Followup Meeting Is Thursday

WE HAVE JUST been made aware of a problem which is being faced by facets of our educational system, dealing with the current "education reform," brought about by H. Ross Perot, the self-styled "know it all" as regards to Texas public schools.

A move is underway to abolish all vocational and cooperative school classes. This would include such courses as vocational agriculture, the home economics program, distributive education and cooperative trades classes.

Perot has decided in his infinite wisdom, that such programs are the "cancer on the face of education." Personally, we think he's just slightly off track. Mr. Perot himself may be the cancer which is about to destroy the school system as we know it.

This sort of thing is what happens anytime there is a movement--in this case a select committee appointed--in the name of reform. It seldom ever fails in such a movement, that the do-gooders want to throw the baby out the door with the wash water.

Unless the residents of our state stand firm, a number of programs which have made school considerably more meaningful for millions of students, will be things of the past.

These experts may not realize it, but a large percentage of school children have been kept in school by such programs as vocational agriculture and the trades classes. Not every student who begins in first grade wants, or needs, the college preparatory training which Perot seems to think is all that matters.

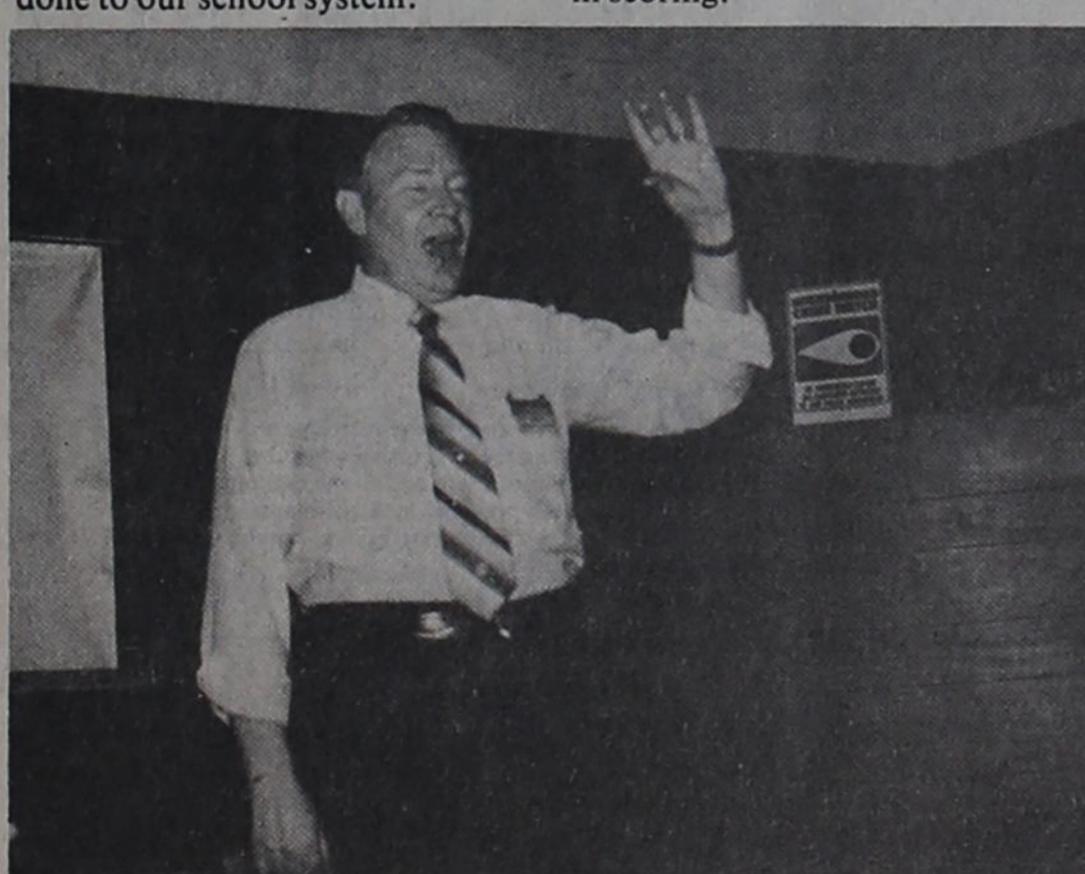

Maybe Mr. Perot has never had to try to find a good plumber, or a mechanic (folks in his income category just buy a new car, or a house, evidently, instead of making the necessary repairs, or wondering if we are training people for the various trades in our public schools).

It's a dangerous situation when you allow a man, a committee, or a state legislature, to move onto our public school system with a wrecking crew, complete with demolition equipment, when perhaps only a few minor repairs was what the system needed.

Some of the programs listed have been advised that their area supervisors will not have their jobs by the time another school year rolls around.

This would indicate that the "powers that be," intend to eliminate the programs by cutting of their supervision, allowing them just to die on the vine.

If you agree that vocational classes are important, then it behooves you to contact your elected officials as quickly as possible, before more damage is done to our school system.

CRIME WATCH....John Bradshaw of Amarillo, a Crime Prevention Coordinator, was in Bovina last Thursday and talked to a large crowd of Bovina people at the American Legion Hall about how our community could protect ourselves from burglaries. He will speak again this week at the Bovina High School Cafeteria on Thursday, 7 p.m. Everyone is urged to attend.

Roberts Back For Commissioner Date

The Parmer County Commissioners met in regular session on Monday, January 25, with Judge Porter Roberts once again presiding, after some months' absence due to illness.

A motion was passed to pay the county's four fire departments their annual fees of $3,500. The money is intended to help defray the costs incurred by the departments in fighting rural fires each year, but can be used by the various fire departments any way they choose.

A bill from Ellis-Blackwell Funeral Home, for a pauper's funeral and use of their facilities for two autopsies was approved.

Everyone is urged to come and if they have any questions, call Pete Hernandez at the City Hall.

Mustangs Win, Lose Cage Games

The Bovina Mustangs won one and lost one in basketball games played during the past week.

The team fell to powerful Abernathy in a game here last Tuesday, 80-45, but rebounded for a 44-42 win at Springlake-Earth Friday night.

In the Abernathy game, the Ponies could only come up with three single baskets in the first quarter, by Blake Scuff, Tommy Hutto and Chet Hawkins, as Abernathy bolted to a 20-6 lead.

The 'Lopes continued their offensive barrage in the second quarter, with Sammy Galloway scoring 11 points single-handedly, to give the visitors a 37-21 halftime lead.

Mattlock Howell paced the team with a good third quarter, scoring eight points, but Bovina never could cut into Abernathy's lead.

Howell's 20 points led his team in scoring.

TDA Levies Fines Against Applicators

Farmers suffering pesticide drift damage to cotton crops will not benefit monetarily from Texas Department of Agriculture action announced Thursday in Amarillo, but they now have grounds for legal recourse, a TDA official said.

TDA announced administrative fines totaling $24,250 had been levied against 38 licensed pesticide applicators and dealers at fault in the largest pesticide drift case.

Ron White, assistant commissioner of TDA's regulatory programs, said fines are a result of its investigation into damage done last summer to cotton crops in Deaf Smith, Parmer and Castro counties after they were inadvertently exposed to the herbicide, 2,4-D.

"This is the most widespread, complex drift case the Texas Department of Agriculture has ever investigated," White said. "These recommended administrative fines of $24,250 are also the largest cumulative total we have ever sought to impose."

The 38 separate administrative actions range from official warning letters to a fine of $6,400 for one particular individual, he said. No names were released, White said, but TDA will publish the names of the applicators and dealers in an upcoming issue of the Texas Register.

While TDA will collect the fines, none of the money will go to farmers whose crops were damaged by the drift, he said.

38th Annual Show Slated

The 38th annual Parmer County Junior Livestock Show will be held January 30-February 2 at the Community Center-Showbarn.

