Boy, 12, Killed, Reunion-Party Ends In Tragedy

A family reunion turned into tragedy at the Newman community Sunday, when a 12-year-old Sweetwater boy was accidentally shot dead by his cousin, officers said.

The dead boy is Kenneth Wayne Duncan, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Duncan, 808 Poplar, Sweetwater. He is a nephew of Tom Watson of Merkel.

He fell with a 410 shot gun charge in the back of his left shoulder as relatives were preparing to open birthday presents across the road. The fatal shooting occurred in a pasture on the W. R. Powell farm, across the road from the birthday-reunion party on the W. H. Watson place.

Described as in a state of shock right after the accident was Kenneth's cousin, Ralph Hall, about 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hall of Sweetwater, former Sylvester residents.

The accident happened about 5:10 p. m. Sunday. Relatives were holding the surprise birthday party for Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Watson.

According to Mr. Hall, Ralph was behind Kenneth, when Ralph apparently stumbled and fell. The gun went off. Kenneth was taken to Sadler Clinic and was pronounced dead about 35 minutes after the shooting.

Kenneth is survived in addition to the parents by three brothers, Chester, Jerry and Terry, and a sister, Linda.

Funeral was held at 4 p. m. Tuesday in Sweetwater.

Several hundred celebrants, some from other states, will enjoy religious addresses in the morning, the dinner at noon, and singing in the afternoon, according to Calvin Rogers, son of a pioneer and long-time president of the association.

The gathering place is a large iron-framed tabernacle standing on the old camping grounds of the 1880's and 1890's. The tabernacle is provided with electric lights, a piano, seats, fans, and other conveniences for the old timers.

"We're looking for a great gathering this year," Rogers said.

U.S.—Bulwark of Freedom

BIRTHDAY OF A FREE NATION as the Declaration of Independence was presented to Congress in 1776. Contrary to popular belief, this historic document was not signed by Congress on July 4th. Instead, the Act by which the original 13 states broke colonial allegiance to Great Britain was approved by Congress July 2, proclaimed on July 4th, and signed at various times up to Nov. 4.

SYMBOL OF HUMAN RIGHTS and freedom, the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall rang out at every festival and anniversary of Independence until it cracked in 1835.

OUR NATION'S CAPITOL, moved from Philadelphia to banks of the Potomac in 1800, today is a majestic city, nerve center of a great country, and the hope of freedom-loving people everywhere. The capitol dome, sprawling office buildings, monuments, memorials, and 7,000 acres of public parks including the Mall shown here, are familiar sights to countless Washington visitors.

2 Scholarships Unclaimed At Tech

LUBBOCK, July 20 — There's a $6,000 "treasure" awaiting two agriculture students planning to enter Texas Tech and so far it's unclaimed, according to Agriculture Dean W. L. Stangel.

The treasure consists of two $3,000 scholarships to be given by the Western Compress and Storage Co. of Abilene. Each of the grants will provide $750 annually for four years for an agronomy student who will emphasize study of cotton, irrigation and water sources.

Eligibility for the scholarships is limited to students in nine counties: Taylor, Nolan, Jones, Haskell, Fisher, Scurry, Knox, Mitchell and Callahan.

The scholarships are awarded only upon written application made before August 1, prior to the freshman year. No qualified applications have been received so far, Dean Stangel said.

grants to "just anyone." Dean Strangel pointed out, "But surely in the counties mentioned there are some top students who are interested and can qualify for these scholarships."

Time To Ask For Refund On Gasoline Tax

COLLEGE STATION — Farmers are reminded by C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, that they may now apply for a refund on the 3-cent Federal tax on gasoline used for farming. The amount claimed must be based on the quantity of fuel used for farming purposes on individual farms and ranches during the period from July 1, 1956 to June 30, 1957.

Bates says that all claims must be submitted to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, and claims for the past year must be in by September 30, 1957. Only one refund claim per farm operator will be permitted and each tax claimant is cautioned to make certain that his refund request includes all eligible fuel used.

Each farm or ranch operator who applied for tax refunds in 1956 will be mailed Form 2240 for filing the 1957 claim. An instruction sheet for preparing the application will also be provided, says Bates. For new fuel users or those who failed to file last year, copies of the filing form may be obtained from the office of the local county agent.

Too, Bates suggests that a copy of Publication 308, Farmers Gas Tax Refund, prepared by the Internal Revenue Service, be obtained from the county agent's office or from the nearest District Internal Revenue Service Office.

The specialist advises agricultural producers who used an appreciable amount of gasoline last year in their farming or ranching operations to check into their eligibility for a refund. The legislation which makes possible the refund was passed by Congress in the spring of 1956 and farmer unfamiliar with the procedure should contact their local county agent or Internal Revenue Service for details.

