TRENT'S NEW CITY HALL... first one ever

NEW TRENT POST OFFICE lacks only equipment

NEW TRENT CITY HALL OPENED JANUARY 27

The City of Trent is proud of its new look.

City dads showed off their new city hall to the public Jan. 27, and Postmaster Foy E. Steadman is waiting only for final installation of equipment before moving into the new Trent Post Office.

The new city hall is the first one ever for Trent. It provides a place for the city commission to meet, houses the volunteer fire department, and is the office home for school and city tax collector W. C. Mathews.

Before it was opened for use early in January, commissioners conducted city business from a meeting room in the Trent Public Schools.

The modern-styled city hall was built without the benefit of municipal bonds or public subscription. It cost approximately $8,500 to construct and was financed partly by funds from the city treasury and partly from funds borrowed from Home State Bank of Trent.

Dean Williams was contractor. Trent's new post office building will replace one which has been in use since 1927. old-timers say. It is of tile construction with face brick and contains 1,000 square feet.

It is air conditioned.

When the last equipment is installed, the post office will have 191 boxes and will serve between 375 and 400 patrons in the Trent area. The post office serves one rural route.

Jack Bleakley of San Angelo and H. A. Beaver of Austin were contractors for the building, which cost approximately $12,000 to construct. The construction work has actually been completed for several months, with the only hold-up the wait for arrival of a Post Office Department expert to install various postal equipment.

from nearly all the other candidates, both democratic and republican. All candidates took part except John Connally and Edwin Walker.

A little fire even developed between the three republican candidates. Harry Diehl of Houston said Jack Cox of Breckenridge was "not a Republican — just a conservative candidate."

But two days later, Diehl withdrew from the race, leaving Roy Whittenburg as the only republican primary opponent for Cox.

Don Yarborough and Marshall Formby attacked the Daniel administration as "tired" and "lacking vigor." Daniel came back with a recital of his five-year accomplishments in education, industrialization and other fields.

Will Wilson's approach was that Daniel's entry collapsed the Connally bandwagon by splitting Vice Pres. Lyndon Johnson's organization and that the only way to get an uncontrolled candidate was to elect Wilson.

Candidates got in more punches in answering tough questions posed by nine newsmen. All of Daniel's opponents made the Governor's unprecedented four-term try a central issue. In the course of questions Daniel came out for a two-term limit, but with four-year terms for governor instead of the present two.

FRIENDLESS INSECT — A big-battled crowd of ranchers gathered at an Austin hotel to get more facts on the stockman's dream — the elimination of the screwworm.

There was no one there to defend the insect. Ranchers learned from Floridians how that state was swept free of this costly scourge by a dramatic program. Florida ranchers covered the state with sterile male screwworm flies thus wasting the female flies' single mating period.

First airplane distribution of flies in South Texas started the day of the Austin meeting. Texas stockmen are raising $3,000,000 by voluntary contributions to match an equal amount of Federal money put up by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The ranchers an estimated $40,000,000 screwworms cost Southwestern a year in losses.

LIVESTOCK RAISERS GET HELPERS — A committee of five legislators held its first meeting after hearing plans of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation.

Speaker James A. Turman appointed Representatives Ray Bartram of New Braunfels, Steve Burgess of Nacogdoches, Stanley Boyesen of Yoakum, Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio and Gus Mitchner of Brenham to assist the SWAHRF in planning its attack on the screwworm fly.

HORSE OF ANOTHER COLOR Stamford oilman Keith Wheatley seemed to get off the track in his campaign for Railroad Commissioner when he told Austin pressmen that Texans should be able to cast a vote on the return of horse racing to the state.

Wheatley said he is neither for nor against racing, but believes "tax profits from horse racing could do much to aid the old people and the children of Texas."

Gubernatorial candidates are interested in regulating another kind of race. They think limitations should be set on the number of times a governor can run for reelection.

"I can lick any angel in the house."

Marshall Formby based his objections to the present lack of limits on the fact that most state projects are operating by commissions whose members are appointed by the governor on a rotating basis. Formby figures that by the end of a second term, a two-time governor has made every state commission appointment and it's time for him to take a rest.

John Connally seconded the charge of commission domination and said that by the end of a third term, every one of the more than 800 commissioners have been appointed by a three-time governor. He promised that he would ask the Legislature to limit a governor's tenure to two terms if he's elected.

