On God's Word

by Timothy W. Burnett

Call upon the name of the Lord...Part 3

In the present study of what it means to "call upon the name of the Lord" in the context of salvation, it was discovered that Romans 10:8-13 uses the exact same quote as Acts 2:21. Furthermore, Romans 10:9-10 shows that confessing with the mouth the Lord Jesus also results in salvation. At first glance, it may appear that God is contradicting Himself. If we understand that God is not ambiguous, then we can see that the two phrases resulting in salvation refer to one specific thing.

A study of confessing with the mouth the Lord Jesus leads to 1Corinthians 12:3 where it says, "...and no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost." Continued research on what it means to speak by the spirit of God will help to ascertain what it means to confess with the mouth the Lord Jesus unto salvation.

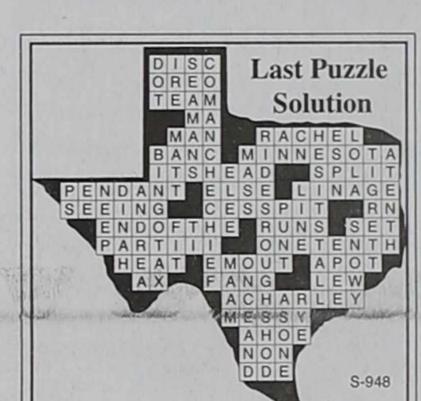

1Corinthians chapters 12-14 cover certain spiritual matters. Chapter 14 and verse 15 specifically refers to praying with the spirit of God. It says, "What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also. I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also." To understand the context of verse 15, read verses 1-14. To pray with the spirit was about speaking in tongues, and to pray with the understanding was about words from mental thoughts.

As a side not, speaking in tongues involves speaking in languages that are not understood by the one speaking This is why verse 2 says, "...for no man understands, howbeit in the spirit he speaks mysteries." According to Acts 2:4, the words are given by the spirit of God. The individual does not determine what is spoken, but instead simply starts speaking with the trust that the spirit of God will give the words.

All Christians know it is possible to declare the Lord Jesus with words that come from God in their personal languages. But, not everybody understands it is possible to declare that Jesus is Lord with words that come from the spirit of God by speaking in tongues. This is largely because many Christians do not understand what it means to speak in tongues, and probably do not even believe it is available to do so. Having ruled out the option of speaking in tongues, people understandably conclude that to "confess with the mouth the Lord Jesus" (Romans 10:9-10) refers only to speaking in their own languages.

According to 1Corinthians 12:3, nobody can declare that Jesus is Lord but by the spirit of God. This does not nullify people's ability to declare the Lord Jesus in their own languages. Instead it establishes that nobody can truly do so except by the spirit of God. Many times during the day, Christians will glorify God and declare from their thoughts that Jesus Christ is Lord. It is mentally edifying to do so. It is also possible to truly worship God with words that come directly from the spirit of God by speaking in tongues.

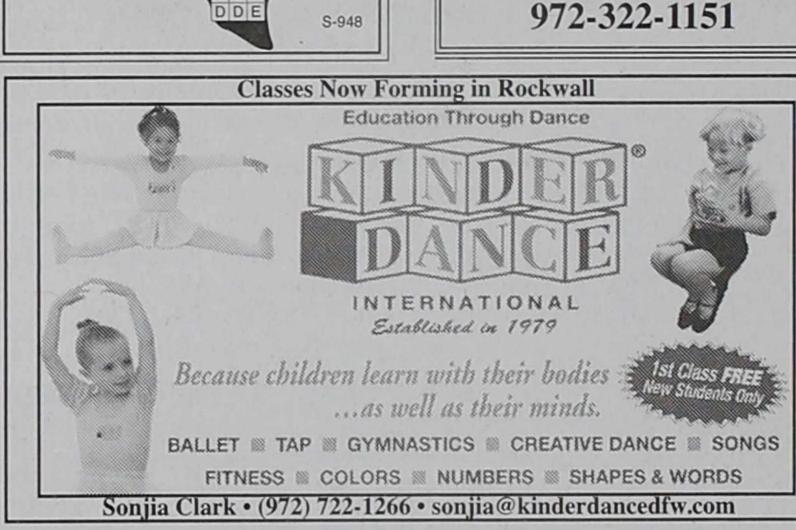

Christians can worship God with their understanding and they can do so with the spirit of God. Christians can pray with their understanding and they can pray with the spirit of God. Christians can declare the Lord Jesus with their understanding and they can do so with the spirit of God. Christians can call upon the name of the Lord with their understanding and they can do so with the spirit of God.