Home Demonstration Notes

By LORETA ALLEN

Taylor County Home Demonstration Agent

One day in May I went by the Allen King's. I'de heard they had all the barns full of baby chickens. I started on a tour and discovered My timing was just right and I visited the King's again last Saturday. You guessed it — we had fried chicken. Sure was good, too.

I visited Mrs. Tom Russom this week. She had attended a furniture refinishing school and the bug got her. She had gone home and removed the old finish off three desks and a chair. They looked like different pieces of furniture. While we were looking at these pieces, Mrs. Dewl McLean came with parts of two dressers that she was refinishing. She is going to have two pieces of lovely furniture when she gets them completed.

I also visited Mrs. Joe Swinney. She is foods demonstrator for the Blue Bonnet Club. She says that she will have plenty of fresh corn to freeze. Miss Meona Cox, Food and Nutrition Specialist from College Station, visited in our office this week. She gave us some suggestions for the foods and nutrition work in Taylor County.

The 4H girls will model the dresses and skirts that they have made in the clothing workshops that Miss Gilliland conducted over the county. Eighty nine girls participated. The public is invited. Hope you can come. The revue will be in Abilene at the Coca Cola Building, 2074 North 1st Street on July 19th at 8:00 p.m.

This morning Mrs. A. C. Braune called. She found out canning green beans by the one step method that I had in my column a few weeks ago was a lot easier and better than the old method. She wanted to know what other vegetables could be canned by this method. If you would like a bulletin giving this information, write, call, or come by my office and ask for the bulletin "One Step Cold Pack Method" of canning vegetables.

I've been making some cucumber pickles. Yes, I grew the cucumbers in my garden. I thought some of you might like to try one of the recipes that I used. This is a good way to use the large cucumbers that you slice. I found the little ones tend to swivel if they are pickled like this but the sliced ones are good.

ICE WATER PICKLES
1 quart cucumbers
1 cup vinegar
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
3 sliced onions
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon celery seed or 1/4 cup diced celery

Soak cucumbers, sliced lengthwise, in ice water for two hours. Remove from the ice water. Pack in jars with sliced onions, mustard seed and celery seed or diced celery. Heat vinegar to which salt and sugar have been added, and when boiling pour over cucumbers and onions. Seal. It is hard to beat the brining method of making pickles. If you want this recipe and many more, call, write or come by my office at 317 Pecan Street, Abilene. Ask for the bulletin "Pickles and Relishes".

3rd. Infantry Div. To Europe In '58

The 3rd Infantry Division, presently stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia, has been designated by the U. S. Army as a Gyroscope Unit.

The Army has begun filling its ranks with volunteers for direct assignment to the 3rd Division prior to the transfer of the division to Europe in 1958.

Men who meet the high mental and physical standards may enlist for Regular Army tours of three or four years and request assignment with the 3rd. These men will be processed at Fort Chaffee, Arkansas, then proceed to Fort Benning for basic and advanced training with the Division.

The Army has already charted the future location for the Division in its unit rotation policy. Thus a man knows where he will be stationed throughout his enlistment period, and can plan accordingly. This assignment also holds a guarantee of travel to the historic and tourist areas of Europe where the 30-day vacations granted Army personnel annually can be used to good advantage.

Complete information on direct assignment to the 3rd Infantry Division, or to other Army units in the Operation Gyroscope plan, may be obtained from Master Sergeant Leonard M. Evans, Army recruiter for Taylor and Callahan Counties. M-Sgt. Evans office is located in the Post Office Building, Abilene.

WOMEN, TOO, HAVE RIGHTS

Within the past few years a peaceful social revolution has been taking place in the Sudan, accompanying the growing political awareness which recently led to the Sudan's declaration of national independence. For the women of the country, spurred on by the democratic spirit in the land, are now preparing to take an increasingly active role in the social, economic and political development of their new nation.

Initial efforts to create a vital Sudanese women's movement in 1947 were short-lived because the founders limited membership to the narrow base of women teachers and students who were unable to buck the traditional position that a woman's place was in the home. But the present women's movement includes all segments of the female population and is now represented by many flourishing women's clubs and societies, including a Sudanese branch of the Red Crescent Society founded in 1953.

Leaders of the women's movement aim at developing among their membership a strong awareness of women's political, economic and social rights. As a primary requisite for achieving this goal, they are concentrating all their efforts on the task of wiping out illiteracy in the adult feminine population. A series of literacy campaigns have been initiated, with uneducated women organized into local groups to receive instruction from educated volunteers who belong to the various women's societies. Libraries have been established in the women's clubs, with notable emphasis on books relating to the advancement and accomplishments of women in other lands.

Slowly but surely, the ladies are winning over conservative opinion (largely male) to the thesis that women have a contribution to offer to their nation as a whole, in addition to their services to the family and the home.

KNOW-HOW MUSEUM

In the midst of a spacious Cairo park stands a unique museum dedicated to Egypt's fertile soil and its industrious farmers.

