Up and Down Main Street

by Wanda Mitchell, Post Chamber of Commerce

Last week a stack of posters were delivered to Main Street with ONE basketball schedule out of a possible eight to ten. Some of the people who bought advertising on these posters were deceived by the solicitor. We caution you to be very careful when salespeople whom you do not know try to sell you advertising for a project that involves something happening in Post.

If it is a school project, such as the one I am referring to, call the school and find out if they know about it and are sanctioning the project. If they are not, my advice is to save your advertising dollars for something legitimate.

If people are going door to door in a residential area, ask to see their Peddlers Permit that will be issued by the City of Post. If they do not have one they are not supposed to be calling on you.

Speaking of going door to door, it is almost time for trick-or-treaters. I just love to see all the kids in their costumes when they come to my house. I do not, however enjoy seeing people taller and sometimes older than me trick-or-treating. Let's leave this for the little children only and let them enjoy the holiday.

A special treat to all of us downtown will be our Halloween contest fun on Tuesday, October 31, at 4:30 p.m. This will be held in the Plaza on E. Main across from the Algerita Art Center. We will have a costume contest with two categories: 0-4 and 5-8. We will also have a jack-o-lantern decorating contest and a pumpkin pie contest.

Everyone is invited to be downtown that afternoon and participate in these contests or just be there for the fun of watching. Last year we had some really great costumes and the judges really had a hard time deciding on the winners.

The Post Antelope Band is having a beans and cornbread supper this Friday night before the Idalou game. The supper will be held at the school cafeteria and tickets are $3 each. The taco supper they had a few weeks ago was excellent so I'm sure this one will be, too.

Those band students have some good cooks at home because the desserts were wonderful. Try to be there this week and support the Antelope Band.

Don't forget the Tower Theatre Talent Show is Saturday night at 7 p.m. at the Tower Theatre. We have a lot of great talent, including a lot of local talent. It will be a fun show and all general admission tickets are $5. This show will be serving as auditions for Polly's Follier that will take place on November 18th at the Tower. We will be telling you more about this in the near future. It is going to be a hoot.

Our sympathy goes out to our neighbors in Rotan, Texas. I know all of you read about the fire last week that burned about four buildings downtown.

I saw the man at the Dallas market this weekend who lost his clothing store. He was there canceling orders because he doesn't know if he will be able to rebuild or not. How terrible this is for Rotan.

They not only lost three businesses but one man lost his life and two were injured. It sure makes you stop and be grateful for the things you have in your own town.

Don't forget to turn back your clock Sunday night. You will get an extra hour of sleep. But even more important don't forget to...TAKE PRIDE AND TAKE PART IN POST!!!!!!

Southland High School homecoming took place on Friday, September 22, 1995. The Southland Eagles played the Borden County Coyotes. Southland won 21-0. Homecoming Queen nominees were Shavon Sapp, Amber Basinger, and Kassie Garlick. Homecoming King nominees were Tony Ayala, Jimmy Gatica, and Loren Jones. Pictured are the 1995 Southland Homecoming King and Queen Tony Ayala and Amber Basinger.

Pam Humble's (left) homeroom students won the door decorating contest in this week's competition at Post Middle School in conjunction with the S.T.A.R.S. wipe out drug campaign. Judging the doors were Woman's Culture Club members Donna Craig (center) and Mary Neff. "It was really tough, there were so many creative decorations," the judges said. The Woman's Culture Club has also provided a scholarship for the S.T.A.R.S. program. "We really appreciate the community support," S.T.A.R.S. coordinator Dedra Adams emphasized.

October freeze - maybe, Prussic acid - likely!

If you are among the folks that have suffered through a round of sinus/creeping crud, then you likely favor a freeze to "clear the air". If you're among the folks that have cleaned your favorite deer rifle, washed your favorite camo clothes and are awaiting the first day of deer season, a freeze would be just what the big bucks are wanting. However, if you're a beef cattle producer, a freeze forecast is something that might cause your hair to stand up on your neck.

Prussic Acid is a cattleperson's nightmare and without fail, this time of year and the first freeze or frost of the winter can cause you some anxious moments. Prussic acid is formed in plants of the sorghum family, ie, johnsongrass, when the living leaf cells are ruptured and cyanide-producing compounds are converted into prussic acid.