MIGRANT STUDY SET UP — State Board of Education appointed R. P. Ward of Edinburg to head a study on the education of children of migrant parents, after Commissioner J. W. Edgar called this "one of the critical problems facing the Texas public school system."

Ward, former president of Pan American College, will develop a guide for teaching these children, who form a large percentage of the enrollment in Rio Grande Valley schools.

TEACHER'S TIME TABULATED — State Board of Examiners for Teacher Education and the Texas Education Agency sent out about 30,000 questionnaires, asking how Texas educators spend their time on curricular, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities.

So far, more than 20,000 answers are in. Agency researchers are anxious for the other replies. They want to feed them to computing machines. Purpose is to get an analysis to help the Texas Legislative Council prepare a full report on teacher certification and the status of education in Texas.

Other facts of a report to be presented to the 58th Legislature in January will include the public view of education; a history of teacher education and certification in Texas; personal characteristics and social and economic data of teachers; a look at the current class of education majors and an analysis of their college course work.

When the "portrait of a Texas teacher" is completed, educators think it will represent the most comprehensive study of public education ever undertaken in this state.

salaries to new teachers — $4,900 a year and that practically all districts with 2,500 or more students pay more than the $4,014 legal minimum.

GOP PRIMARIES UNDER FIRE — State democratic committeeman Walter Sterling opened another argument in the inter-party battle when he accused republicans of lodging their responsibility by not holding a primary in every precinct in the state.

Sterling and the State Democratic Executive Committee question the legality of a republican primary nominee who has not been voted on by every republican Executive Director Clyde Johnson said "The republicans should not be able to avoid local and general responsibility in these primary elections."

Republicans counter-argued that democrats failed to hold primaries in 24 counties during the 1960 special election. But Johnson promised the party will "follow the law as usual" and hold primaries in all 254 counties this May.

SHORT SNORTS
Governor Daniel has appointed

Thomas H. Stillwell of Palestine as judge of the 3rd District Court, to succeed Judge V. M. Johnston.

A report from State Auditor C. H. Cavness showed the Board of Registration for Professional Engineers made a transfer of $225,000 to help pay for the new State Office Building No. 2, where it will office.

Board of Corrections and Highway Department have purchased more than $350,000 worth of steel, which state prison inmates will use to fashion auto license plates for 1963.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The feller that runs the country store announced Saturday night he'd appreciate getting his two-bits worth into the conversation for a change. As a general rule he don't take no part with the fellers solving the world problems ever week, but Saturday night he was chomping at the bit about spending all his time keeping store records for them tax agencies.

He claims things is worse now than they was back when the OPA was regulating prices. He recollected that back in 1949 when the OPA removed price ceilings on cowbells, bullrings, horseshoes and cocktail shakers, he wrote 'em that he didn't have no cocktail shakers. They told him to sit some.

He said things has went from there to worse and today he don't know whether the tax folks owns his business or he owns it. All he knows fer shore, he claims, is that he waits on a customer now and then when he can find time from tending his tax books.

He allowed as how he was voting agin all candidates in the next election and aimed to shoot the first one that tried to leave any cards or literature in his store. He claimed the only political propagander ever left at his store that was worth reading was a handbill a feller running fer Sheriff come by and left him about 30 years ago. It seems a drunk printer was trying to set a patent medicine ad and the handbill at the same time. He got the handbill out of a bottom drawer and read it to the fellers:

"I wish to announce to the voters of this county that for 25 year I have suffered from ashma and lumbago on the Democratic ticket and thought they was no cure fer me until I heard of the office of county Sheriff, for which my doctor advised me to run.

"I have never held county office, but have been troubled with nervousness and handshaking, so feel I am well qualified. I was operated on 2 months ago fer appendicitis, so feel I am cut out fer the duties required. I have had 14 teeth pulled to see if it would help me pull in the votes I have gained 40 pounds and hundreds of votes and am feeling like a new man.

"While it has been impossible fer me to see all the voters personal, I will say that this has been a Godsend to me and I will appreciate your vote and 2 bottles of your magic tonic."

Ed Doolittle said the storekeeper made him recollect the country editor that run the paper over in his county when Ed was a boy. According to Ed, the paper come out occasional and sometimes oftener. It come out only when the editor got riled up about somepun.

Yours truly,
GABBY

GARDENING NOTES

By MRS. A. H. McELMURRAY

Have you seen the roses and bulbs that have been set at Starr Rest Home or perhaps the flower arrangements in the rooms of the residents?