Global warming update

by Walter E. Williams

Private industry and governments around the world have spent trillions of dollars in the name of saving our planet from manmade global warming. Academic institutions, think tanks and schools have altered their curricula and agenda to accommodate what was seen as the global warming "consensus."

Mounting evidence suggests that claims of manmade global warming might turn out to be the greatest hoax in mankind's history. Immune and hostile to the evidence, President Barack Obama's administration and most of the U.S. Congress sides with Climate Czar Carol Browner, who says, "I'm sticking with the 2,500 scientists. These people have been studying this issue for a very long time and agree this problem is real."

The scientists whom Browner references are associated with the U.N.'s Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC). Let's look some of what they told us. The 2007 IPCC report, which won them a Nobel Peace Prize, said that the probability of Himalayan glaciers "disappearing by the year 2035 and perhaps sooner is very high" as a result of manmade global warming. Recently, IPCC was forced to retract their glacier disappearance claim, which was made on the basis of a non-scientific magazine article. When critics initially questioned the prediction, Rajendra Pachauri, IPCC's chairman, dismissed them as "voodoo scientists."

The IPCC also had to retract its claim that up to 40 percent of the Amazonian forests were at risk from global warming and would likely be replaced by "tropical savannas" if temperatures continued to rise. The IPCC claim was based on a paper co-authored by the World Wildlife Fund (WWF) and the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN), two environmental activist groups.

England's now-disgraced University of East Anglia's Climatic Research Unit (CRU) has been a leader in climate research data. Their data, collected and analyzed by them, have been used for years to bolster IPCC efforts to press governments to cut carbon dioxide emissions. Climatologists, including CRU's disgraced former director Professor Phil Jones, have been accused of manipulating data and criminally withholding scientific information to prevent its disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act.

Professor Jones, considered to be the high priest of the manmade global warming movement, has been in the spotlight since he was forced to step down as CRU's director after the leaking of e-mails that skeptics claim show scientists were manipulating data. In a recent interview with the BBC, he admitted that he did not believe that "the debate on climate change is over" and that he didn't "believe the vast majority of climate scientists think this."

Long denied by the warmers, Professor Jones admitted that the Medieval Warm Period (800 A.D. to 1300 A.D.) might well had been as warm as the Current Warm Period (1975-present), or warmer, and that if it was, "then obviously the late-20th century warmth would not be unprecedented." That suggests global warming may not be a manmade phenomenon. In any case, Professor Jones said that for the past 15 years, there has been no "statistically significant" global warming.

During the BBC interview, Professor Jones dodged several questions: why he had asked a colleague to delete e-mails relating to the IPCC's Fourth Assessment Report and ask others to do likewise; whether some of his handling of data had crossed the line of acceptable scientific practice; and what about his letter saying that he had used a "trick" to "hide the decline" in tree-ring temperature data?

Given all the false claims and evidence pointing to scientific fraud, I don't think it wise to continue spending billions of dollars and enacting economically crippling regulations in the name of fighting global warming. At the minimum, we should stop the Environmental Protection Agency from going on with their plans to regulate carbon emissions. Companies should resign from the United States Climate Action Partnership (USCAP), a lobbying group of businesses and radical environmentalists. Dr. Tom Borelli, who is director of the National Center for Public Policy Research's Free Enterprise Project, says that BP, Caterpillar, Conoco Phillips, Marsh, Inc. and Xerox had the common sense to do so already.

What's it mean: Due process of law?

n Burnett

After reading the "We the People" page in last week's Rockwall County lition, I honestly feel better informed about who I might vote for.

I are specially interested in the answers to question number three by the notices for Justice of the Peace. While it was great to see that all candities cognize the importance of following Due Process of Law in the adnis tion of justice, I was a startled to learn they did not agree on the Due of Law in handling statutory complaints.

Loc ng at the statutes pertaining to the complaint helps to see what the ually requires. Since none of the candidates included citations, I had me digging to find the real answer. Sadly, lacking a citation, I was ab o see exactly what they meant.

Que ion number three for JP read, "How will you respond to camplaints law enforcement officers which fail to cite the statute that has alleging violated? Comparing the answers with the actual codes, I found ree inflicting issues in the answers:

complaint must be filed if the accused either does not appear before t upon notice, or makes a plea of not guilty.

requisites of complaint do not require a citation of the violated com-citation is a charging instrument.

#1 directly addresses the right to be informed of the violation prior to preed to make a plea. The closest information I could find was in The constitution addresses this in Article 1, Section 10. It reads,

10. RIGHTS OF ACCUSED IN CRIMINAL PROSECUTIONS. In all prosecutions the accused shall have a speedy public trial by an imiury. He shall have the right to demand the nature and cause of the ion against him, and to have a copy thereof."

onstitution does not use the term plea. Therefore, it stands to reason stion 10 addresses the question of whether any person should be remake a plea without first being informed of the charge through a executed complaint. In essence, the statutory complaint reveals the and cause of the accusation" against the accused.

le 45.017 Criminal Docket provides some helpful information. The of the offense charged comes before the plea offered by the defendant.

Ig basic common sense, lacking the complaint no person would be make an informed decision on how to plea make an informed decision on how to plea.

#2 also addresses the right of the accused to be informed of the "na1 cause of the accusation." The actual code section reads as follows,
5.019. REQUISITES OF COMPLAINT (a) A complaint is sufficient, regard to its form, if it substantially satisfies the following requisites:
ust show that the accused has committed an offense against the law of 12, or state that the affiant has good reason to believe and does believe that the accused has committed an offense against the law of this state;"

The complaint must show the accused has committed an offense against the law of this state, or state that the affiant has good reason to believe such. The law of the State is directly and lawfully identified by citing the statute in the complaint.

Considering that JP Courts have jurisdiction to handle cases involving the enforcement of state law, it stands to reason that state law would have to be cited in the complaint. Otherwise, the accused is forced to make a plea upon accusation of a mere act that might not be addressed in any law. If the court's jurisdiction involves the law, then it can not force the accused to make a plea on charges of a mere act, no matter how detailed the complaint describes the

In essence, the charge of a mere act is a charge against an act according to common law. Under common law, mere acts are not criminal unless there is a real victim. In JP Court criminal cases, the real victim will be a state statute. Lacking a statutory citation in the complaint, as one candidate wisely noted, the cause of action would probably be dismissed.

One other question could be: would the court dismiss it immediately? Or would it go out of its way to make sure the complaint is changed, or would it wait for the accused to file a motion to dismiss?

I once knew a Municipal Court Judge from another town who immediately dismissed citations and complaints that did not include a citation of the offended statute. As some might guess, he was not very popular within the law enforcement community and city government, but he was praised by the people. Why? Because he protected their right of Due Process of Law.

Last, but not least, we come to the question of whether a citation is a charging instrument. Reading through Title 1, Chapter 45 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the term "citation" is used only in the context of that which is issued by law enforcement officers. Because the term "complaint" is also used in the same Chapter, it is safe to conclude that the law clearly distinguishes between the two. The complaint is without doubt, the lawful charging instrument. The citation is issued by the law enforcement officer.

It is interesting to note that law enforcement officers never use the citation for its intended purpose: to cite the offended statute. There's a good reason for calling it a "citation."

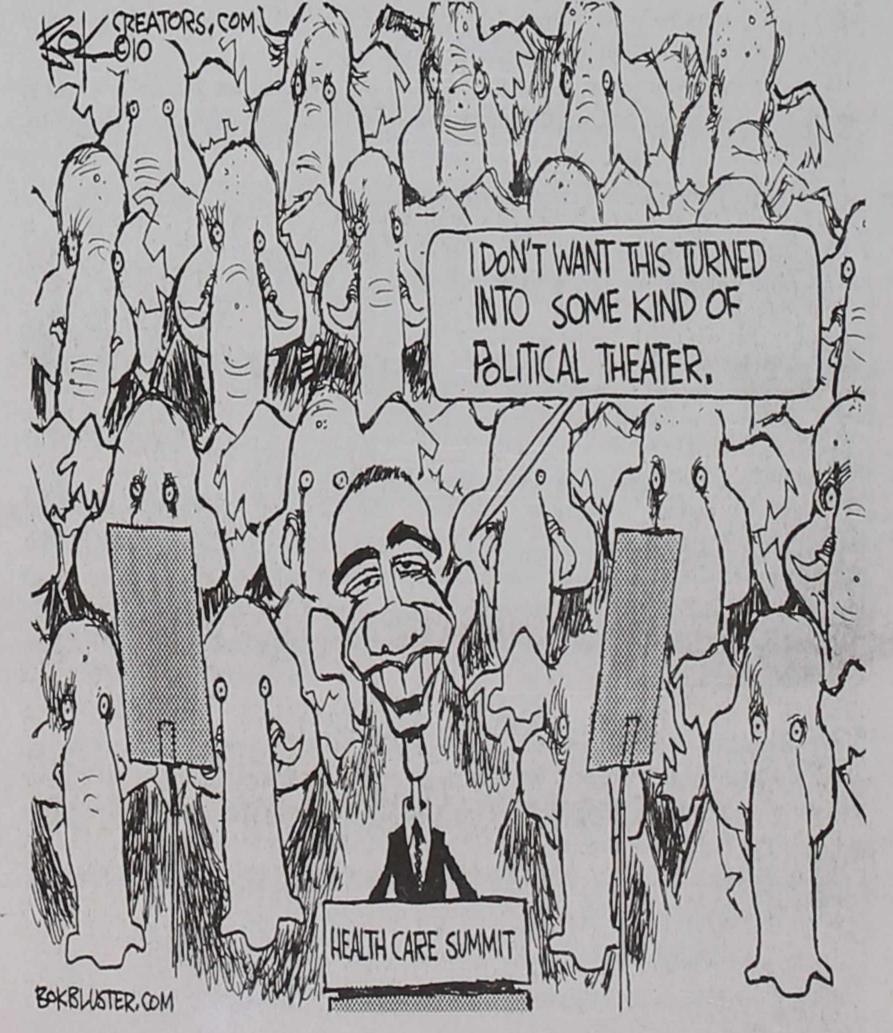

There is one issue I want to touch on related to the answers given by the County Judge and Commissioners Court candidates: their answers about Due Process of Law and Plenary Law was refreshing. All candidates expressed their intent to stay within the limits of the constitution. Yet, even while writing this article, there are law enforcement officers probably anticipating another full day of forcing people to be searched without a warrant.

You might ask...how can that be? Our local county judge and commissioners clearly know better than to violate the constitution. Sadly, they probably are unaware that they did so by voting to set up a forced search check-point at the entrance of the county building. Right there in front of our eyes...every day...the people of Rockwall County can see the constitution being violated when they are forced to walk through the metal detector or be searched.

I personally experienced what happens when someone by-passes the metal detector and does not stop. The guard orders people to stop and either pass through the detector or be searched. No warrant...I repeat...no warrant. They say it's a matter of "security." What did our founders warn us about? Oh, it went something like this: "Those who demand security over liberty, deserve and will get neither security nor liberty."

The Texas constitution and statutes can be found online at http://www.statutes.legis.state.tx.us/.

We encourage the submission of Letters to the Editor. The publishing of letters is at the sole discretion of the editor and may be edited for brevity, grammar and accuracy. Taking issue with "Operation Northwoods" article

It is a shame that the Rockwall County News saw fit to publish such a biased and misleading article as that written by Jacob Hornberger (Feb. 19). He claims that the evidence presented in the "Operation Northwoods" file proves that the U.S. government, and in particular the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, are capable of, and "unanimously conspired" to commit attacks on American soil that were designed to cost the lives of innocent Americans.

