THE WAY IT WAS...The biggest majority of Americans may not be able to remember when Walter Cronkite was not the top newscaster on television.

Yet, "Uncle Walter" has hung up his spikes from the TV anchorman position. He plans to continue working for the CBS network, doing some news specials, but will no longer grace the evening news.

Cronkite brought the qualities of trust and believability to television that few other television personalities have matched. In fact, at one time, he was named the nation's most trusted man by one of the polsters.

His contemporaries gave Walter a rousing "going away" splash during the past week. In a rare display of recognition, the other two major networks had special features on the longtime CBS newsmen, as likewise did the leading newsmagazines.

During this "media blitz," we learned some things about Cronkite that we had not known before; and perhaps it helped to explain why we have always preferred Walter's nightly newscast.

For one thing, got his news training in the newspaper business. He insists that before a newsman can "know all the ropes," he needs to have a good background in print journalism. "Unless you know how to organize a news story down to the 32nd paragraph, you can't really know what ought to be in the top two paragraphs, which is all that we're delivering most of the time on television," Cronkite was quoted as saying.

Too many of the young broadcasters of today are mainly interested in wanting a starring role. "They're about as interested in journalism as most actors are. They're far more interested in money and fame," Cronkite says.

The noted newsman said in one of the articles on his career that when he first took over the CBS Evening News, he wanted to sign off with "For further information, read your local newspaper," but that the network officials raised such a furor that he had to dispense with that idea.

For most of their local affiliates, these local newspapers were the local TV stations' biggest competitors, the network brass argued.

The reason Cronkite prefers, even after all this time in television news, to give the print media a plug is that he realizes that television news only skims the surface of the day's news.

"Broadcast journalism is never going to substitute for print (journalism) in the total spectrum of communications. It's a great guide to the day's news, but we cannot cover in depth in a half-hour many of the stories required to get a good understanding of the world," Cronkite says. People need to learn to go from television to newspapers and magazines for further information and more explanation, he adds.

Cronkite saw the daily network news expand from a 15-minute format to a 30-minute broadcast, beginning in 1963. He says he would like to see the nightly network news go to an hour format. "If we had more time, we could do a much better job, and could make our broadcasts more understandable," says the dean of America's newscasters.

It is said that he has been held in such high esteem, that numbers of people have been quoted as saying, "Well, if Walter Cronkite said it, then it's bound to be true."

Dan Rather will be an able replacement. He has proven his mettle, and is a good journalist. But in the long run, how do you replace a legend? Millions of Americans will miss Walter's fatherly image each evening as they tune in to the news.

"He even had a way of making us feel better about bad news he had to give," said one of his admirers.

Court Tables Query On Sale Of Old Bars

The Parmer County Commissioners Court was apprised of needed repairs and wiring changes which are needed on the second floor of the courthouse, at the last meeting of the court.

After a tour of the areas needing attention, Judge Porter Roberts was instructed to proceed in getting the repairs done.

The court had been asked to consider the sale of the bars and door from the old county jail. After much discussion as to what the price should be, the fact was mentioned that the bars were the original equipment of the first jail built on the location. The question was then tabled for the moment.

Commissioner Ernest Anthony of Precinct 1 had attended a meeting in Austin with a group of Deaf Smith County officials in support of a bill which would give the county $125,000 more per year from the sale of license tags. The court approved Anthony's expenses on the trip.

Friana State Bank had asked to be allowed to substitute securities pledged to the county. The bank wanted to substitute $25,000 in Devine Independent School District bonds, maturing February 1, 1984, for $25,000 in Haltom City bonds, maturing March 1, 1981. Permission was granted for the substitution.

The court agreed to pay a bill from Potter County, for aid for a mental patient while in Amarillo.

Soil Conservation work was approved for the following farmers: Precinct 2: J.B. Barrett, $70; John F. Dixon, $37.50; Prentes Pruitt, $17.50; Owen Seamonds, $52.50; Herbert Schueler, $105.00; D.T. King, $52.50; and James W. Dixon, $170.

