Don't forget to pay your poll tax before the first day of February. There will be measures to vote on, and if you fail to get your poll tax receipt, you can't vote.

Cotton has reached the 8-cent mark in the markets. Eight cents—forty dollars a bale, is going to move a big lot of cotton.

The largest oil drill in Texas will soon be in operation at Carlsbad. There is where they are going to strike "oil," or there is nothing in signs. We know something on this locality.

The silo is to the green forage crop what the tin can is to the tomato crop. Ensilage is to the cow or horse what canned food is to man. In fact, ensilage is really canned stock food.

Plant your trees before the season ends, and later on you will be glad you did it. Trees planted and well cared for will add more value to your premises than any other investment you can make.

Post has the most complete cotton factory in the United States. Here the cotton is taken from the farmer's wagon, ginned, spun, woven into cloth, and the cloth worked up into sheets and pillow cases.

The Thirty-fourth Legislature promises to be a business one. If Governor Ferguson keeps his promise to veto all liquor legislation, the members won't have anything to scrap over, and it's a cinch there will be something doing besides windowpanning.

Hot cakes made from feretita flour is the best eat yet. Buckwheat was mighty fine eating before feretita was introduced, but buckwheat is on the back shelf since feretita butted in. Some day feretita will prove a dangerous rival to wheat, for it makes a high class flour.

"I am a farmer!" said C. B. Metcalfe, the other day, as he mounted a chair to second the nomination of Mr. Wood for Speaker of the House—and they sat up and took notice. They not only took notice, but elected Mr. Wood soon after Metcalfe got through telling it to them.

West Texas is certainly fortunate in having Claud Hudspeth and C. B. Metcalfe to take care of its interests in the Thirty-fourth Legislature. They are the real live wires that connect the House and Senate, and when the switch is turned on, the brother from the sap oaks will have a job on his hands if he undertakes to put anything over them.

Son, if you have "flunked" in your examination, don't get your back up at the teacher and become discouraged. Remember, if you had been as anxious to pass as the teacher was for you, your success would have been assured. Spit on your hands, roll up your sleeves and go up against it again with the determination to win, and you will win if it is in you to do it.

Mark the prediction: Sterling City will some day be an educational center. With the progress that has been made with the high school, together with its prospective resources, healthful climate and harmonious citizenship, it will be a locality that no man of means can afford to pass up, if he intends to give his children an opportunity to get into a first-class school.

Texas has fourteen counties bordering the 800 miles of the Rio Grande, which separates Mexico from Texas. There are 16 counties bordering on the Gulf of Mexico, 9 bordering Louisiana, 2 bordering Arkansas, 20 bordering Oklahoma, and 14 bordering New Mexico. Brownsville is the most southerly city in the United States, except Key West. The highest point in Texas is Guadalupe peak, in Culberson county, which is 9,500 feet. This is the highest point in the United States east of the Rocky Mountains.

The sending of state troops to the Rio Grande to protect the Texas border when it was threatened with invasion, is one of the good and wise acts of Governor Colquitt that will be read with admiration by the future student of Texas history. When prejudice and malice die, and people are able to calmly judge it, Colquitt's administration will be reckoned among the most successful. Nothing was spared by his enemies to make his administration a failure. Even the lives and property of Texas citizens were put in jeopardy in order to bring about failure; but with his indomitable spirit, he was able to thwart their designs and bring success. But it is not safe now to say that Colquitt made a good governor, for prejudice still holds sway over the minds of many of our people.

CAUSE OF HARD TIMES

The whittlers bench in front of the grocery store, that day was occupied by Whiner Hardluck, Gloomy Falldown, old Dad Gummit and Dammit Towhel. A stiff breeze was blowing from the north, but the southern exposure made the whittlers bench a courted place on which to take a sun bath. Old Dad Gummit took a chew of hillside navy and began target practice, using Uncle Jolly's black, bob-tailed dog's eye for a target. By-and-by, Dad got the range of his target and succeeded in landing a stream of red tobacco juice in the dog's left eye; whereupon, the dog rose up with an air of injured innocence and made for the broomweed patch on the southeast corner of the plaza, where he proceeded to weep a few weeps under the friendly cover of the broomweeds. Whiner Hardluck pulled out a bag of Big Bale, charged his robust pipe and passed the bag to Gloomy Falldown, who followed Whiner's example. The pipes were lighted, and soon the odor of Big Bale was filling the air. Dammit Towhel seized a fragment of a soap box and began whittling.