Whether you have or not, you may find it interesting to know that they are a project of the Merkel Garden Club. The project is known as "Garden Therapy," one of the new major programs of garden clubs throughout the United States. Interest in garden therapy is growing very fast.

In New Jersey in 1960 over 95 per cent of the local clubs had such a project, and in Texas the state organization sponsored 444 therapy programs and collected the material for a new book on the subject of garden therapy.

Clubs over the nation report that they are finding it one of their most rewarding experiences.

Garden therapy operates on the theory that Garden Clubs can bring some joy into the lives of unfortunate people, whether the aged, the crippled child, or patients in a hospital. Besides, getting the unfortunates interested in participating in garden work themselves is good for their health.

In some communities the handicapped have been encouraged to form their own garden clubs, grow their own flowers, make their own arrangements, and participate in clubs and shows.

The Merkel Garden Club has assisted in starting the flower garden at Starr's Rest Home. It carries flower arrangements to the home and to the hospital on special occasions, and makes a special effort to place one in the rooms of the shut-ins on their birthday.

The joy of bringing a little more happiness to the unfortunate is not only a rewarding experience to Club members but it provides them with practical experience in cultivation and arrangements.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Andy Baker on March 16. The 4-H Club will give a demonstration for the club.

Thank you, Texas Newspapers!

For 20 years, Texas newspapers have been giving the government free space in which to advertise U. S. Savings Bonds.

You've seen the ads: you save more than money with U. S. Savings Bonds. Those ads have sold an impressive number of bonds in Texas, bonds that have helped, and are helping, your government defend freedom at a precarious moment in history, when freedom is in desperate need of defending.

When you buy these bonds you serve well the cause of liberty. You enable your country to build up her own defenses without doing damage to her economy. You insure the future for this and succeeding generations.

The space occupied by the ads that sold those bonds was donated to your government — and that means to you — by the newspapers of Texas.

We thought you'd like to know.

"The public-spirited newspapers of Texas have made an important contribution to the well-being of this country," says Ed Gossett, Co-Chairman of the Texas State Savings Bond Committee.

"We are happy to salute the generous newspapers of this State. They have done their part, and more, in giving the public an understanding of the importance of Savings Bonds — to individual buyers, and to the cause of freedom. And they have certainly made this Committee's job easier."

HOME DEMONSTRATION NOTES

By LORETA ALLEN

Taylor County Home Demonstration Agent

Need help in planning or buying your spring wardrobe?

Then two bulletins prepared by clothing specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service may provide just the assistance you are seeking.

The information bulletins are L-481, "For Clues to Clothing Care—Read Your Fiber Label," and MP-454, "Sewing Today's Fabrics."

Besides the information included in the bulletins special sewing instructions should be followed when using stretch and laminated fabrics. The County Home Demonstration Agents have these special sewing instructions.

Fiber identification is an important clue to the use of modern fabrics. Each textile fiber product, such as clothing, carries a label which gives the generic names and percentages by weight of the fibers in the products.

The natural fibers—cotton, linen, silk and wool—are familiar to everyone. Some of the manmade fibers have unfamiliar generic names, however.

The generic names are useful to the homemaker and the dry-cleaner in caring for the clothing. They are clues to proper washing, drying and pressing temperatures and to spot removal and storage.

Reliable manufacturers base performance claims and care recommendations on yarn construction, fabric weave or knit, textile finish, and finally on garment design and trim, in addition to the fiber content.

So look for performance and care information on the labels of fabrics by the yard as well as ready-to-wear when you look for the generic name of the fiber.

Besides the assistance in fabric selection the bulletins also provide help in pattern selection, cutting, marking, pressing and sewing.

Are you planning to buy or build a new home soon?

This year, medium-priced homes are being shown in several new designs with eye-catching features.

Here are some features that you will be able to select from:

A larger number of more spacious rooms.

Greater separation by zones such as sleeping, living and recreation.

The split level is being used to accomplish this most effectively.

Inner courts enclosed on three or four sides.

Patios accessible by glass doors from two or more rooms.

Closer link between inside of the house and the outdoors. This is accomplished through greater use of picture windows, sliding glass doors and patios or courts.

A more intelligent use of land contours and existing trees in both house design and landscaping.

Fortnightly Club Slates Fashion Show for Tuesday

Cottons for all occasions, featuring the newest fabric finishes and the latest McCall's patterns, will be presented in a fashion show Tuesday, February 27 in the home of Mrs. W. T. Sadler, 602 Oak, by the Fortnightly Study Club.

