Bull Town Bulletins By Bill Ellis

TEXAS PRESS Association sent us an interesting booklet this week. The booklet is entitled "Books From Texas Publishers."

It appears that a number of publishers are bent on trying to cash in on the Sesquicentennial by publishing books. Several of the titles sound more than passingly interesting.

For example, one book which is to be published in April by a Houston publisher, will be for young readers, explaining how early Texas towns and cities got their names. The book's title is "Did a Mule Lose its Shoe in Muleshoe, Texas?" (Surely Waylon Jennings, from nearby Littlefield, could set that title to music!)

Some of the books are of a historical nature, such as "Unsung Heroes of Texas," and "The Alamo and Other Texas Missions" from Lone Star Books and "Legendary Ladies of Texas" from E-Heart Press.

Other of the books are novels, such as "Sam Bass" and "Eighteen Holes" from Corona Publishing, and "The Dream Patch" and "The Boy in the Alamo" from the same company.

Some of the books are based on the lives of contemporary Texas residents, such as "Elevator Man," about the life of Bobby Johnson, wheeler-dealer grain elevator operator and fertilizer swapper who supposedly drowned off the Gulf of Mexico in 1977.

A number of the books are travelogues, such as "The Alamoand Other Texas Missions," "Great Hometown Restaurants of Texas," "Backroads of Texas," and "Camper's Guide to Texas Parks, Lakes and Forests," all from Lone Star Books.

There are several cookbooks offered, such as the "Calf Fries to Caviar" Cookbook from Jan-Su Publications of Lamesa.

Panhandle publisher, Maverick Books of Perryton, offers the "Hank the Cowdog" series, which has been featured on television, along with "Ace Reid, Cowpoke," and an epic novel entitled "The Hunter."

The book list includes "how to" books, such as "Management of Poisonous Snakebites" from Glass Publishing, "How to Incorporate Your Texas Business" and "How to Live and Die with Texas Probate" from Lone Star Books.

Those who like folklore might enjoy "How the Critters Created Texas" from Temple Publishers, or "T for Texas" from E-Heart

Adventure stories also abound, such as "Stowaway to Texas." "In the Line of Duty: Reflections of a Texas Ranger Private," and "The Texians," all from Post Oak

There are picture books, such as "Where Texas Meets the Sea," and even a list of books, "The 50 Best Books on Texas." Both of operations. these latter are from Pressworks

Letter To The Editor

Mr. Bill Ellis Friona Star & Bovina Blade Box 789 Friona, Texas 79035-0789

Dear Bill:

Thank you for your call and the information you gave me.

A friend brought me a copy of the Bovina paper and my announcement was on the front page. It was certainly a nice writeup and the position in the paper was the best.

You will be getting lots of information for your readers about the Silver Haired Legislature from the Panhandle Area Agency on Aging.

I cannot visit an area just to shake hands and I don't really think that will be effective with Senior Citizens, but I do plan to do some personal campaigning, so if there is something special going on in your area, I would love to be

I will contact the Senior Centers in each area and when they are having groups to discuss the issues, some of our Senior Citizens will come with me and we will have a fun time as well as have a chance to get better acquainted. I do intend to represent all the groups and their major concerns.

I do think this is our chance to show the Texas Legislature that we are a group to be taken seriously. If we don't find some answers soon, we won't like the ones imposed on us. This Silver Haired. Legislature can mean a lot to our Senior Citizens now, as well as those who will follow. I hope I have the chance to help prove that it is worthwhile. I hope we have a good voter turnout to prove that we do stand together.

Again, I thank you.
