Hospital district continues talks on new clinic building

Discussion on possible construction of a new clinic facility for the Garza County Hospital District continued at the Aug. 17 meeting of the district's board of directors.

Board members Wayne Edwards and Ray Bagby, who are researching possible clinic sites, reported their findings. They reported on several potential locations, but land prices have not yet been secured.

Hospital board members have been working toward the possibility of constructing a new facility for several months following several financially successful months at the clinic.

No action was taken following the report by Edwards and Bagby.

In other business, directors:

- Received the clinic report for July. The clinic reported 673 office visits and 1,093 procedures, revenues of $34,593 and expenditures of $38,019. The clinic reported a loss of $3,425 for the month, which hospital administrator Shirley Taylor said is not unusual for the summer months.

- Agreed to repair or replace the air conditioning unit at the clinic. The current unit's compressor is failing, and although district officials are looking at building a new clinic facility, plans call for the existing clinic building to continue to be used even with the opening of a new clinic location. District officials secured several quotes for repairs, and the board agreed to go with the lowest quote for repairs to the compressor unless a less expensive option can be found.

- Voted to leave the district employee personnel policy intact. No changes were made.

- Agreed to retain J.W. Anderson & Associates of Lubbock to

Post ISD officials attend seminar in Fort Worth

Four trustees and the superintendent of the Post Independent School District traveled to Fort Worth last month to attend the Texas Association of School Boards Summer Governance Seminar.

Those attending the event, which was conducted July 13 through July 15, included trustees Barbara Hardin, Alexa Collier, Mike Holly and Milton Williams and Marlin Marcum, who serves as superintendent of the school district.

The seminar offered practical continuing education for new and experienced school trustees on key education issues. Participants received an overview of school finance and education reform measures enacted in the legislative special session and examined topics such as effective district planning, problem solving and decision making.

Other topics explored during the sessions included bullying on campus; the board's role in improving student achievement; the Texas Open Meetings Act; and how students socialize through technology (cell phones, computers and hand-held devices). A special track focused on board members' involvement in the advocacy process, including communication district positions and developing relationships with lawmakers and the media.

One of the keynote speakers at the event was Randy Snow, a business owner, four-time Paralympian and Olympic Hall of Fame gold medalist who learned many lessons and embraced change after a spinal cord injury. In his presentation, "The Courage to Lead," he challenged the audience to live the truth, compete with a purpose, reach for opportunities and remain compassionate.

Districts also showcased their successes in such areas as removing barriers to higher education, securing external grant funding, establishing education foundations, identifying team strengths, and setting up successful advanced placement programs. In-depth sessions focused on the basics of boardsmanship, school governance and teamwork and offered information on parliamentary procedures and board president duties.

Gearhart receives medals for rescue of 90 in Iraq

Post resident John Gearhart, who serves as a corrections adviser in Iraq for the U.S. Department of Justice, recently was recognized for his role in the rescue of 90 Iraqis from a building fire.

The American Correctional Association awarded its Medal of Valor to Gearhart and four of his team members following a fire at the Iraqi Corrections Service Rusafa Prison Complex in Baghdad, Iraq, according to reports. Earlier this month, the North American Association of Wardens and Superintendents presented its Medal of Valor to Gearhart and his team for rescues made during the fire.

On Feb. 16, 2005, a fire broke out in Cell Block 2 of the Rusafa facility where 90 inmates were housed, according to reports. Corrections personnel arrived at the affected area to find heavy smoke and flames pouring from the cell. Panicked inmates crowded around the gate area, desperate to get away from the fire.

Corrections officers quickly began an evacuation process. Some inmates had to be carried out of the building after smoke inhalation left them unconscious.

As the evacuation effort continued, the fire continued to consume much of the contents of the facility - mattresses, blankets and paper products housed in the dormitory-type cell. Inmates still needing assistance screamed for help, but the heat and thick smoke made rescue efforts difficult. Corrections employees used protective masks to get to the trapped inmates, locking hands with them to form a human chain and guide the inmates to safety, according to reports.

Following the rescue, a count of inmates came up one man short. Corrections officers once again punctured the burning cell, quickly moving from bed to bed in search of the missing man. He finally was found, unconscious, and was pulled from his bed and moved to safety.

Corrections personnel honored along with Gearhart included Allan Collins, Terry Kidwell, Thomas Hopper and Jim Millar.

SENT TO ME BY MY NEICE JANA UNDERWOOD
God sent him
A Marine was attending a college course between missions in Iraq and Afghanistan.

The professor, an avowed atheist, shocked the class one day when he walked in. He looked toward the ceiling, and said loudly, "God, if you are real, then I want you to knock me off this platform. I'll give you exactly 15 minutes!"

