65th Post Stampede Rodeo opens Thursday

For 64 years, steer wrestling, bull riding, team roping and barrel racing has helped round out the summer months in Post. That tradition will continue this weekend when the 65th Annual Post Stampede Rodeo, billed as the "Best Rodeo in the West," gets under way.

Rodeo activities will run three days, beginning on Thursday. Nightly shows start at 8 p.m., with the grand entry slated to begin at 7:45 p.m.

Admission will cost $5 for adults. Children ages six and under will be admitted at no cost.

Events to be featured in the rodeo include steer wrestling (one go-round, $65); bareback bronc (go-round, $65); calf roping (one head, $65); saddle bronc (one go-round, $65); barrel race ($65); team roping (open, $125); bull riding (one go-round, $65); and girls breakaway roping ($65). Each event will see the addition of $500, and Red Bluff buckles will be awarded in each event.

Books opened Sunday. Call Randy McKee from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. at 972-690-7314.

Also featured will be wild cow milking ($120/team), ranch bronc riding ($65), the Wells Fargo Flag Race (12 and under, $10 entry fee; flag entries limited to the first 10; top five each night advance) and Reef Chemical Mutton Bustin' ($10 entry fee).

Following the Friday and Saturday rodeo events, a dance will be conducted. The Shad Blair Band will provide music. Admission to the dance will cost $5 per person.

On Saturday, the traditional rodeo parade will roll through downtown Post. That event is slated to begin at 3 p.m.

Sponsors for this year's rodeo include Brady's Package Store, Cavender's, McDonald's, Matt Hamel Ag Products, Smith South Plains and Tejas Motors.

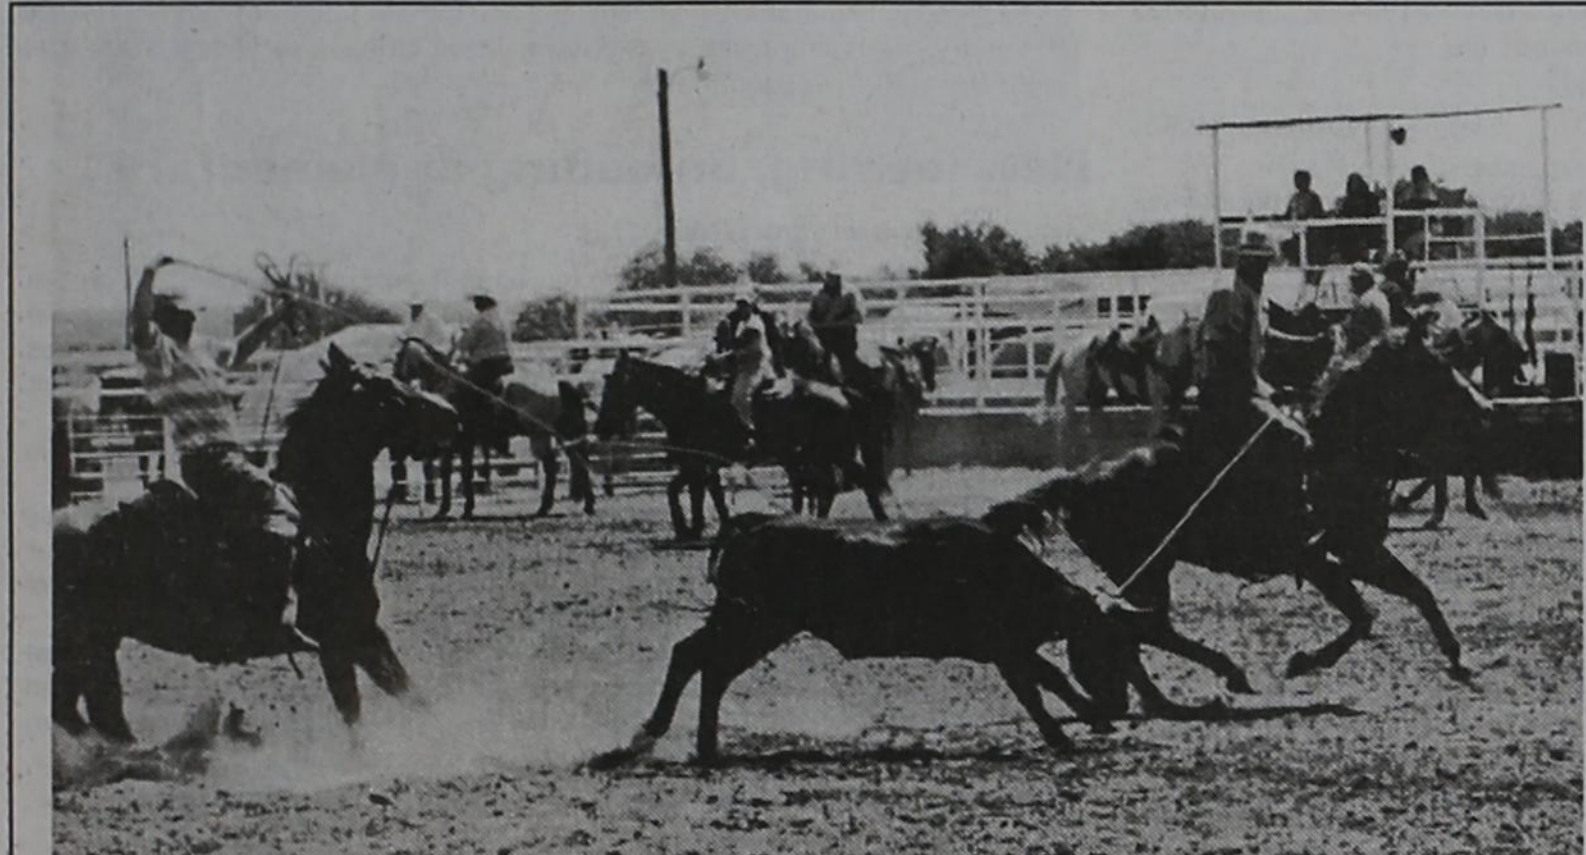

Christian School kindergarten begins Monday

The first day of school for Kindergarten students First Baptist Christian School will be on Monday, August 15. Each Kindergarten class day is from 8 a.m. to noon.

