

"MY TURN"

By

Carol Ellis

IN 1989, Shakespeare's "Rose by another name" might end up being R'Ouze' or something equally unspellable.

"NAMES MAKE NEWS" is the very first thing they teach you when you take up a career in journalism. And people usually insist that you spell their names correctly. Rule number one is to get those names right.

A few years ago, Bill and I got interested in genealogy which is another "name game." Combining our vocation with our avocation, we've seen a lot of trends in names down through the years.

For instance, it was about 1700 when people were labeling their little baby daughters with such names as: Thankful, Patience, Submit, America, Remember, Desire, Grateful, Mourning, Mercy and Temperance.

In those days, little boys got to be: Ananias, Barzillai, Manoah, Ezekiel, Ephraim, Lysander, Vespasian, and Caleb.

People have always been fond of naming their offspring after their heroes. A lot of little guys went through life with: George Washington, James Knox Polk, Isaac Newton and Andrew Jackson. In later years some poor kids have been saddled with John Wayne, Elvis and Farrah.

How long has it been since little girls were named for gems such as Jewel, Ruby, Pearl or Opal? Today not many girls turn up with flowery names like Daisy, Rose, Violet or Lilly.

It has been a long time since these names were popular: Ethel, Mabel, Vivian, Hazel, Maude, or Beulah for girls, or Calvin, Horace, Alfred, Otto, Floyd and Walter for boys. These are perfectly good names but people just aren't using them much anymore.

The current vogue in naming babies is to go for perky-sounding names which in years gone by would have been considered merely nicknames and not something you would actually put on the child's birth certificate. Now we get names like: Sparky, Kori, DeeDee, Candy, etc.

In this country, from about 1800 through the late 1950s, there were some fairly standard rules regarding nicknames. Peggy was the nickname for Margaret; Polly was for Mary; Jimmy was James; Dick was Richard; Tad was Thaddeus; Jinsey or Jane were for Virginia; Ann or Nancy were for Nanette; Penny was Penelope.

If you had a boy named William you might call him Billy, especially if his father or grandfather was also William. A girl named Wilma or Winifred might be called Billie, but hers would be spelled with an "ie" on the end. Francis was a male spelling and Frances was for a female.

Unorthodox spelling of names is a trend designed to drive newspaper people straight into the psychiatric ward. Start the name with a K instead of a C; end the name with an I instead of a Y; throw a few consonants together and call it a name.

We'd like to find the first person who ever put an apostrophe in their kids' name. We would love to string him or her up to the nearest tree. This has started people to using all sorts of punctuation in names, which falls far short of making them appear more elegant or ritzy, if that was the desired goal.

Here's some advice from an editor to young couples currently expecting babies (yes, we know they probably won't heed it, but here it is anyway!): Your child is going to live with that name for approximately 70 years.

Think how that cutesy, trendy name is going to look on your little darling when he or she reaches the age of 20, 40, 60 and then while tottering around the halls of the nursing home, calling to one another, "Hey, Bambi!", "How ya' doing, Skippi?!", "Had your enema yet this morning, J'Krysi?"

What's wrong with good old Mary and John?

MADD Sets Activities For Week

Curry County MADD is promoting observance of National Victim Rights Week April 9-15. The week is a time set aside to remind America of its crime victims and to stress the rights of those victims in the criminal justice process. Specifically, MADD would like to increase public awareness of the dangers of drunk driving and its impact on victims and their families.

Several activities are being planned in conjunction with the week. A table will be set up in North Plains Mall on April 8 and 9 where information and literature regarding the MADD organization will be available. Various local groups will also host speakers from MADD.

Highlighting the week on April 15 at 10 a.m. will be a ceremonial tree planting in the yard of the Curry County Courthouse. Guthal's Nursery has donated a tree that will be planted at that time as a memorial to the victims of drunk drivers.

Nurse Recommends Measles Shots

Nurse Sarah Owen reports that the Texas State Health Department only recommends getting a measles shot if the person is under 30 years old and has either never been vaccinated against measles, or that the person received a measles shot before 15 months of age.

"They say the shots are about 90% effective for those people who got shots between 12-15 months of age. The shots were 95% effective for those who got their shots after they were 15 months old.