Precinct 3: Preston Cargile, $210; Joe White, $105; Scott Gober, $87.50; Webb Gober, $70; Precinct 4: Ricky Rector, $210; Ronald Elliott, $25; J.R. Barnes, $35; Fred Burch, $70; and Raymond McGehee, $140.

Extension Agent Seth Ralston pointed out to the court that time limits are to be set on spraying with 2,4-D, or its derivatives. This will be discussed at the court's meeting on March 9.

Ralston gave a report on the Parmer County Jr. Livestock Show in Friana. He reported that 78 4-H members were involved in the show, with a total of 182 barrows, 43 lambs and five steers, of which, 44 barrows, 16 lambs and three steers made the auction sale.

Ralston pointed out that county 4-H members have 14 barrows and four lambs entered in the Houston Livestock Show March 2-8.

Judge Roberts had been contacted by a woman at Friana asking the county to help pay a hospital bill for her daughter. After much discussion as to the size of the bill and the shape of the county's finances, the commissioners took no action on the request.

PROCLAIMS WEEK...County Judge Porter Roberts is shown with a document proclaiming the week of March 8-14 as Green Thumb Week in Parmer County, spotlighting the older workers. With Roberts are Pearl Cervantez, Green Thumb sponsor, and Emiliana Martinez, Green Thumb Worker.

Green Thumb Week Proclaimed Locally

Older Worker Week is planned for March 8-14, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb, Inc. is encouraging employers to recognize their older workers during this week.

Evidence that the older worker is a high-quality employee is mounting. According to a survey made recently among some of America's largest corporations, 84 percent of the personnel directors queried thought that older employees are more productive. Older workers were also more satisfied with their jobs than younger workers, according to the survey conducted by the Corporate Committee for Retirement Planning. Older workers were found to have better attendance and lower accident rates as well.

Green Thumb is a rural older worker employment program funded through the Department of Labor and is working to eliminate the unfounded prejudice against older workers.

Green Thumb directly hires nearly 1,000 workers 55 years of age and older, on a part-time basis. Green Thumb employees are placed in community jobs throughout the 107 county area in which the program operates. These workers not only demonstrate the value of accumulated experience and wisdom acquired with age, but also contribute services that their communities might not otherwise afford.

Green Thumb Director Diane Parrish urges both public and private employers to recognize their older employees during this Older Worker Week. "I've found that formal education and chronological age have nothing to do with one's ability," said Parrish. "During their years of work, they have learned a great deal, have gained invaluable experience and have come to appreciate and be proud of doing a good job. We should remember, especially during this week, that capability, not age, is the true measure of a workers worth."

Green Thumb is an equal opportunity employer and is one resource for locating older jobseekers. For more information, employers may contact the Texas Employment Commission in their area or write to the Texas Green Thumb office at: P.O. Box 7898, Waco, Texas, 76710; or call 817-776-4700.

Scientists' goal is more rainfall for Hill Country

COLLEGE STATION — The craggy Balcones Escarpment and nearby Hill Country have long been popular with tourists for their rustic charm, but scientists say geological features of the area are also responsible for slightly more moisture falling on that area than on some adjacent regions.

Meteorologists from Texas A&M University will spend the next several months bent over thick volumes of weather data and peering into radar screens as part of a project to boost that rainfall even more through cloud-seeding.

Prof. Walter K. Henry said an increase could put average yearly rainfall for the eastern Edwards Plateau and Hill Country above 30 inches.

That might do much, he said, to replenish the important Edwards Limestone Aquifer, "country of 1100 springs, which supplies San Antonio as well as providing irrigation and drinking water for vast rural stretches of the state.

Speeders beware: highway patrolmen sharpen radar skills

COLLEGE STATION — Drivers who fudge on posted speed limits will soon face increased odds of being ticketed for speeding, say law enforcement training officials for the Texas Engineering Extension Service (TEEX).

Texas highway patrolmen are going back to school on the Texas A&M University campus to learn how to use radar speed measurement equipment.