The lecture room fell silent and the professor began his lecture. Ten minutes went by and the professor proclaimed, "Here I am God still waiting!"

It got down to the last minute when the Marine stood up, walked toward the professor, and threw his best punch knocking him off the platform and out cold.

The Marine went back to his seat and sat down. The other students were shocked and stunned and sat there looking on in silence.

The professor finally came to, noticeably shaken, looked at the Marine and asked, "What is the matter with you? Why did you do that?"

The Marine calmly replied, "God is very busy today protecting America's soldiers who are protecting your right to behave like an idiot, so He sent me."

TILL NEXT WEEK
Hope you all have a great week end. May God bless each of you.

Questions challenges to county

After hearing questions about the sheriff's department, the treasurer and Judge Dalby at the July 10 Commissioners Court, I decided to do my own investigating.

First I went to Webster's Dictionary for the definition of a budget. "Budget: A plan for estimated expected expenses for a certain period of time." There are two major categories: 1) inflows, and 2) outflows. Under those two are budget categories, with subtopics under each called line items. There are usually a large number of line items.

Next I talked to Sheriff Cliff Laws. Yes, he said, an unexpected situation occurred that caused one of the line items to exceed its budget. However, the dollars needed for this unexpected was taken care of within a period of six weeks by diverting funds from other line items so that inflows and outflows balanced out. The total budget was not overextended. In other words, no additional funds were needed to solve the situation.

Then I visited with Ruth Young, treasurer. She said that budgets were periodically examined on a regular basis. If the situation can resolve itself without further action, the department heads are encouraged to use their own creativity to stay in budget. When and if an unexpected situation might require additional funds, the entire commission is called in to help work it out.

I just want to applaud the Garza County Sheriff's Department for the dedicated effort to get back on their financial tract after an unexpected and unplanned circumstance. This was accomplished in a relatively short period of time. It is the nature of law enforcement that unexpected things happen, and I personally think that we should be very proud of them. Doing a budget, trying to think of everything is difficult at best. It is made even more difficult when one is under constant attack.

JoAnn Mock

Editor's Note:

The letter writer is misinformed. There has been no "attack" on the Sheriff's Department or the Treasurer or Judge Dalby. At the July 10 Commissioners' Court meeting a citizen questioned the lawful disbursement of funds for a budget line item that did not have sufficient funds. It was pointed out to the court that the law forbids the payment of funds for any line item that has exceeded the authorized budget amount.

The state law specifically requires the Commissioners' Court to approve line item transfers from other sources prior to expending funds from an over-budget account. The court may add money to the over-budget line item if an emergency exists, or it may transfer funds from other budgeted line items to satisfy funding requirements.

The issue is not about the need for overtime, but the need to adhere strictly to the law regarding the disbursement of tax funds.

Furthermore, the over-budget line item was known to county officials beginning in March, and was resolved with a vote of the court to transfer funds at the July 31 meeting. That is considerably more than "six weeks."

Asking questions or challenging actions by government officials are not "attacks"... they are basic and fundamental duties of responsible citizens in this great nation which boasts of freedom and liberty as its gift to the world.

Revival services slated at Post Church of the Nazarene

The Post Church of the Nazarene will host the Rev. George Frasier in revival services beginning Sunday.

Frasier became a Christian at the age of 15. He worked in law enforcement for 34 years, serving with the Odessa Police Department, the Texas Highway Patrol and as a Texas Ranger for almost 20 years. His career ended abruptly in 1993 when he was "unmistakably" called to preach.

Frasier was ordained an elder in the Church of the Nazarene in 1999 and served as a pastor for 12 years in San Angelo, Austin and Coleman. He retired from working as a pastor earlier this year, but continues to conduct revival services and special speaking engagements, as well as serving as chaplain for the Texas Rangers and the Former Texas Ranger Association.

Frasier and his wife are the parents of four children. Revival services will be at 10:55 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Sunday, with 7 p.m. weeknight services continuing nightly through Wednesday. The community is invited to attend any or all of these services at the Post Church of the Nazarene, which is located at the corner of 10th Street and Avenue K.

On God's Word

By Timothy W. Burnett

The Church is the body of Christ...Part 5

The church of God is made up of a body of people which was purchased by the shedding of Jesus Christ's blood (Acts 20:28). The price that God paid was the blood of his first born son Jesus Christ. That was a very high price. It says in 1 Peter 2:24, "who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness. By whose stripes you were healed."

This basically covers the essence of mankind's condition, which is to be rebellious against God's will and bound to illness and death. It was all borne in the body of Jesus Christ. Guess what? God refers to His church as the same body.