Some 600 animals are expected for the show, which draws entries from all over the county. Animals will show in five categories: steers, barrows, lambs, heifers and goats.

Weigh-in will be on Wednesday, January 30 from 1-7 p.m. Classification of lambs and steers will begin at 8 p.m.

The lambs will be judged on Thursday, January 31, starting at 5 p.m., followed by judging of the goats.

The barrow show will be held starting at 8 a.m. on Friday. The steers will be judged at 8 a.m. Saturday, followed by the heifer show.

The premium sale will be held on Saturday, starting at 2 p.m.

(See section two for the complete schedule and further details on the show.)

Terry Copley of Friona is general superintendent of the 1985 show. Mack Heald is assistant general superintendent. Rick Seaton of Lazbuddie is in charge of the barrow show. Carroll Cook of Friona is heading the lamb and goat divisions. Gene Schueler of the Rhea community is in charge of the cattle division.

Fillies Split Pair In District Play

The Bovina Fillies broke even in a pair of basketball games played last week. The team suffered a 73-58 loss to Abernathy here on Tuesday, but came back on top of Springlake-Earth, 67-29 on Friday.

In the Abernathy game, the Fillies broke out on top, 15-10, as Terisa Shepherd scored three baskets and a pair of free throws, and Marie Pesch added a pair of baskets and free throws.

Mindy Neal took over scoring duties in the second quarter with six points, and Peggy Shepherd added four, as Bovina held a 32-12 halftime lead.

Things stayed the same in the second half. Shana Gober was the offensive star in the final quarter with ten points. Five players were in double figure scoring: Gober with 15, Pesch 14, Terisa and Peggy Shepherd and Mindy Neal, all with 10.

R.R. Crossing Is Discussed

There have been a few people complain about the condition that has been left at the railroad crossing on Third Street.

City officials have been assured that this will be repaired as soon as the weather cooperates.

They ask that you be patient and drive carefully across the railroad tracks.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Friends at Bovina:
I am anxiously looking forward to the week of February 3 to 6.

I will be returning to Bovina for a gospel meeting at the Church of Christ. I am looking forward to the opportunity to visit with so many of you in Bovina. We look back with so many fond memories of the nine years spent with you good people. You are a very unique community in your love and concern for one another. It was indeed a great pleasure for Jo and I to have had the opportunity to be associated with you there in Bovina. You were so nice and kind to us and we appreciate you for it.

We will take this opportunity to invite everyone to the gospel meeting on February 3-6. I would be most appreciative if you would come and fellowship with us. We love and appreciate all of you who make up such a wonderful community.

We hope to see all of you on February 3-6.

Sincerely,
Cecil Bunch

Lee Spring Retires From Hospital Staff

The passing of an era at Farmer County Community Hospital has been noted by the retirement of Dr. Lee Spring.

"Dr. Lee," as he has been known by his patients and townspeople, has been on the hospital staff for more than 30 years, and with his brother, Dr. Paul Spring, helped comprise a unique medical team.

Dr. Lee Spring came back home to Farmer County in June of 1954, joining the hospital staff at the old hospital, which was housed in the former Prisoner of War barracks which were moved to Friona from near Hereford.

He joined the staff which at that time was comprised of Dr. Thomas B. Smith and Lee's brother, Dr. Paul Spring.

He has seen the hospital progress through a number of building programs, and the medical staff undergo several changes.

Dr. Lee Spring had done his undergraduate work at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, where he received his BA degree. Before he could participate in graduation exercises, however, World War II had broken out, and he was involved.

He served three years and four months in the U.S. Army Air Force, spending just over two of those years in overseas duty. Lee attained the rank of staff sergeant, working in radio communications, helping direct the planes.

He spent his overseas time stationed at a flying field at East Wretham, England. He was discharged in 1945.

Lee returned to Friona, where he spent a year working in the family store, after which he completed a course in pre-med at Texas Tech. He received his MD degree from the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston.

He did a year's internship at Little Rock, then a year's residency in general practice at the Huey P. Long Charity Hospital, Pineville, Louisiana.

A Farmer County native, Lee was born June 16, 1919 in Bovina, the youngest son of F.L. and Ocie Spring, pioneer settlers. In 1926, the family moved to Friona. Their family home was located at 911 Cleveland, just next door to where Lee and Ann made their home. F.L. Spring farmed and operated a general store on Main Street.

In high school, Lee participated in debate, having Harold Lillard as a partner. He recalls that as a senior, the FHS duo debated in Amarillo, where they were beaten by Warlick and Waggoner Carr. Waggoner Carr later became Texas' Attorney General, and ran for the governor's office.

Lee was valedictorian of his eighth grade class, and again of his senior class. He worked in his father's general store on weekends and during summer vacations.

While stationed in England with the Army Air Corps, he met Anne Moore of Manchester. In 1958, he made a trip back to Europe, to attend the World's Fair in Belgium, and to become re-acquainted with Anne.

Later that year the couple was married, and she returned to Friona with Lee, where they have made their home. Anne had completed her nurse's training in England, but gave up her nursing career to become a mother and homemaker.

The Springs are parents of daughters Sylvia (Gigi) and Sandy, and recently became grandparents, when young Amanda was born.

Although he doesn't have the exact figures, Dr. Lee figures he has delivered around 1,000 babies in his 30-year medical career. This aspect of his career isn't quite over, as he still has an obstetrical patient whose baby is due shortly.

"One time, while I was doing my internship in Louisiana, I delivered nine babies in one night," Dr. Lee recalls. He also remembered that the hospital in Louisiana had a rigid "color line" at the time, and there were separate delivery rooms for whites and blacks. Some problems often arose, he recalled, since there were often patients in the hospital with mixed blood.

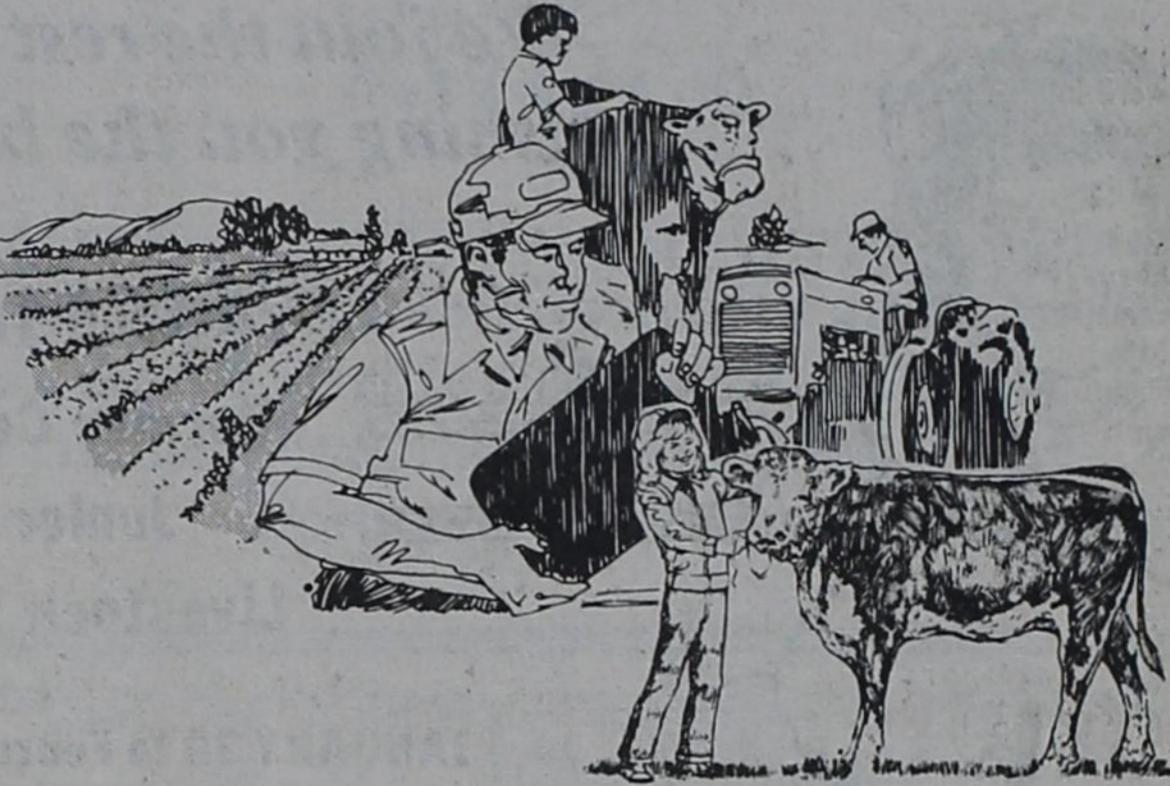

This practice, along with many of the other racial problems, has long since been discontinued in the South.