The course is a result of a recent Florida court case, in which a speeding citation based on radar measurement was thrown out. The defense proved to the court that the equipment was improperly calibrated and operated.

The radar operators course offered by TEEX's Law Enforcement and Security Training Division will instruct officers on scientific principles and theory of technology. Factors that can limit the accuracy and effectiveness of radar equipment will be emphasized along with operating procedures to circumvent or minimize the factors.

Scooter's Scoops

By Scooter Russell

Several Bovina people have been to Lake Amistead, near Del Rio, during the past week taking vacation time and trying their luck fishing. They were: Virginia and Thomas Rhodes, Sam and Shirley Garrison, Ernestine and Billy Marshall, Oakley and Yvonne Stevenson, Monta and Jerry McClaran and daughter Kay, and also Virginia's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey of Clovis. Monta said the weather was drizzly and foggy while they were there and the fishing wasn't the best.

We want to congratulate Gladys and Woodrow Wright and Juanita and Dean Hastings on the birth of a new granddaughter. She was born Tuesday morning of this week to their children, Jerry and Carol Jean Wright of Truth or Consequences, New Mexico. The little girl has been named Jerri Jean and Gladys told me they would call her "J.J." She has a big brother, Heath.

Jack and Ona Patterson have recently spent about ten days with their grandchildren, Cara and Russell of Abilene while their parents Cynthia and James McDaniel vacationed at the Grand Cammon Islands which are south of Cuba. Jack told me the McDaniels had a lot of fun skuba diving and that Cynthia went down one hundred feet and said it was very exciting.

Tuesday morning of this week I was talking with P.O. Dixon and he told me his wife had undergone surgery to correct a hernia about ten days ago at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo and while she was there she suffered a congestive heart attack. He said she is home now but weak and having to take it easy for a while.

Our deepest sympathies to the family of Kathy Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Minyen. She is survived by her husband Harry and daughter Kimberly. She also is survived by two brothers and two sisters.

Lucille Killough's father John Purvis of Altus, Oklahoma, passed away February 17 and services were held February 20. Lucille now lives in Muleshoe but once lived in Bovina and several knew her father who spent time with her while she lived here.

Sue Barrett's mother, Mrs. J.H. George of Flomont, Texas, suffered a broken hip about two and one half

It's A Girl For Wrights

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wright of Truth or Consequences, New Mexico became the parents of a baby girl, born March 10 at 8 a.m. (N.M. time).

The infant weighed seven pounds, six and one-half ounces and was named Jerri Jean. She has an older brother, Heath, who is eight years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hastings.

Great-grandparents are Pearl Hastings of Prairie Acres and Thelma Dunham of Burkburnett, Texas.

weeks ago and spent ten days in the hospital. She is now recuperating and both she and Mr. George are with the Barretts.

Hattie Gray came home from the hospital last Friday. She spent a week at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock with breathing problems. She said she hadn't gained her strength back yet but it was good to be out of the hospital.

Alvin and Doris Glasscock came home last Sunday. They have been in Zapata for about four months except for a few days they spent in Bovina during Christmas. Alvin said they had been spending the winter months at Zapata for about seven or eight years but this had been a bad year as far as the weather and fishing were concerned. Said the weather averaged an exceptionally cool 50 degrees with lots of fog and drizzle. Alvin said this part of the state was having the best weather of any part of Texas and they were glad to be home.

LaVonia Moody was telling me her son Carl was getting along fine after having a kidney stone removed. He was in the St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

She said her son-in-law Eddie Fullingim who was involved in a head-on collision about three weeks ago is also getting along fine now.

Dick and Mary Richards, their son Scott, and their daughter Jeanna vacationed for a few days in Galveston during the spring break visiting with another daughter Kathi. Dick was telling me Kathi lives in Galveston and works as a chemical engineer for Union Carbide in Texas City.

The Richards were away from home five days.

Leona Steelman entered the High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo last Friday for tests. The family said they are expecting her to be released this week.