City Council balks at sheriff's budget request

by Wes Burnett

A limit on what the city will spend for law enforcement and an agreement to allow sidewalk signs for Main Street businesses consumed the Post City Council at a special budget work session Tuesday evening.

Following more than an hour of discussion with Sheriff Cliff Laws on his budget request, the council agreed to limit the city's law enforcement funding for the fiscal year 2006 to $302,000 plus three percent pay raise for current sheriff's department staffing and the purchase of one patrol car.

The sheriff had requested the city to fund its one-half of a proposed $998,000 budget.

The council rejected the request to fund any additional costs in the current fiscal year.

Council member Harold Craig suggested that the city discontinue any funding for law enforcement, saying that the sheriff is responsible for law enforcement in all of the county. Council member Kenda Bartlett said that Craig is correct that the city has no obligation to fund law enforcement, "but I believe we have a moral obligation," she said.

Council member Dick Odom questioned what caused the mistake in budgeting. Mayor Bill Pool said that he believes the "mistake was changing sheriff's, and you can quote me on that."

Council members agreed that the whole joint agreement system may have to be scrapped, but the city would not pay much more than what is currently being funded. A unanimous vote approved Craig's recommendation of funding only $302,000 plus three percent salary increases for current staff and the purchase of one patrol unit.

Council member James Easterling requested interim city manager Delbert Rudd to work up figures for what the city would lose if the current joint agreement was cancelled. Rudd reported that he'd already prepared those figures, citing that the county reimburses the city approximately $64,000 per year.

The council also insisted that the city payment to the county for law enforcement would be paid in 12 monthly installments, instead of the current practice of paying upon receipt of an invoice from the county.

Mayor Pool reminded the council that the current joint agreement requires that the city pay one-half of the law enforcement costs, not one-half of the law enforcement budget. "We might as well not have a budget, if that's the case," Craig added.

Main Street merchants attending the meeting regarding sidewalk signs presented a proposal to amend the sign ordinance. After some discussion, representatives at the meeting agreed to council changes to the proposal and the council approved the amendments.

The amendment provides for sidewalk signs to be no smaller than two feet wide by three feet in height, no larger than two and one half feet wide by four feet in height and one sidewalk sign per building front. Post Commerce and Tourism Bureau president Thessa Harp presented the proposal. She was joined by Post Merchants Association president

New unloading zone set for elementary school

Finishing touches on a new drop-off/pick-up area are being made this week at Post Elementary School. District officials are encouraging anyone who drops off or picks up elementary school-aged children to use the new facility.

Donna Degan and members Rosa Latimer Bell and Jim Plummer.

Harp said that the council appointed committee will continue to work on a more comprehensive revision of the entire sign ordinance. "We want to present changes that will more clearly define what is and what is not acceptable," Harp added.

County looks at 44.2 cent tax rate

by Wes Burnett

Garza County Judge Giles W. Dalby informed the Commissioners' Court Monday morning that a tax rate of 44.5 cents would generate adequate funding for the 2006 fiscal year budget. The current tax rate is 42.414 cents per $100 valuation.

The court took no action on the budget, which included a detailed report by Sheriff Cliff Laws on a dramatic increase in the law enforcement budget request.

Laws explained that the new budget proposal of $998,000 was based on a request for three new deputies and three new jailers, as well as a five percent salary increase and three new sheriff's patrol cars.

The sheriff also informed the court that the current budget would be approximately $138,000 short due to higher labor costs. Laws said that the current budget, which was prepared by former Sheriff Kenny Ratke, understated the actual costs of salaries and did not take into consideration the additional funding in December for departing staff members.

Commissioners agreed with Judge Dalby that a decision on the sheriff's budget request should be postponed until after the Post City Council decides what it would be willing to fund. The city and county have shared

Hey everyone,
 Sure glad I didn't mention our rain chances last week. Was that not a wonderful rain? And I think it was pretty wide spread for all the farmers and ranchers. Maybe the farmers will be able to cut off those high priced wells for a little while!

GET WELL
 I want to send a special get well message to my friend Jean Tipton. Just wanted her to know she is in my thoughts and prayers. Also to Troy Nelson who has been in the hospital for a while now. We are thinking of you Troy. Come home soon.

DONUTS
 I know you have all seen the newly remodeled building across from Jr. High. It is really pretty on the outside and in. I believe they opened Wednesday morning and their hours will be 6:30 till 2pm each day and opened on Saturday's and every other Sunday. It will be nice to have donuts on the weekend huh? I don't even know the new owners names, but would like to welcome them to Post. We are delighted to have you!

