WE RECEIVED an interesting news release this week from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Since the subject has been in the news considerably, we thought our readers would enjoy it:

Researchers tracking the progress in Mexico of the aggressive Africanized honey bees, popularly known as "killer bees," now expect them to arrive in the Brownsville area between February and May of 1990.

At the latest, they report, the bees should arrive in the Rio Grande Valley by August or September.

The Texas Africanized Honey Bee Advisory Committee, chaired by Dr. Fowden Maxwell, head of Texas A&M's Department of Entomology, based its updated projections on recent monitoring of the bee's movement in Mexico.

Dr. John Thomas, a committee member and Texas Agricultural Extension Service entomologist, who specializes in honey bee management and pollination, said the leading swarm of Africanized bees has been observed six miles south of Soto la Marina, in the Mexican state of Tamaulipas.

"That's 160 miles from Brownsville," Thomas said. The bees have traveled 260 miles since May, when a leading swarm was found about 80 miles north of Veracruz near Naulta. The rapid movement of the bees up the coast has led researchers to revise their estimates made last May, which had put the first swarm arriving in Texas between March 1990 and March 1991.

Thomas said the latest swarm was found in an Agricultural Research Service trapline spanning an area from Ciudad Victoria to La Pesca in November. The work there is supervised by Dr. Anita Collins, research leader at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's ARS Honey Bee Research Lab at Weslaco.

Thomas said first (or "founder") swarms of Africanized honey bees will be few in number and tend to become a part of the local honey bee population. After the bees arrive in the Brownsville area, they are expected to spread northward up the Gulf Coast toward Corpus Christi and then Houston.

The rate of natural spread is anticipated at about 200 to 250 miles per year, although it is uncertain how far north the bees will be able to live. Thomas pointed out that this kind of bee is a tropical insect, and there is speculation that the bee may not range much beyond the southern half of Texas.

Thomas said that the Africanized honey bees aren't really "killers," but there is not question that they are a significant pest.

"These bees are not going to hunt people down and kill them," he said. Only one person a year dies from bee stings in Texas, and Thomas said he would be greatly surprised if that number increased appreciably with the arrival of the Africanized bees.

"But this is a honey bee with a personality problem," he said. "Mainly, Africanized bees are more defensive and will react more vigorously when disturbed or provoked. A person who stumbles into their path should get away as quickly as possible."

The Africanized bees have created many problems for the beekeeping industry as they have moved across South and Central America since 1957, when they reportedly escaped from a breeding program at San Paulo, Brazil.

Thomas said the Africanized bees do not produce as much surplus honey and cannot be managed as well as domesticated bees for pollination of crops. There is concern among beekeepers and farmers about their

Excel To Invest In Plant Sites

Excel Corporation today announced it will invest more than $24 million in further modernization of two of its beef slaughter and fabrication plants in 1990.

William G. Fielding, president of Excel, said major projects have begun at the company's Schuyler, Nebraska and Dodge City, Kansas operations. Similar projects are planned at processing operations in Fort Morgan, Colorado, Friona and Plainview, Texas. All projects are expected to be completed by fall 1991, he said.

"These projects will incorporate new and developing technology that will refine the quality, consistency and shelf-life of beef products, further improve safety and ergonomics in the plants and increase efficiencies within the operations through cost, yield and capacity improvements," Fielding said.

He said the improvements will position Excel to better meet the changing product requirements of domestic and international customers, particularly in Pacific Rim nations, throughout the 1990s.

Teams Test Dates Told

Grades 3, 5, 7 and 9 will be taking the required TEAMS Test February 6, 7 and 8, dates set by the Texas Education Agency. During the 1985-86 school year, the Texas Education Agency (TEA) instituted the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) assessment program.

This program mandated by House Bill 72, passed by the 68th Texas Legislature in July, 1984, measures minimum basic skills in the areas of mathematics, reading and writing in grades 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and in mathematics and English language arts in grades 11-12. The test given to eleventh and twelfth graders, is an exit level examination and both the mathematics and English language arts sections of the test must be passed by students prior to their receiving a high school diploma.