An automobile, making a Ford noise, was passing the group when Whiner remarked: "Did you know them dad-burned, stinkin' wagons is taken all the money out'n the country and makin' times harder'n I've seed 'em in my born days? Money has got as scarce as hen's teeth, an' it's nothin' but them derned automobiles that's doin' of it." Just then a bevy of school girls, with their book kits, on their way to school, passed. Gummit shot another stream of tobacco juice and caught a green bottle fly that was taking a sun bath on the wall, and said: "You're dead wrong, Whiner, about them automobiles bein' the cause of hard times; it's edycashon that's makin' times so hard. Look at them gals. When me an' you was boys, a gal was lucky to have a slate an' spellin' book; but now, there is no end to the books and fixin's they've got to have. In them good old days, gals and boys didn't have no time to fool 'way goin' to school nine months in the year—an' folks made money in them days—but now we have to lose all the time of our kids goin' to school for nine months in the year, besides payin' fer all this new fangled junk, when them boys orter be a plowin' an' the gals bein' in their mummies in the kitchen. I tell you, Whiner, the country is goin' to the devil, an' it's all on account of this school doin's. They ain't satisfied with a rock school house and new fangled seats, but they has got to have fiddles, pianies and labbytory. They say that of all the fool doin's in the world, that labbytory is the limit."

"What is a labbytory," ask Dammit Towhel, as he took a fresh chew of tobacco and took a shot at a big red ant that was carrying a section of cracker in his arms. "A labbytory is a lot o' pizen junk that they use to show the kids how to conduct 'lectricity and make gas out'n nothin', and sich. I never seed it, an' what's more, I never will; fer you don't ketch me monkeyin' 'round sich things. Yes, sir, them is the things that makes hard times." Gloomy Hardluck was of the opinion that "edycation an' automobiles" were not the only causes of hard times, and proceeded to reason as follows: "It's this darna fool notion of good roads that is playin' in the dickens. I see by the papers that them fool people over in Irion county is spendin' $20,000 on the roads. Just think of it, twenty thousand dollars fer roads! When I come to this country, we got along alright without roads; but now they are not only gradin' 'em, but they are gravelin' 'em so the mud won't stick to their automobiles. They say they actually got a man hired over there who don't do nothin' but look through a thing settin' on a three-legged thing to tell the fellers where to put culverts and how deep to dig, when any fool could do it with his eye. Yes, sir, I could do it with my eye. Don't we plant culverts over here with our eye? That's what takin' the money out'n the country. There ought to be a law agin it," and Gloomy applied a match to his pipe, which had gone out.

At this juncture, Uncle Jolly's dog came out of the broomweeds and matched a scrap with a country dog which had just come into town, and the scribe left the discussers of hard times to see the dog fight. Just what the discussers agreed upon as being the cause of hard times, perhaps is known only to the group of old timers.

Two Brothers

Two brothers started in life, one with a college education, the other without. One became a professor in a small college at $1200 a year, raised six kids and a mortgaged home and died at a ripe old age with no hair on his knoll. The other got a receipt for a patent medicine with lots of booze in it, became a millionaire and was carried to the scrap heap with six plumes and four yellow horses, and the band played a quickstep on its way back. All of which shows that it is not necessary to have a college education in order to make patent medicine with booze in it—Pink Rags.

Bought 700 Calves

A. C. Pearson returned from Merton last Monday, where he closed a deal with Fayette Tankersley and another party for 750 calves at $35 per head, spring delivery.

Mr. Pearson says those Irion county people are building the finest roads in Texas. He says the road from Merton to the Tom Green county line is almost like a floor. Irion County voted $20,000 road bonds, and at the same time elected an advisory board. They then employed an engineer to lay out the work; and, with the exception of a short stretch, their roads are in fine shape, and only $8,000 has been expended. Mr. Pearson says that instead of bridging dry draws, they are putting in concrete causeways, thus eliminating a future maintenance bill.