Mary Payne, Cody Stone exchange wedding vows

Mary Margaret Payne of Lubbock and Cody Carlisle Stone of San Angelo were married at 7:30 p.m. July 16, 2005, in the First United Methodist Church at Henrietta with John Fleming, the church's pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Jerry and Doris Payne of Henrietta. The groom is the son of Jerry Stone of Gail and the late Carolyn Stone.

The church was decorated with two pairs of brass seven-branch candelabra and two large bouquets of red gladiolus. Fire-colored Gerber daisies flanked a trio of cross candelabra and a large fan-shaped arrangement of gladiolus and Gerbera daisies.

For her wedding, the bride wore an ivory satin A-line strapless gown with red trim, a lace-up back and a sweep train. She carried a red rose nosegay accented with white stargazer lilies.

Maid of honor was Kim Morris of Austin. She wore a black tea-length evening dress and carried a nosegay of fire-colored roses.

Bridesmaids were Korlee Carruthers of Burnet, the groom's niece; Tara Hinkle of Iowa Park; Sarah Bauman of Lampasas; and Lorna Langford of Fort Worth. The attendants wore gowns identical to that worn by the maid of honor.

Serving as best man was Robert Payne of Henrietta, the bride's brother. Groomsmen were Carter Carruthers of Burnet, Drew Pickle of Austin, Kevin Chitek of Bryan and Scott Fields of Fredricksburg.

Loren Lovelace of Grapevine was flower girl. Matt O'Toole of Alpine served as ring bearer. Amy Payne of Henrietta, sister-in-law of the bride, and Kristi Carruthers of Burnet, the groom's sister, were candle lighters.

Special music was provided by Mary Wines.

The parents of the couple hosted a reception and dance at the Holman Center following the ceremony. Royce Echols of Henrietta provided his Model A Ford pickup as transportation for the couple to the reception and dance.

Judy Davidson registered guests and Cheryl Mosley and Alana Strickland decorated the center. Members and leaders of the Petrolia and Henrietta 4-H groups prepared and served refreshments.

The groom's father hosted a rehearsal dinner at Leal's in Henrietta.

Following their honeymoon, the couple has made their home in Bozeman, Montana.

The bride, a Texas Tech University graduate, is employed as a special education teacher at Bozeman High School.

The groom graduated with a bachelor's and master's degree from Texas A&M University. He is employed by Montana State University as the State 4-H/Extension volunteer coordinator.

and the elementary playground. To enter, use the entrance on Avenue K at 7th Street, a one-way street traveling west. There is a through lane (the south/left lane) and a loading/unloading lane (the north/right lane). The right lane also will serve as the bus lane. Students should unload from the right lane only, according to district officials.

After students are dropped off, vehicles can move into the left lane and continue west and exit left or right onto Avenue M (the Gail Highway).

Anyone who needs to stop or exit their vehicle to go into the school will have parking available south of the traffic lanes. School officials are asking that in order to keep traffic flowing smoothly, vehicles should not be left unattended in either of the two lanes in the drop-off areas.

"Safety for our students is a priority at all times," said elementary school principal Marvin Self. "We will dismiss all students out the back/south side of the building and move them to the loading and unloading zone. This takes most of our young children away from Highway 380 and its busy traffic."

'Lopes get into high gear for football season

by Wes Burnett

It may be the middle of August and a bit hot to be thinking about football, but football fever is picking up steam as the Post Antelope varsity and junior varsity players head into their first scrimmage Saturday morning.

"I'm really proud of these young men," coach Tim James said earlier this week, "they have come into pre-season practice in very good condition, and that means that they've spent some time this summer staying in shape."

Practice started with the annual "Midnight Madness" (12:01 a.m. Monday, August 1), followed by "two-a-days" through last Thursday. This week the 'Lopes have put on the pads in afternoon sessions, running through offense and defense drills.

"One thing that is very encouraging to us," coach James added, "is the way these young men have kept up with our system... they're picking up on the plays with ease."

Coach James also praised the leadership of seniors Israel Beggs, Aaron Fox, Kenny Garay, Miles Gray, Josh Lee, Colt Mason, Jonathan McGregor, Thomas Odom, Jace Pollard, Eric Reyna, Jared Smith, Sterling Smith and Fernando Soto. "These seniors are setting the pace," the coach emphasized, "and the mark of great football teams is distinguished by the team leaders."