Comparative results from the past four years of the TEAMS program are encouraging. Performance data have shown a marked improvement in test scores and in the percentage of students mastering the reading, writing and mathematics exams at grades 3, 5 and 7.

The writing section of the test will be administered on Tuesday morning. The language arts portion will be given on Thursday and Friday is the day for the math test.

Beet Growers Set Annual Meeting

Congressional debates on the 1990 Farm Bill and the controversial General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) negotiations will be hot topics when the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association holds its silver anniversary meeting and banquet Jan. 19-20 in Hereford.

The meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. January 19 at the Hereford Community Center. The banquet will be at 7 p.m. January 20 at the Bull Barn expo center. Scheduled speakers include the incoming and outgoing presidents of the American Sugarbeet Growers Association, which represents growers in 13 states.

Bill Cleavinger, a Wildorado farmer-rancher who is president of both the Texas and national associations, will discuss state and national issues facing beet and corn growers in the Panhandle and cane farmers in South Texas.

"The congressional debate on the new farm bill is beginning to heat up and the sugar program will receive much attention," says Cleavinger. "The program has enabled many producers to remain in business and given them an opportunity to earn a reasonable profit. At the same time, it has guaranteed consumers a stable sugar supply at a stable price below that of most other sugar producing countries. We're working to maintain a strong sugar program in the farm bill."

Pat Mahar, a grower in Cavalier, N.D. and currently ASGA first vice president, will speak on the national association's campaign to educate the public on how the sugar program benefits consumers as well as producers. Mahar is chairman of the ASGA public relations committee.

Discussing GATT negotiations will be Kraig Gallimore of the Texas Department of Agriculture Farmer's Assistance program.

"GATT is an extremely complex issue which will have a major impact on beets, cane, corn and other U.S. farm commodities," says Cleavinger. "Mr. Gallimore's presentation should help answer many questions farmers and others have on the controversial international trade talks."

Various beet research efforts by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will be reviewed at the meeting. Dr. Charlie Rush and Dr. Steve Winter, two key TAES beet researchers, will discuss their new research results. Dr. G.B. Thompson, director of the Texas A&M University Research Center in Amarillo, is also scheduled to discuss the TAES beet research program which is partially funded by the state beet association.

Steve Reynolds, sales manager for the Holly Sugar Seed Division, will discuss Holly's seed breeding research program, including a new breeding materials Holly has obtained from European sugar beet entries.

Dennis Prinz, Imperial Holly's agricultural department manager in Hereford, will speak on the expansion of the regional beet industry. This expansion has included the establishment of two new beet receiving stations near Kress and Nazareth, as well as the addition of 70 new beet growers in 1989. Growers will top beet yields and quality will receive awards from the department's staff.

The banquet will honor the 25-year partnership between Holly Sugar and area beet farmers. Roger Hill, Holly president, will speak at the banquet.

"The partnership between Holly and beet growers has been highly successful," says Cleavinger. "And it's continuing on the right track with the recent merger between Holly and Imperial Sugar."

M. Neal Featured In Aggie Program

(Editor's note: Former Bovina Fillies' standout Mindy Neal, who is a junior with two letters on the Texas A&M Lady Aggie team, was the featured player in the game program on December 18, 1989, when the Lady Aggies hosted Minnesota. This is the article as it appeared.)

December has been a busy month for Mindy Neal.

Like almost everyone, she has faced the bustle of the holiday season.

Like her Lady Aggie teammates, she's had basketball games and basketball practices, road trips and final exams to contend with.

On top of all that, Neal has also been planning for a wedding --her own.

The "big day" is Saturday, December 23. That's the day when Mindy Rae Neal will become Mrs. Michael Scheffler.

That's just five days away. Four days later, on Wednesday, Dec. 27, the Lady Aggies leave for Jersey City, N.J., where A&M will join Ball State, Marquette, and St. Peter's in the Marcal Invitational.

That sure doesn't leave much time for a honeymoon. So why did Neal plan an in-season wedding?