Anyone with an open mind, upon reviewing the files to which he refers, would conclude that indeed the military leaders did look at various scenarios for implicating Cuba in hypothetical attacks on U.S. targets which could lead to gaining U.S. and international support for possible action against

What he fails to acknowledge, however, is that the same files clearly indicate the military leaders were responding to a request for such scenarios from a higher political office and that each of the developed scenarios was designed to provide a simulated attack or incident in which no "innocent civilians," or anyone else for that matter, would be harmed.

Each scenario was carefully constructed to simulate various actions or events that would give the appearance of an attack by Cuba. None of the proposals called for an actual attack and obviously the Joint Chiefs had no intention of conducting such an attack.

To stretch those facts into a conspiracy by the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff to deliberately attack civilian targets such as occurred on 9/11 simply plays into the hand of the "9/11 Truthers" and other misguided conspiracy theorists.

At a time when our nation is relying so heavily on our military members and their leaders to conduct extensive operations around the world, it is a great disservice to impugn the motives of our dedicated military professional leadership. I hope the Rockwall County News can make better choices in the future.

Chuck Schreiber, Colonel, U.S. Air Force (Ret.)

Publisher's Note: The article by Mr Hornberger points out the reality that U.S. military leaders have carried out unconstitutional orders. Having served as an Air Force officer during the Nixon administrtion years, I persoanlly witnessed how unlawful acts are overlooked in the name of "following orders." Honorable men and women serving in the U.S. military are often put in untenable positions by the shameful acts of political leaders, that is why it is critical that Americans question government at all levels. As for the "9/11" matter, a careful study of the event raises a number of important questions, such as the presence of thermate which is widely used in demolition of steel ttreuctures. How did thermate find its way into those buildings?

City of Heath land grab attempt

I want your readers to be aware of the water tower issue in Heath. This issue has been on going for six years now. A little history: Around 1998 the school bought 14 acres of land from the Smirl family. At the time RCH owned a one-acre tract of land located 300 feet from the street. RCH had a right-of-way from the street to their property.

At that time RCH had a ground storage water tank as well as an office on their property. This facility was abandoned by RCH at the time the City of Heath bought the water supply from RCH. The out building on the property was only used as a maintenance facility by the City of Heath up until 18 months ago. The property was abandoned by the city when they leased the one acre to the Fulton School.

This brings us to the current situation. The City of Heath needs to find a place for a 1.5 million-gallon water tower. Since they own the land behind Fulton, they have decided to build it on that property. To do so they will have to use their right-of-way, which cuts through the school playground.

. The school has made offers to trade the city land for land they own, which would allow the building of the water tower on the front of their property, a location that would not have the city driving through the playground of the children.

In addition, a representative of the school was told by the city engineer that if the water tower were placed on the front it would save the city $10,000 per running foot of water line or total of $2.8 million.

All of this has been to no avail. It seems the city is going to do what they want to do regardless of the dangers that decision might impose to the kids.

Sometime last month the City Council held a public meeting to make a final decision and voted on the placement of the water tower. The city notified the neighbors on Hillview and properly posted the meeting. However, they did not notify the school of the meeting. They had the meeting and voted to place the water tower behind the school on their one acre of land. When the school asked the city why they were not notified they were told the meeting had been properly posted, and they were sorry no one called or wrote them concerning the upcoming meeting.

The latest issue involves a number of Fulton parents who asked to be placed on the March 2 agenda in order to publicly discuss these issues with the City Council. At first they were told that they had a place on the agenda. Later, I guess after the council thought about it, the school was denied. Denied to speak.

That I cannot understand. It would seem the City Council is saying to the parents of the children, who live and pay taxes in Heath, "We don't care what you want. We have made up our minds that we are, because it is the cheapest way, going to build the water on our property -end of the story. Now shut up and sit down."

Is this just another example of our government doing as they please and not even giving the people it affects the right to speak in a public meeting?

I feel sure that as things now stand when the families and their children attend the March 2 Heath City Council meeting to air their opposition, they will be told to "shut up and sit down." I hope I am wrong and that the council will at least listen to their fears and concerns about the safety of their children, but time will tell.

We must try to do what is best for the children, and in this writer's opinion that does not include building a 1.5 million-gallon water tower in the middle of their playground.

I understand that the city has the right to build the tower on the land they own, but sometime having the right does not mean it is the correct thing to

Davis speaks to Utley MS students

Allie Davis, director of the Rest Haven Funeral Home, spoke to Utley Middle School students on Feb. 9.

Davis, a resident of Rockwall for the past four years, told students about growing up in a small rural community in Nebraska and graduating from Wayne State University and the Dallas Institute of Funeral Service in 2008. Topics of discussion included how growing up in small rural towns has changed; influences; working hard academically; being involved; the importance of having a job while in high school; and reaching out to students at school.

Davis' visit to the school was hosted by Friends of Rachel and DFYIT.

Dobbs, Rochell feted by TEA program

Two local schools - Howard Dobbs Elementary and Amanda Rochell Elementary - recently were recognized for outstanding academic performance by the Texas Education Agency's Division of No Child Left Behind Program Coordination, according to a news release issued by the Rockwall Independent School District.

The TEA's Title I, Distinguished Schools designation recognized Title schools that have "consistently demonstrated strong academic performances" over a three-year period, the release states.

"To achieve and maintain such high standards is an accomplishment that serves as a model for other schools in the state to emulate," said Anita Givens, the TEA's associate commissioner for standards and programs.

Both campuses were recognized at Monday's meeting of the RISD Board of Trustees. Principal Teresa Twedell, assistant principal Ruth Johnson and faculty members were on hand to represent Dobbs Elementary. Principal Terry Peters, assistant principal Margaret Neyman and faculty members represented Rochell Elementary.

"We are always pleased when our campuses are recognized for consistent, outstanding academic performance," said RISD executive director of communications Sheri Fowler. "The staff and students deserve recognition for their hard work and diligent effort."

RISD plans April 5 weather make-up day

As a result of the cancellation of classes on Feb. 12 because of inclement weather, the Rockwall Independent School District has scheduled April 5 as a weather make-up day.

Parents should plan to have their students in classes on that date.

Jackets place second in Waco tournamen ockwal

Rockwall was on its way to a second consecutive sweep of its baseball games in the Waco ISD Invitational before Arlington Bowie rallied to tie the Yellowjackets 9-9 Saturday.

The Jackets opened their season 4-0-1 - with victories over Lorena,

Rockwall boys 21st in state swimming

Three individuals and a relay team scored points for Rockwall, helping the Yellowjackets to 21st place in the 4A state swimming meet Friday and Saturday at the University of Texas in Austin.

Senior Jonathan Walters had the highest finish by an RHS swimmer: ninth in the 100-yard breaststroke in 1 minute, 1.06 seconds. Ryan Lang was 12th in the 200 freestyle (1:47.87) and Nicholas Fontenot placed 15th in the 100 backstroke (56.85 seconds).

Fontenot, Walters, Lang and Matt Lang finished 10th in the 200 free relay in 1:42.27.

The Jackets finished with 30 points. Humble Kingwood Park won the state championship with 277. Fifty-four teams scored.

Lady Jackets split 3-1 soccer games

The Rockwall girls' soccer team maintained its position in fourth place in District 21-4A by defeating Rockwall-Heath 3-1 Friday, Feb. 26, and losing 3-1 to Highland Park Monday.

With three games remaining, the Lady Jackets are 2-3-2 in the district. They could secure fourth place and a playoff berth by winning at Lovejoy Friday, then could even take over third place with a home victory over The Colony Tuesday.

Victories in both of this week's games against fifth-place Lovejoy (and third-place The Colony (3-2-2) would be almost imperative because Rockwall's final regular-season game is against Richardson Pearce (6-1) During the first half of the season, the Lady Jackets won at home 3-201 Lovejoy, tied 1-1 at The Colony and lost 1-0 at Pearce.

Allen Tournament unkind to Lady Jackets

Rockwall went to last weekend's Allen Tournament ranked 10th among the state's 4A softball teams. That reputation was tarnished by two losses and a tie.

On Thursday, the Lady Jackets lost 7-3 to Mesquite Horn.

The next day, they tied McKinney North 8-8 in the second close game between the two teams this season, and seventh over the last two years. RHS and North already have assured themselves of a rivalry when the McKim school moves into Rockwall's District 10-4A for the 2010-11 school year The Lady Jackets lost 3-0 to Hebron Saturday. They managed only one against winning pitcher Heather Stearns, who out-dueled Rockwall's Law Holcomb. Jasmine Parker slugged a home run for Hebron.

Rockwall goes into its final three boys' soccer games knowing it must do better than in the last three to have a chance to reach the playoffs.

The Yellowjackets haven't scored a goal in losing those three games. Most recently, they lost 1-0 to Rockwall-Heath Friday, Feb. 26, at Wilkerson-Sanders Memorial Stadium and 3-0 at home Monday against Highland Heritage Christian Academy's came within one base of playing for the championship game for the second consecutive year in last weekend's Lakehill Prep Tournament. The TAPPS 2A Lady Eagles won two games and tied a rain-shortened contest against Ovilla Christian School. All were against TAPPS 3A competition. Ovilla was awarded a berth in the final game by winning a tiebreaker, having one more runner reach third base than HCA did.

Leading Heritage Christian in the tournament were Lauren Pettit and Megan Trapane with .667 batting averages (each 4-for-6). Trapane also drove in a team-high four runs. The Lady Eagles played excellent defense, committing only one error while allowing five runs in three games. Pitcher Jordan Miller gave up just three hits and four earned runs in 11 2/3 innings.

The Fulton School's Milan Rabah was selected as the first-team punter not just on the All-District team for TAPPS Six-Man Division II District 2, but on the Six-Man Division II All-State football team.

Junior Brett Steffen also was named to the All-District first team, at safety. Rabah is a sophomore.

RCA basketball State tournament...

Foul shots had helped RCA reach the championship game in a 61-54 victory over Kerrville Our Lady of the Hills in a semifinal game Friday at Fort Worth Nolan Catholic.

The Hawks put on a furious rally to come back from being down 46-33 to within two points at 55-53 with 2:44 remaining.

To that point, both teams had been making free throws - the Warriors 12 of 14 and Kerrville 8 of 11. But then RCA missed four in a row, and the Hawks hit just one of four to pull within one point with 1:01 left.

After that, Kerrville fouled every time Rockwall Christian had the ball. Wilson made one foul shot. Then Turner and Eastin, who had missed two foul shots little more than a minute before, hit two each, and Turner made another for the final margin.

"We worked on foul shots a bunch," Hankins said of the week's practices. "They had to make 25 before they could leave the line. It took some of them 20 or 30 minutes, but they all did it. "From early in the year, I told them if you miss free throws and layups, it's going to come back to hurt you."

There was hurt, but there also was hope for next year and pride in what has been accomplished this season.

HCA opened the tournament by defeating Fort Worth Bethesda Christ 11-3 in a rematch of the 2009 championship game. In 48-degree weath Miller struck out nine batters and allowed only one hit. Eight runs in theth inning broke open a close game. The Lady Eagles totaled 11 hits, includ-

Ovilla scored an unearned run the third on the Lady Eagles' only error. Miller again allowed only one hi bunt single. The game lasted just 4 1/2 innings, so the Rockwall school did have a chance to bat in the bottom of the fifth to score a tie-breaking run to get another runner to third base.

The Lady Eagles came back to defeat Fort Worth Calvary Christian 6 Miller allowed only one hit for the third consecutive game. Calvary's n scored in the top of the first inning when Miller hit two batters and wall two. Heritage Christian tied the score in the bottom of the first when Miller ground out scored Trapane.

Jake Thompson got them started Thursday as the winning pitcher in a twohit, 4-0 shutout of Stephenville. He also hit a double. Among RHHS' five hits were Drew Baxter's triple and Trevor Holland's double.