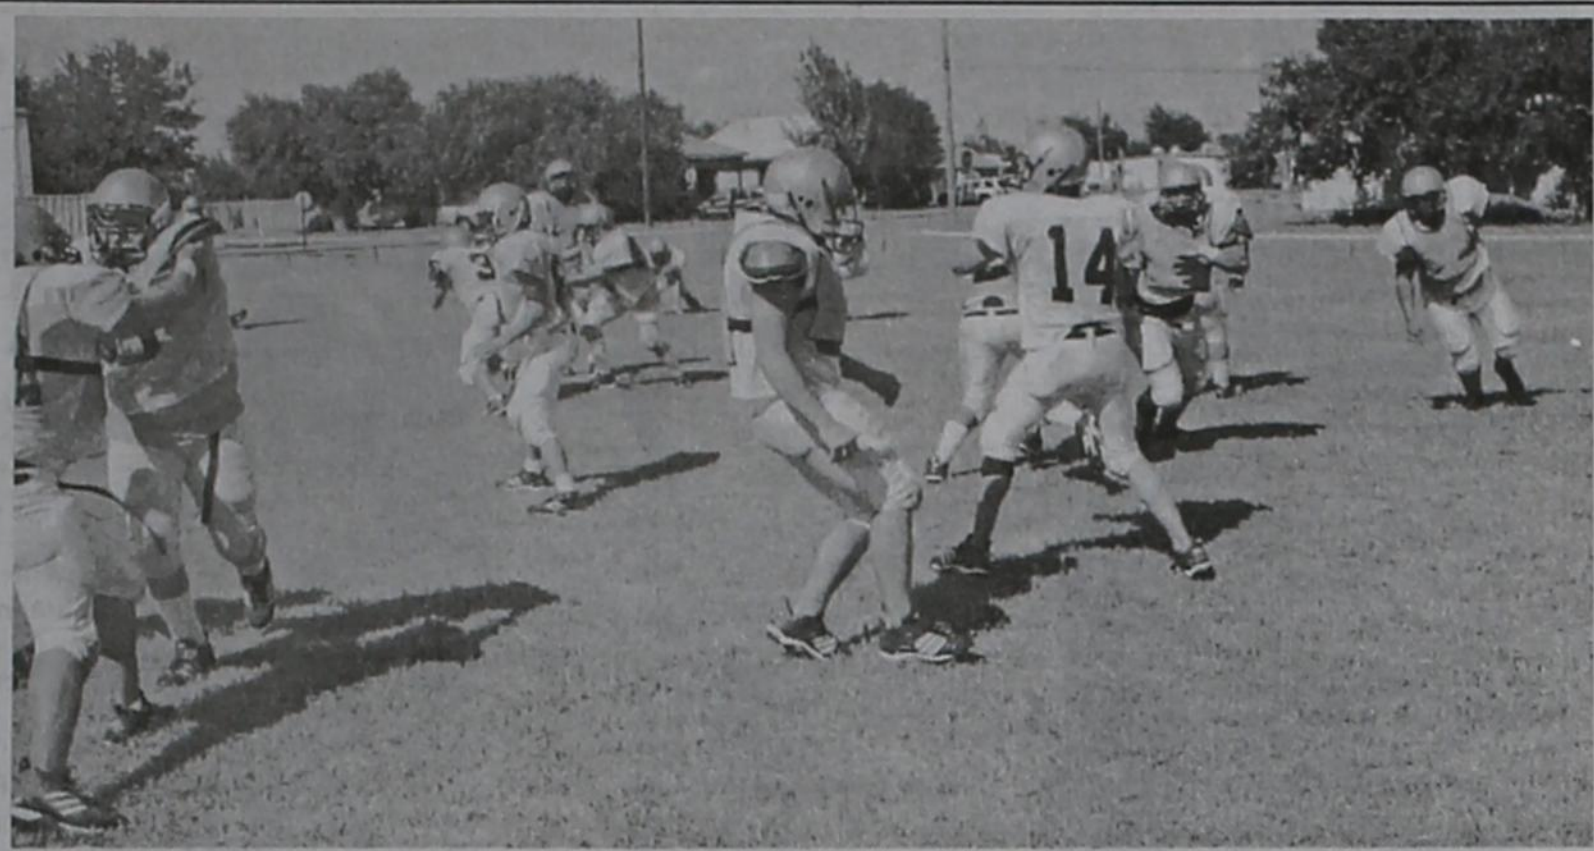

Coach James reported that there are 25 varsity players, with 26 to 28 players on the junior varsity team, which includes freshmen, sophomores and juniors.

Saturday's scrimmage here with Floydada starts at 10 a.m. with the junior varsity, followed at 11 to 11:15 a.m. by the varsity squads. Thursday, August 18 the team will travel to Stanton for the second scrimmage, which starts at 5 p.m.

The Antelopes open this year's season at Seminole with a 7:30 p.m. kickoff. Post City Radio will broadcast the live, play-by-play action throughout the season with veteran announcer Steve Mason at the mike.

Post Antelope varsity players put on pads in second week of pre-season practices. The 'Lopes face Floydada Saturday in the first of two contact scrimmages. The junior varsity team opens the scrimmage at 10 a.m. here, followed by varsity action at 11 to 11:15 a.m.

Gentry Creech, 2005 PHS graduate, has been named to the West Texas A&M (Canyon) cheerleading squad. The unit cheers at all volleyball, football and basketball games played by the Buffaloes. Gentry was a four year varsity cheerleader at PHS, four year All-American selection (NCA) and three time National Champion power tumbling and trampoline. She is the daughter of Joy and Scott Creech of Post.

law enforcement costs approximately 50-50 for a number of years in a joint operating agreement.

Judge Dalby requested Sheriff Laws to attend Tuesday evening's city council meeting to explain the reasons for the increases.

In other matters, the court denied public assistance to two applicants, citing both as being ineligible according to the county's indigent guidelines.

Setting speed limits on county roads in Southland was discussed, with the court requesting Deputy Tommy Binford to arrange a public hearing on the matter on September 8 at 7 p.m. in the Southland School Cafeteria. Binford recommended setting a 30 miles per hour limit on county roadways east of U.S. Hwy 84.

The court agreed with a request by Tax Assessor Judy M. Bush to continue its requirement for a "Statement of No-Tax Due" for individuals placing bids on property foreclosure sales. State law no longer requires such a statement, but allows for county government to continue the requirement.

Formal approval was given for combining voting precinct boxes, reducing the locations from nine to six.

