled by Salt River Valley Produce and Gateway Produce. Gateway has been operating in Bovina for the past three years. The harvest should get underway around August 10, and it will last for about six weeks.

Just what the market will bring, no one knows for sure. In the growing of cantaloupes, like all other vegetables in this area, the market is unpredictable. "Right now it is pretty good, but we don't know what it will be by the time harvest rolls around," Ables says.

Both the growers and packing shed operators this week were hopeful for a good yield, which it is certain to be, provided hail doesn't strike and ruin the crop.

When the harvest does get under way, there will be much activity at Bovina's two shed. From 70 to 80 workers will be operating the sheds and nearly 200 workers will be in the fields picking the cantaloupes.

CHECKING OUT SOME CANTALOUPEs on the Gene Ezell farm southeast of Bovina is Otto Ables of Salt River Valley Produce Co. Due to the heavy rains this month, the cantaloupes are several weeks late, but the crop is looking good.

Miss Wainscott Resigns From HD Agent's Post

Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Farmer County Home Demonstration Agent for the past four years, has resigned to accept a similar position in Hidalgo County.

Her resignation was accepted by the Farmer County Commissioners Court Monday morning and it will be effective September 1.

During her stay here, Miss Wainscott has helped to expand the activities of the county's home demonstration clubs and the girls 4-H clubs.

Last year she was one of the five home demonstration agents in Texas to receive a distinguished service award from the National Home Demonstration Agent's Association.

The move will be a step up the ladder for Miss Wainscott, who came to Farmer County in April, 1956. Hidalgo County is considerably larger than Farmer and the county seat is Edinburg.

There will be no immediate replacement for Miss Wainscott here, says Edith Lois Wilson, district agent at Amarillo. "But, we hope to have one soon," she says. In leaving Farmer County, Miss Wainscott says "It was a hard decision to make. I have enjoyed my stay here and I do regret leaving."

"However, it is a promotion for me and I do feel like the move will be best," she adds.

Mixed Vegetables Total 200 Acres in Bovina Area

In addition to cantaloupes, 200 acres of mixed vegetables are being grown in the Bovina area this year for the first time.

Located on the farm of Arlin Hartzog, four miles southwest of Bovina, there are 14 varieties of vegetables being grown by Gateway Produce Co. Gateway has the land rented from Hartzog and will take the risk this year in hopes that a successful harvest will convince other farmers that this is a suitable section for growing vegetables.

So far, the vegetables have been doing okay and harvest should start within the next month.

Here's a breakdown on the type of vegetables being grown and the number of acres: Cab' ge 30, bell peppers 35, broc. 15, okra 4, eggplant 3, green onions 5, parsley 3, cucumbers 65, mustard 4, turnips 4, beets 3, and squash 5.

Pat McGhee, who is in charge of the project, says, "The only thing really bad about the vegetable situation in Farmer County is the hail." "However, the growing season here is long enough for a real successful vegetable growing set-up," he says.

McGhee says it costs about $200 per acre to put in most of the vegetables.

Gateway Produce Co. has operated a vegetable packing shed for cantaloupes in Bovina for the last three years. The firm, owned by Charles Flynn, plans to process these new vegetables in the shed this year.

FOURTEEN VARIETIES OF VEGETABLES are being grown this year on the Arlin Hartzog farm near Bovina. Looking at a cabbage plant is Charles Flynn, owner of Gateway Produce Company, the firm which will process the 200 acres of mixed vegetables.

County Farmers Agree On Quotas

Farmer County farmers went along with the wheat producers from all over the nation last week in voting for marketing quotas on the 1961 crop.

Only about a third of the eligible voters cast ballots in the county, but those who did were in favor of continuing the program by an 83 per cent majority. There were 280 farmers voting for the quotas and 35 voting against. Here's the breakdown at the six polling places in the county.

Friona, 130-5; Rhea, 18-2; Farwell, 27-11; Oklahoma Lane, 27-6; Bovina, 41-2; and Lazbuddie, 37-9. The price support of next year's wheat will be not less than 75 per cent of parity.

Texas far outranked other states in cash receipts from farm marketings of cotton, rice and grain sorghum in 1959, reports Extension Economist John McHaney. Cotton brought in about a third of the total agricultural receipts.