THE TEXAS TENANT FARMER.

Texas has more tenant farmers than any other State in the Union.

About 60 per cent of the tenant farmers of Texas move every year.

Only 8,000 of the 220,000 tenant farmers in Texas have not moved during the past ten years.

Only 99,734 or 24 per cent of the farms of Texas are entirely owned by the farmers operating them.

There are 314,263 homeless farmers in Texas, and in addition to this number 28,348 farm land owners rent additional land, making a total of 247,923 farm land renters in this State.

More than 202,000 Texas tenant farmers operate on a share basis, while only 17,549 pay cash rental.

Nearly ten per cent of the tenant farmers in the United States live in Texas, while only five per cent of the nation's farm home owners reside in this State.

In 1880 only 38 per cent of the Texas farmers were tenants, 42 per cent in 1890, 50 per cent in 1900 and 53 per cent in 1910.

Less than eight per cent of the Texas tenant farmers pay cash rental.

During the past twenty years the number of all farms in Texas has increased 83 per cent, while the farms operated by tenants show a gain of 130 per cent. Farm home owners have increased only 50 per cent during this time.

Tenants constitute 53 per cent of the farm operators of Texas and cultivate 47 per cent of our tillable land.

The land and buildings on the tenant farms of Texas are worth only one-half as much as those on the farms operated by owners.

The land operated by Texas tenant farmers is equal in area to the State of Pennsylvania, Indiana or Maine.

Farm tenancy in Texas directly affects 1,500,000 people, which is equal to the entire population of the State of Arkansas, Louisiana or Oklahoma.

Kellis Farm Sold

Last week, J. L. Glass bought the Kellis ranch, comprising 760 acres, for a consideration of $20 per acre. On this ranch is the oldest irrigated farm in the county—having been in operation since 1889. Mr. Glass, in the deal, conveyed his property here in town, containing 36 acres, to J. N. Kellis.

Decrease in Contagious Diseases.

In view of the alarming increase in heart and arterial diseases, nervous troubles and insanity, as well as cancer, it is at least comforting to find from recent statistics that the mortality from diphtheria and cerebrospinal meningitis has been reduced nearly 60 per cent in New York alone since antitoxin was first understood.

BIG EATERS HAVE BAD KIDNEYS AND BACKACHE

Take a Glass of Salts at Once If Your Back Is Hurting or Kidneys and Bladder Trouble You.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a table spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs to every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time—adv.

REFINING INFLUENCE. "I suppose your company experiences beneficial results from reform." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "It is having the effect of making the boys more refined. Musie is having a boom out our way such as it never experienced before."

Caught. "I was looking at some $20 hats today," said his wife, "and I brought this one home to see what you think of it." "Frightful," said her husband. "That's what I thought. This is a cheap $5 hat; let me have $15."

IMPROVING. "I have been studying the statuary in the park. Putting a man on a pedestal generally means that he'll have to stay out in the cold by himself."

Sensitive Suspicion. "You don't seem pleased when I suggest that you have a lovely disposition." "I'm not," replied Miss Cayenne. "Telling a girl she has a lovely disposition is usually a sort of apology for not being able to say she is either good looking or interesting."

A Gruesome Sneeze. "I have discovered a means of saving health and prolonging men's lives," said the exultant scientist. "That's a good idea," replied the cynic. "There's no telling when some of your political scientists will need men in order to demonstrate the efficiency of new military machinery."

Overshadowed. "I don't quite see how you figure that this foreign conflict is interfering with your political prospects?" "It's very plain," replied Senator Sorghum. "The papers out home haven't space to print my speeches. And if they did print 'em nobody would read 'em."

RIGHT MAN IN RIGHT PLACE. "Cheer up, old boy; you're going to win out all right." "Do you really think so?" "I am sure of it. Just keep going." "What makes you feel so sure that I can succeed?" "All the wisacres in town are predicting your failure."

Practical Answer. Teacher—Now, if I paid one man $2 a day for seven days, another $3.50 for ten days and another $4.75 for six days—Reddy Backrow (whose father belongs to the union)—You'd have the dearest strike on your hands you ever saw, teacher.—Puck.