Prussic acid is one of the most potent toxins in nature. As ruminants consume plants containing prussic acid, the toxin is absorbed into the bloodstream and carried to body tissues where it interferes with oxygen utilization. If the toxin is absorbed rapidly enough, the animal soon dies from respiratory paralysis.

Consumption of only very small amounts of prussic acid containing plants may be lethal and dead animals may be found without viable symptoms of poisoning. However symptoms from smaller amounts of poisoning include labored breathing, irregular pulse, staggering and frothing at the mouth.

Tips for preventing prussic acid poisoning may reduce the risk and subsequent losses by some of the following grazing management practices:

1. Graze sorghum-type forages only when plants are 15 inches high.
2. Do not graze for two weeks after a non-killing frost.
3. Do not graze after a killing frost until plant material is dry (minimum 48 hours, safer time is one week).
4. Do not graze at night when frost is likely.

There are no accurate tests to detect prussic acid in plant tissues. If you must graze frosted or frozen, susceptible plants, a good rule of thumb might be to utilize some animals that you could afford to loose as "test criteria".

Early detection of poisoning is critical for treatment.

Sodium nitrate - sodium thiosulfate combination drugs can be used to treat animals. This treatment can be used and repeated only once and it must be given intravenously and by a veterinarian. Most animals that live two hours after the onset of symptoms will recover.

If you are in the business of raising ruminants (sheep, goats, cattle, llama or other "cud chewers") watch the next few days of weather forecasts carefully. If you are utilizing sorghum type plants for grazing, or have it around the outside of your fence, it could pay you to be careful in the next several days.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Make your home a friendly haunt

Is your home ready for a good haunting? Make your home ghost-friendly for all those treat-or-treaters for Halloween on Tuesday, October 31.

"Halloween is a fun holiday for children, but it can be a devilish experience when accidents happen. A little planning will go a long way in preventing holiday hardships," said Jeff Smith, M.D., pediatrician at the Scott & White Clinic, College Station, and assistant professor at the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine.

Scott & White Memorial Hospital and Clinic is one of the nation's largest medical centers, with about 440 physicians. The institution consists of the main site in Temple, and 14 regional clinics situated throughout Central Texas.

Many parents get spooked when pint-sized ghosts and goblins begin their Halloween trick-or-treating expeditions. The evening can pose special hazards for young tricksters and scare the daylight out of parents, Dr Smith said.

If you expect a gaggle of spooks and specters to haunt your neighborhood on Halloween night, make sure your yard is free of hazards, he suggested.

* Remove obstacles in the yard, such as hoses, sprinklers, lawn furniture and potted plants. Turn your porch light on to let children know they're welcome.

* Keep lit jack-o'-lanterns or candles away from the steps of the front door. A child's costume could possibly brush against the open flame and catch fire.

* Pets, especially dogs, may become agitated with so many visitors. Keep your pets indoors or out of harm's way for a few hours.

* Treats don't have to be full of sugar and fat. Consider giving healthy treats such as boxes of raisins, prepackaged granola bars and sugar-free bubble gum.

Some families give away pencils and colorful erasers for school.

"With a little foresight, Halloween can be a safe and enjoyable holiday for both children and parents alike," Dr Smith said.

"They said I needed a fire extinguisher for my booth," Jerry Osborn smiled, "so, I go this great deal on a fire truck and asked Marvin... will this do?" Osborn says he plans to decorate the truck for Christmas for display at the Old Mill Trade Days next weekend. Marvin Butler, president of Old Mill Trade Days replied, "you'll just have to come out and what Jerry has done to that old truck. The fun starts Friday, November 3 and continues through Sunday at the monthly event in Post.

Texas Farm Bureau News

Federal farm programs, education, private property rights, the environment and the Texas Homestead Law are predominate issues to be considered by members of the Texas Farm Bureau Resolutions Committee when they meet here, November 6-8.

G. Glen Jones, TFB Research, Education and Policy Development

director, says the Committee is coming together to edit and coordinate proposals submitted by county Farm Bureaus throughout the state. The panel will prepare a packet of resolutions to be taken up by voting delegates during the 62nd annual TFB convention at the Bayfront Plaza Convention Center in Corpus Christi, November 26-29.

"State resolutions adopted in Corpus will become policy to guide our organization in 1996. National resolutions will advance to the American Farm Bureau Federation, where they will be considered by AFBF voting delegates at their national convention in Reno, Nevada in January," says Jones.

TFB Vice President and District 6 Director Bill Tullios of San Angelo will serve as chairman of the resolutions committee. David R. Krebs II of Portland, District 13 state director and the board's secretary-treasurer, will be vice chairman, and District 7 State Director Leo C. Williams of Ranger will be the secretary.

Y&R Advisory Committee Chairman Steven Morris of Yoakum (Lavaca County) will also serve on the 1995 Resolutions Committee.

The Gift That Keeps Giving

With a charitable remainder trust, you can turn a nonperforming investment into a steady stream of income, save on taxes two ways and, with a little planning, still leave the assets to your heirs. Here's how:

The owner turns an appreciated asset over to a favorite charity -- an alma mater, perhaps, or a community fund. The charity sells the security and reinvests the proceeds into a higher yielding asset. The owner, who has saved capital gains tax on the appreciation, gets income for a period of years or life and a charitable donation deduction for the gift. After that, the charity gets the assets. The donor is taxed on the income paid out but can deduct the gift up front. Be sure the trust is carefully structured; the IRS has cracked down on tax-avoidance schemes with short-term trusts.

If the owner uses the tax savings to buy life insurance, the insurance proceeds can replace the trust assets in the estate, so that one's heirs don't lose out.

Tax-advantaged giving benefits everyone. We'll show you how it'd done at.

Chief's offense too much in 40-15 loss

by Brent Ross
The Post Antelopes looked to be rolling against Crosbyton before they succumbed to the Chief's offensive pressure 40-15.

Jamie Hernandez got his first start at quarterback and made the most of it early. He led the 'Lopes to a touchdown on the game's opening drive. The drive was 74 yards eating up 5:36 off the clock.

Saul Martinez carried the ball six times for 58 yards on the drive. Alvin Reed ran in for the touchdown on second and inches. The extra point attempt was good and the Bold Gold led 7-0.

Crosbyton tied the score with 9:04 left in the first half. Jeff Lang, younger brother of Texas Tech defensive lineman Jerome Lang, ran it from 37 yards out for the score. Post's next possession showcased a balanced attack, but ended when Hernandez's pass on fourth and 22 fell incomplete.

The Chief's quarterback Adam Reyna took the first snap on the ensuing drive and sent it 68 yards to Levi Williams for the touchdown. From that point on, Crosbyton controlled the game.

The combination of Reyna and Lang was too much for the 'Lopes to handle. Both had tremendous speed and worked the option to almost perfection.

However, the Antelopes never gave up and put together a 71-yard drive scoring with 6:22 left in the game. Once again, the drive was a blend of passing and running.

Hernandez was two of two for 23 yards on the drive and Martinez rushed for 46 yards on three carries. The touchdown run was made possible by great blocking on the offensive line. Martinez ran through a gaping hole and went 33 yards untouched. The two-point conversion was good making the score 40-15 Chiefs.

Even though the score might not show it, there were several key defensive plays. Israel Perez made a tackle behind the line to stop a first-quarter Crosbyton drive and Homer Gomez also stepped up in the first quarter sacking the Chief quarterback on a third and five play.

The Bold Gold return home to face Idalou at 7:30 Friday at Antelope Stadium.

Jefferson, Crawford run over Chiefs in 8th grade 50-0 win

by Brent Ross
The Bold Gold eighth grade football team posted their second straight shutout as they defeated Crosbyton 50-0. The 'Lopes defeated Sundown 32-0 Oct. 12.

Raymond Jefferson got the scoring started in the first quarter when he capped off a five-play drive with a 58-yard touchdown run.

Still in the first quarter, Billy Crawford made the score 14-0 when he ran it in from 23 yards out.

In the second quarter, Dominic Pequeno had a 19-yard touchdown run. Then Jefferson blocked a Crosbyton punt and on the second play, ran it in from 12 yards out. Crawford scored the two-point conversion to send the 'Lopes into the locker room with a 28-0 lead.

Junior varsity sport 5-2 record

by Brent Ross
The Post junior varsity football team improved their record to 5-2 with a 29-12 victory over Crosbyton Thursday at Antelope Stadium.