Durward and Fern Bell returned home last week from visiting their daughter and family, Karen and Royce Grissom and children Capi and Cody of Montrose, Colorado. While there they helped granddaughter Capi celebrate her eighth birthday.

Fern was telling me about the fun of ice fishing on the Blue Mesa Lake which is about 60 miles from where the Grissoms live. She said people would bore a hole through ice which was twelve to fifteen inches deep on the lake and drop their lines through to fish for salmon and rainbow trout. The family thought it looked a little strange to see people build fires in buckets sitting on the ice, for warmth while they fished.

The Bells had a real good time and returned home last Friday.

Lavida Hawkins who suffered a heart attack about a week ago is getting along real good but will be in the hospital for a few more days. She is in the High Plains Clovis Hospital, Room 411.

Barbarete Sikes came home from the Muleshoe Hospital where she was a patient for several days following surgery on her foot. I understand she is getting along fine but will be off her feet for several days.

Have a good week and thank you for helping with the Scoops....Scooter.

BEVERLY JEAN RADFORD and KENNETH BARRETT HINSON....Mr. and Mrs. Gene Radford of Buffalo, Oklahoma announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beverly Jean of Friona, to Kenneth Barrett Hinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hinson of Springlake, Texas. The wedding will take place Saturday, April 18 at 3 p.m. in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Norton of Friona.

Beef Production Course Scheduled At Lazbuddie

A beef production short course for adult farmers will be held March 16-19 under the sponsorship of the Lazbuddie High School Vocational Agriculture Department according to Sam Barnes, Superintendent, and Rick Copp, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture.

Dr. Elmer V. Krehbiel, Beef Production Specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Krehbiel has a strong background in animal production and genetics. He received a B.S. degree from Oklahoma State University in 1950, an M.S. degree from the University of Arkansas in 1959, and a Ph. D. degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1966. His graduate studies were based on selection for type and reproduction performance of cow herds.

Between periods of formal training, Dr. Krehbiel worked with the beef cattle industry as artificial insemination technician, beef cattle herdsman and ranch manager in Oklahoma. He also served as beef cattle research assistant for Arkansas, and animal geneticist for the USDA at Miles City, Montana. For two years prior to joining the Agricultural Education Specialist Program, he served as Area Livestock Extension Agent in Ohio.

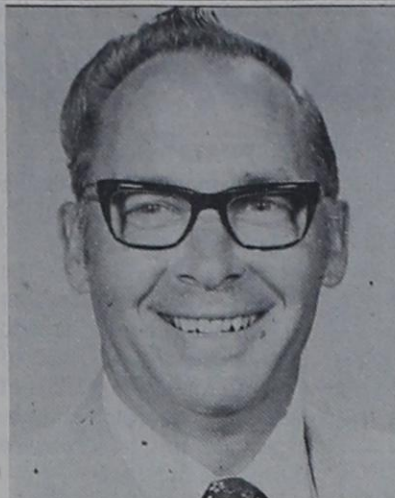

The short course at Lazbuddie High School is scheduled to begin March 16 at 7 p.m. in the Vocational Agriculture Building. During the dates the short course is in progress, Dr. Krehbiel will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Rick Copp.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call Rick Copp at 965-2806 or 965-2156. An entry fee of $5.00 will be charged.

Beef Production Short Course certificates will be presented to each cattelman who attends all the training sessions.

Dr. Krehbiel states that the field of beef cattle production must take a close look at efficiency of production in the future. With land prices, feed, and taxes rising, the producer is meeting more and more competition for the consumer's dollar at the meat counter. From the economic view of the beef cattle business, there is every indication that in comparing the producer of yesteryear and the producer of tomorrow, beef must be produced more efficiently in order to be a profit-making business. Dr. Krehbiel indicated that the beef production short course will deal with methods of producing beef at a lower cost and the ways of producing the kind of beef that the homemaker wants to buy.

John and Mary have been married more than 40 years. He's just ended a 30-year career with an accounting firm. She's been a homemaker for 40 years.