Dr. Lee has been a member of the Tierra Blanca Medical Society, which he has served as president and secretary at various times; of the Texas Medical Assn. and the American Medical Assn., as well as district associations in Amarillo and Lubbock.

As for his plans for retirement, Dr. Lee says he and Anne hope to do a bit more travelling. He also plans to renew his longtime hobby of photography, and spend more time in his greenhouse, where he has for years grown such exotic plants as orchids. He might even plant a garden. "I think I would enjoy gardening, but I've just never had the time," he says.

And, it will be nice, he thinks, not to have to crawl out of a warm bed on a Saturday night to attend to some emergency or other.

Zandy Kelley, Billy Joe Potts Exchange Vows In Clovis

Zandy Kay Kelley of Clovis, New Mexico and Billy Joe Potts of Broadview, New Mexico exchanged wedding vows Saturday, December 29 at 5 p.m.

The ceremony was conducted in Rosedale Baptist Church, the Central Baptist Church, Clovis, the same place where the bride's parents were married 21 years ago.

Brother Lee Hudman of Rosedale Baptist Church,

Rosedale, N.M., read the opening scripture and opening prayer. Kenny Ray Dickenson, pastor of the Tatum Baptist Church, Tatum, N.M., performed the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Allen and Helen Kelley of Clovis, N.M. The bridegroom is the son of Walter and Lois Potts of Broadview, N.M.

Ted Ogilive of Clovis, organist, accompanied Martha Brandon of Clovis, vocalist, as she sang "Wedding Song," and "Be With Us Lord" was performed while the couple kneeled. The groom sang "The Love She Found In Me" after they lit the unity candle.

The church altar was centered with a pair of profile pre dieu. The golden archway held fifteen white cathedral tapers, flanked on each side with brass baskets of white gladiolas and white carnations. The background was covered with numerous spiral and nine branch candelabras with emerald plums entwined in the candelabras. A black wrought iron stand held the white unity candle. The stand was decorated with Christmas green accented with baby's breath and small burgundy bows. The bridal aisle was framed with pairs of cathedral tapered candles caught in clusters of Christmas greenery accented with burgundy bows.

As the bride was presented in marriage by her father, mother and sister, she was attired in a formal length gown of lush white satin with lyrical lace embellishments. The bodice was appliqued with alencon lace, gently displayed over the shoulders of the gown and sleeves, sprinkled with minute seed pearls and blended together with gossamer netting. French alencon lace edged the waistline and chapel length train. Splashes of applied lace graced the full length bridal skirt.

The bride wore a pearl princess crown and a two tiered fingertip length veil of gossamer net, which belonged to her mother.

She carried a stylized cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses, and white pixie carnations with accents of boxwood and pine greenery.

Carrying out bridal tradition, she wore her headpiece belonging to her mother for something old. She wore pearls, a gift from the groom, for something new. She borrowed pearl earrings from La Shauna Kelley, sister of the bride and wore the traditional blue garter, made by Mrs. Tom Jesko, aunt of the bride. The bride carried pennies minted in the year of their births.

The groom wore a silver-gray Pierre Cardin tuxedo with white tailored shirt and gray bow tie. The white sweetheart rose boutonniere completed the groom's attire.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Potts

La Shauna Kelley of Clovis, sister of the bride, served as the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Roxanne Waterman of Tyler, Texas, cousin of the bride, and Becky Potts of Lubbock, sister of the groom.

Candles were lit by Mona Ann Potts, sister of the groom, Kenda Kelley, cousin of the bride, Wayne Jesko, cousin of the bride, and Jay Kelley, cousin of the bride.

Sumer Priest of Clovis, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

The feminine attendants wore burgundy polyester satin floor length gowns featuring Queen Anne necklines, same as bride's, empire waistlines and flared skirts. Burgundy satin bows with long streamers accented the waistline in back. A drop pearl necklace, a gift from the bride, was worn by each attendant.

They carried white frosted votive candles surrounded with pine, cedar and boxwood interspersed with dainty burgundy bows accented with burgundy cascade streamers falling from the front of the bouquet.

The candlelighters wore floor length gowns of mauve taffeta with square necklines, and gathered skirts with a ruffle at the bottom of the skirt. Satin mauve ribbon was used for the belt with bows and long streamers. Puffed sleeves fell into pleats at the elbows. They wore gold heart chain necklaces, a gift from the bride.

The flower girl wore a gown designed like the ones worn by the candlelighters.

Brent Duke of New Rivers, North Carolina, served as best man. Groomsmen were Sammy Brown of Friona, cousin of the groom, and Shane Todd of Albuquerque, N.M.

Ushers were Stan Blagrave of Ackerley, Texas, Darren Kelley of Clovis, cousin of the bride, Robert Hudman of Rosedale, N.M., and Steve Blagrave of Lubbock.

Lori Pierce presided at the registration table.

The reception was held in the chapel of the Central Baptist Church.

The bride's table was covered with a satin cloth with pleated skirt and lace top made by Mrs. Fred Eichenberger. The Lady Windemere cake featured a miniature bride and groom music box on the top layer. Three silver candlesticks of assorted heights framed the bridal bouquet reclining in a crystal holder. Mauve colored heart shaped mints were served from the bride's table. Silver accessories completed the table setting.

Joy Wooten, cousin of the bride, and Sherle Day served cake from the bride's table. Punch was served by Kelley Boney.

The groom's table was covered with a floor length cloth of off-white linen, accented with gray cross-stitching. The cloth was made by Mrs. Jerry Ellison of Farwell. The spiced cake was shaped like a tractor. A large crystal hurricane lamp covering a gray candle surrounded by a ring of pine, cedar, boxwood and greenery accented the table setting. Red tractor mints, made by Martha Schueler of Friona, were served from silver accessories.

Wynn Simon, cousin of the bride, served cake from the groom's table. Coffee was served by Michelle Priest, cousin of the bride.

The wedding cakes were made by aunts of the bride, Mrs. Tom Jesko, Mrs. Butch Priest and a friend, Mrs. Ray Barnes.

Floating hostesses were Mrs. Wayne Pierce, Mrs. Fred Eichenberger, Mrs. Dee Smith Day, Mrs. Sherman Williams, Mrs. Hap Pierce and Mrs. John Dickson.

White buckets with the bride and groom's names and dates on them held rice bags which were passed out by Callaway Clark, Yanke Jesko and Joby Priest, cousins of the bride. The buckets were prepared by Peggy Clark, aunt of the bride.

Starla Priest, cousin of the bride, gave out book ribbons, thanking everyone for attending the ceremony.

For a wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride chose a brown tweed four piece pant suit with a short jacket, sweater vest and long sleeved blouse with a tie at the neckline.

The couple resides at Broadview, New Mexico, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming in the Hollene Community.

The bride is a graduate of Clovis High School and is employed at Eastern New Mexico Rural Telephone.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Texico High School and Eastern New Mexico University, Portales.