Appropriately enough, the Agricultural Museum commands a magnificent view of the mighty River Nile. Housed inside the museum's five main buildings are exhibits which vividly display the tremendous variety of agricultural products and techniques which owe their existence to the waters of the famous river: native crops, canning factories, soil research programs, silk worm breeding, poultry husbandry and many other categories.

In one of the five buildings, the Plant Kingdom Palace, is a treasured gift presented by the Pope to the Egyptian Government—a replica of the famous symbolic statue of the Nile which is housed in the Vatican. Many of the exhibits deal with the Nile Valley's most important crop, long staple Egyptian cotton, displaying methods of planting, breeding and marketing this precious commodity. The plant building also contains numerous exhibits of other native products such as the flax plant, oil-producing seeds, sugar cane, Egyptian timber and finished agricultural products like jams, jellies, canned fruits, wines, liquors, and perfumes.

A huge husbandry map of Egypt showing experimental stations, model farms, poultry breeding farms and locust-control stations, dominates another museum building known as the Animal Kingdom Palace. On the first floor visitors can see models of the country's extensive irrigation projects, including huge barrages and dams on the Nile such as the Aswan Dam, the Mohamed Ali Barrage, the Isna Barrage and the Dairout Barrage. Other models exhibited show various types of animals found in the country, such as the camel, the Arabian horse, Egyptian donkeys, mules and numerous fish which swim in Egypt's waters.

The museum's library, housed in the same building as a public auditorium, contains a rich collection of books, papers and pamphlets dealing with practically every phase of agricultural knowledge from anatomy to zoology. The library also boasts of a wide selection of books on agriculture in foreign languages.

In addition to presenting a complete picture of Egyptian agriculture, the museum houses a comprehensive collection of data and models relating to agricultural practices and conditions all over the world. Present methods, including model factories, are shown in relation to those practiced by the nation's ancestors, for the museum possesses a fine collection of valuable antiquities dealing with farming in ancient Egypt.

As part of a program of visual education for those Egyptians who live far from Cairo, the museum's authorities have organized a number of mobile agricultural exhibits which tour the country and spread modern agricultural knowledge among the residents of local towns and villages. For those fortunate enough to visit the museum in person, the tremendous variety of exhibits form a rich reference on Egypt's agricultural experience and know-how, providing far more information than the viewers could obtain from many a detailed textbook.

Footsteps Of Time

Life-size marble, circa 3000 B.C.

Iraqi soil is probably the world's most fertile for producing relics of the past, because the inhabitants of this ancient land can trace their country's history back more than ten thousand years. Tools and implements from the Stone Age have been discovered in caves of Northern Iraq, an area which also has yielded remnants from mankind's next era, the Neolithic Period. During this period, approximately five to ten thousand years ago, human beings started cultivating the earth's soil and domesticating its animals. Archaeologists have revealed some of the first human agricultural settlements at such sites as Jarmo and Hassuna.

Sometime before 3,000 B.C. the waters of the Persian Gulf receded and human settlers moved to the Southern plain, founding the world's first urban civilization. These people, the Sumerians, established a rich society organized into powerful "city states." Splendid, highly intricate treasures from Sumer-an civilization have been uncovered at Ur-of-the-Chaldees.

One of the best preserved ruins of "Iraq" dates from about 500 B.C.—the fascinating city of Hatra, which was not discovered until 1951. The excavations soon brought to light five shrines, a tower-tomb, large residential buildings and a section of one of the city gates. Many statues, coins and Aramaic inscriptions were discovered which are particularly valuable in illuminating gaps in a long-observed period of Iraqi history.

After the Arab conquest in 641 A.D. Iraq wrote one of the most brilliant chapters in her long history. Under the Abbasid Caliphs, Baghdad became the seat of government, culture and intellectual achievement. At a time when no academies or universities existed in Europe, Baghdad boasted of a famous academy, Dar al-Hikmah, which included a museum, a library and a bureau of translation, as well as a hospital with trained physicians and pharmacists.

Describing the momentous intellectual activity which sprang up in Iraq under Islam, H. G. Wells wrote in The Outline of History: "For some generations before Mohammed, the Arab mind had been smoldering, it had been producing poetry and much religious discussion; under the stimulus of the national and racial successes, it presently blazed out with a brilliance second only to that of the Greeks during their best period. It revived the human pursuit of science. If the Greek was the father, then the Arab was the foster-father of the scientific method. Through the Arabs it was, and not by the Latin route, that the modern world received that gift of light and power."

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of husband or wife. Now we shall see that where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and apportioning the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving spouse receives a life interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property—cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters

(and their descendants) who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parent survives, but there are brothers and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Livestock and poultry will need more attention during the hot months if they are to be kept comfortable. Comfort for them will mean more income for their owners.