Jeer for Jeer. "Ha! ha!" said the man who was elected. "I thought you said you trusted the wisdom of the plain people." "I still believe in it," replied the man who was defeated. "The wisest people want a fake now and then."

Its Translation. "What do these fool novel writers mean by saying of the heroine that the subtle perfume of her breath brushed the hero's cheek?" "I guess it's cracking up the sweeping success of the brand of chewing gum she used."

EXCEPTION TO THE RULE. "How could you ask that aviator to drink with you in the manner you did?" "What do you mean?" "You asked him to take a drop."

An Ohio Druggist

Wm. Vogel, 867 May St., Akron, Ohio, writes:

"Through cold and exposure and improper food during the flood, I was taken with appendicitis and acute intestinal catarrh. In June and July my life was in danger, but recovered sufficiently to be up and around. My bowels seemed paralyzed. I could eat no solid food. "The first of last December I decided to try Peruna. My appetite improved, and very soon solid foods could be taken. In two months time I gained 18 pounds. Now I am heavier than I ever was before. When I began to use Peruna my bowels commenced to move at once. "Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna in Tablet form."

TO SECURE SOUND SLUMBER

Conditions Must Be Right, Especially To Man Who Must Quiet Activity of Brain.

Many men and women, especially those past their first youth, find difficulty in procuring the sound, restful sleep so necessary to keep mind and body fit. Although, physically, the body is tired out, the brain is as alert as ever, and perfect oblivion is impossible.

A well-known physician gives some interesting advice on the matter. "Insomnia," he states, "is one of the penalties of the increasing strain modern life throws upon our brains. The man who works with his muscles and lives in the open air is rarely a victim of sleeplessness. "The essentials for a good night's rest are mental repose, a requisite amount of muscular fatigue, comfortable body heat and plenty of ventilation. "The most difficult to secure is lessened brain activity. An excellent plan is to take a brisk half-hour's walk just before bedtime, followed by a hot bath and a rub-down, and then a cup of milk and a biscuit or two as one gets into bed. "If, in addition, the mind be focused on some pleasant but not exciting topic, a night's rest is assured to all but the most chronic sufferer. "The type in which the sleeper suddenly awakes an hour or so after having fallen asleep usually means that more out-door muscular exercise is required."

Disappointing. The young postmistress, says Every-body's Magazine, was reading a postal card from the morning mail. Finally she turned it over to the address. "Huh," she said, in a disappointed tone, "this card is for me!"

Cutting Down the Laughing Stuff. Yeast—I see a new step-ladder that has six legs and cannot be upset, and claims to prevent a cow kicking or switching her tail while being milked, has been patented. Crimsenback—If they keep on there'll be nothing left for a fellow to laugh at.

When your liver gets sluggish, and you suffer from Headaches, Biliousness, Constipation or Dizziness, get a 25c bottle of DODSON'S LIVER PILLS, from your dealer. They are small, mild, safe, effective and inexpensive and they will relieve you.—Adv.

Educating Him.

"Mamma wants a half a dozen 'emons,'" said Nellie the other day to the grocery man. "What is it you want?" he inquired somewhat puzzled. "I want a half-dozen 'emons,'" replied the little one wrathfully. "Don't you know what a half-dozen is?—It's six."

Served His Country Well.

Alfred Sully, soldier, was a distinguished son of a distinguished sire, born at Philadelphia, January 2, 1821. His father was Thomas Sully, the famous portrait painter, a pupil of Benjamin West, painter of many of the great men of his day and ranking second only to Gilbert Stuart. The son, however, had ambition for the life military, was graduated from West Point in 1841 and was immediately appointed a second lieutenant in the Second Infantry. He campaigned against the Seminoles in Florida, was in the Mexican war, and for conspicuous services at the siege of Vera Cruz was promoted to first lieutenant and captain. At the outbreak of the Civil war he was appointed colonel of the First Minnesota volunteers, was a little later given command of a brigade, distinguished himself at Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill, was promoted to brigadier general of volunteers and led his command with conspicuous gallantry at South Chancellorsville. After the war he was engaged in Indian campaigns in which there was savage fighting. He was brevetted brigadier general in the regular army and major general of volunteers.

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR DARKENS YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Years Younger! Try Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.
