KEEPING ROADS IN CONDITION

Use of Oll, Following the Vogue of the Automobile, Has Been Found to Be Most Effective.

The use of oil upon the roads is one of the many interesting innovations that have followed the introduction of the automobile. The wheel of the car not only raises the loose dust of the road, but, as the flattened part of the tire becomes once more rounded on disintegrates the surface itself.

As the foundation of the best road oil, asphaltum-which is present in large amounts in the California and Texas oils-is unrivaled. In fact, an authority on the subject declares in the New York Sun that a road oil is effective precisely in proportion to the amount of asphaltum it carries. There are three methods of using the oil. In the most thorough process the road surface is first broken by the plow. It is then sprinkled with the heaviest oil-half a gallon to a gallon of oil to the square yard-and then harrowed and rolled. A lasting roadbed results. This process, with various modifications, has been much used in California

Another method that is coming into very general use in the east is to prepare the roadbed by resurfacing the crown of the road and brushing off the dust. Over this the road oil is sprinkled from a cart, about half a gallon to the square yard. It is usual to oil only half of the road at a time, for traffic should be kept from the oiled surface for a couple of days. The preparation will last a whole season; but if the oiling is done oftener, it will result in an enduring asphalted surf-

The third method, less permanently effective, is sprinkling the road with emulsified oil, a mixture of oil, water and saponifying chemicals-which lays the dust and binds the road surface, but which calls for reapplication every few weeks. If the emulsified oil has a true asphaltum base, this method will ultimately result in a durable asphaltum roadbed.

It may be added that many of the California crude oils were so weighted with asphaltum that for a long time marrying an heiress he gives up the chemists, however, have found a way to extract the naphtha and kerosene, and leave the asphaltum almost pure

SCHOOL GROUNDS COME FIRST

Too Many Cities in the United States Overlook This Fact, Which is of Great Importance.

It is laughable to see a community making strenuous efforts to raise a fund to purchase and ornament a public square when their district school yard, of equal dimensions, was entirely bare of trees or plants. Is it not strange that the only plat in a district in which all have common ownership should be the barest and most unsight. ly yard in the community? No plausible excuse can be given for such a condition-it costs but little to get one in the district can spare a plant or easily-grown cuttings of the hardier plants. Get started on the right plan and do not leave too much to the Resinol Ointment on a Saturday morning, teacher, who is apt to be changed and put them on, and put them on again every year. Resinol Soap and that the United States is absolutely behind every other civilized country the embellishment of school grounds.-Exchange.

Evolution in Park-Building.

A change is coming to park affairs, the ideals are taking a more comprehensive form, and better suited to the needs of the people. As the park mission is being better understood, parks are no longer a rarity, but are common. While esthetical requirements are greater, yet they are being better adapted to every-day use.

It is necessary that what we do shall be symbolic of some thought or feeling, that it shall be a physical expression of some desire or purpose. We are not only learning these things. but also that the parks are more for the people, and that the people who rove over them are the most beautiful feature a park can contain, and that no park, no matter how barren and unsightly it may be when empty, cannot be devoid of utility and beauty when filled with people enjoying themselves.

Value of Playgrounds.

"So long as there is a child in our land who toils in shop or tenement when he should be out at play, whose school is without a playground and whose out-of-door is bounded by the Paso, sixteen car loads consigned to gutters of the public street, with never a tree or shrub or flower, so long the masses will hate the classes. the policeman will be to the boy an enemy instead of a friend, and the republic has not had a square deal. To give a boy back his childhood is more than justice and common sense-it is sane government."

Austrian Girls to Learn to Cook. Cookery had never been taught in Austrian schools until last September, when the minister of education added it to the curriculum of all girls' schools under his control, both elementary and advanced. He further stipulated that any girl taking up modern languages or other extra subjects shall be compelled to include cookery in her school course. In order to carry out the innovation as cheaply as possible, restaurants are run in connection with the larger schools in populous centers.

SWALLOW HAD LONG JOURNEY

Positive Proof That Bird Traveled the Distance From England to South Africa.

The capture of a swallow bearing an aluminum ring in Natal, South Africa, the other day, has resulted in an astonishing insight into the migratory habits of birds. From a number and address stamped on the ring it was discovered that the swallow was one of 11,483 British birds marked in a similar way last summer by enthusiasts, desiring to learn more as to the routes taken by bird migrants, and whether birds return again to their previous nesting sites. This systematic marking of birds began in 1909, since when nearly 32,000 have been "ringed." About three per cent. are afterward noted but the swallow reported from Natal appears to have made the longest flight so far. A black-headed gull ringed as a nestling in Yorkshire in July, 1911, was found in February, 1912, in Flores, Azores. A starling ringed in Berkshire in January, 1912, reached Helsingfor, Finland, in April. A teal ringed in Staffordshire in the autumn of 1910, was found at Dalarne, Sweden, July, 1911.

Woman Is As Old As She Looks

No woman wants to look old. Many in their effort to look youthful resort to the "beauty doctor's" prescriptions. Their mistake is that they visit the wrong department in the drug store.

Beauty depends upon health.

Worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, disorders, irregularities and weaknesses of a distinctly feminine character in a short time bring the dull eye, the "crow's feet," the haggard look, drooping shoulders, and the faltering step.

To retain the appearance of youth you must retain health. Instead of lotions, powders and paints, ask your druggist for