A joint meeting between the court and the Garza County Public Facilities Corporation was approved to consider refinancing bonds for the Giles W. Dalby Correctional Facility. Judge Dalby explained that the lower bond rate would allow for the county to pay off the bonds much earlier, saving the count approximately $1 million.

The court took no action on a report by County Attorney Les Acker concerning a recent U.S. District Court order on specialized software used by various judicial offices. The federal court declared that the software company which sold and installed the product no longer owns the patent. The challenging company, which now owns the patent, is sending a representative to Post for a meeting to discuss the situation.

Very special people...

I think that there are special people living in Post, and I also believe in angels - a few whom I know live here in Post.

I had the misfortune of falling and hurting myself last month and had a short stay in the hospital. When I got out of the hospital, I was walking on a walker.

Now, in our neighborhood we have what we like to call a neighborhood garden. A few of the neighbors came together, and we planted all types of veggies. We all worked the garden, and we all eat from this garden. Well, my two neighbors, Dee and Sue Hodges, bless their hearts, had the chore of watering, hoeing and tending the garden during the month of July without my helping them, as I couldn't.

My neighbors are very wonderful, caring people who picked the garden and brought the veggies to my home as I lay on my back recuperating. Now, what kind of neighbors would you call these precious neighbors? Angels.

Thank you so much for being there for me in my time of need.

MAD DADS pleased

I would like to take the time to say thanks to everyone who helped with the "kid fish" we had on July 14. This was a huge success.

MAD DADS Inc., Post Masonic Lodge, Garza County constable Daniel Yarbrow and Texas Parks and Wildlife game wardens put the program together, and we had a great time. Post-Garza County EMS was on scene "just in case." The kids spent four to five hours fishing and having fun.

We had right at 100 kids ages 15 months to 17 years old participate.

The kids caught many fish and kept the scorekeepers very busy. We had enough prizes to give each child a prize.

I would like to personally thank Post Pizza Hut and McDonald's Drive In of Post for the donation of the food prizes for all the children. Grubs Bait and Grill for supplying the bait. United Supermarket of Post for the assistance in purchasing the many hot dogs to feed the youngsters. Academy Sporting Goods for the assistance in purchasing the Big Fish and Most Fish prizes. Wal-Mart of Lubbock for assistance in purchasing the prize for the Smallest Fish.

I would like to thank Jace Pollard, Tyler Odom and Louis Abraham for your assistance in trying to keep the lines untangled and hooks out of other children. Randy Bullard, Mel Reed, Andy Carr, Brent Satsky, Capt. Rick Gully, Ted Davey and Benjie Smith from the Texas Parks and Wildlife for the fishing poles and assistance and guidance. Cain Abraham for making the runs to Lubbock and helping it all come together. Post EMT intermediates Reshea Tidwell and Jason Powell for being on hand just in case your services were needed. Several people from the Post Masonic Lodge spent the whole morning helping, and there is no way I would be able to name you all. You know who you are, and I say thank you.

The kids had a great time and are looking forward to next year when we do it all again.

On God's Word
by Timothy W. Burnett

Judas Iscariot repents and kills himself

About the time that Jesus was transferred to Pontius Pilate, Judas Iscariot began to realize Jesus would soon face condemnation. The record found in Matthew 27:3-10, does not provide much detail for the chronology related to Jesus' trials. We do know it occurred sometime after Jesus' transfer to Roman authority. The above scripture includes general information and was likely not meant to fit between verses 2 and 11 chronologically. A study of this subject with other scripture reveals this to be true.

According to Matthew 27:3-5, Judas was the disciple who earlier betrayed Jesus. He left during their last meal, revealed their location and plans to the Jewish leaders and led them to Jesus. He then received a payment of 30 silver pieces from the chief priests and elders. After he saw that Jesus was condemned, Judas repented of his action and returned the payment to the chief priests and elders. He told them that he sinned by betraying the "innocent blood" (Matthew 27:4). The chief priests and elders let him know that his sin wasn't their business. Next Judas threw down the silver pieces in the temple and left. In verse 5, the reference to hanging himself is a figure of speech that requires more explanation. In "Jesus Christ Our Passover," author Victor Paul Wierwille said, "the Greek word translated 'hanged himself' in the King James Version is apanchomai from the Greek word apancho." Wierwille further explained that in classical literature it meant "to strangle" or "to choke" and figuratively meant to choke with anger or grief (p. 510). Judas was choked with overwhelming grief over his actions.

In Luke 24:33-36 and John 20:19-24 we find the 12 apostles together, without Thomas, after God raised Jesus from the dead. Eight days later, Jesus reappeared when all 12 apostles were present (John 20:26-29).

According to Acts 1:2-4, Jesus was once again present with his "chosen ones" just prior to his ascension. If Judas was not present with them, there is no doubt that Jesus would have made the arrangements for his replacement. There is no record of any one of his "chosen ones" being missing at this time.

After Jesus ascended, the apostles stayed in an upper room. It was during this time that Peter stood up and announced the need to replace Judas Iscariot with another apostle. The record reveals that Judas left the others and killed himself by somehow causing a sword to plunge into his stomach area (Acts 1:13-20).

Not unlike Peter's denials, Judas made a wrong decision by betraying Jesus Christ. He also grieved greatly just as Peter did. The difference was that Judas was so overwhelmed that he was spiritually driven to commit suicide. According to Acts 1:17, he was numbered with the others and obtained part of the ministry. Peter and the others obtained the full ministry after holy spirit was poured out on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:4). Many people after them also obtained the same ministry. For they were filled with holy spirit and began to speak with tongues. It is still available today for people to obtain the same ministry of reconciliation (2 Corinthians 5:18).