The fashion collection, "Cavalcade of Cottons, 1962," is made available as a loan service co-sponsored by the National Cotton Council, Memphis, Tennessee, and the Pattern Division of McCall Corporation, New York City. Round-the-clock apparel ranges from housecoat to formal and includes several styles for children. Thirteen well-known American fabric houses are represented by cottons—summer sheers to winter corduroys—washable wrinkle-resistant and easy-to-care-for.

The fabric and fashion story of 1962 is highlighted by color notes such as the patriotic red, white and blue look in gingham and sports cottons, the sun-drenched citrus shades in prints, and the neutral tones of toast, beige, camel, black and white for town and travel.

Patterns follow designers' choice of the soft silhouette for suits, coats and dresses. A short, demi-fitted jacket is the shape that tops skirts as well as dresses.

Both fabrics and patterns are available in fine stores throughout the country.

Plans for the show were announced by Mrs. Don Dudley. Mrs. Ben R. Hicks will serve as commentator.

YOUNG IDEAS from Polly Ponds

My young sister is always using my cosmetics and wearing my clothes. My mother says we should share with each other, but I don't have anything left for myself.

Your mother is right but your sister is wrong to abuse the rule to the point where it becomes all take and no give.

Ask your mother to amend the system so that your sister must ask your permission before she helps herself to your possessions. It will be up to you to say 'yes' or 'no'.

You'll probably find that there will be fewer squabbles and better feeling all around, if you volunteer to share some of your things with your sister—even before she asks. This might help curb her tendencies to take more than you are willing to spare.

SENATOR YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texans:

One of the major and most pressing legislative matters to come before the 87th Congress is S-1241, a bill to provide increased college academic facilities and more scholarships to students.

One part of this bill authorizes the appropriation of $50 million for each of five years, a total of $250 million, for matching grants to states to assist in the building of public junior colleges.

Texas has 30 of the nation's 331 public junior colleges. These 30 Texas schools served a total of 30,377 students working for degree credits in 1961. This was an increase of almost seven per cent over the 1960 enrollment in public junior colleges in Texas, a growth percentage that is impressive evidence of the need of these community schools.

The cost of getting a higher education is the biggest single road-block of high school graduates in Texas, as well as the rest of the United States. Community junior colleges allow a student the opportunity to live at home instead of moving to a distant city with all the extra expense involved of room and board and transportation. Community colleges open the doors to higher education to thousands upon thousands of young Texans who otherwise would be unable to advance beyond high school.

Of the $50 million annually that would be authorized for grants to the 50 states, Texas would qualify for $2,401,135. To get this amount for its junior colleges, Texas would invest $4,044,476 in matching funds. Leading education authorities have testified before the Senate Education Subcommittee of which I am a member, that the American technological economy requires an increasing number of persons trained at an intermediate level—not full-fledged engineers or scientists, but high-level technicians or semi-professionals.

Junior colleges provide two years of training that can lead to further study, or preparation for employment immediately on completion of the two years. These community colleges perform a vital role in upgrading the personnel demanded by industry, either by advanced technical, scientific and managerial training, or through advanced general education.

These community colleges are relatively inexpensive to build, since they do not require massive expenditures for graduate and post-graduate training facilities. Their primary concern is education, which in my opinion is one of the primary concerns of our nation at a time when knowledge is a source of national strength.

The education bill before Congress includes a... qualified provision that the matching funds agreements would be carried out without any impediment to the control of the schools by the local elected administration. This bill passed the United States Senate this week with an overwhelming vote. It now goes to the House of Representatives for its action.

It's the Law in TEXAS

TIPS ON TAXES

The preparation of income tax returns requires that you do a little thinking, a little reading of rules, and a little searching for the books and records you should have been keeping during the taxable year. This is the first in a series of articles designed to assist you in accomplishing your task.

Generally, you must file an income tax return if you receive a calendar year. However, if you receive a calendar year if you have reached 65 years of age by the end of the calendar year for which you are filing your return, you need not file a return unless you received over $1,200 in gross income. These rules apply whether you are married or single, a minor or an adult.

Gross income refers to all of the old form. If your income is only from salary or wages and not more than $200 of dividends and interest, you need only file pages 1 and 2.

The specific form you are to submit your return is a matter of personal choice with you based upon the type of income you have and the amount of deductible expenditures you have incurred.