Friday's 6-3 victory over Arlington Bowie was the Hawks' closest in the tournament. Of their nine hits, six were for extra bases - home runs by Jovan Hernandez and Thompson, who also hit a double; two doubles by Taylor Harding, and one by Holland. Later that day, RHHS held Red Oak to three hits to win 7-1. Hernandez, Drew Benefield and Bret Boswell each hit a double. Jacob Houpt and James Baune were the winning pitchers.

Rockwall-Heath's pitching depth again showed up Saturday, which began with a two-hit, 11-0 shutout of Harker Heights. Supporting winning pitcher Caleb Copley was a 10-hit attack that included homers by Hernandez and Baxter, and doubles by Baxter, Thompson and Holland.

The Hawks' final game was a 14-2 rout of Del Valle, which managed just two hits. RHHS made the most of nine singles to go with a double apiece from Baxter and Benefield. Hernandez was the winning pitcher.

Lady Hawks win L.D. Bell gymnastics Invitational

Lori Williamson placed first all-around to lead the Rockwall-Heath girls' gymnastics team to first place in the Hurst L.D. Bell Invitational Wednesday,

The Lady Hawks had four of the top six all-around competitors. Behind Williamson's 38.45 score were Jade Bowerman, second at 37.10; Megan Hasenyager, fourth with 33.80, and Regan Allen, sixth at 31.20.

Williamson's score was built on first-place finishes in the uneven bars (9.8), floor exercise (9.5) and vault (9.45) she also was second on the balance beam (9.7).

Bowerman was first on the beam (9.8), second on the bars (9.7), third on the floor (9.2) and fourth in the vault (8.4).

Hasenyager's top placing was fourth in the vault (8.4). She also was fifth on the beam (8.5) and on the floor (8.3) and sixth on the bars (8.6). Allen placed second in the vault and fifth on the bars, both with 8.7

Also for RHHS, Naje' Watkins was second in the vault (8.7) and fourth on the beam (8.8), and Lauren Statham was fourth on the floor (8.4) and fifth on the beam (8.5).

The Lady Hawks now are preparing for the district meet, which they'll host Tuesday and Wednesday. The other teams competing will be Rockwall, Garland, South Garland and Garland Lakeview Centennial.

Minter leads Rockwall-Heath Hawks to two wins

Chase Minter scored a goal in each game as the Rockwall-Heath boys' soccer team won two close games last week.

Minter's goal gave the Hawks a 1-0 victory over Rockwall Friday, Feb. 26, at Wilkerson-Sanders Memorial Stadium. He and Trevor Pinkston each scored once on the road Monday as RHHS edged The Colony 2-1.

The Hawks are 13-5 overall and 4-3 in District 21-4A. However, they might have to play better in the season's final three games than they did in the three games that ended the first half of district play. Those all were losses to the other three teams - Highland Park, Richardson Pearce and Lovejoy that are in position for the playoffs along with Rockwall-Heath. Those are the three teams remaining on RHHS' schedule.

Rockwall (2-4-1 in the district) has an outside chance to catch the Hawks in the standings.

Royse City Bulldogs split four soccer games

In four high-scoring, one-sided District 23-4A boys' soccer games during the last two weeks, Royse City won twice and lost twice. The Bulldogs defeated the North Forney boys' soccer team for the second time this season on Friday, Feb. 19. The score was 4-2. Playing at home Tuesday, Feb. 23, RC lost 4-0 to Terrell. On Friday, Feb.

26, the Dawgs bounced back for a 4-0 victory at Quinlan Ford. It was Royse City's fourth district win this season. In Tuesday's game at Mesquite Poteet, four Pirates scored as Poteet (8-1-2 in the district) took a 4-0 victory.

With three games remaining, the fifth-place Bulldogs have an outside chance to finish among the district's four playoff qualifiers. It will be an uphill road. RC will play at home Friday against Forney and at West Mesquite Tuesday. Royse City lost to those teams by a combined score of 8-1 during the first half of the district season.

Lady Hawks' Jacey Hodan splashes to second place in the 200 IM during last weekend's State UIL swim meet in Austin. Hodan finished with a time of 2:06.50.
