Board approves job descriptions, hears campus reports, evaluations plans

The Merkel School Board met Tuesday night in the Merkel High school teachers lounge and heard reports from campus principals, adopted a state suggested AIDS policy and set early release dates.

Board members also decided to support the nomination of former Wylie ISD superintendent Stanley Whisenhunt as a director of the Taylor County Appraisal District.

Board members started by paying bills totaling $129,354. School business director Peggy Gibson. She told board members the school's surplus stood at $1,295,000 and that 90 percent of the 1986 taxes were paid. She said the school still had a "lot" of delinquent taxes but that some of those were being collected.

Merkel High principal Robert Damron also cleared up some confusion about the high school honors classes program. Merkel High students who took honors classes during the past two years will receive points toward class rankings for those classes but will not be eligible for a special seal on their high school diploma. Damron told board members that next year's juniors will be eligible for that program. Students now taking honors classes will be eligible for five extra points that will improve their class ranking. The board also decided to sign a contract with Taylor County's Central Appraisal District for delinquent tax collections. The tax collection work will continue to be performed by an Austin-based law firm but the school will save 3 percent on coleiction fres by signing the contract. Board members also heard

He added "Anson will be tough at their place and we are taking this game very seriously"

The Badgers still are nursing a couple of ankle injuries to Tony Roberts and David Thomas. They are both expected to play this week. Ramon Moreno is still out and he is questionable for the Clyde game Sept. 25th.

PROPOSITION NO. 23 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 54 proposes a constitutional amendment to authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $400 million in water development bonds. Of the $400 million authorized, $200 million would be designated for conservation and development of water resources, $150 million would be designated for water quality enhancement, and $50 million would be designated for flood control. The amendment also authorizes the legislature to provide for review and approval of the issuance of the bonds and the use of the bond proceeds.

The proposed amendment will ap-pear on the ballot as follows:

Senate Bill 86 submits to the voters the question of whether the 15 members of the State Board of Education should be appointed instead of elected. If the proposition passes, the Governor will appoint a member of the board for each district, with the consent of the Senate. If the proposition fails, the members will be elected from these districts.

The referendum will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The State Board of Education shall be composed of members who are appointed from districts instead of elected, with equal representation throughout the State of Texas."

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT FOR STATEWIDE REFERENDUM NO. 2

The Texas Racing Act submits to the voters the question of whether pari-mutuel wagering should be legal in Texas on a county-bycounty local option basis. If parimutuel wagering is adopted by the voters statewide, a county must also pass a separate proposition on parimutuel wagering at an election held in the county before any such wagering may be conducted in that county.

The referendum will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The legalization of pari-mutuel wagering under the Texas Racing Act on a county-by-county local option basis."

True to form, the rains have come with the West Texas Fair. It is abundantly clear to the bird hunters that trodding through rain swolen ditches and cloud-thick mosquitoes are not ideal dove conditions. The good news is that it can't rain forever. Perhaps colder, wetter weather North of us will drive those birds into our area about the time our moisture begins to dry

Several groups of bowhunters from our area went out of state in search of game. Unfortunately, both groups ran into unpredictable weather and plain bad luck. Tom Carson and his crew went on a pack-in trip to New Mexico after Elk. They found other hunters in places where they weren't found before: and, they found no Elk where Elk were previously found. A full moon and heavy rains contributed to make it an unsuccessful trip. David Adams, Tony Thomas, and their group were in Colorado after Mule deer. These San Angelo based hunters did bring down a nice buck, but rain and darkness prevented its recovery. Bowhunting can be a very frustrating challenge.

slated to open November 14, it is not too early to start preparing Wildlife Biologist David Madden. with the Army Corp of Engineers at O. C. Fisher Reservoir near San Angelo, told me the deer look great. He said "This year has seen an unusual survival of twins." He felt the does were healthier now than in the last three years, and the bucks are going to be spectacular. David said that he has two on the reservoir that will make the record books, but he doubted anyone would be able to take them. These particular deer live on the "archery only" sections of the reserve and will probably die of old age, which is not all that uncommon since the top two non-typical record White Tail deer were not shot, but found dead. There are a few real monster deer around, but they reached that size by being smart Only luck or very intelligent hunting will take them. Even then is very seldom happens.

All in all, hunting will get better as the season progresses. With more seasons open there will be more and more opportunities to hunt successfully Good hunting.