A successful fly control program for the farm should include sanitation as well as the use of chemicals. Breeding and collecting places should be eliminated or made unattractive to flies and the use of chemicals should include starting and keeping a spray schedule going as long as it is needed. Local county extension agents can provide information on fly control programs.

Charcoal Rot Important Sorghum, Corn Disease

Charcoal rot is a common disease of grain sorghum and corn in most areas. The fungus, in many cases, causes them to lodge. Stalks are soft and discolored at the base with the pith disintegrated and shredded. Small pin-point, blackish, seed bodies (sclerotia) may be among the shredded pith. Other crops affected by the disease are alfalfa, cotton, lespedeza, sugar beets, sweet-potatoes, watermelons, sunflowers, peppers, cowpeas (southern peas), beans and peas.

ripen and dry early. Weakening of the stalks by the fungus, in many cases, causes them to lodge. Stalks are soft and discolored at the base with the pith disintegrated and shredded. Small pin-point, blackish, seed bodies (sclerotia) may be among the shredded pith. Other crops affected by the disease are alfalfa, cotton, lespedeza, sugar beets, sweet-potatoes, watermelons, sunflowers, peppers, cowpeas (southern peas), beans and peas.

Crops that have their seedling stages and those that mature in cool or rainy weather are not damaged seriously. Abundant moisture from rain or irrigation water in the latter part of the growing season practically controls the stem rot form. Crops appear to resist the disease in their period of growth when they have high vigor. Work is under way in an effort to develop resistant hybrids. Contact your extension agent for additional information. Ask for a copy of B-912, "Grain Sorghum Production in Texas" or B-712 "Charcoal Rot of Plants in East Texas."

ONIONS ARE ANOTHER VEGETABLE CROP which has been grown in Parmer County for the past several years. Farmers who have tried to produce the crop have had their ups and downs, but, as shown in this picture, the Parmer County area can produce some nice looking ones.

Machinery, drowning, firearms and falls are the leading causes of death on farmland and around farm buildings. Greatest number of accidents caused by tractors overturning occur while the tractors are being operated on level ground. Age group having the greatest number of fatalities from accidents on farmland and around farm buildings is 5-14 years. Theme of the 17th annual National Farm Safety Week is "Enjoy Farm Life--Practice Safety." There are more than four times as many accidental deaths in farming than in manufacturing. Accidents in the farm home kill more than 2,700 and injure nearly 400,000 farm residents each year. Today's farms are becoming more like small industrial plants and they have some of the same safety needs.

Two important factors point toward higher potential profits for commercial hog producers during the months ahead. They are, according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, more favorable prices for pork and abundant supplies of grain. But, he warns that important management considerations must be met if full advantage is to be taken of these favorable factors.

OPEN POWER SHAFTS are a major threat to farm safety. Above, notice how open the shaft is between the power take-off and the shredder. Below, an implement has been attached to a tractor in a similar manner, except that the dangerous shaft is covered. Irrigation well drive shafts are similarly hazardous.

Most of us balk when we see or hear any kind of list of do's and don'ts regarding our daily lives. We consider our beliefs about living our personal property, and we resent outsiders telling us how to live. "It's none of their business!" we complain.

Yet consider for a moment the number of strangers whose advice we listen to each day: bankers, doctors, machinery experts, newspaper columnists, lawyers, radio announcers—the list could go on forever. We're bombarded by advice all day long from a variety of experts.

According to President Eisenhower, who proclaimed July 24-30 as National Farm Safety Week, accidents, in addition to draining our nation's financial resources, "bring death, disability, suffering and hardship to thousands of farm people annually." Safety habits, therefore, are vitally needed if there are to be fewer deaths and injuries, less expense, grief and suffering on the farm and a prosperous national economy.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, which is pushing a farm safety education campaign in Texas, tells us that farm life can be enjoyed by practicing safety each day. The Council asks farmers and ranchers to check their home electric and heating systems, to check and repair equipment, to keep children away from machinery and livestock. It warns against falls, resulting from hurry and unsafe ladders. The farmer or rancher is cautioned to make sure all farm equipment is operating safely and to stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them.

This is good advice, not only during Farm Safety Week, but the other 51 weeks of the year, too!

Farm Safety Week Is Nation-Wide

Governor Price Daniel by proclamation has designated the week of July 24-30 as Farm Safety Week in Texas. This same period has also been designated as National Farm Safety Week by the President of the United States.