Will we defend ourselves?

by Walter E. Williams

Much ado in our country and Europe has been made about alleged mistreatment and torture of suspected terrorist prisoners. First, there were stories and hand-wringing over the treatment of prisoners at Iraq's Abu Ghraib prison.

More recently, Sen. Dick Durbin, D-Ill., equated our military's treatment of captured Taliban and al-Qaeda terrorist suspects, held at Guantanamo Bay, with something that would have "been done by Nazis, Soviets in their gulags, or some mad regime — Pol Pot or others — that had no concern for human beings." That statement not only demonstrates ignorance of the horrors committed by the Nazis, Soviets and Pol Pot, but it supplied ammunition for people seeking to destroy us.

Regardless of how we feel now about the treatment of terrorists, and suspected terrorists, I can envision a day when Americans will care less about interrogation techniques used in the quest to get intelligence about terrorists. That day will be when there's a chemical or biological attack in one of our cities that kills and injures tens of thousands of Americans. If that day ever comes, you can bet the rent money that the Dick Durbins, the Nancy Pelosis and others who've undermined and attacked our interrogation efforts, complaining about our not treating international cutthroats humanely, will blame the attack on President Bush. The last thing they'll do is blame themselves for sabotaging our efforts to get intelligence that might stymie terrorist plans.

It's tempting to invoke the Geneva Convention protections that are afforded prisoners of war. Geneva Convention protections did apply to Iraqi soldiers captured during our war with Iraq, but they do not apply to terrorists or even soldiers who are out of uniform. In earlier times, when common sense prevailed and we had the will to defend ourselves, that fact was understood and appreciated.

During World War II, German soldiers captured not wearing their own army's uniforms were lined up and shot. In 1942, a German submarine landed eight Nazi saboteurs on the beaches of New York and Florida. Two months after a secret military tribunal, convened by President Roosevelt, six of the eight were executed, even though they hadn't killed or bombed anyone — just being here was enough.

For those of us who were around during World War II, can we imagine anyone, much less a government high official, having said, "The treatment of detainees is a taint on our country's reputation, especially in Germany, and there are many questions that must be answered. These questions are important because the safety of our country depends on our reputation and how we are viewed, especially in Germany"? If you substitute "the Muslim world" for "Germany" in that statement, you have House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi's, D-Calif., statement.

Here's my question to you: If there's a biological or chemical terrorist attack, killing and wounding tens of thousands of Americans, how much would you care about "our reputation and how we are viewed in the Muslim world"? What will you think of leftist politicians, intellectuals and news media people preoccupied with whether we're treating Taliban and al-Qaeda detainees at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, according to the Geneva Convention?

Let's be clear about one thing. I'm not suggesting that we treat captured terrorist suspects the way the Japanese treated American POWs during World War II. While harsh interrogation techniques are by no means a guarantee that useful information will be acquired to thwart a deadly attack, our interrogators should be permitted to employ every method at their disposal.

There's an important terrorism issue for Muslim communities, especially those residing in Western countries. They should be concerned about backlash and retaliation against Muslims in the wake of a large-scale disaster. Muslims must in no uncertain terms make it clear, as have spokesmen for the Free Muslim Coalition (www.freemuslims.org), that the terrorists do not speak for them, and they must report terrorists within their communities.

Why payola doesn't matter

by Bart Frazier

New York Attorney General Eliot Spitzer has recently leveled a $10 million fine against Sony BMG for payola, a practice in which radio producers are paid for promoting certain songs.

Why the fine?

The argument against payola is that music lovers are not choosing songs on the merits of quality but instead are being manipulated by the record labels to purchase something that they wouldn't have purchased otherwise. As Spitzer argues, "Our investigation shows that, contrary to listener expectations that songs are selected for airplay based on artistic merit and popularity, air time is often determined by undisclosed payoffs to radio stations and their employees."

But radio is only one among many sources of music, and if a certain genre of music is not finding success with the radio model of distribution, the market can find other ways of distribution.

In fact, the Grateful Dead, which gave birth to what came to be known as the "jamband scene," is a great example of this market phenomenon.

The Grateful Dead defied the radio distribution model. When the Dead first started playing music in the 1960s, musicians made their living by selling records. They recorded short, hummable tunes that could be played repeatedly over the radio, hoping the songs would become hits and spur sales of their recordings.

The Grateful Dead's music did not lend itself to that format. To begin with, the Dead were downright awful in the studio. While masterful musicians during live performances, their energy on stage evaporated when they tried to bottle their songs in the recording studio. In addition, most of their songs were too long for radio anyway. While most Top 40 songs were in the two- to three-minute range, most of the Grateful Dead's songs lasted 8 to 10 minutes on stage, with several running longer than 20 minutes.

They did manage to sign a record contract with Warner Brothers, but their sales were anemic and the Dead actually ended up in debt to Warner by the early 1970s. Their bread and butter was ticket sales, and in the course of 30 years they managed to become the highest-grossing live band in the history of rock.

Yet in all of their years, they had only one hit - 1987's "Touch of Grey," which made it to number 9 on Billboard's Hot 100.

How did people even know to go to their concerts if their music wasn't being played on the radio? Incredibly, they gave their music away for free.