God put all things under the feet of Jesus Christ and made him to be the head over all to the church, which is his body. That's what it says in Ephesians 1:22-23. The church of God is the body of Christ. The word "church" is used in the context of the dynamics of the assembly of believing Christians. Jesus Christ is the head over the church. In our bodies, the head is what determines what the body does. So also does Jesus Christ lead the way in the church. That's the way God designed it.

Jesus Christ is the head of the church and the savior of the body (Ephesians 5:23). How was Jesus the savior? He trusted his Father to raise him from the dead unto everlasting life. Now people in the church can get saved unto everlasting life in heaven when they begin to spiritually call upon the name of the Lord. The first example of people becoming alive unto righteousness and getting saved is found in Acts 2:4.

1 Corinthians chapter 12 helps to understand better the dynamics of the church with Christ as the head. Every member is uniquely important in the body and should not be looked upon as unnecessary. This is God's opinion. Even the least favored saints must be highly regarded by other members. This is not about letting somebody go without timely loving reproof, but about how we regard each other in the body.

The church of God was sanctified not by our own works or actions, but by the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once and for all (Hebrews 10:10). This was a one time sacrifice that brings dynamic results for all who believe that God raised the same Jesus from the dead making him Lord (Romans 10:9-10).

The church of God is made up of the body of Jesus Christ with all the members designed to work in perfect synchronization under the head, which is Jesus Christ our Lord.

You want to know God's opinion about the body of Christ? See 1 Peter 2:9-11, "But you are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people, that you should show forth the praises of Him who has called you out of darkness into His marvelous light. Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God. Which did not obtain mercy [in the past], but now have obtained mercy. Dearly beloved..."

Profile in Sanity...

by Bill O'Reilly

We are living in treacherous times, and terrorists well understand that even when one of their murderous plots is uncovered, the fallout from the aborted action is a big win for them. After British authorities prevented a couple of dozen Muslim fanatics from blowing up a number of American jetliners, the ensuing airport chaos caused pain and inconvenience for thousands of people. Unfortunately, that will continue for the foreseeable future.

Osama and his pals must take great joy at watching 80-year-old grandmothers being patted down and their creams confiscated by jumpy security people. This is the ultimate al Qaeda reality program: "Survivor: Airport."

Add to that the foolish political bickering over who is protecting Americans better and you have great joy in Mudhuttle -- the hiding al Qaeda leadership wins again.

Of course, the sane way to protect Americans in the sky is to stop looking for nail files and begin profiling people who might actually cause terror damage. That is not "racial" profiling, that is "terror" profiling. Most of the recent terror activities have been perpetrated by young Muslim men. So it is these people who need greater scrutiny when they check in for a flight.

I know that's mean, but believe me when I tell you that if the Irish Republican Army were attempting to blow up American planes, I'd have no problem being patted down before I stepped on a plane. I would understand and appreciate the common sense behind the close look. I would not consider myself a victim but would be furious that my ethnic cousins were causing so much trouble.

I believe some Muslim Americans feel the way I do. They understand that some of their co-religionists are remorseless killers.

But not all Muslims think that way, and certainly the ACLU and other far left groups oppose profiling. They fight hard against most strategies designed to make terror attacks more difficult. Except, of course, when it involves them.

You may remember the New York Civil Liberties Union (NYCLU) sued when the NYPD instituted random bag searches on the subway. Yet a sign at the NYCLU building warned that the organization had the right to search the bags of all people entering there. Hypocritical? You make the call.

The biggest problem we have in America when it comes to defeating terrorism is that some of us live in the real world and some of us live in a theoretical zone where all problems could be solved if only we just talked things over with those who want to kill us. For those people, actions like profiling, unilateral military campaigns and tough interrogation methods are simply too drastic. These Americans believe aggressive terror countermeasures actually encourage violence against us and create more willing terror killers.

Looking back, the actions of Presidents Clinton and Bush in his first year pretty much ignored the growing terror threat from the Muslim world. Little aggressive action was taken against al Qaeda when it blew up our embassies in Africa and attacked our warship off the coast of Yemen.

There was no airline profiling going on when 19 Muslim killers boarded three airliners on 9/11, all with one-way tickets to hell. Had we been wiser then, 3,000 Americans might be alive today.

But we were not wise then, and we are not wise now, either. Call it what you will, but lay off Granny at the airport, and zero in on higher risk subjects.

The Constitution of most of our states (and of the United States) assert that all power is inherent in the people; that they may exercise it by themselves; that it is their right and duty to be at all times armed and that they are entitled to freedom of person, freedom of religion, freedom of property and freedom of press.