This year there are only two income tax forms available, the 1040 and the 1040A. Form 1040A, the "simplified" form, is by far the simpler of the two. However, it may only be used if your income was less than $10,000 and consisted entirely of wages reported on your withholding statement (Form W-2) and not more than $200 total of dividends, interest, and other wages not subject to withholding. A husband and wife may file a joint return on Form 1040A if their combined incomes do not exceed the limits. Form 1040A also may not be used if you itemize deductions, claim a dividend received credit or a retirement income credit, or claim an exclusion for "sick pay."

Form 1040 has been revised this year, and the old 1040W has been eliminated. The new form has only two pages, similar to pages 1 and 2 of the old Form 1040. A new separate Schedule B replaces the items (except the summary of capital gains and losses) which formerly appeared on pages 3 and of the old form. If your income is only from salary or wages and not more than $200 of dividends and interest, you need only file pages 1 and 2.

Our tax laws are self-assessing in nature. This means that you, as the taxpayer, have a duty and obligation to report the facts and circumstances surrounding your receipt of income. The majority of simple tax returns can best and most properly be prepared by you, the taxpayer, after studying the instruction booklets available to you.

The Internal Revenue Service also makes available a booklet entitled "Your Federal Income Tax" to help you understand more complicated problems and more adequately submit the required information. Any problems which you might encounter should properly be referred to the various offices of the Internal Revenue Service or your lawyer for advice.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Mr. R. B. Horton of Abilene was a visitor in the home of his mother Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Amazon Thursday.

VETERANS INFORMATION

Members of the armed forces on active duty may be protected from lapse of commercial insurance policies by the VA under terms of the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act. Just what does it mean?

Once your commercial insurance policy is protected by the VA under these terms, it will not lapse or terminate for non-payment of premiums while you are on active duty and for two years after your discharge, unless you request withdrawal of the protective provisions. If you do not pay the premiums and interest to your insurance company during the protective period, the amount due will be treated by the VA as a loan. If the cash surrender value of your policy at the end of the protective period is less than the amount guaranteed, the policy will terminate and the government will pay your insurance company the difference. Any sum paid the company by the VA will become your debt to the United States.

I am a World War II veteran. Since I designated the beneficiary for my GI insurance, I have married and have two sons. How can I change my beneficiary and perhaps the option for payment to my beneficiary?

Write your VA Regional Office for form 9-336, "Change of Beneficiary and Election of Optional Settlement." Fill out the form and mail it to the insurance office to which you pay your GI insurance premiums.

Will the VA guarantee a business loan whereby a veteran may purchase a boat to use in business, either fishing or the transportation of sightseeing tourists?

Yes, if a veteran can negotiate a loan to buy a boat as a business venture the VA is authorized to guaranty the lender against loss up to 50 percent of the loan with a maximum guaranty of $2,000 on non-real estate loans.

Why does the government pay dividends on GI life insurance?

The annual GI insurance dividends are primarily a return to the policy holders of part of the premiums they have paid since the death rate of veterans continues to be less than estimated in the mortality tables upon which the premium rates were set by law.

I am a veteran who was discharged for a service-connected disability. Because of that, am I entitled to a special deadline date for a GI home loan?

Yes. Veterans discharged for service-connected disabilities are eligible for home loans until the maximum deadline, regardless of the time they left the service. This date is July 25, 1967, for World War II veterans and January 31, 1975, for Korea veterans.

WHAT?
BUILD A PICKUP TRUCK SPECIALLY FOR TEXAS?

YES SIR—THE '62 FORD!

IT STARTED IN TEXAS—when Ford engineers drove Texas roads and ranches, talked to Texas truck owners. And it wound up with lots of fine things for you in the '62 Ford!

The wheelbase is long—114 easy-riding inches (122 for 8-foot bodies). There's less front overhang, more road stability. The ride is smooth. Easier springing makes the ride as soft as a Texas drawl! The frame is strong—to beat twisting of high-crowned Texas roads.

The savings are BIG. You save now with the lowest prices of any leading make.* Save on gas with Ford's modern engines, Six and V-8. Save on oil—go 4,000 miles between changes. Save on tires with Ford's I-beam suspension that keeps front tires tracking true.

Come try the '62 Ford—the pickup built for Texas, built in Texas!

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

BY VERN SANFORD

"Like to fish where fish bite the year 'round?"

When Alcoa Lake was opened to public fishing in July of 1951, there were many skeptics who claimed that fishing there wouldn't stand up for two years. Fishing pressure, they said, would kill off a lake that small in nothing flat.

However, by the fall of 1960, more than 215,000 game fish had been taken from Alcoa. Today it still shows no sign of wilting under the pressure.