The Bold Gold offense got on a roll and could not be stopped. They gained 263 yards of total offense, 93 on the ground and 170 through the air.

Anthony Gomez led the ground game with 19 carries for 51 yards and a touchdown. Sam Woods had 42 yards on three carries and a touchdown. Each had a two-point conversion as well.

Throwing the ball seemed to be no problem for the 'Lopes. Shawn Henderson was six of nine for 151 yards and 2 touchdowns. Woods was three of seven for 19 yards on the night.

The quarterbacks also did a good job of spreading the ball to several members of the receiving corps.

Slade Bevers led all receivers with five catches for 113 yards and a touchdown. Roland Basquez also had a touchdown reception that went for 30 yards.

"We made the plays when we had to," Post coach Mitch Rasberry said. "But the great teams will prepare better mentally."

The Post defense held the Chiefs to 223 yards of total offense. Crosbyton was three of four passing for 25 yards and had 198 yards on 51 rushes.

Basquez and Bevers highlighted the defensive effort with an interception each.

"We did not play good defense in the first half," Rasberry said. "The second half we picked it up and played decent."

The 'Lopes travel to Idalou for today's 6:30 p.m. game.

However, the legalise wording on this amendment is a prime example of the ridiculous nature of our current constitutional mess.*

Amendment No. 5

Section 1. Article III, Texas Constitution, is amended by adding Section 49-b-3 to read as follows:

Sec. 49-b-3. (a) In addition to the general obligation bonds authorized to be issued and to be sold by the Veterans' Land Board by Sections 49-b, 49-b-1, and 49-b-2 of this article, the Veterans' Land Board may provide for, issue, and sell general obligation bonds of the state in an amount not to exceed $500 million to provide housing financing to veterans of the state in recognition of their service to this state and the United States. The Veteran' Land Board may enter into bond enhancement agreements with respect to the bonds. The proceeds from the issuance and sale of the bonds authorized by this section shall be used to augment the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund II to be administered and invested as provided by law.

(b) The principal of and interest on the general obligation bonds authorized by this section, including payments under bond enhancement agreements with respect to principal of or interest on the bonds, shall be payable from the sources and in the manner provided by Section 49-b-2 of this article for general obligation bonds issued under that section to augment the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund II.

(c) The general obligation bonds authorized by this section shall be issued and sold in forms and denominations, on terms, at times, in the manner, at places, and in installments the Veterans' Land Board determines. The bonds shall bear a rate or rates of interest the Veterans' Land Board determines. The bonds authorized by this section shall be incontestable after execution by the Veterans' Land Board, approval by the attorney general, and delivery to the purchaser or purchasers of the bonds.

No. Another example of government interference in the marketplace. Loning money is not the proper role of government, no matter how lofty is the purpose. Veterans are no different than any other class of people, except that some of us spent time serving our country, and for that we do not ask for rewards, it was our duty as well as our wish to do so.

Amendment No. 7

Section 1.

The legislature may authorize (1) the appropriate agency to issue up to $250 million in general obligation bonds and to use the proceeds of the bonds (without further appropriation) to establish a superconducting super collider fund to be used in any manner appropriate to fund undertakings related to a superconducting super collider research facility sponsored or authorized by the United States government, and (2) the appropriate agency to grant land or property, whether or not acquired from proceeds of the bonds, to the United States government for undertakings related to a superconducting super collider research facility.

The superconducting super collider fund shall contain a project account, an interest and sinking account and such other accounts as may be authorized by this section, together with any income from investment of money in the fund, amounts received pursuant to Subsection (b) hereof, and any other amounts authorized to be deposited in the fund by the legislature.

No. Why not sell the entire boondoggle, get what we can for it and move on? It is pure silliness to pour another $250 million dollars exemption under Subsection (b) of this section is not entitled to an exemption under this subsection. The legislature by general law may prescribe procedures for the administration of this subsection.

No. Such a convoluted distortion of the English language is shameful. An ordinary person must cringe at trying to read this stuff. No wonder someone had to write a "summary," otherwise no one would bother to figure this one out. Let it suffice to say that exemptions from property tax are inherently unfair and smack of socialistic government policies that, again, take money from one set of citizens to give to another. I repeat, why not amend the constitution to exempt all property owners?