Thomas Jefferson

Will the West defend itself?

by Walter E. Williams

Does the United States have the power to eliminate terrorists and the states that support them? In terms of capacity, as opposed to will, the answer is a clear yes.

Think about it. Currently, the U.S. has an arsenal of 18 Ohio class submarines. Just one submarine is loaded with 24 Trident nuclear missiles. Each Trident missile has eight nuclear warheads capable of being independently targeted. That means the U.S. alone has the capacity to wipe out Iran, Syria or any other state that supports terrorist groups or engages in terrorism -- without risking the life of a single soldier.

Terrorist supporters know we have this capacity, but because of worldwide public opinion, which often appears to be on their side, coupled with our weak will, we'll never use it. Today's Americans are vastly different from those of my generation who fought the life-and-death struggle of World War II. Any attempt to annihilate our Middle East enemies would create all sorts of handwringing about the innocent lives lost, so-called collateral damage.

Such an argument would have fallen on deaf ears during World War II when we firebombed cities in Germany and Japan. The loss of lives through saturation bombing far exceeded those lost through the dropping of atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

After the battle of Midway, and the long string of Japanese defeats in the Pacific, including Guam, Okinawa and the Philippines, had today's Americans been around, they'd be willing to negotiate with Japan for peace, pointing to the additional loss of lives if we continued the war. More than likely they would have made the same argument in 1945, when German defeat was imminent. Of course, had there been a peace agreement with Japan and Germany, all it would have achieved would have been to give them time to recoup their losses and resume their aggression at a later time, possibly equipped with nuclear weapons.

We might also note that the occupation of Germany and Japan didn't pose the occupation problems we face in Iraq. The reason is we completely demoralized our enemies, leaving them with neither the will nor the means to resist.

Our adversaries in the Middle East have advantages that the axis powers didn't have -- the Western press and public opinion. We've seen widespread condemnation of alleged atrocities and prisoner mistreatment by the U.S., but how much media condemnation have you seen of beheadings and other gross atrocities by Islamists?

Terrorists must be pleased by statements of some members of Congress, such as those by Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., who recently said, "I don't take sides for or against Hezbollah." Hezbollah, backed by Iran, is responsible for the 1983 bombing of Beirut barracks killing 241 U.S. service members.

I'm not suggesting that we rush to use our nuclear capacity to crush states that support terrorism. I'm sure there are other less drastic military options. What I am suggesting is that I know of no instances where appeasement, such as the current Western modus operandi, has borne fruit.

What Europeans say about what should be done about terrorist states should fall on deaf ears. Their history of weakness and cowardice during the 1930s goes a long way toward accounting for the 60 million lives lost during World War II. During the mid-'30s, when Hitler started violating the arms limitations of the Versailles Treaty, France and Britain alone could have handily defeated him, but they pursued the appeasement route.

Anyone who thinks current Western appeasement efforts will get Iran to end its nuclear weapons program and end its desire to eliminate Israel is dumber than dumb. Appeasement will strengthen Iran's hand, and it looks as if the West, including the United States, is willing to be complicit in that strengthening.

Iraqis are ingrates

by Jacob G. Hornberger

Poor President Bush. According to the New York Times, the president is frustrated by the lack of public support ... in Iraq. Apparently he's lamenting that thousands of Iraqis were recently demonstrating in the streets in favor of Hezbollah and chanting, "Death to Israel! Death to America!"

Those damned ungrateful Iraqis. Don't they know that the brutal sanctions that U.S. officials employed against them for more than a decade was for their benefit? So what if they lost hundreds of thousands of their children? Can't they see that those deaths were "worth it" because U.S. officials were trying to oust their brutal dictator, Saddam Hussein, from office?

Ingrates!

Don't those people know that we even supported their ruler, Saddam Hussein, in his war against the Iranian people? Don't they know that the United States delivered to him the infamous WMDs that were later used to scare the American people, so that he could kill Iranians with them?

Don't they know that U.S. officials inspired Iraqi dissidents to revolt against Saddam during the Persian Gulf War? Yes, it's true that U.S. officials then watched quietly as Saddam massacred the rebels and filled mass graves with them. But what does that have to do with anything?

Ingrates!

Don't they know that the U.S. invasion and occupation of their country has killed and maimed only tens of thousands of people? Why, many more people died in World War II. What's the loss of arms and legs or a few lives in comparison to a U.S.-sponsored national elections?

Ingrates!

Don't they know that the torture and sex abuse of Iraqis at Abu Ghraib and elsewhere were for the benefit of the Iraqi people? Why, those detainees could have had information about other Iraqis who were resisting the U.S. invasion of their country. So what if some of them were innocent? Everyone knows that you have to break a few eggs to make an omelet.

