ERROR EASILY TO BE SEEN

Miner Went at Once to the Root of the Trouble, as He Had It Sized Up.

A miner, who was proud of his boy's picked up a home lesson book and read from it a quotation which ran like this: "Some books should be tasted, some swallowed, and some chewed and digested.-Bacon." Turning to his boy, he said:

"What's this, sonnie? Thou doesn't eat books at school, does tha? I know you are very clever, but you cannot do those nanny-goat tricks, I'm sure. I'll warrant that'll be one of those print-er's errors, sonnie."

"Oo, no, father," said the boy. "Metaphorically speaking, we eat books." Now, you cannot fool me like that." said the father. "I didn't go to school very long, but I ken that's one of those printer's errors. Why, sonnie, can thou not see? He's put the word 'Bacon' in the wrong place. > REALLY OLD ENOUGH TO VOTE Young Man Painfully Disillusioned

When He Realized the Age of His Charmer.

A small theatrical company touring the provincial towns had as juvenile leading lady an actress who delighted the audiences everywhere. She was so bright and fresh and girlish that the male portion of the audiences promptly fell in love with her. One evening a youthful admirer sought out the manager of the company, a finelooking, bearded man, and proceeded to fish for an introduction to the charming little lady. He had, he said. enjoyed her acting so much. "It must be very pleasant to know her." he suggested. "I expect you who see her so often are very fond of her? "Well, yes," admitted the manager

"Yes, I suppose I am rather fond of "Perhaps you've known her for some time?" suggested the admirer. "Yes, quite a long time," agreed the "But it can't be so very long." protested the other; "she's little more her husband, are you?" he faltered.

"No, oh, no!" said the manager. "I'm her son!"

They Were Cheap. An elderly lady from the country one day decided to adopt two children from the county orphan asylum. She walked several miles before reaching the car line. It was the first time she had been on a car. She stared wide eyed at everything she saw, then her gaze stopped on a sign

"If it had not been for Cardui, the woman's torfic, no doubt I would have been in my grave.

I was sick all of the time for 10 years, and took medicines constantly I suffered terribly. At last, I decided I would just try Cardui on my own hook, and kept it a secret. It was cer-tainly a God-send to me. Since taking it, I have no pain whatever, feeling good, and can wrestle with my 16-year old son. In fact, I don't feel over 16 myself. Am as happy as a lark. When I began taking Cardui I only weighed 101 lbs. Now I weigh 117½ lbs., and am going to continue taking Cardui until I weigh 135. I just can't say enough for Cardui, sour stomachs in five minutes and I believe if all women who suffer from womanly troubles would take it, there would be more happy homes." "Really does" put bad stomachs in Using Cardul is no experiment. It has stood the most severe of all tests found to build up the vitality, tone up the nerves, and strengthen the womanly constitution. HYMNS ARE POORLY WRITTEN

Good Poets Have Not Composed Religious Songs We Sing, Says Englishman.

It is a melancholy thing to read an English hymn book. Doubtless for Try them. most of us sacred associations gather around the hymns we sing, so that we abandon ourselves to the feelings called up by these associations, and do not notice what we are singing, writes Prof. W. H. D. Rouse in the English Review. Yet if in a critical mood we examine them we cannot but be overcome with melancholy. They are so well meant and so badly expressed, so pious and so ridiculous. strand at a time. This will cleanse They are sentimental when they stead of penitent, incoherent when they ought to be simple.

It is not true that great poets are irreligious; on the contrary, their glory it is to see a soul of goodness in things evil, and this is the essence of religion. Yet our hymns are obviously not written by poets. There is surely no reason why religion and illiteracy should be unequally yoked to gether, and it were better to sing no hymns at all than to sing trash.

Willie Collier's Jest.

It is beginning to look as though the funniest lines in the theater are saved out of the plays and used between the acts. A few nights ago De Wolf Hopper got his best laugh by a remark nade during an entre 'acte speech And last night this growing fashion was again illustrated at the Criterion, when William Collier, thanking the audience, said: "George Cohan is out of danger." The audience applauded vigorously, whereupon Mr. Collier added:
