

BY BILL ELLIS

COULD PARMER COUNTY farmers survive if this area were forced to go back to a dryland system of farming?

Many agricultural experts don't think it could. Others just hope we never have to find out.

This threat will be the basis of a hearing at Lubbock Thursday and Friday of this week when an administrative law judge for the Federal Power Commission takes testimony on an FPC proposal to place natural gas for irrigation under a less important priority.

All irrigation farmers in this area are being urged to pack the Federal Building in Lubbock to attempt to prove to the judge how possible curtailment of natural gas for irrigation could wreck the economy of this area.

Judge Curtis L. Wagner, Jr., who has already been hearing testimony on the matter in Washington for two weeks, has ordered that testimony presented at Lubbock be non-technical in nature, and that little time be allowed for cross examination by the industries and the State of California, all of whom are opposing a priority No. 2 for irrigation gas.

In a ruling issued last December, the FPC ruled that irrigation fits in a general industrial category rather than the higher ranking among large commercial, process needs and customer storage requirements.

If natural gas is in short supply, farmer use could be interrupted at any time under a No. 3 priority ranking.

After farm groups and gas companies began to protest the change in priorities, the FPC began hearings on the matter in Washington. In recent days, the FPC agreed to take testimony from farmers in the Albuquerque, Phoenix and Lubbock areas.

Several farm organizations, such as Plains Gas Users Assn., the Grain Sorghum Producers Assn., Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and gas companies, have taken up the fight against the change in priority rating.

Farmers, well aware of the tremendous increase in the cost of producing a crop, cringe at the thought of having their irrigation privileges taken away for two weeks during a dry July, for example, should the priority be dropped to No. 3, as the FPC proposes.

John Aiken, Hereford attorney who represents the Plains Gas Users Assn., hopes for enough farmers to descend upon Lubbock to tie up traffic for three blocks around the Federal Building.

Whether they testify or not, Aiken believes all irrigation farmers should attend the hearing, even if they just register and hear the proceedings.

It has been pointed out that there are approximately 50,000 gas-powered irrigation wells in the Panhandle-South Plains area, and many of the underground pipelines serving these wells were paid for by farmers.

No other fuel or fuel distribution system is available to power irrigation engines, and it has been pointed out that it would not be economically feasible to use an alternate fuel, even if it were available.

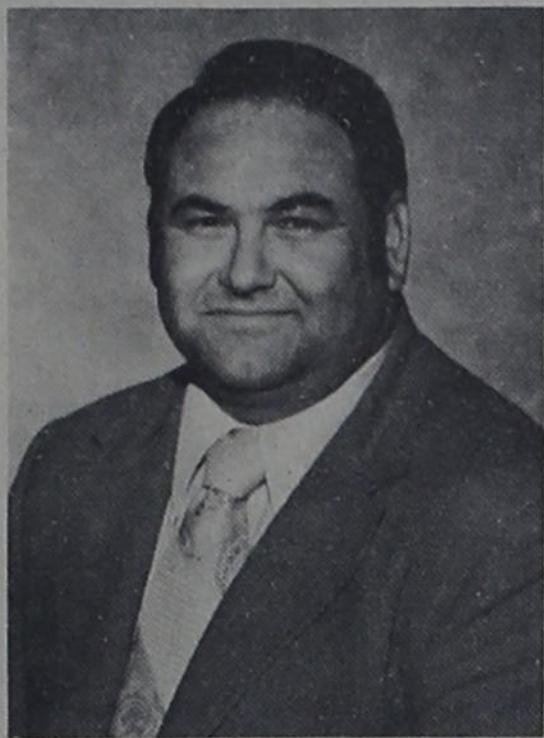

Specialists stress the fact that the irrigation belt in the Panhandle-Plains of Texas produces an astronomical amount of food and fiber which could not and would not be produced but for irrigation and the use of natural gas as a fuel to power irrigation engines.