Ingrates!

So what if Iraq is degenerating daily into chaos, mayhem, violence, and even civil war and that countless Iraqis are losing their lives and limbs every week? Don't those people know we meant well? Don't good intentions matter in the Muslim world, as they do in the United States?

Ingrates!

Don't Iraqis know that the purpose of our unconditional military and financial foreign aid to the Israeli government is to bring peace and freedom to the Middle East? Sure, it hasn't worked for decades but don't we have to keep doing the same thing if we're going to expect a different result?

Ingrates!

Don't they know that U.S. officials partnered with Osama bin Laden and Islamo-fascists to oust the Soviet Union from Afghanistan? Why do they hate us? We're not occupiers of Iraq, like the Soviets were in Afghanistan; we're liberators!

Ingrates!

Why, they just hate us because we have a Bill of Rights. It couldn't have anything to do with U.S. foreign policy, because everyone knows that the United States has been so kind and generous to the Iraqi people.

Ingrates! Protestors! Terrorists! Islamo-fascists! Hitlers!

Poor President Bush. His despondency brings to mind that of another Texas president -- Lyndon Baines Johnson, who just couldn't understand why the North Vietnamese wouldn't accept U.S.-taxpayer money in return for letting the United States continue ruling South Vietnam.

Ingrates!

'Lopes travel to Lamesa for second scrimmage

by Wes Burnett

Post Antelope starting quarterback Nathan Quisenberry suffered a broken leg (tibia) last Saturday afternoon in the scrimmage here against Muleshoe, effectively sidelining the senior for the season.

"It is such a tragedy," head coach Tim James said, "we all feel so badly for him and his family."

Quisenberry was playing defense at the time of the accident, and while trying to tackle a Muleshoe runner, his leg snapped. Sadly, Quisenberry suffered a similar incident last year while playing at Lamesa.

Coach James reported that junior quarterback Pat Reiter will lead the 'Lopes in Thursday's scrimmage at Lamesa. The coach said that freshman Clint Windham may seem some playing time at quarterback or senior Wilson Cash, when he returns to the team from recent foot surgery.

"These three young men all know our system and are eager to help the team," coach James added.

Other injured players include Heath Fellhauer with a "turf toe" and Giles Dalby, muscle spasms. Senior Colter Creech, who is recovering from a rattlesnake bite, is expected to suit up September 12.

"I thought our players did an excellent job last Saturday," the coach continued. "The defense played exceptionally well, and the offense executed well, just had a few mistakes. Those mistakes are all correctable."

The coach also praised the hard work of the coaching staff, "they put in a lot of effort and time, and it's paying off."