The Antelopes closed out the scoring when Braden Conner finished off a six-play drive with a 22-yard run. Marcus Lopez ran in the two-point conversion to make the score 50-0.

"There is not a lot to say. We played very well," Post coach Darrell Radle said. "If our lineman continue to improve, we will have a chance to win this district."

Post's next game is against Idalou at 6:30 p.m. today in Post.

Section 1.

Thornberry to sponsor reform package;

U.S. Rep. Mac Thornberry (TX-13) has announced that he is planning to sponsor a congressional reform package that will, among other things, limit congressional pensions and ban the personal use of frequent flyer miles accrued at taxpayer expense.

"We were elected to shake things up on Capitol Hill," Thornberry stated. "We made great strides when we passed the Congressional Accountability Act earlier this year. Most significantly, we applied to Congress the same laws which apply to everyone else in the country. But more needs to be done, and I think this legislation is a step in the right direction."

"The goal of this reform package is not only to provide greater accountability for members of Congress, but also to provide members with a greater disincentive to make Congress a career."

The Thornberry reform package contains four legislative proposals designed to achieve this goal. The cornerstone of the package is a proposal he will introduce that will not only prohibit the use of frequent flyer miles for personal travel, but also provide for their conversion to a charitable organization if not used for official purposes. This proposal would apply to both members of Congress and their staff.

"Since taking office in January, I've traveled a total of 81,900 miles back and forth between the 13th District and Washington, D.C. There's not reason I should be able to use this mileage for two free tickets to Hawaii. It belongs to the American taxpayer, and it should be used accordingly. And, if it's not used for official purposes, it makes more sense to have it used by a 10-year-old boy who needs a new heart than a 50-year-old congressman who wants a vacation."

In addition to the proposal to ban the personal use of frequent flyer miles, the Thornberry reform package also includes legislation to limit congressional pensions and prohibit the participation by members of Congress in the federal thrift savings plan. Members are currently able to participate in both plans for as long as they are in office. According to Thornberry, limiting participation in the one plan and prohibiting participation in the other would give members less financial incentive to make Congress a career.

"We didn't pass term limits for members of Congress this year, but we will continue to try," he said. "But in the meantime, if we can't limit the terms of their employment, then at least we can limit the terms of their retirement."

The third provision in the Thornberry reform package is original legislation which would eliminate the cost of living adjustment (COLA) pay raise which members of Congress automatically receive each year. The COLA increase is the same that other federal employees receive. While members of Congress have voted down this increase in the five years it has been in effect, Thornberry said such an automatic increase is not only wrong, it also runs counter to the spirit of the 27th Amendment.

"The 27th Amendment to the Constitution states that no pay raise can go into effect unless an election has first occurred. Yet the way the law is interpreted, members of Congress receive an automatic pay increase unless they vote to reject it. While members have rejected this raise every time it has come up for a vote, they shouldn't have that option to begin with, and my legislation would take it away."

The final proposal in the Thornberry reform package is a bill sponsored by Rep. Pat Roberts (KS-1) which would abolish the franking privilege for members of Congress and provide for the use of approved forms of postage meters for official mail. Roberts' legislation, formally called the Franking Reform Act of 1995, will be introduced next week. Thornberry is one of the first cosponsors of the bill. "Businesses across America use postage meters to keep track of the mail going out their door," he said. "If one of the goals of this reform package is to increase accountability, then it only makes sense that Congress do the same."

Thornberry will introduce his congressional reform package when the House reconvenes next week.

True contentment is the power of getting out of any situation all that there is in it.

"On Choosing Sides"

by Rev. Bob Green

There is a story told about President Abraham Lincoln being asked by a reporter during the height of the Civil War between the States a very piercing question. "Whose side do you think the Lord is on, Mr. Lincoln, the North or the South? President Lincoln is known to have been a very religious man who spent much time in God's word for guidance for his daily life, both prior to and during his presidency, and the story goes that he looked sternly at the reporter and answered with a piercing reminder of who we are in our relationship with our Lord. "The question, Sir, is not whether God is on one side or the other, but rather, are we on God's side?" was his response.

I suspect that this dialogue is as applicable to present times as past times. We are all too eager to make the judgmental decision of whose side God favors, not only in war but in domestic, political, social or whatever life, while God has a way of looking deeper into an issue than we do. I have always heard the expression, "God fights on the side of the right," and felt very secure in that thought. However, I have come to wonder how God deals with those who fight on the "right" side for the wrong reasons.