This area's representatives are sympathetic to the problem, but it is thought that individuals, including civic leaders, might swing just as much weight by testifying or registering at the hearing.

The FPC is virtually free of government control, according to one report.

VITAL TO FARMERS

Natural Gas Hearings Set Thursday, Friday

Hearings to determine the future of natural gas for irrigation fuel, which may well determine the future of farmers and agri-business industry in Parmer County along with the rest of the nation, will be held tomorrow (Thursday) and Friday in Lubbock, it was announced last week.

The Lubbock hearing, one of three to be held in the Southwest, will be at the Federal Building, 205 Texas Avenue from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Those interested in maintaining natural gas for irrigation purposes, including civic leaders, are urged to attend the hearing, or at least register their attendance.

There will be no curtailment of natural gas for irrigation until the hearings are over and the initial decision is reached by an administrative law judge, according to a spokesman in the Washington office of Sen. John Tower of Texas.

The future of natural gas as a farm fuel has been in question since the Federal Power Commission issued a ruling last December which lowered the use of natural gas for agriculture from second to third priority.

Although that decision applied only to customers of El Paso Natural Gas Company, observers believe the action will eventually result in curtailment of natural gas as a farm fuel throughout the United States.

Spokesmen for agriculture feel such curtailment would have a devastating effect on production of food and fiber.

Officers and staff of Grain Sorghum Producers Association, headquartered in Lubbock, have worked full time since the December ruling to block the curtailment and have sought to move the hearings from Washington to the Southwest where farmers will be hardest hit by loss of natural gas.

Working with the Plains Gas Users Association and Southwest Consumers Association, GSPA spokesmen have continually stressed the technical and economic impossibility of converting irrigation to alternate fuel sources.

GSPA vice president Mabry Foreman of Felt, Okla. and research director Jack King have met regularly with legislators in Washington, personnel of the FPC, representatives of the Federal Energy Agency and U.S. Department of Agriculture, attempting to demonstrate the impossibility of converting commonly used automotive irrigation engines from natural gas to gasoline or propane.

A study by Dr. James Osborn of Texas Tech University indicates conversion to gasoline would increase hourly fuel costs 320 per cent for 150 h.p. engine. Conversion to propane, according to the study would increase hourly costs 282 per cent.

BUILDS TRAP

City To Enforce Dog Ordinance

The City of Bovina laid plans at its meeting May 8 to enforce the city's dog ordinance, and crack down on the stray dog problem which has become a nuisance to some residents.

City employees, supervised by Andy Garza, have constructed a sturdy metal cage with a trap door, which will be used to catch dogs that are running loose.

Dogs will be impounded for a total of 48 hours, after which, if they are not claimed, they will be disposed of. Owners claiming their dogs will be fined $2.00 the first time a dog is picked up, plus $1 per day for care of the animal.

The second time a dog is picked up, the fine will be $4. It will increase to $6 on the third time, and then if an animal is picked up a fourth time, he will be disposed of.

Animals picked up that have not been properly licensed and inoculated for rabies will need to have the necessary tags affixed before they can reclaim their pet.

Mayor Tom Bonds said that the "four stage" method of picking up dogs had been tried in a neighboring city, and had proven highly successful.

The city's dog ordinance, adopted in 1967, prohibits any dog from running at large within the city without being under control of the owner, and without the dog having been vaccinated for rabies, and owning a valid city dog tag tax.

Dogs are to be vaccinated at least once a year, at which time they customarily are tagged. However, city secretary Mary Ruth Martin said that she would estimate that "only about 27" animals were vaccinated and tagged at the annual dog clinic this year, when Dr. Russell, Clovis veterinarian, came to Bovina.

The fee for dog tags amounts to $1.00 per year. Those needing to have their rabies shots will need to take the dog to a veterinarian, secure the shots, and bring a receipt certifying that the dog has received the required vaccination before the tag will be issued.

In other business, requests by General Telephone Company and Southwestern Public Service Company regarding rate structures by the two utility companies were tabled until a later date.