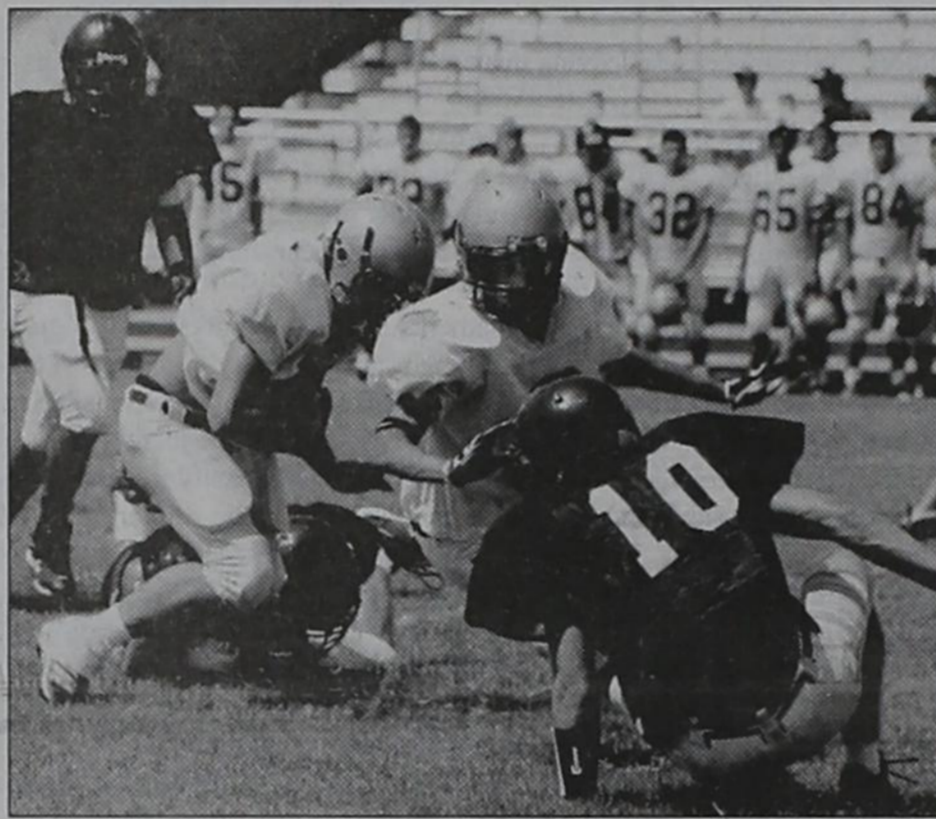

The scrimmage at Lamesa opens with the junior varsity at 5 p.m., followed by the varsity at 6:30 p.m.

The team opens pre-district competition next week with the JV traveling to Seminole Thursday, while the varsity begins its 2006 season Friday at home against the Class AAA Seminole Indians.

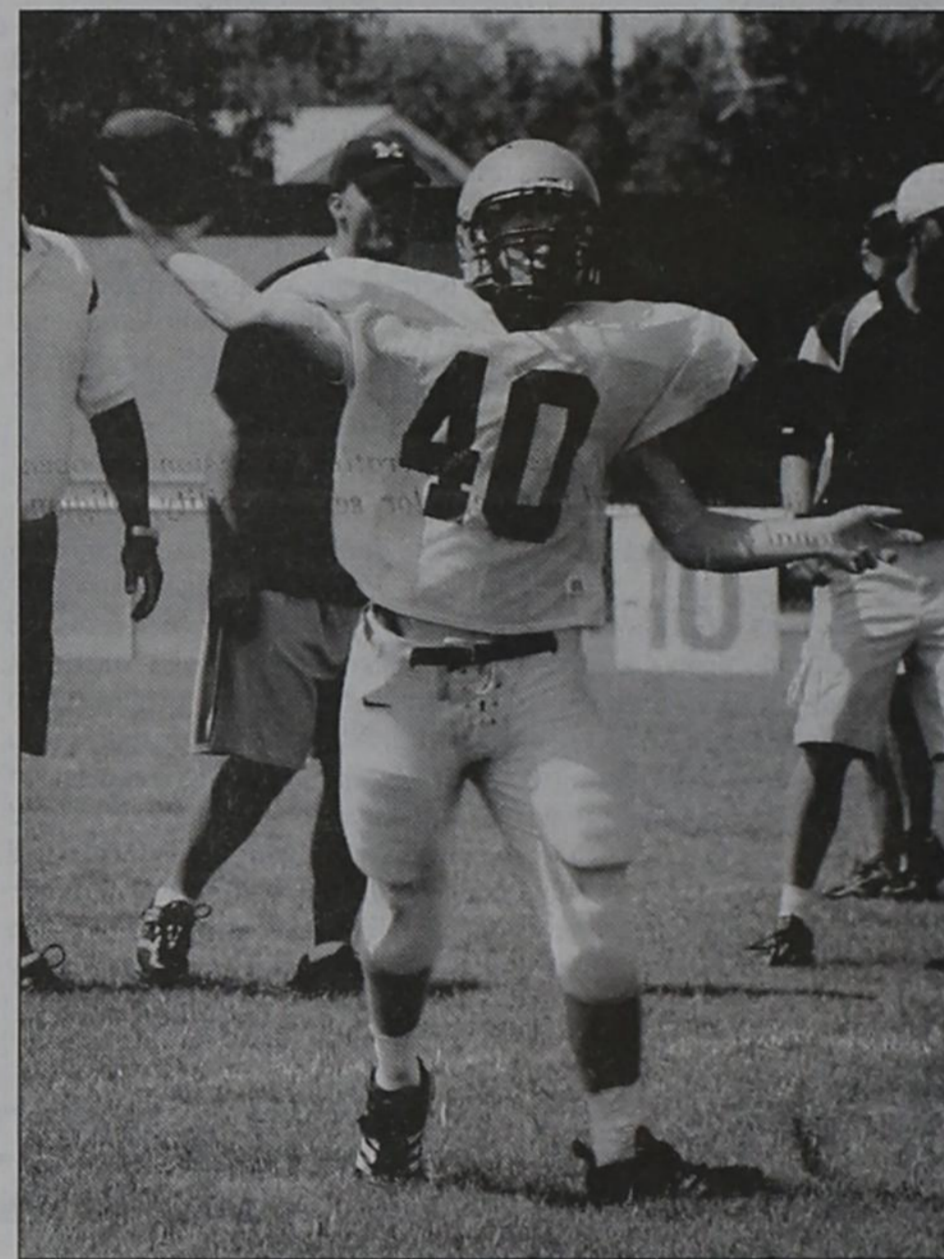

Those fans unable to attend the Friday games may follow the live play-by-play action on Post City Radio (Cebridge Connections Channel 12 and on the Internet at www.postcityradio.com). Veteran radio announcer Steve Mason will call the game and Post City Television will air the DVD recorded games on Cebridge Connections Channel 12 on Saturdays and Sundays (see program guide schedule in The Post Dispatch for exact times).