The Grateful Dead had a policy of allowing anyone to bring recording equipment to their concerts, record the show, and make copies for friends so long as they didn't charge for them. As with all other market phenomena, the result was unpredictable. Communities of fans sprang up to form clubs to trade tapes. Fans mailed shows from one side of the coast to the other, and a hardcore, devoted fan base developed. Some of the more rabid fans even devoted themselves to seeing every single show. By the early 1990s, The Grateful Dead, Inc., was grossing more than $50 million annually from ticket and merchandise sales.

Since then, others have followed in their footsteps, creating an entirely different musical genre based on live performances, improvisational music, and free recording. Members of bands such as Phish and Widespread Panic have become millionaires, especially as iPods and the Internet have helped to spread their free music to anyone who wants it. And in 2002, the jamband scene culminated in the Bonnaroo Festival in rural Tennessee, where 70,000 people camped out for three days to listen to 50 bands that most people have never heard of. It has been held annually since.

If payola works for some as a business model, then why not leave them free to use it? Payola doesn't hurt anyone. Musicians who don't like it can find other ways to make a living. The Grateful Dead and the jamband scene found success without the help of radio and payola, but their success would not have been possible without the dynamics of the free market and musical entrepreneurship.

National attention drawn to "Fair Tax" proposal

Within the last 24 hours, the issue of tax reform through the adoption of the FairTax - an integrated plan incorporating a progressive national sales tax - received an influx of national attention with the release of the new book, The FairTax Book, co-authored by national radio host Neal Boortz and Georgia Congressman John Linder (GA-07). The book outlines the main points of HR 25/S 25, or the FairTax Act of 2005, and illustrates the economic advantages of replacing our current inefficient and broken income tax system with a fair, simple, transparent, non-invasive, revenue-neutral replacement.

Following appearances by Neal Boortz and John Linder on Hannity and Colmes, FairTax.org received thousands of e-mails overnight from people giving their support to the FairTax. With further television appearances planned, as well as various radio talk shows, the FairTax is in the national spotlight, beginning a new phase of the education of the American people of a fairer and more efficient tax system that builds a stronger and more economically-competitive America.

In the last week alone, Neal Boortz and Congressman Linder took their case to the public on: Hannity and Colmes, Your World with Neil Cavuto, 13 local radio shows in major markets across the country, including Dallas, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Tampa, Washington, DC, Jacksonville, Raleigh, and Seattle, and three nationally-syndicated radio shows. In addition, Mr. Boortz goes on a month-long book-signing tour this week to promote the book.

As a result of the television appearances the FairTax Houston headquarters was overwhelmed with calls for information about the FairTax, memberships, and signed petitions. These new members also asked for information about how to get involved in the cause.

"We're seeing an explosion of interest from people all over the country," said FairTax.org Executive Director Tom Wright. "There was once a morning when

Unhealthy and unwise

by Bill O'Reilly

The devil has frostbite because hell has just frozen over. The New York Times, the elite media champion of government entitlements, has printed a "knock-your-socks off" investigation of Medicaid fraud in New York State.

The headline is that 40 percent of New York's $45-billion dollar-a-year Medicaid tab is paid to crooks who have figured out how to beat the chaotic system. The Times ran down a list of thieves including doctors, dentists, transportation providers and individuals. The paper did a nice job exposing the scams and fraud but just dented the crime wall, because to steal about $20 billion a year there has to be an army of villains, and there are.

Now, I don't think anyone is surprised that entitlement fraud is rampant in New York State, which is the highest taxed state in the union and has two U.S. senators who love the entitlement gravy train: Chuck Schumer and Hillary Clinton. But the state also has an allegedly conservative governor, George Pataki. However, Pataki has little power because the State Assembly is controlled by perhaps the worst elected official in the country, Speaker Sheldon Silver, who makes Boss Tweed look like Elliot Ness. Silver has consistently and unrepentantly stalled bills that would provide more legal oversight on entitlement fraud.

So why should you care if you don't live in New York? Well, because the liberal mantra that all Americans are entitled to government-funded health care has gained momentum over the years and is likely to be one of the cornerstones of Hillary Clinton's presidential bid.

Can you imagine the federal government sending checks out to hundreds of millions of Americans and their health providers? Can you just picture the chaos and the theft potential? We have massive fraud now with targeted health plans for the poor and elderly. Universal health entitlements would send the country into fiscal disaster.

The truth is that our Constitution does not mandate any responsibility on the part of the feds to pay you anything. There wasn't even a federal income tax withholding before 1913. But now the American Left has decided that a "compassionate" society must provide health care even though it is virtually impossible to do that in a nation of 300 million. The national health system in Canada is chaotic, and they have just 33 million citizens.

I am not talking about an "every man for himself" national policy. Clearly, the federal government should provide responsible and effective safety nets for Americans who cannot provide for themselves. Nobody should live under a bridge, nobody should die for lack of a doctor. But government assistance should be well thought out and delivered in a targeted, disciplined way. So far, that has not been case not only in Medicaid but in most "Great Society" programs.

Rampant entitlements have bankrupted Germany and France, and the high taxation that fuels these programs has made it impossible for the German and French economies to grow. More entitlements and higher taxation in the USA would lead to the same situation. We have been warned.

It must be galling to the left-wing columnists at The New York Times that their own newspaper has illustrated the economic dangers of massive entitlement programs. People like Bob Herbert and Paul Krugman envision a quasi-socialist paradise where the feds provide you with everything from tranquilizers to a colonoscopy. And judging from the exposition of out-of-control Medicare fraud in New York State, the colonoscopy reference is disturbingly appropriate.