St. Ann's Society Meets Here

The St. Ann's Society monthly meeting was held recently. Nine members were present for the meeting. Mass for deceased members was offered at 7 p.m. by Father Emmanuel Afunugo.

It was decided that the wine and altar breads would be provided by the society. Congregational candles will be ordered also.

Mary Rose Brito has made a green altar cover. A smaller one is also needed and Martha Schilling has volunteered to make one.

The main subject of discussion was the sausage dinner. The members in charge are Judy Brockman and Lupe DeLeon.

The dinner will be held on February 17, from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Parish Hall. Donations are adults, $5.00, children six years and under, $2.50 each.

Sausage will be made at the Leon Schilling place on Friday, February 15. All parishioners are asked to come and help. This is a parish event.

Presiding over the meeting was Liz Jesko, vice president. Mary Rose Brito was absent due to illness.

LEGAL NOTICE

STATE DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS and PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION CONTRACTOR NOTICE OF TEXAS HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

REST AREA AND PICNIC AREA MAINTENANCE

Proposals for maintenance of the Silver Falls Rest Area in Crosby county and for Picnic Area maintenance in Parmer and Garza counties are now available at the Lubbock District Office and at the Maintenance Section offices in each of the above listed counties.

All sealed proposals for the three contracts will be received until 9:00 a.m. on February 19, 1985, at the District Maintenance Office, 601 Slaton Rd., Lubbock, at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, in accordance with the provisions of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (78 C.F.R., Part 8), issued pursuant to such Act, hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that the contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder without discrimination on the grounds of race, color, or national origin, and further that it will affirmatively insure that in any contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement, minority business enterprises will be afforded full opportunity to submit bids in response to this invitation and will not be discriminated against on the grounds of race, color, or national origin in consideration for an award. Plans and specifications are available at the Maintenance Office for the above mentioned counties and at the office of J.W. Gooch, Maintenance Supt., 601 Slaton Road, Lubbock, Texas.

Scooter's Scoops

By Scooter Russell

Monday of this week was a beautiful day, with the sun shining and almost all of the snow melted...The livestock show was held in Bovina on Monday evening of this week...We appreciate our youngsters and the adults who work with them, their teachers and parents...A large crowd of people turned out last Thursday evening to hear John Bradshaw of Amarillo talking to us about a neighborhood crime watch. He also showed films. Bradshaw will be speaking to us again this Thursday evening at 7 p.m. at the High School Cafeteria. Everyone is urged to attend.

NEWS AROUND TOWN....

We enjoyed visiting Monday morning with Carl Rea. Carl and Bess celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary and were honored with a party January 19 at the Tasco Country Club in Amarillo with 150 couples attending the celebration. Carl told me that he and Bess were married in Lawton, Oklahoma and came through Bovina with intentions of going to Phoenix, Arizona. They stopped and visited with Carl's brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G.T. Watkins of Bovina. Carl worked for him for a couple of weeks then went to work for the Ford dealership in Portales where he worked for ten years. He bought a farm in 1945, which is now the Dean McCallum farm, and farmed there until 1959 and then sold it.

Rea then bought a section of land north of town. Carl had a heart attack in 1960. This was the first of twelve attacks over the years and he had triple bypass heart surgery.

Carl and Bess have had a lot of fun traveling all over the United States and have made seven trips to Hawaii. The Reas have many friends in Bovina and we always enjoy visiting with them and appreciate them very much.

Les and Rose McCain have had relatives in the hospital recently. Les' mother, Mrs. W.C. McCain of Littlefield is a patient at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Rose's brother-in-law, James Sheek of Pettit is in the Morton Hospital suffering with heart spasms and her sister, Tiny Morris, of Levelland underwent surgery on Wednesday of last week in a Lubbock Hospital. She is getting along fine and came home on Friday of last week.

****

Patsy Webb of Adrian entered Parmer County Community Hospital in Fronia on Tuesday of last week. Her condition has improved, according to her mother, Sid Lloyd. She remains a patient there.

****

Bethal Wilcox was a patient in the Lubbock Hospital and she was released last week but was taken back to the Parmer County Community Hospital in Fronia on Monday where she remains a patient.

****

Our sympathies to Dorothy Stowers, whose brother, Leo Radford, 56, suffered a fatal heart attack on Monday of this week. He lived with his wife, Goldie, in Eakly, Oklahoma. He was survived by his wife, his mother, Homa of Eakly, six brothers and five sisters. By the way, Dorothy's beauty shop will be closed Wednesday and Thursday.

****

Lucy Thomas spent several days in the West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe, but was released on Friday of last week. She was spending time with her sister, Flossie Rhinehart, before entering the hospital.

****

Lucille Walling suffered a heart attack last Thursday night and is hospitalized in the Deaf Smith County Hospital in Hereford.

****

Bobby and Irma Jo Englant drove to Elkhart, Kansas last Saturday and met their daughter, Carissa, who brought the Englant's grandchildren, Donnie and Jaque'. The children came back to Bovina with them and will spend a week. Carissa and her husband, Don, live in Colby, Kansas.

Crystal Rose, daughter of Mary

Rose Walterscheid, entered the Parmer County Community Hospital on Friday of last week. The 16-month-old child had a virus and had become dehydrated. Her grandmother, Ann Lee Englant, said if the infant continued to improve she would be dismissed on Monday of this week.

A.M. and Mary Jane Wilson returned home on Monday from spending about ten days vacationing in South Texas with friends, Bob and Pat Sudderth of Arlington, as well as friends in Austin and their daughter, Suzanne and her family in Abilene. They visited a former Bovina resident, Dolph Moten and his wife, Neva, in Copperas Cove.

Mary Jane said Dolph is building houses and has just completed their beautiful home. Dolph's son, Matt, and his wife, live in Germany and Matt is in the Army after graduating from West Point. Dolph's daughter, Beth, lives in Albuquerque and works setting up unions and getting them organized. Mary Jane said Dolph's wife Neva works for Texas Power and Light Company at Copperas Cove. They had a good visit with the Motens.

****

Lloyd Gober suffered a heart attack and is a patient at Lubbock Methodist Hospital. He entered the hospital about a week ago and we understand he is getting along real well and expects to come home this week.

****

Mrs. Alvo Kersey entered West Plains Hospital in Muleshoe last Friday suffering with pneumonia. She remains a patient there.

****

Dee Terry is a patient at Lubbock General Hospital and was there for about one week. Her condition has improved and she came home from the hospital on Monday evening.

****

Thank you for helping with the Scoops....have a good week! Scooter.

Board Elects New Officers

The Parmer County Child Welfare Board met January 21.

Roberta Johnson is the new chairperson, Rev. Gary Smith is the vice chairperson, Shirley Schueler is secretary-treasurer. Others serving on the board are Kay Williams, Bessie Holt, Jo Blackwell, Danny Cochran, Dixie Jesko, Carla Kaltwasser and Porter Roberts.

The board wants to remind residents that child abuse can happen anywhere. It can and does happen in Parmer County.

To report child abuse, contact your local Department of Human Resources Office in Hereford. Their number is 806-364-6841 or call the 24-hour Child Abuse Hotline, 1-800-252-5400.

SNOW RECEIVED.... Approximately one to two inches of snow fell here Saturday night and most had melted by Sunday afternoon. The snow was accompanied by rain and precipitation amounted to about one-half an inch in town.

TDA Levies Fines...

Farmers will have to seek monetary relief through civil action in courts, White said.

"All the revenue we collect goes to the state treasury," White said. "That won't help the High Plains farmers who lost some of their cotton crop to 2,4-D drift. It may help, however, just to know that justice was done."

"But more importantly to these producers, TDA's administrative actions do not prevent these cotton farmers from obtaining financial relief through civil courts," he said.