Jr. 4-H Club Slates Work Day Saturday

The Bovina Junior 4-H Club will sponsor a work day Saturday beginning at 9 that morning.

Members of the club will do yard work and general cleaning. Residents of the community may contact Jimmy Rhodes at 238-1572 or Debbie Whitecotton at 238-1138 for the services. Charge for the service will be $1 per hour per person, Rhodes said. Funds derived from the work day will be used for 4-H projects.

Fourteen members of the club, along with six sponsors, recently toured points of interest in Lubbock along with about 100 other county 4-H club members.

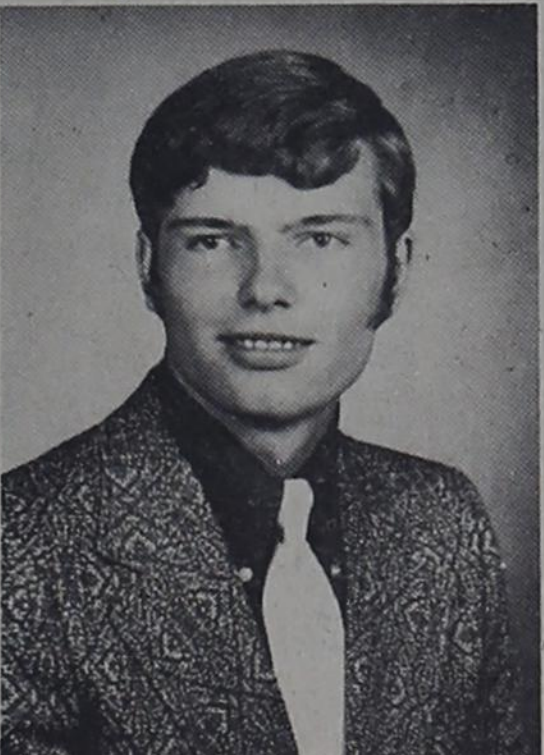

The group toured the Texas Tech Museum and the Moody Planetarium. Following lunch at the Plains Co-op Cottonseed Oil Mill, the group toured the mill facilities.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO—MAY 11, 1960

"It's a promotion and we feel we must take it." This was the reaction of High School Principal Roy Whisler shortly after his resignation was accepted by Bovina's board of trustees last week. Whisler will be superintendent of schools at Morse, near Stinnett in the northern Panhandle.

The board of trustees met Thursday night to interview a prospect for vacant coaching positions and receive the resignation of Whisler. No definite action was taken on hiring a coach, but the board immediately hired James McLeroy to replace Whisler as principal. McLeroy has been commercial teacher here for almost a year and a half.

Roger Ezell, Bovina's entry in state schoolboy track meet in Austin, finished fifth in discus throw last weekend.

Three top students of Bovina Grade School finished with less than a point difference for honors of valedictorian and salutatorian. Ann Lynn Wilson is top student with an average of 93.31. Judy Crawford is salutatorian with an average of 93.21. Third place student is Kay Embree with a 92.65 average.

TEN YEARS AGO—MAY 12, 1965

Rain, the one optimistic farmers knew was coming but were beginning to wonder when, came here Monday morning. The area west of Bovina received up to three inches. The rain was lighter in areas south as a minimum of .2 of an inch was measured on farms there.

A record-setting number of spotted horses were here Saturday for Bovina Roping Club's third annual Appaloosa show. Total number of entries was 101—seven more than the previous high in 1963. Horses were here from Nebraska to South Texas and several communities in New Mexico.

Sheryl Lane is valedictorian of Bovina Junior High's Eighth Grade graduating class with an average of 94. Salutatorian is Gary Carson with a 94.42 average.

Members of Bovina High senior class are due to return tonight from the class trip to Rockaway Beach, Mo. Parmer County has two of the best eight Class B high school mile runners in the state. They are David Nelson of Lazbuddie and Richard Carson of Bovina.