"Really, there's never a good time to get married," she said. "There's always going to be some kind of scheduling conflict. I always wanted to have a Christmas wedding, so Mike and I agreed, and just said, 'Let's go ahead and do it.' Actually, we had almost everything planned in August, so the wedding hasn't taken that much of my time the last few weeks."

While some coaches might object to their players trying to combine academics and athletics with marriage, Lady Aggie basketball coach Lynn Hickey seems to think that Neal will benefit from getting married.

"I think being married will have a calming influence on Mindy," Hickey said. "I think she'll be more confident with this type of lifestyle and be able to handle everyday stress better. I've got to commend her for the way she's handled basketball, finals, and the wedding right now, all at the same time."

Hickey has already seen one positive aspect to come out of Neal's engagement to Scheffler.

"Mindy's fiancée is really into athletics and has really helped her in the weight room," Hickey said. "Mindy has improved so much from last year to this year, and a lot of that is because she's just so much stronger physically."

Neal has made dramatic gains in the weight room. She has gone from 100 pounds on the bench press to an unofficial mark of 155 and has made a 100-pound increase in the leg press, boosting her maximum lift from 280 pounds to 380 pounds.

Scheffler has also overseen a change in Neal's eating regimen, putting her on a diet consisting mostly of noodles and lean meat and supplemented with vitamins. The result has been that the 6-1 junior from Bovina has gone from 155 pounds, her reporting weight as a freshman, to 173 pounds at the beginning of fall drills this year.

"I'm down to about 160 now, so I'm cutting down on my aerobic activity to get my weight back up," Neal said. "I've got to have that extra weight if I'm going to get in there and bang with the big girls."

Actually, Neal relies more on finesse than power moves around the basket.

"I've never been one to use a turnaround jumper that much. That just wasn't my game," Neal admitted. "I'm not that tall, and I'm sure not that wide, so I have to go around rather than through whoever's guarding me. If I can fake someone out and put the ball in the hole while their back's turned to me, that's what I need to do." Towards that end, she has worked hard on perfecting her hook shot.

"Mindy is a very coachable and very intelligent player," Hickey said. "When we introduce a new skill, she will remember the move and try to use it in a game. She does the best job of that of any player we've got. She wants to do well, and she knows that using all of these little extras will help her and add to her game."

Excelling on the basketball court is important to Neal, but so is excelling in the classroom. Tabbed as a member of the GTE/Southwest Conference Academic Honor Team for 1990 last month, she has her sights set on following her uncle, Dr. Kyle Jones, in a career as a veterinarian and knows that the only way that she can

The Bovina Seventh Grade Colts won second place at the Sudan tournament last week.

The team defeated Olton, 24-19, led by Lance McClaran's eight points. Alberto Gomez scored six, Kody Wilson four, Rey Reyes four, and Ezekiel Lara, two.

In the semi-finals, the team downed Dimmitt, 43-31. Scoring for Bovina were Reyes 25, McClaran ten, Lara six, and Wilson, two.

In the finals, Bovina met host Sudan, and lost, 40-21. High scorer was McClaran, nine, Gomez, five, Lara, three, Reyes and Wilson, two each. Winning second place, the team had a 7-2 season record.

On Monday, the seventh graders visited Springlake-Earth, and posted a 38-32, for their eighth season win.

Springlake-Earth was previously undefeated, and the win tied Bovina for first place in district play.

High scorers were McClaran, 16; Reyes, eight, Wilson, four, Gomez, four, Lara, three, Richard Beauchamp and Luis Robles, two apiece.

The team's next game is this weekend in the Friona tournament.

On Monday, the eighth grade Colts lost to S-E, 59-19 at Earth.

7th Girls Win In Tourney

The Bovina seventh grade girls participated in the Sudan basketball tournament this past weekend. The Colts won their first two games of the tournament in a very impressive manner, advancing into the championship game on Saturday.

On Thursday, the Colts defeated Olton, 27-10. Coach Rundell commented, "This was probably the best these seventh graders have played all year. They passed the ball well and fast broke very well."