TDA inspected more than 21,000 acres of cotton after receiving 117 separate complaints. Fifteen TDA inspectors from as far away as San Antonio and Beaumont set up a mobile office in Friona to make the investigation, White said.

The 2,4-D drift caused considerable damage to cotton crops in central Deaf Smith and northern Farmer counties and moderate damage in central Parmer County.

The drift caused little damage in southern Farmer County although there were isolated "hot spots" caused by applications too close to the cotton, White said.

School Corner

By BOB OWEN

Why is it that the only news that makes the daily papers or television is negative in nature? Why do we always ask the question, "What's wrong," rather than "What's right?"

Recently, our city made the "hotline" because a group of elected officials made a decision that they believed to be in the best interest of Bovina. Whether we agree with them or not we need to let them know that we appreciate their efforts in making Bovina a better place to live. We can always find something wrong if we look for it, but the same thing goes for something right. Let us all begin to look for that something right and take pride in our community.

America is a great nation because it is made up of people who have pride. This pride must begin in the homes and spread to the community and then to the nation. It does not happen automatically. It can only happen if each of us individually accepts our responsibility in the total process.

We do not have a perfect city or a perfect school, but there are many things about both of which we can be proud. It has been said that as a people go so goes the nation. This is true at the local level also. We are Bovina. If Bovina is going to be better we must work at making ourselves better.

Please join me in a concentrated effort to look for the "good" things. They are all around us in abundance. It only takes a little more effort to look at things from the positive side rather than the negative side.

Our community can only be as good as "we the people" want it to be. If we will work together we can have a community that we each can be proud of. Every individual has some contributions they can make to attain this type of community.

8th Colts Win Meet

Last Saturday night, the eighth grade boys defeated Nazareth 49-27 to win the junior high tournament at Friona.

It was a total team effort. Scott Scaff led the team in scoring with 22 points. Bud Venable scored ten points, Zed Stewart six, Scott Sudder five, and Denver Riddle four.

Clay Carrell, David Boozer and Pete Quiroga did a super job coming off the bench, and were instrumental in both wins as the eighth grade boys beat a determined Friona team 28-13 Friday night to reach the finals. Again it was a total team effort and a defensive struggle in which both teams had to work hard to score.

On Monday night of this week, the Colts played against Hart and won, 36-21.

The Colts will be playing in a tournament at Farwell Saturday beginning at 1:30 p.m.

38th Annual Jr. Stock Show Set

The 38th annual Parmer County Junior Livestock Show will be held January 30-31, February 1-2 at the Community Center-Showbarn in Friona.

The first order of business will be the weigh-in, set for Wednesday, January 30, between the hours of 1 and 7 p.m. Classification of lambs and steers will be held beginning at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The lamb show will be held beginning at 5 p.m. Thursday, January 31, followed by the goat show. Judging the lambs and goats will be Jim Judah of Snyder, instructor of Agricultural Science at Western Texas College.

Barrows will be judged beginning at 8 p.m. Friday. Barrows are the only division slated for judging on Friday. Judging the barrows will be Stanley Young, a rancher from Folsom, N.M.

The steers will be shown beginning at 8 a.m. on Saturday, February 2, with the heifer show immediately following. Judging the steers and heifers will be Stanley Young, Tahoka, county agent of Lynn County.

The auction sale for the premium animals will be held beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Also on Friday, Friona State Bank will once again sponsor a free breakfast for all exhibitors, buyers and workers, at the showbarn, from 6-8 a.m.

Exhibitors of grand champion animals at the 1984 show were: Dana Berend of Friona, steer; Carl Hutchins, Farwell, heifer; Susan Redwine, Lazbuddie, barrows; Terry Moore, Bovina, lambs; and Greg Salyer, Friona, goats.

Miss Berend won the steer title with a 1257-pound Chianina crossbred animal. That gave her school the county's steer title for the 19th time since 1948. It was the seventh time for a crossbred steer to claim the title. Hereford steers have won 18 banners in the show's 37-year history. Angus or Angus crosses have won six titles.

Miss Redwine's win in the barrow division was the 23rd for a Lazbuddie exhibitor out of 37 years. Her school claimed a 16-year winning streak in the barrow show from 1961-76.

The champion barrow in 1984 was a Hampshire, the breed which has won the most county banners—ten. Duroc barrows have won eight times; crossbreds have been tapped on seven occasions. Polands have won six titles, and Chester Whites four.

Stock show boosters and buyers are urged to attend the premium auction sale, beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday, February 2.

The animals placing in the top half of each class will be eligible for the sale.

Around The House

By JANETTE PIERCE

Farm, ranch and agri-business women can display their fashion and sewing skills at the National Fibers Fashion Showcase to be held at the Southwest Farm and Ranch Exposition in Fort Worth on March 9.

The showcase demonstrates what beautiful finished products come from cotton, wool and mohair--all Texas agricultural commodities, says Janette Pierce, Farmer County home economist.

The entrants will compete for first, second and third place awards in four divisions: custom sewn garments, knitted and crocheted garments, coordinated mother and child ensembles, and former grand award winners. A fifth non-competitive division gives seamstresses an opportunity to show off garments sewn for a family member.

Each garment entered in the show must be made of a minimum blend of 50 per cent cotton or 50 per cent wool and/or mohair, says the home economist.

Contestants must be 18 years or older, and actively involved in farming, ranching or agribusiness, or be a member (or member's spouse) of an agriculture-related organization such as Extension Homemakers Clubs, Young Homemakers, Young Farmers, 4-H Leader Association, producer associations or auxiliaries and tractor pullers' clubs.

"We hope that a number of women representing Farmer County agriculture will enter the showcase," says Pierce.

Sponsors of the event include the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Southwest Hardware and Implement Association and Progressive Farmer.

Entries must be submitted by February 20. Contest rules and entry blanks are available at the county Extension office.

7 Who Care Winners Are To Be Selected

Designed to pay tribute to the tri-state area volunteers who donate thousands of hours of their time to others, KVII-TV Channel 7 and the Volunteer Action Center of the United Way have launched the First Annual 7 Who Care awards.

Channel 7's General Manager, Jim McCormick, described the response to the program as "gratifying and overwhelming."

Over 200 nominations are expected to be submitted for the 1985 awards that culminate in a prime time telecast from the Sheraton Inn of Amarillo on April 23 at 7 p.m. on Channel 7. At this time, the seven winners, who are selected by the 7 Who Care Board of Governors, are given a $500 cash award, and an additional $500 for the organization(s) of their choice from the station.

"The 7 Who Care winners," McCormick said, "are not superhuman. We look for people who exemplify the spirit of volunteerism in the tri-state area."

"The outstanding volunteer," he said, "covers the entire viewing area of KVII and requests for nomination forms have been received from outlying areas such as Clovis, Liberal, Spearman, as well as from the Amarillo metropolitan area."

Financial Aid Is Available For Seniors

Pell Grant materials will be distributed to the seniors around the first or second week of February. However these forms cannot be filled out until the parent's 1984 income tax return has been completed.

Since money is awarded on a first-come, first-serve basis, it is imperative that you do your taxes early if you are in need of financial assistance, and you want a good chance of being considered.

So to help your college bound son or daughter, please complete your income tax returns as soon as possible.

An additional 1,000 nomination forms have been sent to service organizations throughout the area.

"It's very important to us to find a cross section of individual interests and locations," McCormick said, adding, "We are extremely proud of this unique effort to say 'thank you' in a way that distinguishes our commitment to community involvement from all others."

Nomination forms are available by calling 376-6714, or by writing: 7 Who Care, P.O. Box 3069, Amarillo, Texas 79116, and can be submitted by groups or individuals. They must be returned to the Volunteer Action Center no later than January 31.