American women woke up and knew they could get the right to vote. That dawn for every American taxpayer is close at hand. We've done our homework. We've gotten the message out. We're making the case. Now it's up to the citizens to call their congressmen and senators, telling them what they want: the FairTax. We're thrilled about the success of the book because it demonstrates the strength of support from the American people. We've been saying all along that support is there and now everyone can see it."

FairTax.org maintains a website, www.fairtax.org, which provides information about the FairTax, research materials, petition sign-up, and materials and procedures for participating. What is the FairTax plan? The FairTax plan is a comprehensive proposal that replaces all federal income and payroll taxes with an integrated approach including a progressive national retail sales tax, a rebate to ensure no American pays federal taxes up to the poverty level, dollar-for-dollar revenue neutrality, and the repeal of the 16th Amendment.

This non-partisan legislation (HR 25/S 25) abolishes all federal personal, gift, estate, capital gains, alternative minimum, Social Security, Medicare, self-employment, and corporate taxes and replaces them all with one simple, visible, federal retail sales tax - collected by existing state sales tax authorities.

The FairTax taxes us only on what we choose to spend, not on what we earn. It does not raise any more or less revenue; it is designed to be revenue neutral. So it is also cost neutral - the final cost for goods and services changes little under the FairTax.

The FairTax is a fair, efficient, transparent, and intelligent solution to the frustration and inequity of our current tax system. For more information: www.fairtax.org or call 1-800-FAIRTAX. (Americans For Fair Taxation 713-963-8403)

I would like to thank Jace Pollard, Tyler Odum and Louis Abraham for your assistance in trying to keep the lines untangled and hooks out of other children. Randy Bullard, Mel Reed, Andy Carr, Brent Satsky, Capt. Rick Gully, Ted Davey and Benjie Smith from the Texas Parks and Wildlife for the fishing poles and assistance and guidance. Cain Abraham for making the runs to Lubbock and helping it all come together. Post EMT Intermediates Reshea Tidwell and Jason Powell for being on hand just in case your services were needed. Several people from the Post Masonic Lodge spent the whole morning helping and there is no way I would be able to name you all, you know who you are and I say Thank You. The kids had a great time and are looking forward to next year when we do it all again.

Rodney Tidwell, MAD DADS

Thank you, thank you, thank you to all those that prayed for me after my accident. God does answer prayer. After 6 surgeries I'm now doing great. Thank you Slaton and Post EMTs. Because of everyone's care, concern, and the power of prayer I am back to light work.
God bless each of you,
Willie Nelson

VIOXX Celebrex - Bextra

Heart Attacks, Strokes & Sudden Cardiac Deaths

In 2004, VIOXX was recalled due to increased risk of heart attacks, strokes and cardiac deaths of VIOXX users. According to recent studies, CELEBREX & BEXTRA, both COX-2 inhibitors, unlike VIOXX, may have similar or higher heart attack, stroke and cardiac death risk. A medical study found that VIOXX users receive 10% fewer heart attacks and strokes than users of other pain relievers. Recently in a letter to the FDA, Merck's own study stated that 14.6% of VIOXX patients experienced cardiovascular events. VIOXX lawsuits are being filed throughout the US.

If you or a loved one have taken VIOXX, Celebrex or Bextra and suffered a heart attack or stroke or a family member has died due to a heart attack or stroke, then call us for a Free Case Evaluation. 2005

Property Tax Rates in DISTRICT AND GARZA COUNTY

This notice concerns 2005 property tax rates for GCHCD AND GARZA COUNTY. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

	General Fund	Farm to Market/ Flood Control Fund	GARZA CO HEALTH CARE DISTRICT
Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 2,026,059	$	$ 466,286
Last year's debt taxes	$ 0	$	$ 0
Last year's total taxes	$ 2,026,059	$	$ 466,286
Last year's tax base	$ 409,304,920	$	$ 406,137,820
Last year's total tax rate	$.49500 /$100	$ /$100	$.11481 /$100
This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 2,026,059	$	$ 466,286
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 477,683,572	$	$ 474,287,600
= This year's effective tax rate for each fund	$.42414 /$100	$ /$100	$.09831 /$100
Total effective tax rate (Maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearings.)	$.42414 /$100	$ /$100	$.09831 /$100

In the first year a county collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$	/$100
= Effective tax rate	$	/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for any transferred function, tax increment financing, state criminal justice mandate, and/or enhanced indigent health care expenditures)	$ 2,026,059	$	$ 466,286
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 477,683,572	$	$ 474,287,600
= This year's effective rate	$.42414 /$100	$ /$100	$.09831 /$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$.45807 /$100	$ /$100	$.10617 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ 0 /$100	$ /$100	$ 0 /$100
= This year's rollback rate for each fund	$ 0 /$100	$ /$100	$ 0 /$100
This year's total rollback rate	$.45807 /$100	$ /$100	$.10617

A county that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$	/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$	/$100

For a county with additional rollback rate for pollution control, insert the following lines:

+ Additional rollback rate for pollution control	$.00519 /$100	$.00519
= Rollback tax rate	$.46326 /$100	$.11136

50-178 (Rev. 07-05/7)

Statement of Increase/Decrease

If GARZA COUNTY adopts a 2005 tax rate equal to the effective tax rate of $.42414 per $100 of value, taxes would INCREASE compared to 2004 taxes by $ 13,030.

Schedule A - Unencumbered Fund Balances