High scorer for the Colts was Charlotte Quintana with 14 points. Others scoring were: Sally Noriega, six; Cynthia Reyna, two; Ellie Bermea, two; Brooke Charles, two; and Melinda Ramon, one.

Other Colts cited for excellent defensive play were Elvira Talavera, Roberta Borquez, Alma Guevara and Melissa Perez.

The Colts defeated Dimmitt "B" team in their second game on Friday, 27-4. Colts scoring points were: Quintana, 13; Noriega, eight; Charles, five; and Bermea, one.

The Colts took on host team Sudan for the championship on Saturday. The Colts looked good on the opening play of the game, as Quintana tipped the ball to Bermea, who took the ball in for the score.

After that, the Hornets got busy and played what Coach Rundell described, "some of the best junior high basketball she'd ever seen."

She went on to say, "The girls played really hard, but Sudan played just outstanding. They pressed well, and their shooting was unreal. Sudan just had a great team, but they also played very, very well." The final score of the game was 14-44, Sudan coming out the victors and tournament champions.

Scoring for the Colts were: Noriega, six; Bermea, four; Quintana, two; and Charles, two.

The Colts received second place honors and each player on the team received a medal. Coach Rundell said, "This was a very good experience for us. This is one of the toughest tournaments for seventh graders in this area. The girls played very well, and each girl got a lot of valuable playing time and experience."

Colts Win Vs Happy

The Bovina seventh and eighth grade girls combined to form one team as they took on Happy last Monday night. In what Coach Rundell called, "The best game the girls have played all season," the Colts were victorious by a score of 20-11.

Coach Rundell commented, "All the girls played well, all sixteen of them. They pressed the ball exceptionally well, playing good 'team' basketball. The defense also looked very good."

Scoring for the Colts were: Sally Noriega, seven points; Charlotte Quintana, seven; Kim Kirkpatrick, Laura Saenz and Ellie Bermea, two each.

The "Max Hustle Award" went to seventh grader Charlotte Quintana. "Charlotte had a lot of game for us. She rebounded well and played good defense. She also made many key passes in an overall good game," Coach Rundell concluded.

Club Has Program On Texas Trips

The members of the Bovina Woman's Study Club met January 11 at the First Bank Community Room.

The program was "Scenic Places to Visit in Texas," presented by Lee Stevenson. The group of ladies participated in the program and named places they had vacationed.

Refreshments were served to Alleen Russell, Norma Whitten, Lee Stevenson, Yvonne Stevenson, Rose McCain, Artie Faye O'Hair, Obereta Sudderth, Bessie Trimble, Joe Looney, Doris Lawlis, Alma Clayton and Virgie Cary.

The next meeting will be held February 8 at the First Bank Community Room.

TEACHER OF THE WEEK is Celia Quintana, chosen by the P-TA. She is school secretary and has worked seven years. Her husband Earl works at Excel, and the couple has two children, Charlotte and Joshua.

"Mindy is the epitome of what you want in a student-athlete," Hickey said. "She has high academic aspirations, but she has kept athletics as a primary objective in her life, too, and she has done very well in both."

"I'm a very intense person; I've always been that way. Anything I do, I'm going to try to do to the best of my ability," Neal said. "I know that grades are my ticket. There's nothing in sports for me after basketball. After that, I've got to have a life."

potential impact. Commercial beekeepers, he said, will have to manage their hives carefully to breed out the Africanized traits in their bees. This can be done by introducing domesticated queen bees into the hives at prescribed intervals, among other techniques.

Thomas said that the annual value of domestic honey bees as crop pollinators is estimated at $800 million in Texas and $20 billion in the U.S.

Other values of the Texas beekeeping industry, through the sales of honey, wax and other hive products, totals $9 million to $11.5 million each year. Nationwide, annual gross income from honey and wax sales of beekeepers totals $175 to $200 million.

Thomas said a Texas Africanized honey bee management plan has been developed by the advisory group, but has not yet been funded. The plan will address the anticipated impact of the pest on rural and urban Texas and seek to establish strategies for public information, public health, research, regulatory aspects and beekeeper management practices.