TRUCK DONATED....Friona Industries recently donated a new feed mixer truck to the West Texas State University Agricultural Department. The truck will be used by the Nance Ranch and the WTSU Dairy to mix and prepare feed for over 1,000 head of cattle a day. The truck is valued between $20,000 and $25,000. Friona Industries is a multi-million dollar agri-business company that is involved in feed lots, feed manufacture, and meat processing. Friona Industries has been a generous supporter of the WT Agricultural Department in the past. Pictured is Maury Adams, ranch supervisor.

Agronomist Named By Pioneer

Coleman Young has been named area agronomist for Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc.'s Southwestern Division, according to Jim Higdon, director of agronomy services.

In his new position, Young will assist farmers with cropping problems throughout the Texas High Plains, the Oklahoma Panhandle and New Mexico, taking over for Higdon who will be devoting more time to supervisory duties of the department.

Young, a native of Kress in Swisher County, is a 1982 graduate of West Texas State University with a bachelor's degree in agronomy. He was a distinguished student throughout his college career, and was selected as an outstanding student by the American Society of Agronomy.

While in college, Young was employed by the university's plant science department and was an integral part of the family's wheat, corn, cotton and grain sorghum farming operation.

Since graduation, Young has

been employed by Pioneer's production department in Plainview as a field supervisor for grain sorghum production and most recently as assistant quality control superintendent.

For many years, Southwestern Division's agronomy services department has assisted farmers throughout Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico with their crop management decisions. Higdon said the addition of Young to the staff "will enable the department to serve agricultural producers even better."

Young resides in Plainview and is working out of the headquarters office. He and his wife, Melissa, are expecting their first child in the near future.

1985 Is 20th Season For "Texas" Production

"Texas," the musical drama of the history of the Panhandle, is celebrating its twentieth season this year.

Seen by nearly 1,600,000 people from all over the world, "Texas" is already drawing in the crowds for the 1985 production. Before the new year had yet arrived, ninety-one busloads were booked for the summer show from California to Massachusetts and even as far as Australia. From the state of Texas itself, seventy-one busloads are due to attend, forty of which are from local conventions.

They will see a production refurbished for the anniversary. The new director, Neil Hess, who has been choreographer since the beginning, is searching the notes of his conversations with Paul Green, the Playwright, to sharpen his recollections of Mr. Green's ideas.

Auditions for actors, dancers, singers, and instrumentalists in Austin, Albuquerque, Dallas, Lubbock and Canyon start this month so that the directors may choose the cast for the celebration year.

The staff at "Texas" has received permission to reprint an article from The Dallas Morning News about the show. It is being mailed to travel brokers and tour directors across the nation. Written by Patricia Bunyard, it starts:

"Suddenly there are echoes of racing hoofs. A setting sun casts its final rays upon towering sandstone cliffs a half-mile in the distance. Six hundred feet overhead, along the wind-carved canyon rim, a great white stallion gallops into the day's dying light. In the saddle a rider holds aloft a large flag and upon it, one lone star. The crowd roars with excitement and expectation."

"It is the dramatic opening of the musical drama, 'Texas,' produced in Palo Duro Canyon State Park, by the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation."

The first letter inviting interested people to become members of the Foundation and to take an active interest in supporting the show, is in the mail. Others not on the mailing list are cordially invited to join as well.

"Texas" is the story of the first settlements in the Texas Panhandle in the 1880's. Using all of the arts, Paul Green has recreated the struggles and triumphs, the conflicts of interest, the drouths and storms in a musical romance of the times. The resulting drama has drawn over a million and a half people to the magnificent Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo and Canyon, Texas to see it. Each summer the season lasts about two months.

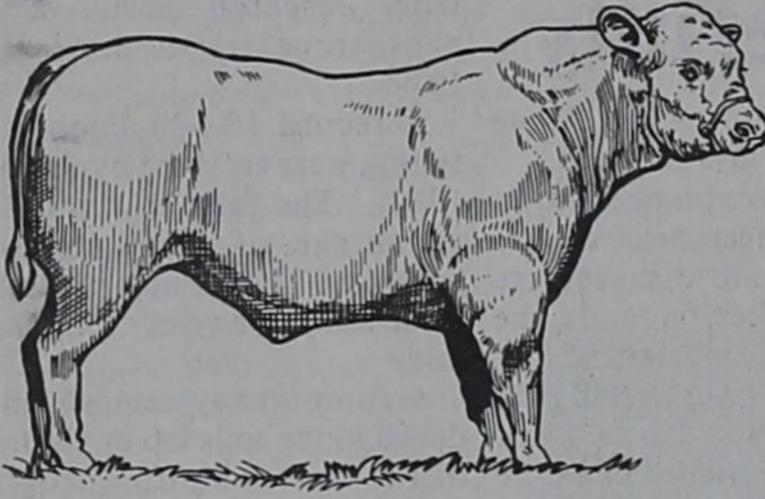

In 1985, the dates will be June 12 through August 24, the hour is 8:30 p.m. It is well to make reservations in advance, especially on weekends.

To be a part of the quickening preparations for the 1985 season through reservations, auditioning to be in the show, organizing groups to come, or joining as a member, write P.O. Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2181.

Soil Testing Lab Is Important Part Of Experiment Station

From beginning headquarters on Quirt Avenue to its present facilities with a computer system, the Soil Testing Laboratory at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock has made significant progress and has aided many agricultural producers.

The soil testing lab was established in Lubbock in 1960, as the soils lab at College Station could not adequately work the High Plains area of Texas. Dr. James H. Valentine, Texas Agricultural Extension Service soil chemist, set up the lab in a small building on Quirt Avenue. It was later moved to the present site at the TAES headquarters north of Lubbock.

Early soil tests for the public included analyzing routine samples for soil reaction, organic matter, available phosphorus, potassium, calcium, sodium and total salt. Results of these tests, along with information supplied by farmers, provided the basis for fertilizer recommendations.

Valentine organized the lab using procedures common in other soil labs in Texas. "The soil lab initially got the best equipment it could get and has kept it updated," Valentine said.

"When the lab was started, very little fertilizer was sold on the High Plains. Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists and Extension Service specialists worked together to establish soil test levels at which economic yield could be realized from fertilizer use," he said.

"Our philosophy was that fertilizer recommendations should be based on yield potential to make the most efficient use of fertilizers," said Dr. Arthur B. Onken, soil fertility specialist at the Lubbock center.

Valentine said major contributions the lab has made include being the first lab to utilize specific ion electrodes for determining available soil nitrate.

"The lab was the first in Texas to positively identify a zinc deficiency in cotton and corn on the High Plains. We were also the first to utilize atomic absorption for determining the micronutrients iron, zinc, manganese and copper," he said.

Researchers at Lubbock have not spent all their time in the soils lab. "In the early years of the lab, meetings were conducted by Valentine to tell fertilizer dealers and farmers about lab services," Onken said. "Diagnostic workshops were held by the station, as well as an annual soil fertility field day." Valentine worked with many county agents who had not had prior exposure to soil testing, Onken said. "This helped to show the public that the soil lab knew what they were doing."

In 1978, Valentine retired and Dr. H. Dale Pennington, soil chemist, took over the lab and began developing a more precise nitrogen analysis. Using information Onken had accumulated over a 23-year period from research plots, a new phosphorus test was developed in 1979.

A record 10,000 samples for testing were received by the lab in 1979. "The farmers really took advantage of the soil testing program. The lab now runs about 9,000 samples a year," Pennington said.

A computer system was introduced to the soils lab in 1980. One of the first computer programs initiated in 1981 was the Soil Test Analysis and Nutrient Application System (STANAS). With assistance of the computer, the Lubbock soils lab made 65,000 recommendations in 1981. "There is no way we could have done the job manually," Pennington said.

New projects under way with the soils lab computer program includes a soil fast program which can send soil reports to fertilizer dealers with computers. Pennington said a plant diagnostic computer program will be put into effect by February. "This will allow producers to compare themselves to the best that's been reported. This program will be set up for corn, grain sorghum, wheat, soybeans, potatoes, rice, sugar cane and peanuts."