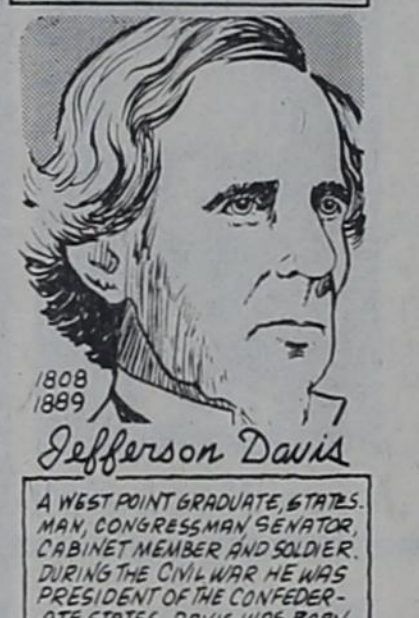

So, he's retired. But is she? Although he's home all day now and his life has changed drastically, does hers?
 For most women in this situation, the answer is "no". There's no need to stop doing all the things that have made life satisfying all these years.

On the other hand--and just as important--there's not need for a retired husband to "sit around the house all day," either.
 Starting Retirement: A Change.

Realize that moving into the retirement years is a definite transition, a change. Any transition calls for adjustments, so look at this time as a period of adjustment.

Both partners face adjustments. For example, the homemaker who may be expected to--or thinks she should--be her husband's constant companion faces a situation most women haven't experienced since courtship days.

Famous AMERICANS

Around The House In Parmer County

As one woman put it: "My retirement was between the last child leaving home and my husband's retirement."

Having anyone, even a spouse, as a constant companion 24 hours a day may lead to feelings of too much togetherness. "He begins to get underfoot," she may say.

In some cases, tempers begin to flare, and the idealized "retirement together" may become fraught with tension and disagreement.

There are many adjustments for the homemaker just as there are for her retired husband during this transition.

Knowing situations in which others have found a need for adjustment can help couples as they begin their own retirement years.

One "adjustment key" is realizing that certain major activities of life before retirement can continue--and, in many cases, should.

Personal Freedom: Keep It. Especially important are those activities that allow each partner his or her own individual freedom.

Personal Freedom for both retired marriage partners is a key "prescription" for enjoying life many more years, the experts say.

Plan some activities together but maintain those individual ties with friends or groups from the pre-retirement phase whenever possible.

Homemakers may want to continue their Wednesday morning tennis game or their work with the church circle or garden club.

Husbands may want to continue meeting colleagues for lunch or attend civic-organization meetings during the day.

Whatever the activities, make personal freedom part of the relationship.

Tension: Watch Out! Another "adjustment key" is being aware of tensions. They just seem to "crop up" between people in any kind of transition.

Knowing this--and how to deal with tensions--will go a long way toward keeping them in their place as normal stress signals.

Here's one way a couple might deal with tensions. When tempers begin to rise, take a brisk walk around the block in different directions.

Getting away for a moment may ease immediate tensions because it eases the feeling of having him--or her--"underfoot."

Pioneer Hybrids Show Resistance

Sorghum breeders for Pioneer Hybrid International, Inc., have discovered three of their experimental hybrids apparently have strong resistance to the new Biotype E greenbug that is threatening High Plains agriculture.

Discovered by researchers only last year, the new greenbug could attack virtually all areas of the regional sorghum belt. Therefore, sorghum hybrids previously thought to be greenbug resistant may well be susceptible to the new insect and its deadly toxin.

However, greenhouse research on sorghums at the Plainview facility of Pioneer has indicated sorghum hybrids with resistance to the Biotype E greenbug could be available to farmers as early as next year, said Dr. Gené Dalton, director of sorghum breeding for Pioneer.

"If the hybrids continue to demonstrate resistance to Biotype E greenbug damage during extensive field tests this summer, they might be available for 1982 plantings," said Dalton. "But Pioneer will release none of the hybrids commercially until they are thoroughly tested and meet our strict performance standards."