Nelson finished fifth and Carson eighth in the finals.

FIVE YEARS AGO—MAY 13, 1970

Bovina city council took a long-discussed step at its regular meeting Thursday night and called an election for a one per cent city sales tax.

Two Bovina senior boys brought home places from the State University Interscholastic League meet in Austin last weekend.

Stuart McMeans won third in the 330-yard low hurdles in the track and field events. Bruce Caldwell was second in prose reading in literary events.

Old Saying

"Fight Cancer with a Check-up and a Check" is something that the American Cancer Society volunteers have been saying for years. A check to the Society during its April Crusade will go far to fight cancer, while a health checkup is an excellent way of safeguarding your life against this disease.

The finest quality silver is, surprisingly, not sterling. It's fine silver, used by silversmiths and for money reserves. It is .999 fine, that is, 999 parts of silver to one of another metal. Sterling, on the other hand, contains 92.5 percent silver; the remainder is copper.

Current Comments From . . .

GILFORD MOORE in THE SUNRAY NEWS....During the three ages of man the subject of group conversation of the male sex varies with the ages represented. If it's a mixed age group, time devoted to the major subjects of interest is about equally divided.

If it's a youthful group the conversation centers around girls, cars and car performance, and the most active sports. Later on, after marriage and settling down to the serious business of making a living, it's women, cars, business and sports, with a little less time devoted to the first subject as the group nears the forty mile mark.

Once the group hits the "middle-age-and-past" category, there begins to creep into the conversation references to aches and pains. But fishing and the less strenuous sports still maintain a lead, but just barely. The subject of women, which once led in subjects discussed, is now lagging far behind.

The results listed in the chart below is the result of an independent study. Due to the nature of this study and to avoid any embarrassment to authorities consulted, names were withheld.

NOTE: The categories marked with an asterisk are the subjects most inclined to tempt the person leading the conversation into lying just a little bit. Even the most truthful normally.

AGE GROUP-13-20, subjects: girls (+), percentage of time devoted to subject, 40 per cent; cars (+) 30 per cent; sports (most active) 30 per cent.

Ages 20-39--Business 20 per cent; politics 10 per cent; wives 20 per cent; women (+) 20 per cent; sports 20 per cent; fishing (+) 10 per cent.

Ages 55 and up--fishing (+) 40 per cent; politics 20 per cent; aches and pains (+) 33 per cent; wives 10 per cent; business 10 per cent; women 2 per cent.

HAROLD HUDSON in THE PERRYTON HERALD....A lot of lip service has been paid to the problems of rural America, but the power structure in Washington has done little about rural problems except to talk about them.

It's high time that rural America gets back into the nation, but at the rate things are going, this will never happen.

Somehow all of the solutions and all of the legislation designed to help rural America never gets put into operation. Whenever there is a natural disaster that wipes out crops, Congress may pass a law calling for loans to the afflicted areas, but by the time the red tape gets untangled and the loan money goes through enough bureaucratic channels, rural America has worked itself out of a crisis without federal aid.

Last week there was a four day conference in Washington called by the Rural Housing Alliance. About all that was accomplished was a lot of deploring and wringing of hands regarding rural problems.

It was pointed out that since 1960, 146 bus companies have ceased operating and nearly all of these are in cities of less than 25,000. It was pointed out that in most small towns of America, there is no public transportation of any sort, not even an Amos 'n Andy taxicab.

The Department of Transportation has maintained all the time that it is not authorized to help rural communities meet their transportation needs. Yet there is talk of jacking up gasoline prices to force people out of their cars and into mass transit. Where will that leave the rural resident? On foot, of course.

HEW laid out more than $6 billion for income maintenance assistance last year and 75 per cent of it went to metropolitan areas.

The Department of Agriculture laid out $2 billion worth of food stamps last year and city based Congressmen wailed about how much the farm program was costing, and 8 per cent of the food stamps ended up in the big cities, having nothing to do with farming or farm problems.