2006 Property Tax Rates in City of Post

This notice concerns 2006 property tax rates for City of Post. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$	374,878.00
Last year's debt taxes	$	169,210.00
Last year's total taxes	$	544,088.00
Last year's tax base	$	95,437,410.00
Last year's total tax rate	$	0.57010	$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$	541,536.00
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$	109,948,000.00
= This year's effective tax rate	$	0.49254	/$100

(Maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearings.)

In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$		/$100
= Effective tax rate	$		/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for any transferred function, tax increment financing, state criminal justice mandate, and/or enhanced indigent health care expenditures)	$	373,119.00
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$	109,948,000.00
= This year's effective operating rate	$	0.33936	/$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$	0.36651	/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$	0.39507	/$100
= This year's total rollback rate	$	0.76158	/$100

A hospital district or city that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$	0.16365	/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$	0.59793	/$100

For a taxing unit with additional rollback rate for pollution control, insert the following lines:

+ Additional rollback rate for pollution control	$		/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$		/$100

USDA's Program Development Group Meeting set for September 5

The Garza Soil and Water Conservation District invites the public and any agencies with interest to participate in a Program Development Group meeting to be held at the Wells Fargo Bank Meeting Room in Post on September 5, 2006 at 8:30AM.

The purpose of this meeting is to request participation and invite comments from a broad range of local agencies, organizations, businesses, and especially farmers and ranchers that have an interest in natural resource conditions and needs.

The discussion in the Program Development Group will help the Local Work Group (LWG) address county based funding for the FY2007 Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

The LWG will make recommendations on resource concerns to be addressed, eligible practices, cost share rates, and ranking for county based funding.

One of the guiding principles of the 2002 USDA Farm Bill is that conservation programs are locally led. Through stakeholder meetings the public is given an opportunity to help local conservation leaders set program priorities.

These meetings are open to the public.

The Environmental Quality Incentives Program was established in the 1996 Farm Bill to provide a single, voluntary conservation program for farmers and ranchers to address significant natural resource concerns. Nationally, it provides technical and financial assistance to address natural resource concerns. Administered by the Natural Resources Conservation Service,

In Texas, NRCS provides funding to each county to address local high priority resource concerns.

For more information, call the USDA Service Center office in Post at (806) 495-2056 ext. 3. Service Center locations and program information can be found on the Texas NRCS website at www.tx.nrcs.usda.gov.

Good Education Starts With Learning To Read

Remember Dick and Jane and Sally? Spot and Puff? Remember going to school and getting that first book with words as well as pictures? For very young students, learning to read can make the difference between being a little kid and a big one. But it's a lot more than that. Learning to read and write are skills that are essential to a child's success in school and later life. It's also a process that starts long before the first day of school.

For decades, many researchers, educators and parents operated under the assumption that learning to read and write were processes that began with formal school-based instruction in kindergarten or first grade. However, we now understand that the preschool years serve as a foundation for developing these essential literacy skills.

During these very young years, children first learn that language has sounds and those sounds are put together into words. When they get a little older, they become familiar with letters and learn that these letters represent sounds. Young children learn that books are full of words made of letters, and they can make these letters for themselves.

As this process continues, a child's vocabulary and ability to use that vocabulary increases. Parents, caregivers and other adults can help children through this process and into reading and writing through some specific activities.

First and foremost, read aloud to children. Many experts believe that the single most important teaching strategy for promoting children's early literacy development ... is reading aloud to children in an interactive style. Reading aloud "stimulates children's imaginations, enhances their vocabularies and print awareness, introduces them to components of stories and provides them with useful information about the surrounding world."

Set aside a special reading time with the children. When reading to children, show enthusiasm. Ask the children questions about the story. Read each character in a different voice.

Teach children about books and other print materials and how to handle them properly. Show them how words go from left to right across the page and how the front of the book is different from the back.

Help them learn the letters of the alphabet and the sounds that each letter makes. Show them the difference between capital and lowercase letters and how to print their own names.

Keep children's books around the house. Let the kids pick out which ones to read. Keep a selection of children's books at home for them to choose from. Take children to the public library often; let them explore. Get them their own library cards if possible.