In his proclamation, Governor Daniel said: "The Nation's economy is dependent upon the continued well-being and progress of our State's agricultural population. Accidents from farm work cause needless suffering, distress and loss of life each year among our rural families.

our rural residents to safety education, such worthwhile programs now being conducted can greatly reduce accidents. I urge all Texas farm families to increase their vigilance against needless accidents and further encourage interested organizations and individuals to participate in this program."

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council points out that the purpose of the special week is to focus attention on the year-round need for reducing the number of farm accidents, and to cause those who can do something about the problem, to act. The farmer and his family, says the Council, must carry safety into their everyday lives. Nationally, they add, farm accidents cost one and a quarter billion dollars annually, a sizable sum any way you take it.

The ever-tightening cost-price squeeze faced by agriculturists makes accident prevention even more important, says the Council, because a single costly accident can just about squeeze out the profits from most farm enterprises.

The Council joins Governor Daniel in urging rural residents and organizations to make safety their number one project for the months ahead.

Safety Council Speaks Out On Farm Safety

The farm pond or stock tank has become a familiar sight in Texas. These ponds are important sources of pleasure and that indispensable commodity—water.

To emphasize the seriousness of farm pond hazards, the Safety Council points to a recent nationwide tabulation of causes of farm deaths. Texas ranked sixth in the number of deaths caused by drowning. This is one "Top Ten" list, they add, that Texas should not be on.

Anyone who has a pond or tank on his land should observe, and enforce, the following safety precautions. These measures could save a lot of grief, reminds the Safety Council.

Post safety instructions for boating, swimming and skating. Mark safe swimming areas. Place lifesaving devices such as ring buoys, ropes and long poles around swimming areas.

Do not allow anyone who cannot swim to get into the water. Know accepted methods of artificial respiration.

Fence ponds so that children cannot play around pond without supervision.

Make sure that an adult supervises all recreation around pond.

each of several points in the field.

Control treatment should begin when bollworm eggs and 4 or 5 young worms are found per 100 terminals, or 5 per cent of the small squares and bolls have been injured by small boll worms.

Dust should be applied at 10 to 15 pounds per acre at 5-day intervals. Sprays should also be applied at 5 day intervals.

FLEAHOPPERS--Examine the main-stem terminal buds of 100 cotton plants at several representative points in the field.

Control treatment should begin when 15 to 35 fleahoppers (nymphs and adults) are found per 100 terminals.

Dusts and sprays are both effective in controlling this insect.

Farm Bureau Weed Committee Meets Again

Parmer County Farm Bureau Weed Committee met Monday night in the Office in Friona to extend plans for bindweed control in the county. J. T. Jones, Chairman, of Bovina, said that he is well pleased with the extensive cooperation the committee is receiving from various groups and individuals in this important program of weed control.

Santa Fe railroad officials, State Highway Maintenance officials and County and City Officials have contributed much to the success of the program. The city and community groups have just recently been approached for assistance with this year's program, and committeemen urge that all persons cooperate with them in their efforts to eliminate spread of bindweed within their limits.

Here are the proper persons to be contacted for what ever assistance is provided: Bindweed location on railroad right of ways—See your railroad station agent and give him the approximate location of the plot; Within cities, see the mayor and report location of plots to him; State and FM Highways, report to Lloyd Killough at the highway barn in Bovina; Plots on county road right of ways should be reported to commissioner's court, or your commissioner; bindweed on farm land should be reported to the ASC Office Manager, Prentice Mills, in Farwell.

When reports are made to these various places and people, you will be instructed as to further action that you may need to take. In Friona, the Friona State Bank has agreed to furnish the sodium chlorate and work with city employees and interested townspeople in clearing up field bindweed within the city. Other cities are expected to announce methods of assistance too, according to Chmn. Jones. Attending the meeting Monday night were: J. T. Jones, Vernon Symcox, Jack Patterson, R. D. Dale, Joe Jesko, Herman Gerles, Bob Crozier, Prentice Mills, Joe Jones, Roy Crawford, and Bill Bolling.