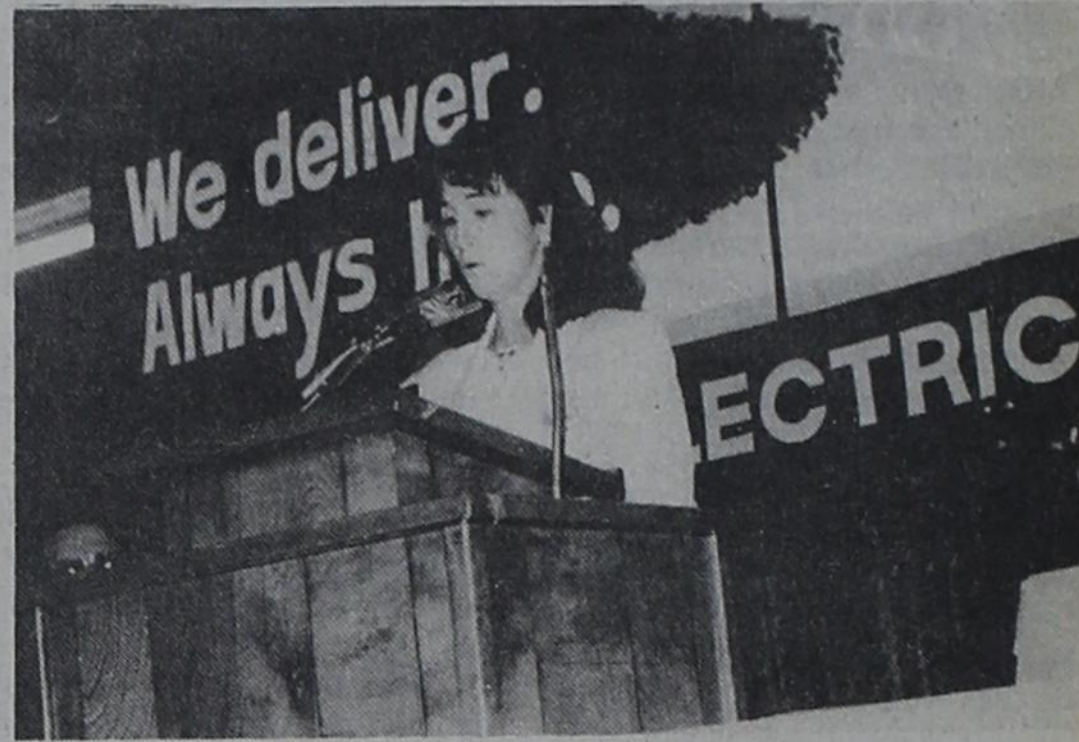

"For awhile they were saying that people vaccinated before 1980 should get a shot, but now the State Health Department has changed that advice," said Mrs. Owen.

Measles vaccine is available from Dr. Paul Spring at the Parmer County Health Department in Parmer County Community Hospital in Friona from 9-11 a.m. and from 2-4 p.m. Children under 18 must be accompanied by their parents.

Vaccine is also available from

Two Men Killed In Thursday Wreck

Two men were killed in a rural accident in southern Parmer County Thursday morning.

Highway patrol officials said that Alfredo Acosta, 30, and Gilberto Reyes, 34, both of Muleshoe, were occupying a 1982 Ford pickup truck at the time of the accident, which happened three miles east and three south of Clay's Corner at a county road intersection.

The truck occupied by the two victims was struck by a 1983

Oldsmobile driven by George Martinez, 45, of Lazbuddie. Martinez was hospitalized in Muleshoe, listed in stable condition.

One source said the pickup was following an 18-wheel truck, causing dust to billow. The dust may have been a factor in the crash.

Funeral services for the two victims were pending with Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe.

The Bovina Junior High girls produced some outstanding marks and times as they participated in the Muleshoe Relays this past Friday and Saturday.

Coach Rundell said, "This was one of the toughest track meets I've ever been to. We were competing against 1A, 2A, 3A and 5A schools, but the girls performed great, setting three new junior high school records."

The sprint relay foursome of Sophia Espinoza, Nancy Vargas, Christina Noriega and Lorena Saenz, used perfect hand-offs to produce a new 400-meter relay record of 54.9 during the preliminaries. They came back and placed sixth in the finals in the afternoon with a time of 55.3.

Lorena Saenz also set a new school record in the triple jump as she leaped 27-8½. Kimberly Kirkpatrick also broke the old record as she jumped 27-5½.