Slums have come to be identified with the inner city, but the shacks and tin roof shanties in rural areas comprise 60 per cent of the country's substandard housing.

Some 140 rural counties have no physician at all, an increase of 63 per cent since 1963. Those rural areas with doctors are finding that the ones serving them are getting older and nobody is moving in to replace them.

It is obvious that Uncle Sam spends most of the tax money in the big cities. Is this because rural residents don't pay their share of taxes? Not hardly. People in rural America pay their full share and get less than their full share back.

Only a few decades ago, the ideal life was on the farm and small town. However, the trickle of people from rural areas into cities became a flood and now most Americans live in the cities and know very little about rural America.

All of the conferences and speeches and publications fall short of a solution to a real problem—letting rural America back into the Union. Rural America has been ignored long enough.

Letter To Editor

Bovina Blade
Bovina, Texas 79009

Dear Editor:

A great deal of information has been supplied to the news media in recent weeks concerning the various educational programs now pending before the legislature. I want to share with you and your readers the impact of the program I support. Therefore I have listed below the present amount of state aid received this year by the districts in your area, compared with the state aid that would be provided to your schools under my proposal when fully implemented:

District
Farwell
Current State Aid $270,000
Proposed State Aid $352,000

One of the main thrusts of my program is to equalize tax payer effort. With limited state dollars, some districts of average or better than average wealth or taxing ability would not receive increased state aid, but would not be penalized in reduced state aid. Such districts are not listed above.

No school district in Texas would be required to increase local taxes to pay for any part of my plan except those wealthier districts which would need to increase their effort to provide for any teacher salary increase approved by the legislature.

The time has come to substantially equalize educational opportunities and taxpayer efforts in the state system of public education. If we do not, I can assure you that the courts will. We have as choices a legislative solution or a court-ordered solution. I prefer—and think the vast majority of Texans prefer—legislative action now. It can be done in this regular session of the legislature, within available state revenues and without new taxes.

It is my feeling that the citizens served by your newspaper should have the above information and I would appreciate your making it available as soon as practical.

Sincerely,
Dolph Briscoe
Governor of Texas

Some serious talk about West Texas gas

By K. B. "Tex" Watson, Pioneer president

Living in the middle of an area known for its abundant gas deposits, it's hard to imagine West Texans threatened by a shortage of natural gas. However, there is the possibility that governmental regulations could create a shortage here. If we are not vigilant, we could see much of our gas supply allocated to other areas. Or we could see price controls make it impractical for producers to drill additional wells in this area. What can the average citizen do to prevent that from happening? I would suggest that he be aware of the problem and support Pioneer's efforts to maintain our gas reserves.

Everyone interested in agriculture - businessmen, farmers, employees, housewives are urged to attend the Public Hearings on priority of natural gas supply to our irrigation farmers from Priority No. 2 to Priority No. 3. Our entire economy could be sorely hurt if the availability of natural gas for irrigation use was changed to Priority 3. A "Little Darling" contest, sponsored by the Bovina Jaycee-Ettes, gets underway this week with entries accepted until Monday, June 2, according to Mrs. Bob Turner, president of the organization.

The photographic contest is for children from birth to six with three age divisions, said Mrs. Turner. The infants division is for children from birth to two years old, the toddlers division from two to four years old and the children's division from four to six years old. The age limit for group division will be the child's age as of June 1.

"Anyone interested in entering a child is urged to do so, especially grandparents," Mrs. Turner noted. The children do not have to be residents of Bovina to enter or win the contest, she said.

To enter a child, one must send a recent billfold size photograph to the Little Darling Contest, Box 144, Bovina, Tx. 79009. Information, which should be printed on the back of the photograph, includes name of the child, birthdate, parents name and address and name of the person submitting the entry. Entry fee will be $1 per child.

A $25 U.S. Savings Bond will be presented the winner in each division with the second and third place winners receiving plaques.