Everyone gets tired and has occasional pains. Many causes could produce such universal symptoms. But if the cause is nutritional, it should be diagnosed by a physician who will prescribe medication if it's warranted.

Be skeptical, ask for evidence about diet or nutrition ideas and use your right to evaluate, cautions the nutritionist.

If you want to know whether a nutrition or diet book is reliable check book reviews from the professional nutrition journals which can be found in many public libraries, she says. Or, if you're in doubt about a nutrition claim, ask your physician, a registered dietitian or your county Extension home economist.

Since 1981, soil analysis have been stored on the computer. Work is presently being done on an analysis program which will get results to producers a lot faster, Pennington said.

"The soils lab is continually upgrading their systems and procedures. It has a lot of information producers can make use of and from an economic standpoint, they should be taking advantage of the program," Onken said.

This summer, Pennington transferred to College Station to direct the Extension soils laboratories throughout the state. Dr. Michael G. Hickey has replaced Pennington in charge of the Lubbock laboratory.

Evaluate Nutrition Information Carefully

You could become a victim of misinformation if you don't know much about diet and health, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

With an increasing amount of nutrition material in the media and health claims in advertisements, distinguishing sound from unsound information is difficult, says Marilyn Haggard.

Learning something about nutrition is worthwhile, she says, since misinformation can aggravate or create health problems. Diseases like diabetes or cancer can worsen if you ignore medical diagnosis and treatment in favor of a "miracle vitamin cure."

Taking large amounts of vitamins in the mistaken notion that this will improve your health can also affect medical tests, says the nutritionist. In the case of diabetes, too much Vitamin C can give a false positive or a false negative on some urine tests for diagnosis and management of the disease.

Fad weight-loss diets can even lead to disease, notes Haggard. For example, it's possible to starve to death on a macrobiotic brown rice diet.

Even if misinformation doesn't directly affect your health, it may cause you to waste money on unnecessary food, gadgets and vitamins. Or you may trade good food habits for poor ones and a balanced diet for an imbalanced one, she says.

Consumers can best protect themselves by recognizing that a single diet or food cannot cure health problems or guarantee weight control," says Haggard.

No scientific evidence shows that arthritis, cancer, heart disease and other chronic diseases are cured by eating specific foods, she explains. Instead, a balanced diet of meat, poultry, legumes and fish; dairy products; fruits and vegetables; and enriched or whole grain breads and cereals will provide all the nutrients anyone normally needs.

Also beware of personal testimonies and stories, says Haggard, since they are not scientific studies. When a person loses weight from eating a particular food, it does not mean the food caused the weight loss. The person may have done other things to change his life-style, such as increased exercise, that actually resulted in the weight loss.

Everyone gets tired and has occasional pains. Many causes could produce such universal symptoms. But if the cause is nutritional, it should be diagnosed by a physician who will prescribe medication if it's warranted.

Be skeptical, ask for evidence about diet or nutrition ideas and use your right to evaluate, cautions the nutritionist.

Computer programs have also been developed for soil analysis and pH (acidity) tests.

Future plans of the soil lab will continue toward computer usage, Pennington said. "Economic data is being worked into soil test reports. This will help producers generate a crop budget for the following year."

Since 1981, soil analysis have been stored on the computer. Work is presently being done on an

STATEMENT OF NON-DISCRIMINATION JANUARY, 1985

"West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc. has filed with the Federal Government a Compliance Assurance in which it assures the Rural Electrification Administration that it will comply fully with all requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Agriculture issued thereunder, to the end that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination in the conduct of its program and the operation of its facilities.

Under the Assurance, this organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color, or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or any other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meeting of beneficiaries and participants, and the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization.

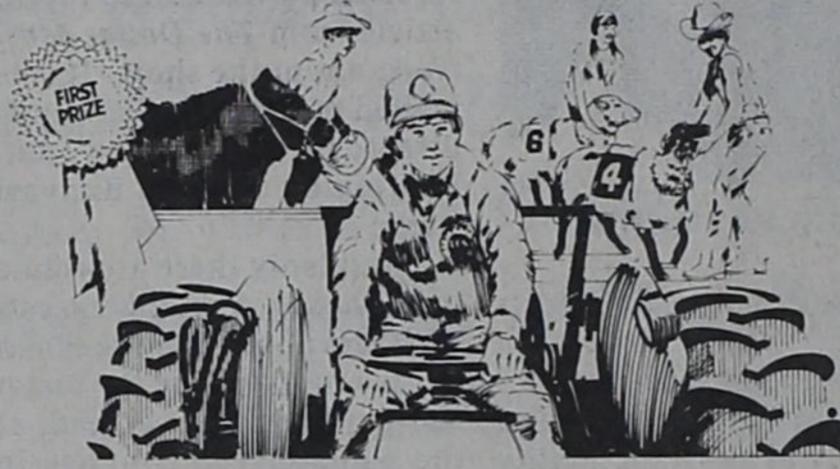

Any person who believes himself, or any specific class of individuals to be subjected by the organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Act and Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may, by himself or a representative file with the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, or the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D.C. 20250, or this organization, or all, a written complaint. Such complaint must be filed not later than 90 days after the alleged discrimination, or by such later date to which the Secretary of Agriculture or the Rural Electrification Administration extends the time for filing. Identity of complaints will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations."

Raising and showing project animals can be a time-consuming and costly venture, as virtually any 4-H or FFA member or their parents can quickly attest.

But the rewards of winning can make it all worthwhile. That's the end result that pushes participants in the animal project programs, as much or more than the financial rewards.

One Parmer County family which has gotten into the project animal venture seriously for about the past five years is the Leroy Berend family, which has had a good run of success showing Chianina-Crossbred steers.

Roddy, the Berends' oldest child, had a calf project as an FFA member. His Chianina-Angus crossbred calf won the Parmer County Junior Livestock Show steer title in 1981, and this one event spurred the family's interest in show animals.

The Berends can count about a dozen grand champion animals since they have been showing steers and heifers, including two champions at the Parmer County Show; the FFA champion and reserve champion steer at Kansas City, and the champion steer at the Tri-State Fair.

The Berends take their stock showing seriously. They enter their animals in a number of summer "prospect shows." Last summer, for example, they entered eight such shows, in Abilene, and one each in Plainview, Abilene, Fredericksburg, Oklahoma City, Waxahachie, Lubbock and Amarillo's Tri-State Fair.

In the junior livestock show circuit, they have entered, or will enter, the South Plains Fair, State Fair of Texas, American Royal Show in Kansas City, Hereford, Fort Worth, Friona local, Parmer County Show, San Antonio and Houston.

The new scholastic rule on absences has hurt the Berends, like other families who have been active participants in the show circuits. As a result, for some of the shows which are a considerable distance, Mr. and Mrs. Berend have driven ahead, taking the animals, and their daughter Dana has flown to the show, in order to minimize missing school.

"This takes away some, from the kids' responsibilities, but we're seeing it happen more and more," Berend says.

The Berends have come up with a number of innovations to help them get their stock ready for the shows, such as an incline board, onto which they lead their steers while working with them. The board's purpose is to build up the steers' muscles in their hind legs.

Another innovation is the fact that they keep their Chianina calves in a darkened barn as much as possible, with air conditioners running, regardless of the season. The barn is kept dark so the animals' natural hair will look more rich, and won't bleach. The air conditioning is to make the animals grow thicker hair, another point for healthy looks and appearance.

They have a rig which allows the calves to be led behind a tractor, which teaches the steers and heifers to walk with their heads up.

Dana Berend, a junior at Friona High School, works approximately an hour and a half each day with the animals (on school days), and longer on weekend days.