Watch For Insects

Parmer County farmers were advised this week by County Agent Joe Jones to start checking their cotton for boll worms and fleahoppers. "I checked several fields of cotton last week and found very few harmful insects," Jones says. "But this is the time of year when the cotton bollworm usually begins showing up, so farmers should keep a close watch on the cotton for the fleahopper and boll worm," he says. Inspection of cotton fields three times a week should give a good picture of any insect build up that might be taking place, the county agent explains. Here's the way to check for these insects: BOLL WORM--Examine the terminal buds (upper 3 to 4 inches of the plant) of 100 cotton plants and 100 consecutive squares and bolls at

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

This week, July 24-30, has been proclaimed by the President of the United States as National Farm Safety Week. The U. S. Department of Agriculture and the National Safety Council co-sponsor this observance in cooperation with the state agricultural extension services, farm organizations, the farm press, radio-television and other groups, to join in making the decade of the 60's safer. The theme of Farm Safety

Week this year is "Enjoy Farm Life--Practice Safety."

The rate of accidental deaths from work is increasing slightly each year. This is based on figures for 1949-57. The death rates associated with machinery, drownings, firearms and electrical equipment are increasing, while those associated with animals, falls, lightning, and burns are decreasing.

It is important, therefore, that people who work and play on farms must be alert to dangers that affect their lives.

There are more than four times as many accidental deaths in farming than in manufacturing.

It does seem strange that only a few months ago we saw the premier of Cuba ousted by Fidel Castro, rebel leader, who proclaimed to anyone who would listen that he and his rebel army were going to pledge themselves to the restoration of a free Cuba. However, now we are amazed to see that he has not only organized a service similar to the gestapo we were familiar with in Hitler's time but also captured American-owned industries and threatened us with dreaded communism. I believe this could be compared to Shakespeare's quotation "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing". However, in this case, we could substitute the word power for knowledge.

Think Pat Hawkins has an interesting hobby. She makes plaster paris plaques and then paints or sprays them. You can buy molds of plastic instead of the more involved and old fashioned kind made of wood so that anyone who is willing can make pictures or plaques. Since early American settings are so familiar in this section of the country the fighting cocks are one of the prettiest sets I have seen.

Guess everyone enjoyed the convention coverage on television. I especially enjoyed the Johnson-Kennedy debate which was carried on in fine style. Both men are able speakers and very entertaining, but the contrast of mannerisms is evident. Johnson has a slow Texas drawl while Kennedy is a fast talking easterner with a decided yankee accent. Think they will make a great team since they are both seemingly inexhaustible as far as campaigning is concerned.

The trend today is to personalize everything. So, the local drug store got in the swing of things and personalized all the cups of the coffee drinking club. This isn't a fine job of engraving but a real personal touch is accomplished with fingernail polish.

'Blade Sawdust' by Sue Moten

At a recent birthday party given by Ester Trimble, I stated that she served hamburger casserole which actually was Salisbury steak. She was kind enough to call my attention to this and then offer the recipe which sounded so good I thought there might be others who would enjoy it also.

- SALISBURY STEAK WITH MUSHROOM GRAVY
- 1 1/2 lbs. ground round steak
- 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 1 egg
- 1/4 c. whole wheat bread crumbs
- 1 medium size onion (finely chopped)
- Season to taste
- 1 can mushroom soup
- 1 can milk or water
- 1 or 2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet (optional)
- Combine meat, egg, bread crumbs, onion and seasoning with ground meats and shape into patties. Preheat electric skillet to 350 degrees and place patties in skillet to brown on each side. Mix mushroom soup, milk and kitchen bouquet together and pour over browned patties. Lower heat to 250 degrees, cover and cook about 20 minutes or until done. Serves six to eight.

Does anyone know a cure or remedy for sleepwalking? If so please contact me. Will explain further to them and will appreciate all remedies or old wives' tales. I'm serious.

LUCKY LADY FOR BOVINA--Mrs. Hubert Ellison, who won Lucky Lady fishing contest in Truth or Consequences, N. M. recently, is shown with her prize string of 18 bass. The fishes were caught in Elephant Butte Upper Lake. Former residents of Bovina, the Ellisons now own and manage Sands Apartments in Truth or Consequences.

Family Fishing Tradition Stands After 30 Years

(EDITOR'S NOTE--The following story appeared recently in the newspaper at Truth or Consequences, N. M. All the people mentioned in the story former residents of Bovina.)