Encourage the children to write by making paper and pencils, crayons and markers available for them to use.

The only way that children will learn about the sounds of language is when they are exposed to language. The moment they are born, children need relationships with caring adults who engage them in frequent verbal interactions that support their oral language development.

By making a conscious effort to talk to, sing to and play with children, you facilitate their oral language abilities and lay an important foundation for later literacy learning.

10 Years Ago August 22, 1996

After about a year, the Garza Memorial Hospital board members had wrestled with several factors which had a less-than-favorable impact on the health care facility. Work began on a consolidation plan with Methodist Hospital. Pink Wilks celebrated her 90th birthday with family and friends. At the event were Twana McCrary, Laura Tobias and Carol Tobias. Pat and Virgil Bilbo earned the right to compete at the state senior sports classic after winning gold and silver medals at the West Texas Senior Sports Classic held in Lubbock. More than 130 motorcycle enthusiasts participated in the 6th Annual Post to Post Food Drive Poker Run. The non-perishable food items collected were donated to the U Can Share Food Drive. Money raised through the barbecue was donated to the Post Volunteer Fire Department. The event was organized by J. W. and Rebecca Jolly.

20 Years Ago August 20, 1986

Fossils identified as those of the earth's oldest birds, at least 75 million years older than any found before, were discovered near an excavation point near Post. The bones, belonging to crow-sized birds, were recovered by a team of scientists from Texas Tech University. Thirteen 4-H'ers returned home from a 4-H Exchange Trip through nine states. Those attending were Debbie Ethridge, Keitha White, Mike Traw, Jarret Dickson, Ron Graves, Jimmy Holleman, Eric Reece, Bart Mason, Robert Wood, Glen Hardin, Melanie Reece, Angela Graves, and Betsy Ethridge. Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Lott announced the birth of their son, Jett Slaughter Lott, born July 25. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lott of Post and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Garrett of Lubbock.

30 Years Ago August 26, 1976

Post's new community center dedication was held followed by a full afternoon and evening of celebrating partial completion of the "center dream", Garza County's centennial, and America's bicentennial. Everyone was asked to wear pioneer costumes and enjoy the days activities. Big jumbo grasshoppers by the thousands "blew" into town for a day and overnight they were gone. No in-town damage was reported. Coach Lane Tannehill announced that three Post High athletes from the spring's track team, Randall Wyatt, Bryan Davis and Dale Odom were selected as Prep Track & Field "Athletes of the Year" for 1976. Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Welch were presented 20-year pins and certificates for two decades of continuous service at Postex Plant. Better known as "Smiley" and Agnes, the couple moved to Post in 1956 from Seminole.

40 Years Ago August 18, 1966

Heavy August rains poured millions of gallons of new water into the White River Lake, bringing the depth at the dam to a new record of 36.3 feet. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Collier and children returned home from El Paso, where the Texas Pharmaceutical Association honored Collier with the A. H. Robins "Bowl of Hygeia" Award for outstanding community service. The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church voted unanimously to call Rev. George Miller as the church's new pastor. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hays, owners of Ge'nez Steak House, their six children, Randell, Mark, Steve, Joni, Jim and Jeanie, and two nieces, Sue Gilmore and Linda Hays, returned home from an eight-day trip to California.

50 Years Ago August 23, 1956

Misses Frances Craig and Freda Kennedy, along with Bernie Welch entertained with a swimming party and watermelon feast honoring all 1956 graduates and college students. S. E. Camp, announced that Beattie Feathers, backfield coach at Texas Tech and a member of the Football Hall of Fame would be guest speaker at Rotary Club. Roy L. Williams of Post received a bachelor of science degree from Hardin-Simmons University at the University Baptist Church in Abilene. Mildred Wells, Lois Bailey, Judy McCullough, Jo Fern Taylor, Bobby Long and Wayne Bishop.

60 Years Ago August 2, 1946

A three-night stand of the Puckett's Variety Show was engaged in Post under sponsorship of the Post Volunteer Fire Department. The show was presented in a new tent theatre with a seating capacity arranged for 1,000 people. Garza County's first bale of 1946 was brought to Post by Jimmy Bird, 16-year-old son of Al Bird, Verbena community rancher-farmer. Tuna found its way back to grocer's shelves after being one of the wartime scarcities. During 1942 the tuna pack fell because the tuna productive waters were closed as a security measure. Johnny Kemp, six-years-old and Marthana Cearley, seven-years-old, celebrated their birthdays with approximately twenty-five guests. Tragedy struck Post, when a plane crash resulted in the death of two of Post's finest young men, A. C. Surman, Jr., 21, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Surman, and J. H. Peede, jr., 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peede.