Where is Alcoa Lake? Alcoa is located about 60 miles east of Austin. Built by the Aluminum Company of America, it serves as a giant "radiator" for the firm's big plant near Rockdale.

Actually, the lake is in two parts, separated by a dike and connected by a mile-long canal. Water from the "cool" side is pumped through the plant to keep the machinery from overheating. It comes out in what is called the "hot" side.

In total, Alcoa Lake is about 850 acres in size. Only the cool side, or about 650 acres, is available for public fishing.

No fee is required to fish at Alcoa. You can fish from sunrise to sunset. But for safety reasons no fishing is allowed at night.

This is one lake strictly for fishermen! No motor larger than 15 hp. is permitted. Water skiing is banned.

There is no natural inflow of water in Alcoa. That's one reason why Alcoa usually remains clear and fishable, even during the hardest of downpours.

Water for the lake is pumped through a pipeline some 12 miles from the junction of the San Gabriel and Little Rivers.

Although only the cool side is opened to fishing, biologists point to the hot side as the real key to Alcoa's success. They believe that fish spawn in the hotter side the year round, and that many fish migrate down the canal to be caught by fishermen in the cool half.

Actually, one of the most popular spots to fish is where the blockade cable is stretched across the mouth of the canal at the cool end. The cable is there to keep boats from moving up the canal and disturbing the fish.

There are two public fishing barges at Alcoa. Many people fish off these barges, which have baited waters beneath them. But many more go out in boats to probe the shoreline weeds for catfish, bass and crappie.

Alcoa is one lake that doesn't fit the pattern of others. It offers fishing spring and fall, summer and winter. It stays good! Perhaps the flow of cool and warm water between the two parts has something to do with it.

Crappie fishing at Alcoa reaches its peak during the summer's two hottest months, July and August.

Many big bass are caught during the dead of winter, especially near the mouth of the canal.

To date the largest catfish taken from the lake is a 44 pounder. Several flathead (yellow) cats in the 30-plus class have been taken all on sport-tackle. No trolling fishing is allowed.

Thus far, no really big bass have come from Alcoa. However, a couple of seven-pound-plus specimens have been caught. Ironically, both these were taken the same day.

Jack Lewis of Rockdale has the distinction of having caught the largest bass to come from Alcoa to date. But he admits that his record won't stand up for long.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

I like "corn."
Most people do

What is "corn"? It's just sentiment and humor that are based on fundamental ideals, memories and hopes.

Liking what a few condescendingly call "corn" means that you are genuine.

Breakfast, dinner and supper are "corny" but nobody has been able to devise a satisfactory substitute for them.

When Italy was under the dictatorship of black-shirted, black-hearted Mussolini, Il Duce was in Naples one day, incoquino, and he attended a picture show. A news reel was flashed on the screen and there was Mussolini reviewing the troops. Everyone else in the theater arose and saluted the dictator. He didn't know what to do. To remain seated was to show disrespect to the ruler of Italy; to arise would be the height of egotism. His better nature, for once, triumphed; he remained seated. The scene changed and all took their seats. The man next to Mussolini leaned over in the darkness and said, "That's the way we all feel about the blankety-blank but we don't have the courage that you have!"

I like "corn" and have the nerve to say so. Nearly everybody else like sit to, if they would just own up.

Should some Pharisee happen to read this and feel inclined to jeer from the heights of his intellectual superiority, let him remember the first night of one of Shaw's plays. At the final curtain, the audience cheered and cheered; then shouted, "Author! Author!" The pink-whiskered playwright appeared and was given an ovation. Just as the applause subsided, however, someone gave a lusty "Boo!" Shaw smiled and said, "I agree with you; but who are you and I to hold out against all these other people?"

According to the Ph.D.'s, anything that plain folks like is "corny." By that standard, Dickens was corny; so was Mark Twain, Will Rogers and Abraham Lincoln—yes, and Homer chanting the Iliad to a crowd on the street and Shakespeare writing plays for working people to watch in the yards of inns.

Just enroll me with Twain and Rogers, Lincoln and Homer and Shakespeare: I'm not proud.

We folks who like genuine sentiment and homespun humor are like that troupe of strolling players who arrived, broke, in a West Texas town and, just before curtain time, the leading man peeped out at the audience. "How is it?" another actor asked. The star replied, "It's the biggest crowd we've had yet—but we've got 'em outnumbered."

We've got th ehighbrows outnumbered.