A panel of out-of-town judges has been selected. The panel will be judging the contest by numbers only and will not know the names of the contestants.

Winners will be announced in the June 11 issue of The Bovina Blade. Out-of-town winners, if any, will be notified by telephone, said Mrs. Turner.

American National CowBelles and the Bovina CowBelles are women of the cattle industry. Our purpose is to work for the betterment of the industry and to act as a clearing house for the information concerning the industry.

Most CowBelles are ranch, farm and feeders' wives, who through the CowBelles organizational activities support the cattlemen's interests.

Many CowBelles are women who own and operate their own cattle business or are in related fields and are vitally interested in the beef industry.

We have other members who are in land development, banking, education, governmental affairs and dozens of agri-business activities.

American National CowBelles was formed in 1952. Aside from the ever-increasing membership, the CowBelles have several affiliated organizations, such as national breed auxiliaries in the United States and Canada.

The CowBelles office is in the American National Cattlemen's office building in Denver, Colo. Any member is welcome to visit the office at any time.

National CowBelles meet twice each year, first during the annual convention of the American National Cattlemen's Association in January when officers are elected and association business is conducted.

We meet again in July for a spirited give-and-take discussion and work shop session to help us do a better job in our work.

We print and mail newsletters to members, giving information on current topics affecting our business and indicating what other states are doing in the way of beef promotion and education to further our industry.

We have projects in Beef Education, Beef for Father's Day, Radio-TV, Membership and Public Relations. CowBelles have added new Communications and Publicity Committees and expanded the important Legislation Committee.

We publish a beef cookbook and beef recipe stationery which are sold nationally.

We have a close liaison with the Washington, D.C., office of the ANC which keeps us in contact with legislation pertinent to our livelihood.

The Industry Information Council, which is a joint committee of the ANC and CowBelles, develops and promotes public relations projects which carry our point of view to the public and to our consumers.

We have the IDA committee....a national committee to promote ideas, decisions and actions. We want to progress in our ever-changing world.

We contribute financially to the Beef Industry Council of the National Livestock and Meat Board and maintain a cooperative working relationship with that organization.

We as a group speak out for beef and work together for our industry. The cattle industry affects you!

If you are interested in joining an active CowBelle organization, you may contact Mrs. C.C. Naegle, Mrs. Sonny Jones or Mrs. Erith Hawkins in Bovina for further information. We welcome new members!

The long-awaited, much-discussed, extremely-important natural gas hearings will be held tomorrow (Thursday) and Friday at Lubbock.

And, farmers, you had better be there in force to protect your interests!

At the hearings Monday and Tuesday in Albuquerque, a Clovis farmer, Stanley Pippkins, told the Federal Power Commission he would have to file bankruptcy if forced to switch his irrigation pumps from natural gas to another fuel. "I can see no way to continue farming if I have to change to another fuel source or if I am subject to having my gas supply turned off at any time during the year," Pippkins said.

He stated it would cost him $58,000 to convert his 11 well pumps from natural gas to diesel fuel and that the diesel would cost him $32,000 a year more than the natural gas at its present prices.

Another Clovis area farmer, Jack Muse, said, "If natural gas is no longer available on a demand basis, I would be forced to liquidate and seek employment elsewhere."

And, he isn't the only one. That same situation will face every farmer in this part of Texas as well. The hearings have already been held in Washington, D.C., Phoenix and Albuquerque. The Lubbock hearings will be the final session.

The hearings are to determine if the natural gas supplied by the El Paso Natural Gas Co. should be changed from a No. 2 to a No. 3 priority for agriculture use, and as such, do not affect customers of Pioneer Natural Gas at the present time. But, they will in the final analysis.

The Blade received a letter from the office of Gov. Dolph Briscoe this past week touting his proposed school finance bill.

Briscoe's letter may be found elsewhere in this issue of The Blade.