A family tradition of 30 years standing was climaxed on Elephant Butte Lake last week, Mrs. J. C. (Bessie) Denny, fishing for the first time in her life, caught six good sized crappie with a rod and reel first used in the upper Lake by her father J. W. Ellison, in 1930.

Father Ellison, well known in these parts as the "Sunbonnet Fisherman," had enjoyed three decades of phenomenal luck in these waters. On his first trip here, the glaring New Mexico sun had blistered his tender skin and he and his wife devised a wide brimmed calico sunbonnet, complete with long neck ruffle, to protect him while fishing. Over the years, he became well known on the Lake for his unique head-dress, as well as for his unusual skill as a fisherman.

In the spring of this year, Father Ellison passed away and his lucky fishing equipment went to his various heirs.

His daughter, Bessie Denny, who had never fished in her life, inherited the old Pfluger reel and fiber rod. His son, Hubert D. Ellison, owned the old Wolverine boat, christened by his father in the upper Lake in 1929.

Last week when the Hubert D. Ellison's invited sister Bessie to bring her rod and reel and go fishing in the old boat, she demurred that fishing was not her forte. She decided, however, that as a tribute to her father, she would go along.

The luck of the old "Sunbonnet Fisherman" held true in his equipment, because as fast as his daughter could bait her line and throw it in, she pulled out fish.

"Once in her excitement she almost tipped the boat over," brother Hubert said.

The "Sunbonnet Fisherman" was 88 when he died. He always attributed his good health and longevity to the hours of meditation he spent while waiting for a fish to bite.

His widow and his daughter, Mrs. J. O. Glover, live at Sands Apartments here. The family came here from Bovina, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert D. Ellison are the new owners of the Sands Apartments (formerly the Heath Apts.). Mrs. Denny manages apartments on South Riverside Drive. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Glover also run a farm near Arrey.

Redistricting May Raise Blood Pressures

AUSTIN, TEX.—Although budget balancing is the most discussed of the problems facing the next Legislature, many lawmakers expect redistricting wrangles may raise more blood pressures.

Legislature is required by the Constitution to re-define legislative districts after each federal census. It used to put off this troublesome task, but a 1948 law provides that if it fails to act in the first session after a census, a Legislature Redistricting Board shall take over.

This insures, as it did in 1951, that the Legislature will redistrict -- somehow, some way. Battle will be between big city delegations who will demand more representation in line with their swelling populations and rural members who will try to hold on to as much as they can.

In their election campaigns, many representatives promised their constituents they'd be in there pitching for the home area. Members from growth areas said they'd go after extra representatives, state senators and congressmen.

A rural legislator told his people, "At least twelve rural districts will disappear in the next redistricting. I certainly do not want this district included in that twelve."

Incumbents cited their experience as an asset. Personal feeling often enters into redistricting, and lawmakers are notably reluctant to "squeeze out" a popular and respected senior colleague by erasing his district.

HOME INSURANCE CUT--Beginning August 1, premium rates on certain types of homeowner's insurance policies will be cut 10 per cent.

State Insurance Board announced the new lower rates would apply to the "homeowners package" policies which account for about 80 per cent of the home coverage sold in Texas.

Reductions were made possible because insurance companies have had a relatively low loss ratio on the package policies, first introduced about three years ago.

CREDIT RATE EYED--Board of Insurance also is considering a further lowering of credit insurance rates.

Many loan companies require borrowers to take out insurance payable to the loan company in case something happens to the borrower before he repays.

Two years ago the Board cut in half the rates that could be charged for credit insurance. It was charged that loan companies were making excessive profits on loans through the insurance.

Board says that even now rates seem high, with losses running 27 per cent of premiums paid in. If losses run less than 50 per cent of the premiums, rates are considered too high.

NO ROAD PROBLEM--Stiffened federal road inspections pose no problem to Texas, says State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer.

New federal standards are no tougher than those Texas has insisted on all along. Scandals stemming from misuse of federal road building money in other states has caused the Bureau of Public Roads to tighten its inspection requirements. Greer said the new federal approach will necessitate no change in Texas procedures.

Texas who have been motoring cross-country during their summer vacations will not find this hard to believe. So noticeably superior are Texas roads to those of surrounding states that returning Texans usually give a sigh of relief when they cross the state line.