Greenbugs first became a problem for sorghum farmers in the late 1960s. The insects, not much larger than a pin head, suck fluids from

Area Farmer On Program At Portales

A Friona area farmer, Charles Hough, will be featured on a program at Portales, N.M. next Wednesday, March 18, 1981.

The "Energy Workshop" is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Soil Conservation Service, and will be held at the Student Union Building, Eastern New Mexico University.

The workshop is a two-day affair, beginning on Tuesday, March 17.

Hough's topic will be "My Water Conservation Practices." He will be on the agenda from 11-11:30 a.m., M.S.T. (12-12:30, Texas time).

Others on the workshop program include Dr. Paul Unger, USDA, Great Plains Research Center, Bushland; Dr. Tom Kerby, Extension Weed Control specialist, New Mexico State University; Dr. George Morrin, Clovis Branch, NMSU; Dr. James Libbin, farm management specialist, NMSU; Troy Monroe, vice president, Production Credit Assn., Clovis; Chuck Caruso, SCS, state irrigation water management specialist; and Truman Woody, Clovis area farmer.

Other topics to be covered include minimum tillage; herbicides for minimum tillage operations; minimum tillage equipment, on-farm fuel alcohol production; potential yield, storage and equipment; low-pressure sprinkler irrigation systems; maximizing corn production under sprinkler irrigation.

The workshop is co-sponsored by the Lea, Central Curry and Roosevelt Soil and Water Conservation districts.

plant leaves, then excrete poisonous wastes into the plants. "It's the greenbug toxin, not the bug itself, that kills the plant," said Dalton.

By the mid-1970s, researchers had developed sorghum hybrids resistant to greenbugs. The Biotype C greenbug was, and still is, the main culprit.

The Biotype E was discovered only after researchers found that plants thought to be resistant to Biotype C were nonetheless dying from greenbugs. Even though they were not widespread last year, the new insects pose a potentially-severe problem for growers.

"Pioneer had many tests scattered throughout the sorghum belt last summer," said Dalton, "but we were able to confirm Biotype E greenbug damage in only one of these locations. We will not know how widespread the new Biotype is until after the next crop is planted."

The greenhouse discoveries of apparently resistant hybrids involved seed that was developed from an inbred line on which Pioneer began research in the late 1960s.

"The work we began in the late '60s was designed to broaden the genetic base of Pioneer parent lines," Dalton said. "We used a number of exotic lines, collected from all over the world. And the new inbred line carrying this Biotype E resistance is a product of that research effort."

Dalton said farmers "must take a sensible approach in sorghum production, weighing all benefits against all costs. They should select hybrids based on all performance traits and use careful inspection in their insecticide application program."

Jim Lindsey, president of the Southwestern Division of Pioneer, added that the promising discovery "vividly demonstrates" the value of an aggressive, well-funded and comprehensive research program.

"We feel the discovery is a real tribute to our sorghum breeding staff and the project to which they committed themselves over a decade ago."

Back in 1910 the very first pilot for the U.S. Army complained that it was hard to stay seated in the cockpit during tricky flight maneuvers. This was at Ft. Sam Houston in San Antonio; so an old cavalry saddle-maker suggested the pilot strap himself in with a four-ft. length of horse leather. It worked. So the safety belt (a Texas invention?) became standard equipment on planes, and now cars.

What started Clyde Barrow of Bonnie and Clyde fame, on the road to ruin? Well, Clyde was first arrested in 1926, as a lad of 17, for stealing a car in Dallas.

Car Wreck Injures Long

Eldon (Bubba) Long was critically injured in a wreck early Tuesday at Texico, N.M., and has been hospitalized in intensive care at Clovis High Plains Hospital.

Long's vehicle crashed into a telephone pole inside the city limits of Texico, at the intersection of Garwood Street with Highway 60-70-84, and the car was a total loss.

The car was smashed so badly that a "Jaws of Life" tool had to be used to extricate Long from the wreckage.

According to reports, Long had both lungs punctured and collapsed, a leg broken, plus other broken bones and internal injuries.

The accident occurred at 1:50 a.m. MST, according to investigating officers.