We want to call attention, very quickly, to the point he makes that Farwell would receive a sizeable increase in proposed state aid under his bill. But, also, notice in the paragraph just below that, he states, "With limited state dollars, some districts of average or better than average wealth or taxing ability would not receive increased state aid, but would not be penalized in reduced state aid. Such districts are not listed above."

Apparently, the Bovina school district would fall in that category, but when he says he would not be penalized in reduced state aid, that is not a true estimate of the situation, in our opinion.

The next paragraph contains the "zinger." Briscoe says, "No school district in Texas would be required to increase local taxes to pay for any part of my plan except those wealthier districts which would need to increase their effort to provide for any teacher salary increase approved by the legislature."

The superintendent of Lockney schools ran a projected salary increase under the governor's proposal and says that Lockney school district would have to come up with an additional $80,771 which would have to be obtained from local taxes.

A similar situation, we would imagine, exists in Bovina. With all operating expenses skyrocketing, such as utilities, insurance, general operations, materials and equipment, this additional funding would place an absolutely unreal burden on local taxpayers.

Some people are advocating a state sales tax to cover additional costs. While no increased tax is popular, a sales tax would surely be more fair than an additional burden on the ad valorem taxpayer.

Briscoe's weighted pupil plan would finance schools and teachers' salaries by a formula based on the cost of educating each student. For example, a student requiring special education would be allotted more money by the state than a student in a regular curriculum. The amount the state would contribute to each district would depend on the wealth of the district. All districts would tax uniformly for local funding, but because property in a poor district would bring in less money, the state would contribute a larger share.

Although his plan achieves equalization between poor and wealthy districts, some areas of the state, including Parmer County, would be forced to substantially raise taxes. There has to be a healthy balance between what local school districts and the state pay in educating the young people. However, local communities cannot afford to tax far above what they have been.

WHY NOT TRY CHRIST?

So many people today are exhausted from the search—the search for something to live for, to believe in, to hold onto. We've tried pleasure, drugs and riches. WHY NOT TRY CHRIST? We need a world wide revival of righteousness, right? Then let's start with a revival of self. Try Christ. Let Him refresh your soul, refinish your character, revitalize your life. How can we hope to improve the world if we don't begin by improving ourselves?

If we can truly realize the sad plight of the world today, perhaps, just perhaps, we will take a long, slow look at ourselves and rededicate our lives to the Christian task at hand—that of preparing ourselves and the world for that day and hour we know is coming, the time when Christ will come again.

We have wars of every size, crimes of every kind, evil lusts of every type, worship of any kind. Any thought of righteousness is called "archaic" or "out-of-date." What we need is a world wide revival of Christianity in each of us. We need to return to Christ and the Bible. This is the answer. WHY NOT TRY CHRIST?

Rainfall Ranges From 1-2"

Vicious hail and tornado-bearing clouds which have roamed the Panhandle-South Plains area the past weekend missed Bovina, however, the community received from one to two and one-half inches of moisture from the fringes of the storms.

Rain, which fell Sunday night and Monday afternoon, dumped that amount of welcome moisture in this portion of Parmer County with the largest totals reported south of town. The western portion of the county, in the Pleasant Hill neighborhood, received about one inch of rain while the Oklahoma Lane Community reported from one and one-half to two and one-half inches.

The rainfall couldn't have come at a better time, with most farmers cranking up irrigation wells to water the wheat and newly-planted corn and milo crops.

Small amounts of hail fell both days, however, the hail lasted only a few minutes in each instance and was not considered enough to damage any of the crops.

Chinese emperors were believed to commune with heaven through a pierced disk of white jade.

List Winners In Annual Track Meet

Over 200 students in grades three through six participated in the annual Elementary Track and Field Meet here Friday in conjunction with the annual picnic day for all elementary students.

Competition in the long jump, triple jump, high jump, shot, discus and hurdles will be run off this week with the winners announced next week.

Students will be awarded ribbons from first through fourth places with medals awarded competitors who won first places in four events, or tied or broke meet records, at the annual Elementary Awards Assembly later this month.