SPEAKERS' BATTLE BOILS--Candidates for Speaker of the House continue their months-long battle of "claimsmanship."

Rep. Wade Spillman added five to his list of House members pledged to support him and said this gave him a "rather conclusive" lead. Rep. James Turman of Gober claims a definite majority of 79.

Votes of 76 of the 150 House members are needed to elect. Spillman also has invited the House General Investigating Committee to look into charges that members were being subjected to improper pressure on how to vote.

Education will ask the next Legislature for an appropriation of $3,082,183 for the 1961-63 biennium.

Bulk of the increase asked is for meeting expected enrollment increases in the 18 state-supported colleges and universities.

In a discussion with members of the State Finance Advisory Committee, the Commission considered recommending an increase in state college tuition charges -- now $100 for a nine-months term. Dr. Ralph Green suggested raising this by $50. It would bring the state an extra $5,000,000 a year in new revenue, he said.

PRISON NEEDS CITED--Texas Board of Corrections also wants more money -- a $2,654,846 increase over their present allocation for the next two years.

"If the amount is granted, Texas prisoners will cost the state $1.89 per day per man," said State Prison Director O. B. Ellis. "This is just a little more than half the national average."

Ellis and Corrections Board members regard prison needs as critical. Board Chairman H. H. Coffield of Rockdale reported that "the prison population trends indicate it will keep on multiplying."

WILSON HONORED--Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has been named by the National Association of Attorneys General as the recipient of that association's award for outstanding service in 1960. He was cited as being the most outstanding Attorney General in the nation when he received the Wyman Award at the Annual Meeting of the National Association of Attorneys General recently in San Francisco.

Award is given to the Attorney General who "has done the most to advance the objectives of the association to help make the United States a better place in which to live for all." Wilson won the honor on the basis of his contribution in strengthening state anti-trust programs and in the field

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Dolph Moten Bovina Blade Bovina, Texas

Dear Dolph, Would you please change the address on our Blade from the Ablene address to our address here in Keenesburg, Colo. We miss getting the local news when the paper does not arrive.

We are certainly enjoying our new work here in Colorado. I am the pastor of the Keenesburg Methodist Church, a church of 250 members. I plan to commute to Denver this fall to attend Iliff School of Theology.

We will appreciate your changing the address and will be looking forward to receiving our Blade each week.

Sincerely, Melvin Sudderth Box 187 Keenesburg, Colo.

The accident death rate in agriculture as a whole is decreasing, except in the farm tractor category which is increasing. Nearly 20 percent of tractor accidents are occurring on highways.

Although farm accidents resulting from machinery and animals are serious, accidents in the farm home are no less a threat to enjoyable farm living. About 2,700 persons are killed in farm home accidents each year and another 400,000 are injured. So enjoy farm life ... by practicing safety the year around.

Bovina Man's Father Dies

Roy Russell of Hereford, father of Jim Russell of Bovina, died unexpectedly in Hereford Saturday.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at Avenue Baptist Church there.

Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. (Hebrews 11:1)

Can you "see" how your TV and radio bring distant scenes and sounds into your home, or even how voices come over your telephone? Yet we know they do... Why should it ever be difficult to believe in God—that He is, all good, all love?

County Borrows $10,000

Parmer County's Commissioners Court Monday passed a resolution authorizing the clerk to borrow $10,000 from the First National Bank of Bovina. The money will supplement the county general fund until money is collected later this year.

The short-term loan, which carries an interest rate of 5 per cent, is due December 15 of this year.

Money has also been borrowed for the general fund in past years, due to a continued shortage of tax revenue. However, this situation should soon be alleviated by the increase in revenue which came about last year when the property evaluation for the county was raised, says Hugh Moseley, county clerk.

In other business Monday, the commissioners paid bills and okayed past minutes.

Mrs. Killough Has Surgery

Mrs. Lloyd Killough underwent surgery Thursday morning in Parmer County Community Hospital in Friona. She is reported to be doing well.

One hundred and twenty-four years ago, reports the Tax Foundation, the Federal government discovered it had a $28 million surplus. It solved the problem by distributing the money to the 24 states of that time, ostensibly on a loan basis. From that little economic acorn, great oaks have grown. In fiscal 1960, Federal grants of all kinds to the states came to $7.4 billion.--Industrial Review.