Berend says project animals are "great on-the-job training for youngsters," and he hates to see the tighter rules by the UIL force some youngsters to either curtail their work, or cut it down.

The Berends are also feeding barrows for the first time this year. They have a Hampshire, a Yorkshire, a Duroc, a Poland China and a crossbred. Their Hampshire was named Grand Champion at Friona's local show January 19.

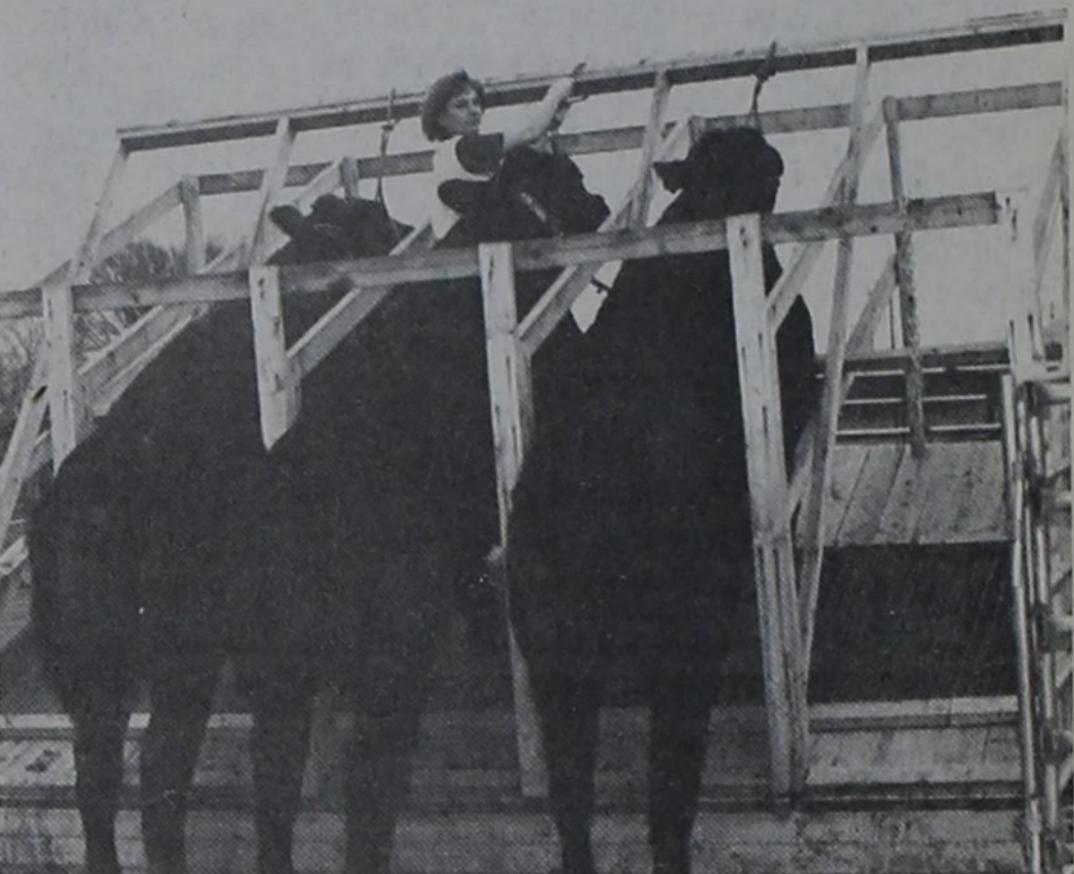

They don't raise their own show animals, but go to purebred breeders and buy their show stock. They don't mind driving a lot of miles, and paying what some would consider a high price for show stock. "We figure if we're going into this thing seriously, you have to have show animals which will compete," Berend says.

Getting animals requires a lot of planning ahead. For example, Berend recently returned from Denver with four calves which will be their daughter's projects for the 1985-86 show season.

"That will be Dana's senior year, and after that we'll be out of the stock show business," Berend says.

WORKING STEERS.... Dana Berend is shown working with her show steers, on an inclined platform, which helps build up the muscles in the steers' hind legs.

LEARNING TO LEAD.... The Leroy Berends have devised a setup to which they tie their show calves and lead them behind a tractor. This teaches the calves to walk with their heads up, as they are led while in the show ring.

Regular Savings Habit Needs To Be Developed

People who say they "just can't seem to save any money," may need a plan to get in the savings habit, says family finance expert Nancy L. Granovsky.

"Waiting to see if you have any money left over at the end of a pay period is seldom an effective way to save," explains Granovsky, a home economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

If you feel uneasy about not saving enough money, either for financial emergencies or long-term goals like a down payment or your child's college education, take some steps now to develop a savings plan, she advises.

Begin by taking a hard look to see where your money has gone over the last several months. Look at old bills, cancelled checks and credit card statements to decide if all the spending was necessary or whether some of that money could have been saved, says the home economist.

Then overhaul your family grow.

Also reduce the temptation to spend by separating savings from checking account money. If necessary, put your savings in a different financial institution than the one which handles your checking account.

In addition to getting some money into a savings fund, make sure you put those savings to work for you, Granovsky says. Compare interest rates, and as soon as you have enough saved, move your money to higher paying accounts so your nest egg will continue to

Six Flags Offers Kids Price Break

For the first time since 1975, small children will be able to visit Six Flags Over Texas at a reduced price this year.

When the Arlington theme park begins its 1985 season on March 2, guests who are less than 42 inches tall will be admitted for $7.95. Taller visitors will pay $14.95 for a day's entertainment.

The prices include the state sales tax which was levied by last year's special legislative session.

At the close of the 1984 season all Six Flags tickets were priced at $14.66 including the tax.

The park's general manager, Bob Bennett, said the new pricing policy is a direct result of suggestions from park visitors. "Our guests have been telling us, through surveys and letters, that they felt we should offer a lower price to persons who are not tall enough to take advantage of some of our larger thrill rides such as the Shock Wave double-loop roller coaster. Our own safety regulations require that guests be at least 42 inches tall in order to board such rides."

Bennett said, "We feel the $7.95 price will make the park an exceptional value for families with small children. It's what our guests have said they wanted."

From 1961 through 1975, Six Flags offered separate, lower-priced tickets for children. In recent years, however, a single price has been charged. Children age two and under have always been admitted free.

Bennett said the new policy will be monitored through height indicators at all ticket booths and at the park's entrance turnstiles. The measurement will include shoes which are required as a matter of safety.

"By reducing planted acreage and production, farmers minimize the possibility of a return to excess supply situations and low prices, and also maintain a level of stocks in line with market demand," Chandler said.

The 1985 commodity programs call for a 30 percent reduction in wheat and upland cotton, and a 10

ASCS Conducts Signup

In an effort to control excess crop supplies and maintain a better balance between supply and demand, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, on October 15, began accepting applications for the 1985 feed grain, wheat, cotton and rice acreage reduction programs. The sign up period ends March 1.

Farmers who meet the acreage reduction requirements will be eligible to receive price support loans and target price protection, in addition to land diversion payments for wheat, upland cotton and rice, according to Martin L. Chandler, Parmer County Executive Director.

"By reducing planted acreage and production, farmers minimize the possibility of a return to excess supply situations and low prices, and also maintain a level of stocks in line with market demand," Chandler said.

To apply for the 1985 acreage reduction programs, or obtain further program details, farmers may contact the Parmer County ASCS office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

College Night Set In Farwell

Farwell, Bovina and Lazbuddie will have college night on Thursday, February 7 at 7 p.m. in the Farwell Community Center.

There will be about eighteen college representatives present representing their school to answer questions and give out other important information to the juniors and seniors. Also four or five branches of the military will be present for those who are considering the military.

All juniors and seniors are encouraged to attend, and parents are also welcome to attend.

This will be a come and go event where you can see only those that interest you. No formal presentations will be presented.