Truly, He seems as concerned with why we do what we do as He is with what we do. Jesus seemed to be dealing with this in Jn. 8:1-11, when the religious leaders brought a woman who had been caught in the very "act" of adultery before Him for judgement. Jesus' actions reflected an attitude of love, acceptance and forgiveness rather than one of judgment. To me, Jesus seemed more concerned with motives, attitudes and the whys of "Sin" than in the particular sin itself. Clearly the religious leaders had the "Law" on their side, they were "right", but their motives seemed to be less than righteous in reference to the woman as well as what they hoped to do to Jesus. We can always find scripture, law, rights, fairness, etc. to justify our actions if we want to. But God appears to be interested in more than legalistic "right" or "wrong."

Joshua was confronted with this kind of soul searching confrontation just before he led the children of Israel into battle against Jericho in Josh. 5:13. He saw an angel standing before him with the sword drawn. "Are you for us, or for our adversaries?" was Joshua's challenge. The angel replied, "No, (or "neither") but as commander of the army of the lord I have now come." In simpler language, "The question is not whose side I am on, Joshua, rather whose side are you on?" "Are you for the Lord, Joshua; Do you have your priorities right? Do you know who is in charge here: Do you know why you are here; Are you committed fully?" Questions, or a question, each of us should ask ourselves in every action, motive or thought. But, alas, all too often we forget and begin to apply our own "justification" for whatever we do, from the "white lie" to abortion to war.

When we are young, life and decisions are simple, but as we get older they get complicated. There seems to be fewer decisions of black and white, and more and more gray area to consider. Why couldn't God have created robots who could do no other than His will? That would have made everything simple, but instead He created free moral agents, giving them the wonderful freedom and at the same time the terrible responsibility of choice. At the same time He gave guidelines for use in making the choice, with the constant assurance that the only real choice is to choose Him and His way.

God's word assures us that from the beginning He intended salvation for us. That word also admonishes us to "Choose this day whom we will serve." Can we say with Joshua, "...as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord?" And are we always sure that we have chosen the "right side"?

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Though early voting continues until Nov. 3, Secretary of State Tony Garza predicts only one of every 10 registered voters is likely to cast a ballot in the Nov. 7 constitutional amendment election, which includes 14 propositions.

That works out to anemic turnout — about 870,000 voters exercising their privilege (and duty).

"Quite frankly, that's not a number Texans should be proud of when you consider we're talking about amending our state constitution," Garza said.

He pointed out that turnout in constitutional amendment elections since 1977 has exceeded 14.1 percent only twice: in 1987, for the pari-mutuel racing referendum, and in 1991, for the state lottery amendment.

Four propositions on the ballot deal with state bond debt and six deal with property tax exemptions.

The most highly publicized among the propositions is Prop. 10, concerning the elimination of the state treasurer's office. Abolishing the office would cut three-fourths of the agency's $11 million annual budget and merge its duties with those of the state comptroller's office. Prop. 10 has the support of state Treasurer Martha Whitehead, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and Comptroller John Sharp. All are Democrats.

Though doing away with the treasurer's office would save taxpayers' money, Texas Republican Party Chairman Tom Pauken and other GOP members have voiced concern that putting the duties of the treasurer's office under Sharp's control would give the Democrat too much power.

Commerce Chief Under Fire

As director of the Texas Department of Commerce, it's Brenda Arnett's job to attract business to Texas. Doing that requires travel. Since May, Arnett's travels have cost more than $11,000. Expenses totaling $6,400 also have been charged to the agency for employees who have accompanied her on those trips, according to documents examined by Waco-based Texas State Agencies Newsletter.

The Newsletter also studied her phone bills. Arnett said she made $526 in calls on state business while vacationing in Mexico in ported.

Gov. George W. Bush, who appointed Arnett, called her a "tireless advocate for Texas" and said her position and responsibilities require extensive travel at home and abroad.

State Rep. Robert Junell, D-San Angelo, who serves as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he has offered Arnett advice on travel and related expenditures, but added, "It's not my job to be hall monitor..."

Junell, like other state lawmakers, has criticized the Department of Commerce, and questioned the need for the agency. Problems over travel costs also plagued the Commerce Department during the Richards administration.

TDCJ May Choose Director

The Texas Board of Criminal Justice will meet Oct. 24 in San Antonio to interview candidates and possibly select a new executive director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice who will succeed James A. "Andy" Collins.

Collins resigned Sept. 14, but is continuing in office until a successor is named.

The board is to interview seven qualified candidates, including:

- D. Wayne Scott, director, Institutional Division, TDCJ, Huntsville;
- William R. Starling, contract monitor, TDCJ Parole Division, Austin;
- Charles M. Greer, associate warden, Federal Bureau of Prisons, Dublin, Calif.;
- James T. Henderson, panel analyst, Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles, Gatesville;
- Norman Allred, deputy director, Defense Special Missile and Astronautical Center, Fort Meade, Md.;
- Tommy A. Baucum, chief, Planning, Development and Procedures, executive services and planning, TDCJ, Houston; and
- Henry M. Falgoust, assistant regional director I, TDCJ Parole Division, Tyler.

Seidlits to Leave Office

State Rep. Curtis Seidlits, D-Sherman, is planning to leave office and go to work for the Association of Electric Cooperatives of Texas, the American-Statesman reported last week.

The group represents the state's 10 investor-owned utilities.

Seidlits, who served as chairman of the House State Affairs Committee during the last legislative session, wrote much of the telecommunications deregulation bill, derailed term-limits legislation and sponsored new regulations for the power industry.

- Other Highlights
- The State Board of Education has approved a 70 percent passing standard on the state's new end-of-course algebra test despite projections that three out of four students will fail. "If the teachers out there are not teaching it, this test will pretty well tell the world that they're not teaching what we require to be taught," said Will Davis, a board member from Austin.
  - During his fund-raising swing through Texas last week, President Clinton told San Antonio's Kelly Air Force Base workers that he is working to preserve their jobs. He said the five-year plan to phase out the base and transfer many of the jobs to the private sector will work. "We are not shutting this base down," Clinton said. "We are transforming it."

March, and said she reimbursed the state for $137.19 in personal calls, the Austin American-Statesman re-

Mexican bailout actually hurts Mexican economy, study says

The Clinton administration's use of Treasury funds to support the Mexican peso is aggravating that country's long-term economic problems and is an unconstitutional expenditure of money.

A new Cato study, "Mexico: Policy Failure, Moral Hazard, and Market Solutions" (Policy Analysis no. 243), warns that aid from the United States and the International Monetary Fund is producing debt rather than necessary reform.

The authors, W. Lee Hoskins, president of the Huntington National Bank and former president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, and James W. Coons, the Huntington Bank's chief economist, say the loans help special interests and do nothing to raise living standards for most Mexican citizens because the money has been used to cut investors' losses and to avoid making institutional and policy changes.

Moreover, the Clinton administration's disbursing of U.S. funds without congressional appropriation violates the constitutional principle of separation of powers.

Hoskins and Coons say that four times in the past 20 years the United States has responded to Mexico's election-year currency crises by lending Mexico increasing amounts of money as a short-term economic solution. The authors find that:

The U.S. bailouts have insulated Mexican governments from the consequences of their actions, thus ensuring continued poor monetary policy and future crises.

Substantial International Monetary Fund lending has also played a significant role in ensuring future crises.

The use of Treasury funds backed by the Federal Reserve undermines the principle of central bank independence.

The Mexican peso crisis did not pose a serious threat to the international financial system.

In the absence of a U.S. led bailout, market participants would have responded to the peso crisis by renegotiating the Mexican debt, as was the practice earlier this century before the advent of government-led bailouts.

The authors recommend the following measures to improve the lives of ordinary Mexicans and avoid future problems.

Congress should prohibit the Treasury from financing foreign governments through the Exchange Stabilization Fund, which the administration has used to bail out Mexico.

The United States should withdraw from the IMF and the World Bank.

Mexico should open its economy fully to foreign investment, free its exchange rate, and make its central bank transparent and accountable.

In the new global economy, government intervention has become ineffective at preventing or stopping international economic crises.

Neither the U.S. government nor the IMF should be given increased authority to attempt the manipulation of global markets since such intrusion is likely to exacerbate problems. Instead, the market should be allowed to discipline policymakers.
